By the end of the war, Col. Railton had risen to the rank of senior women's commander at Scottish command headquarters and in 1946 she moved to the war office to handle promotion and appointment of officers.

When the women's army became a permanent force in 1949, Col. Railton was appointed vice-president of the regular commissions board and two years later she became deputy WRAC director at the war office. She has held her present command since September, 1953.

Col. Railton will retire at the end of her three-year term as WRAC director. After 16 years in the army she is undecided as to her next move.

"You just can't say I won't sit back and do nothing," she said emphatically.

SHOULD DIRECT SHOWER GUESTS

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I have had many light ex-perience about showers having been the only one and never having given one until last week. I took for granted that the guests would direct the gifts to me beforehand, and so I made a quite elaborate plan for the decorat-ed and presentation of the gifts. But they all brought their gifts with them, and I had no time to assemble my presentation. How I'm planning to give another shower, and this time I'd like to use my idea, which I believe is original. Would it be proper for me to ask that the gifts be sent to me, say three or four days before the shower?

—Natalye T.

Yes . . . proper and practical. Customarily guests bring their gifts to a shower, and naturally they would do this unless the hostess requests otherwise.

HOUSE WEDDING — ONLY FAMILIES AT CEREMONY

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

(1) My wedding is to be a small house wedding. However, the house will be too crowded for the ceremony if more than would like to invite, so we thought of arranging it this way. have only the families for the ceremony, which will take place at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, and then have open house from 8 to 11 o'clock for our friends. The invitations would be for the open house only. Would this arrangement be correct? (2) If so, should we also put our gifts on display for our guests to see?

—K.

(1) This plan would be entirely proper, and most convenient. However, I do not think that in the invitations (verbal or by telephone, or by note) you should explain that only the families are to be present at the ceremony, but that you want the friends to come afterward. You would indeed be proper to have the wedding presents on display; perhaps in an upstairs room.

HOW TO EAT THAT SAUCE

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

Quite often, particularly in restaurants, a little paper cup is placed on the dinner plate, this cup containing an accompaniment for the meat or fish: for wasanabi, mint or currant jelly for lamb, tartar sauce or tomato sauce for fish. Should this be eaten from the cup as served, or should the jelly or sauce or whatever be taken from the cup to the plate?

—Reader.

Either is correct. But I think it is more "neat and tidy" and much more convenient, too, if you take the jelly or sauce from the cup to your plate, and put the empty cup on your bread-and-butter plate, if one is provided, or if not, toward the far edge of your dinner plate.

SHOULD SHE INVITE EMPLOYER AND HIS WIFE?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

When I am married, which will be soon, I will have been in my present position as secretary for about six months. It is a small office, and I am secretary to the boss. I would like very much to invite the boss and his wife, as well as the two other members of our office staff. But would this be a proper thing for me to do after such a relatively short business acquaintance?

—R.

If you're having a small or even a rather small, wedding I shouldn't think you would invite these people whom you have known for such a short time. I imagine also that they too would consider your inviting them as in appropriate. But if you are having a large wedding, you might invite them; then they could accept or not, as they wish.

NUMBER OF GODPARENTS

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

What is the usual number of godparents for a child? We have been told several different numbers and therefore cannot decide which is correct for our baby, soon to be christened.

—Mother.

The number of godparents may vary. The number is usually determined by the custom or regulation of the denomination of the church, or, if there is no definite church regulation about this, by the preference of the parents. Sometimes there is one number of godparents prescribed for a girl, and a different number for a boy. You should consult with the minister who is to perform the christening service.

SIGHTS SAUCER

CHATEAU - CHINON, France (Reuters)—Farmer Jules Doussot, of St. Hilaire en Morvan, near here, claims he saw what may have been a flying saucer travelling towards Chateau-Chinon. It was "a sort of incandescent globe" with 20 or 30 propulsion tubes, he said. It was reddish-brown in color and was preceded by a blinding light.

IF YOURE not quick enough with your toddler's bench, liquidating his impatient yowls with an "appetizer." Put him in it and yes he is his highchair and scatter bite-size dry cereal on his tray so he'll have to pick up the pieces one at a time. Be sure he can manage without cheating.

Beauty
By HELEN JAMIESON

SUBSTITUTES FOR COSMETICS

"So little time!" That seems to be the common cry these days especially among the mothers of young children. "So many things to do!" Nothing gets done in the home unless they do it.

Any one of these hard-working home-makers is likely to discover almost any time that her supply of beauty props has run out—just when she needs them most. Her complexion is a bit rough and weather-beaten and she can't scrape as much as a thimbleful of face cream from the jar. In such a case, the solution is simple. Just dip into the bottle of rich coffee cream that's a perfect make-shift. It is not as convenient to apply, of course, having little resistance to the manipulations of the fingers, but it serves as a soothing agent, eases up that "starched" feeling that comes to dry skins now and then.

Or perhaps there is a lube of lanolin in the medicine cabinet. Nearly all creams contain a certain amount of this fatty substance that acts so favorably on the epidermal surfaces. A dry skin calls for a lubricant and even if you haven't a sweetly fragrant one, your skin will be grateful for anything that will take its place.

Do you fancy the idea of using a bleaching cosmetic after over-exposure to the rays of the sun? Lemon juice has been used for ages for whitening purposes. Strain it so all the pulp is removed, dip it on with pledgets of cotton, let it dry.

For discolored spots on the hands lemon is also the perfect answer. Plunge your finger tips in a cut lemon and see how quickly the nails are whitened.

Witch hazel is one of the best of astringents, works wonders on a skin that is excessively oily. It should be dabbed on the flesh after an ice cold rinsing.

Egg white makes an excellent pack or mask for refining the skin. Beat to a froth, apply with a silver butterknife.

QUESTION:

I am sorry I didn't write this before now as I is pickle season and my problems are down this alley. Could please have a recipe for "Sweet Dill Pickles"? Can you also 2 1-2 or 3 inches in diameter cucumbers and use the same method as "Icicle Pickles"? Also in Mrs. Alex. M.'s recipe for Crock Cucumber Pickles is the vinegar and spice liquid hot when first added and reheated when put in jars?—Dorothy B.

ANSWER:

There are two methods of making sweet dill pickles. One is to add a sweet vinegar syrup to dills which are all ready made and ready for use. The other is to add the sugar to the original processing. I will give you the latter for it is more straightforward.

SWEET DILL PICKLES

Pick a layer of dill and cherry leaves (grape leaves) bottom of a jar and cover with a layer of cucumbers. Repeat until the crock is nearly full, cover with a brine made in proportion of 1 1-2 cups salt to 1 gallon of water and let stand until acid test is given. The surest way to do this is to buy litmus paper at the drug store. If when the litmus paper is dipped in the brine it turns pink the brine is acid and cucumbers will be olive green throughout—this requires about five weeks if cucumbers are handled when not more than 1 day old. After acid test is given drain cucumbers cu. in chunks and place in sterile glass jars The 1 teaspoon whole mixed spices in a clean cloth and place in the top of each quart jar. Cover with a vinegar syrup made with 2 cups sugar and 1 cup vinegar. Seal. These are then ready to use in two weeks.

Yes you may use the smaller cucumbers for Icicle Pickles without making any other change in the recipe.

You may do the Crock Cucumber Pickles by the cold or hot method but I recommend heating the first vinegar mixture to boiling out the flavor of the spices and resaling the vinegar mixture which is finally poured over pickles to insure sterilization. Hope Mrs. Alex. M. sees this and writes to us giving her opinion.

QUESTION:

I would be very much obliged if you could find me a recipe for "Datelade." It is a jam made from dates and was at one time on the retail market. Since fair exchange is no robbery I'm enclosing my favorite cookie recipe. They keep well, in fact are better when 2 or 3 weeks old.

MRS HENDRICK'S DATE PINWHEELS

(Courtesy Pat H.)

Cream together 1 cup shortening, 2 cups light brown sugar and 3 well-beaten eggs. Add 5 1-2 cups cake flour, 1 teaspoon cinnamon 1-2 teaspoon each soda and salt. Divide dough into three parts. Roll each into strips, fill like jelly roll (see filling below) and chill overnight. Slice 1-4 inch thick and bake in a slow oven. Filling—Cook together in top of double boiler 1-2 lb. dates 1 cup chopped walnuts, 1-2 cup each sugar and water.

I appreciate the help I've had from your column. —Pat, H.

ANSWER;

Thanks Pat. My recipe is just called plain

DATE JAM

Soak 1 lb. dried apples until they are plump, then drain and add to them 2 lbs. stoned dates, 1 lb. sugar and 2 cups water (if desired 2 tablespoons grated orange or lemon rind may be added). Simmer, stirring often until of jamlike consistency (rather thicker than you want it be when cold as it solidifies somewhat) and about 5 minutes before putting into sterile jars add 1 or 2 cups shredded blanched almonds or broken walnuts. Seal well, stirring, then pour into sterile jars and seal. (Note—You could use 2 lbs. raw fresh apples and reduce the water to 1 1-2 cups if so desired).

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HER MOTHER WANTS TO PICK HER BOY FRIENDS

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Four years ago, when I was 14, I went with a boy for two years, but when I changed high schools we broke off our relationship. We have always had plenty of dates and have gone steady twice since. I broke off with this particular boy.

The first boy I went with after him was the son of a lawyer. He was very intelligent and would often sit and talk with my mother for hours. He was a wonderful boy but I don't consider him the boy for me, although my mother kept nagging at me to stay with him.

However, I started going out with the first boy again, and the problem is that my mother doesn't particularly care for him but has her heart set on my being friends with the lawyer's son, who still comes down to visit her, this makes things all the harder for me because all I hear about after he leaves is how wonderful he is. I don't like going against my mother but I do want to go out with the other boy so that's why I'm asking your advice.

M. E.

Dear M. E.:

If your problems with boys started four years ago when you were 14 then obviously you are 18 now and so I would say old enough to assume more independence in your actions. Of course you don't want to hurt your mother, but after all, so long as the boys you choose to go out with are the proper kind of associates for you, I think it is up to yourself, not to your mother, to pick your friends.

Why don't you be casual and light about the matter of these two boys, and instead of taking your mother's attitude toward the lawyer's son so seriously, just laugh it off, even tease her a little? Don't blow it up into a big thing and get involved in arguments with her but try to be as companionable as you can so that eventually you can win her over to the idea of letting you alone about your friends. Use the light touch instead of looking at it as a big problem and it won't be one.

DON'T TRY TO WORK UP A ONE-SIDED ROMANCE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There is a boy I like very much and I know he likes me because he tells all my friends that he does. We both attend the same dance every week and if I dance with another boy he gets very mad at me, but still he never asks to take me home.

What do you think about this? I am 15 years old.

J. S.

Dear J. S.:

One of the things I think is that you should be a little more mature for your age. By the time I should think you would have had enough experience with boys to have developed some ideas about handling them.

Most of all, I would think you'd have more sense than to take very seriously a boy who you say gets mad if you dance with anybody else, and yet who apparently hasn't the courage to pay any particular attention to you himself.

Don't you think, perhaps, you're overrating this interest in you, and perhaps imagining that he gets real feelings about your dancing with others? It doesn't make very good sense to me that any boy who really wanted to be friendly with a girl would stand around glaring at her from the side lines and never even ask to be allowed to take her home.

My suggestion would be that you stop your daydreaming about this chap and make the most of your friendships with the much more initiative. I'm sure you'll find that a lot more satisfactory than trying to work up a romance with so encouragement from the other side.

Federation President Urges Teachers to Answer Critics

TORONTO (CP)—Alice Ogden of St. Catharines, president of the Ontario Women Teachers' Federation, Wednesday criticized Ontario's 15,500 women teachers for showing "fear and indifference" to attacks being made on Canadian education.

Addressing 400 delegates to the federation's annual meeting, Miss Ogden urged the teachers to recognize their importance and take a more active part in answering critics.

She said teachers don't know the answers to charges being made against "progressive" education nor to the teacher shortage and qualification problems.

"The time has come to take a second look at ourselves."

SUBMIT REPORT

A federation committee submitted a report saying teachers degrade their calling when they air petty grievances before the world.

The report said teachers are "literally living on a television screen, constantly viewed, criticized, praised, discussed and reported upon . . . yet the public has a certain affection for us, coming quickly to our defence fully as often as it chides us."

The federation announced the award of five student teacher aid bursaries of $200 each to high school girls planning to enter Ontario Teachers' College this fall. Contestants had to average 75 per cent in their grade 13 departmental examinations.

Winners included Iona Zimmer, Guelph.

U.S. Eases Bars Against Trade With Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks has eased restrictions on U. S. trade with the Soviet Union and other Communist countries of Europe, but he said he doubts there will be an early increase in the flow of goods across the Iron Curtain.

Commerce department sources said Weeks' order would reduce by one-third to one half the list of goods now banned from commerce between the United States and the Red bloc in Europe.

Weeks' move came a day after foreign aid chief Harold E. Stassen announced a similar relaxation of curbs on Red trade by friendly nations jointly aided with United States.

Both officials said existing restrictions still stand on trade with Communist China, North Korea, or the Communist area of Viet Nam.

Sunday School Lesson:

Zeal Is Not Enough

BY ROY L. SMITH

There is a heresy abroad to the effect that if one is active enough in performing good works he is by virtue of that fact a godly man But the Apostle Paul once said "Even though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and do not have a charitable heart I gain nothing" (I Cor. 13:3). Even though charity is one of the sweetest of the Christian virtues, it is not the solvent of all the world's ills.

CHARITY MUST BE SCIENTIFIC

In modern society charity, to be effective and remedial, must be scientific. Its first aim is not the relief of distress but the cure of spiritual diseases which cause distress. A hundred years ago men prayed to be delivered from plagues with never a thought that a polluted water supply might be the cause of the epidemic. Modern social service is as greatly interested in the causes of poverty as in its cure, and that is good religion as well as good case work.

It sometimes happens that beneficent one another's burdens consists of paying taxes for the erection of public works which will eventually save us from the waste that goes with slums and police courts. In other cases, the support of character building institutions, such as Y.M.C.A.'s and Y.W.C.A.'s, may be the most inexpensive form of social insurance. Hit-and-run charity often does more damage than it cures, and the "independent" charity is often a community liability because it is not a disciplined, but rather an emotional, effort to cure a social situation.

CHARITY MUST BE PERSONAL

Long after the party ground has been provided it is necessary to recruit workers for supervising the play, and every community finds that it is impossible to employ as many workers as are needed. The place of the volunteer is always basic.

Charity as a principle, and as an ideal, must become incarnate. When charity loses its soul and is operated only by a bureau it becomes wooden and socially ineffective.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for August 29: "Growth Through Christian Service." Acts 10:38; Galatians 6:1-2; James 1:22, 26-27; 2:14-17; I John 3:16-18.

Executives of youth organizations are agreed that they could enroll twice or three times as many youth in the average community if they had the adults who were willing to give time and effort to the task of supervision. The boy problem is usually a man problem at the base.

Good Weather Has Speeded Harvest Work

TORONTO (CP)—Good to excellent weather conditions have speeded harvesting operations throughout the province, the Ontario department of agriculture said today in its weekly farm report. Most areas report harvesting already completed.

The Welland area in southern Ontario shows a record offering for the year of farm produce, especially fruits.

Rust and the army worm have taken toll in grain yields in a few sections of eastern Ontario. The Carleton and Lanark areas report higher damage than expected.

While no regions have reported tomato blight, Temiskaming in the northern part of the province has indications of late potato blight.

NOT ANOTHER PENNY IN

BRISTOL, Engl. (Reuters)—Mrs. Gladys Lloyd has decided to use her washing machine only as a washing machine. Mrs. Lloyd always put money in her machine. Seven weeks ago she forgot, switched it on—and £80 in notes were turned into shreds. The Bank of England, from the thousands of pieces of paper, could only piece together £53. The rest is her loss, the bank says.

TCP gives you up to 15% unexpected power from your engine

Now blended into Both Shell Gasolines, TCP* releases power locked in by lead and carbon deposits. It's the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

You'll feel your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished your second tankful.

YES, your engine may be 15% more powerful than you think!

And the reason is this:

Lead and carbon deposits are constantly building up in your engine. They lock in power that you should be getting.

These deposits get red hot and set off the fuel charge ahead of time . . . before the pistons reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you—not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition, and automotive engineers consider it the biggest power loss.

You also lose power when these deposits make your spark plugs misfire. Building-up on spark plug insulators, they short-circuit the spark.

Both of these power robbers—pre-ignition and short-circuited spark plugs—are at their worst when you need power most—when climbing a hill or accelerating.

Now, however, you can change all this. TCP, a Shell-discovered additive, blended into both Shell Gasolines releases the "captive power" in your engine.

Shell or Shell Premium with TCP acts quickly, too. In fact, before you've finished your second tankful, you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up. But, remember, because these deposits accumulate constantly, continued use of Shell or Shell Premium with TCP additive is essential to obtain its full benefits. It is the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead.

Both Shell Gasolines now with TCP are available only at your Shell Dealer's.

*Shell's Trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

STIRLING

Closing Ceremonies of Recreation Centre Climax Successful Year

STIRLING — On Wednesday evening over 900 children, parents and interested spectators attended the closing ceremonies of the recreation centre which was sponsored by Stirling Rotary Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Irish have given capable leadership during the summer holiday period and the largest daily attendance was 125 children. The average at the playgrounds situated on the high school field, was 75 for 34 days.

This year buses were chartered to convey the children to Oak Hill Lake three afternoons weekly, and the children were to be eight years of age. For 30 days, the average attendance at the Lake was 53 children. A boat and life-saving equipment was provided. The children were well supervised both at the playground and at Oak Hill Lake, and it is not possible to estimate the value of a playground with expert supervision.

Mr. and Mrs. Irish conducted group singing each forenoon there were handicrafts of various kinds, and Tuesday was designated as athletic day. They kept the children interested and off the village streets.

DISPLAY TABLE

A large table decorated with baskets of cut flowers was used to display the handicrafts. Many of the articles were exceptionally well made and merited special mention so the child's names and age was attached. There were decorated waste paper baskets fashioned from ice cream containers, a life size giraffe, plaster paris wall plaques, lettered and painted with mottos such as "God Bless Our Home", "Love Never Faileth", pictures were also on display and one modelled a sail boat, from the same ingredients. A large display of moccasins made from leather, and hand decorated, also a full Indian headdress were all shown to advantage.

In the plastic display there were double link belts, two strand streamers and four strand bracelets. The bracelets were in various colors with red, white and blue predominating, and a black and white arrangement which was also pretty.

There were plastic bathing bags for beach wear, pretty leather purses, artificial fruit and horse head ornaments, a doll's swing, complete, lovely wool dolls that would gladden the heart of any little girl. Small baskets made of Christmas cards and a large variety of creditable work in the smaller handicrafts.

SPECIAL DISPLAY

The sand box was arranged as a special display by Gerald Malloy. This was labelled, "Our Future Playground". The setting was beside a red farm home, barn and livestock, with Union Jacks flying all over the country estate. A large pond with plasticure boat and covered tunnel, evergreen trees and up-to-date swimming pool, places arranged for various games, and a number of swings and play equipment. Throughout the whole picture were several wooded paths which gave the spectator the idea that this would indeed be a wonderful place to play and to express artistic talent.

Stirling Citizens' Band was in attendance under the leadership of Maurice Bell, and they were most generous with their music throughout the evening, and played for the various competitions.

DOG SHOW

At 7.45 p.m. Dr. Ralph Vandervoort, president Stirling Rotary welcomed the large audience and the program opened with a dog show. Each winner received a cash prize. There were nine entries and there were big dogs, little dogs, and all colors and breeds of dogs. The judges Messrs. M. Malloy, R. A. Patterson and K. P. Mayhew, finally sorted them out for the awards. Biggest dog, Susie Webber; smallest dog, Douglas Bolte; fattest dog, Sharon Rodgers; thinnest dog, Vicky Armstrong; dog with longest tail, Billy Rotsik (his dog won by a hair); dog with shortest tail, Robert Leury; best looking dog, John Noble.

Girls' decorated bicycles. There were nine entrants, and all the bicycles were nicely decorated with crepe tissue in various colors and designs. The awards were first yellow outfit, Marlene Bruce; second, red, white and blue, Janice Brooks.

Boys' decorated bicycles, six entrants, all were trimmed in various styles and shades: first, James Waterfall; second, Denton Shortt.

MASSED SINGSONG

At this juncture the flood-lights were turned on, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Irish conducted a sing-song. All the playground children numbering 100 joined in a massed group and sang a large number of selections. This included "Upward Trail", "Sing Your Way Home", "Snow Ball", "Soda Jerk song", "Six Little Ducks" Cuckoo song and several others and some were action songs which the children did in unison.

Following the sing-song, the children took part in a crowning ceremony. They had previously chosen whom they wished to honor.

Vicky Armstrong was crowned 1954 queen by Wendy Warren and John Long as playground king, by Gerald Malloy. The two who did the crowning each gave brief addresses.

Dr. Vandervoort later praised Vicky for her assistance given so unselfishly to the younger children during the vacation period. Colored balloons were on sale and the air was a bower of beauty.

Decorated doll carriage: The judges were Mrs. M. Malloy, Mrs. Frank Long, and Mrs. Lorne Wilson.

There were three entries and all were nicely decorated with crepe paper. One had a real chenille spread and another a wool blanket covering the doll reposing in the carriage. The awards were first, Dianne Francis, 2nd Barbara Montgamery and 3rd Linda Uniacke.

Decorated tricycle, girls under seven, 1st Sue Ann Bastedo, 2nd Linda West. Judges were Messrs. Butcher, Green and Wyatt, of Frankford, and there were seven entries.

Best dressed dolls—girls under seven. There were five entries. The judges were: Miss Betty Smith, leader of 1st Cub Pack, and Miss Lillian Ashley, leader of 8th Cub Pack, both of Belleville. 1st prize, Leslie Hawkins, with a negro dolly, and 2nd prize, Maureen Andrews.

Best dressed dolls, girls over seven. Seven entires. The winners: first Martha Shoften, and second Jean Ann Mayhew.

Boys' marble play-off. Ten marbles and five rounds. Championship winner, Eddie Mayhew. Girls' marble play-off. Championship winner, Vicky Armstrong.

At this point, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Irish were given a special ovation. Mr. Edwin Warren, vice-president of Rotary, spoke words of appreciation and made the presentation of a cash gift as a special thank-you to these two people who have done so much for the children of the town.

Mr. Irish voiced grateful thanks for the gift.

CLOSING CONTEST

A bubble gum contest was a revelation to the onlookers as bubbles the size of balloons appeared out of thin air, while others backfired in the entrants' faces. There were seven contestants, six girls and one boy, and each was allowed three tries. The judges were Messrs. Joe Pilkington and Ralph Andrews. The winner was Jean Ann Mayhew.

A travelling Punch and Judy show with clever marionettes was given permission to set up their tent and do business with a share of the proceeds going to Rotary.

The playground is continues two more days with the children gathering in the forenoon at the recreation centre and spending the afternoons at Oak Lake.

Stirling Rotary are to be commended for their worthwhile sponsorship of the playgrounds. The leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Irish will not easily be surpassed as they have a natural gift for training children and supervising their various activities. As one spectator said: "Just imagine keeping an eye on 50 children over at the lake. It sure was a real job."

This is the second year for the Recreation Centre and it has been a wonderful success.

Seeks Canadian Pilots For Free Lance Air Force

A former Canadian pilot whose exploits against Chinese Communist air forces are legendary in the East has been sent to Canada by the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa to raise at least two squadrons of experienced jet and prop-driven fighter plane pilots. Albert Mah, seen above, is also after other young fliers willing to train for action in a cold war version of Gen. Claire Chennault's famed Flying Tigers. Pilots who flew RCAF Sabre jets have been offered at least $30,000 a year by Chiang Kai-shek, the money to come indirectly from the $100,000,000 to be spent by the U.S. in Formosa next year. Aim of the free lance air force, says Mah, is to fight against Asian Communist aggression "in whatever way we see fit."—Central Press Canadian.

No Specific Plan To Reduce Naval Force in Pacific

WASHINGTON (Reuters) —, A United States Navy spokesman said Thursday that the navy "has no planned specific reduction in the immediate future in the Pacific."

He made this statement in an effort to clear up confusion arising from apparent misinterpretations of a letter, dated Aug. 17 and released Wednesday, from Admiral Robert Carney, chief of U. S. naval operations, to a retired admiral.

In his letter Carney discussed the importance of maintaining navy morale and said "we do expect some reduction in the Pacific as a result of the end of the shooting wars there."

The navy spokesman said Carney had been "thinking out loud" and had not meant to announce a specific planned reduction in naval strength.

Open Gates of Stalin Motor Works To Show Western Correspondents

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union threw open the gates of the Stalin motor works for a tour by western correspondents Thursday.

The correspondents saw four-ton trucks coming off a conveyor-rails assembly line at what assistant director Ivan Karnov said was a rate of one every, five minutes during an eight-hour working day; six-cylinder front engine gasoline buses at what he said was a rate of 12 daily; bicycles at a reported clip of 1,300 daily.

Short-term visitors to the Soviet Union have been to the Stalin works before, but this was the first time resident correspondents have been permitted to enter the plant establishment, spread over several square miles in northeast Moscow.

Karnov said the plant—second in size to the Molotov motor works at Gorky—employs 40,000 persons, 40 per cent of them women, earning from 800 to 2,500 rubles a month. The ruble is quoted officially at an exchange rate of four to the dollar.

This correspondent questioned three workers at random — a woman electric welder, a woman at a bicycle assembly line, and a man on a truck assembly line. All three said they were getting about 800 rubles monthly.

Karnov said the director received a base pay of 3,000 rubles monthly, with bonuses bringing it to 5,000.

The newspaper men visited one of 16 restaurants. It was a modest, green-painted room with white curtains and tablecloths. The meals ranged in price from three to 4½ rubles. The four-ruble, 90-kopek meal Thursday included rice and soup, chicken with noodles, bread, butter and tea.

Prisoner Found Hiding in 'Pen' At Collins Bay

KINGSTON (CP) — A prisoner earlier believed to have escaped from nearby Collins Bay penitentiary was found Thursday night in a hiding place within a building inside the prison walls.

Prison officials said they believed Rene Laplante, 24, of Espanola, Ont., had concealed himself there in an attempt to break out later under cover of darkness. Laplante, who had only a month left to serve, was missing at the 4 p.m. roll call.

Prison guards immediately started a search of the area surrounding the prison, three to 4½ miles from the institution, for short-termers and first offenders located about a mile outside the Kingston city limits.

Laplante was sentenced in Sudbury in 1952 for breaking and entering, theft, and possession of an unregistered firearm.

RE-DISCOVERS LINK TO LEIF ERICKSON

Curtis Bacon, amateur archeologist from Connecticut, points to identifying marks on the boulder he believes is the "runic stone" he rediscovered on Noman's Land, an island off the coast of Massachusetts. The stone was first discovered in 1926 and the find began a controversy as to whether it bore on its face actual runic writing from the time of Leif Erickson, Swedish Viking, who visited Massachusetts long before Columbus "discovered" America. The stone was believed to have been washed into the sea in the 1938 hurricane. Now Mr. Bacon says that this boulder is the runic stone —there is "no doubt at all about its being the Noman's Stone."— Central Press Canadian.

Hunt for Woman May Move Into Sudbury Area

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said Thursday night the search for an Eastern townships mother and her two-year-old son, missing for nearly a month, may move to the Sudbury, Ont., area.

Mrs. Adrien Tessier, 35, of Sherbrooke and her son Richard, left their home July 28 to visit the woman's father in nearby Compton and disappeared en route.

"We have reason to believe Mrs. Tessier may be in that Ontario town," Det. Sgt. Gerard Delisle-Beaubien said. He did not elaborate. Sgt. Archambault also said dragging will be resumed of the Salmon river near Sherbrooke "within the next few days."

He said police now are convinced that nine-year-old Gilles Perreault of Brômptonville, Que., was telling the truth last week when he said he saw the body of a small child floating in the river on its back, its arms entangled in a pair of suspenders behind it.

His description of clothing on the body seemed to tally with what the Tessier child was reported to have been wearing, police said.

A thorough search of the area, which included dragging of the river, failed to trace the body of the child. The body of a small child found dead in the river Aug. 7 and identified by Mrs. Ida Gault returned to Montreal Thursday from Sherbrooke.

Skipper Rescues 3 Children From Rough Water

GODERICH (CP) — Capt. Bert MacDonald added another three to his list of more than 50 lives saved Thursday.

The 68-year-old skipper who operates the local boathouse rescued three children from rough water outside this harbor on Lake Huron.

After their 12-foot sailboat capsized.

Frances Morris, 15, of Goderich, her 11-year-old brother, John, and Phil Littleford, 15, of Florida had been sailing about 100 feet from shore when a strong wind overturned their boat. They tried swimming but could make no headway.

They were spotted from shore and Capt. MacDonald set out in his cruiser with his grandson, Donald McAdam, and crewmen Sonnie Mallough. They pulled the children from the water, hooked up the sailboat and turned the child up another successful rescue.

Capt. MacDonald has helped rescue at least 50 persons. About 18 years ago he went to the assistance of the foundering Gilles and helped take 25 men to safety.

In the last four years he has been twice officially recognized for his seamanship, once by Goderich town council for his contribution to harbor safety and again by the department of transport for his assistance to a fishing boat in distress.

France to Reject Pact With Poles Against Germany

PARIS (AP)—France will turn down an offer of alliance by Communist Poland against Germany, a French foreign ministry spokesman said today.

The offer, made two days ago, was designed as part of the Soviet plan for a European "security system" that would bar the United States. It was contained in a note delivered by Polish Ambassador Stanislaw Gajewski to Guerin de Beaumont, French secretary of state for foreign affairs.

The French spokesman said Poland would be told such an alliance will not solve any international problems and there is no real possibility of it. He added that the French reply to the Polish note has not yet been sent.

Spread of Gospel Is Discussed At Evanston

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Christian leaders today turned to a discussion of their great, centuries-old, unfinished task—carrying the gospel to millions of non-Christians.

Delegates to the Assembly of the World Council of Churches gathered to hear a report by the committee on evangelism.

Drafters of the report have heard many suggestions for increasing the number of Christians, "Fifty million minority in the world as a whole.

AIM AT WORKERS

Among the ideas placed before them:

Messages and methods should be directed more to workers, particularly in areas where the Communists are trying to recruit them.

Laymen should play a larger part in spreading the faith.

Effective use should be made of the media of mass communication —movies, radio, television, newspapers, magazines, books.

Evangelism is one of the subthemes of the meeting of representatives of 161 Protestant churches from 48 countries.

The main theme is "Christ—the hope of the world."

A 51-page report on that subject was presented to the full assembly Wednesday by a co-ordinating committee headed by Lutheran Bishop Hanns Lilje of Hannover, Germany.

It was accompanied by a statement from the committee. Debate on the statement through the Wednesday night session without a decision.

A revised statement is scheduled for presentation before the delegates this afternoon.

KEY PASSAGE

The debate has swirled around the issue of whether evangelism is the establishment of God's kingdom can be fulfilled in this world or only with the second coming of Christ.

The amended statement contained this key passage:

"Because Jesus Christ died and rose again for the world and for the sake of the world is anchored to Him in unshakeable hope. He rules over all history by the power of His death and resurrection and nothing can pluck this world out of His hands.

"His eternal purpose of redemption will be brought to its complete consummation at the coming of the living Christ. He is able to meet us in every circumstance of life and every mood of our hearts."

The report denounced communism as it has as "totalitarian dictatorship" and found some fault with democracies, too.

Former Quebec Bush Worker, Claude Jodoin, 41, New Head Of Trades and Labor Congress

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—A former Quebec bush worker with a classical education will take over, Nov. 1 as the youngest president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada and its first French-Canadian head in 45 years.

Hefty Claude Jodoin, 41, Quebec vice-president of the 580,000-member TLC for five years, succeeds Percy R. Bengough, 68, who stepped down after 12 years at the top of the largest labor body in Canada.

The bilingually-eloquent Jodoin, a ladies garment workers' union executive who stands one inch over six feet and weighs in at 250 pounds, won the country's most influential labor post in a three-way fight Thursday at the TLC's annual convention.

FIRST-BALLOT WIN

The Montrealer won handily in a first ballot over R. K. (Roly) Gervin, 46, of Vancouver, the TLC's British Columbia vice-president, and Allister (Mac) Macarthur 43, of Toronto, president of the TLC's 200,000-member Ontario Federation of Labor.

His succession to the 30-years-older Bengough, a trade union member before Jodoin's birth in Westmount, Que., means no change in congress policy. Jodoin always have worked harmoniously together and Bengough praised the six foot, weight toward Jodoin for the presidency without committing himself on policy.

After his election, Jodoin said he expects to be counting on Bengough for advice when problems get tough. Further, the remainder of the weight-shifting TLC executive remains basically unchanged except for an English-speaking Quebec supporter who took over his Quebec vice-presidency.

The election Thursday produced one surprise in that Gervin, a street railway man in Vancouver, ran ahead of MacArthur, a one-time Bellevillian who became Canadian head of the big teamsters' union and now is Canadian chief of the TLC's office workers' union.

Supporters of MacArthur had been counting on heavy backing from the big Ontario delegation, more than 200 of 635 delegates, but picking up only a handful. Gervin's votes on a second ballot on the same position probably would be slightly ahead on the first and that Gervin would be knocked out as the loser.

Instead, the first ballot count, with 619 votes cast and 340 needed for election, ran:

Jodoin 355; Gervin 172; MacArthur 151.

Amid post-mortems Thursday night, MacArthur supporters were saying they could get their man in at next year's convention, unofficially known to be set for Windsor, Ont., where the floor could be loaded with Ontario delegates.

MacArthur himself said he isn't thinking of this. "I was running today for an office which the incumbent wasn't offering" he said. "Assuming Claude is going a good job a year from now, why try to put a good man out?"

Jodoin got behind-the-scenes support from Frank Hall of Montreal, powerful chief executive officer who ticketed the tall Quebecer for the job when it became apparent several months ago that the president Bengough was getting ready to retire.

EASY GOING CAMPAIGN

Jodoin himself waged an easy-going campaign and didn't do much thinking for the convention floor until Thursday.

Though only 41, he knows the politics of labor. He is former Liberal member of the Quebec legislature (Montreal-St. James riding) and a former national president of the Young Liberal Association of Canada.

He also is a Montreal city councillor, a job he will have to give up Nov. 1, and it has been reported that Montreal's mayor Jean Drapeau hopes Jodoin would succeed him on retirement.

Jodoin has a liberal affiliation now. He split with the Liberals several years ago and subsequently ran unsuccessfully as a Labor candidate for the Quebec legislature.

He studied classics at Montreal's St. Mary's College, quitting before he could get a degree to take a job working in the Quebec bush.

HELD MANY POSTS

In the TLC, he has held down many posts and representing it elsewhere. He first got into its top ranks in 1949 when at that year's convention he squeaked through for the vice-presidency by a single vote over the late Edgeby Beaudoin.

For the last eight years, Jodoin has been chairman of the TLC's committee against racial discrimination. He is president of the TLC's Montreal Trades Council.

The new congress president is married, without children.

Scottish-born George Schollie, 54, was acclaimed Quebec vice-president succeeding Jodoin, making him the first non-Frenchman to get this vice-presidency.

In return Schollie, Canadian chief of the machinists' union, swung his delegates behind Jodoin in the vital factor in his election to the top job.

Airborne Smokejumpers In Saskatchewan Provide Good Control of Forest Fires

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LA RONGE, Sask. (CP) — A plume of smoke in Saskatchewan's green wilderness calls into action one of the most famous group of men in the Commonwealth—the smokejumpers.

Backs laden with equipment, dangling from slim parachute cords, they drop from float planes anywhere in the province's 90,000,000-acre forest belt to fight the flames which each season consume thousands of acres of timber and do untold damage to wildlife. Their white canvas uniforms have become a symbol of daring throughout the north.

The people who count fire among their enemies stake their lives on them. When the smokejumpers fall, it's time to get out.

INACTION IRKSOME .

But this year the 16 smokejumpers are grumbling—not enough fires.

Young muscled men, they crave action. The low fire hazard this year has kept them grounded.

Last summer the smokejumpers were called to 36 fires. Twenty fires generated in three days, now by lightning in one week.

"It was bad for a while," says 30-year-old Denny Kelly, former army paratrooper who is base commander at the summer headquarters here.

His men were on the move continuously, dropping hundreds of miles from their base to fires, going out with fires at times covering vast areas.

The first few hours are important in fighting a forest fire. If conservation officers can't have ground fighters on the job within an hour, the smokejumpers are on their way.

STRANGE APPEARANCE

Wearing heavy canvas suits as protection against trees and rocks, heads guarded by football helmets screened with wire mesh, and carrying 80 pounds in packs, the smokejumpers are an awesome sight. Once on the ground, packs are unrolled, and out come axes, saws, rations and a radio to keep headquarters informed.

At times smokejumpers have worked 36 hours at a stretch to keep a fire from spreading. It may be days before a ground crew can get in. The jumpers act as foremen on some big fires, directing control, then trek to the nearest lake to be picked up when the hazard is down. They're the first in and the first out.

"It sounds glamorous, but it's not," Kelly says. "They put in a hard day's work—fires or normally with pick and shovel."

There are chutes to be packed, exercises to keep in top physical condition, classes in new firefighting methods. Smokejumpers paint and erect conservation signs, cut fire guards, prepare equipment, keep the headquarters building they built in good repair.

To ensure prospective smokejumpers know what they are required to undertake, the department of natural resources which administers the branch sends out a circular which stresses non-fire duties, "usually of a hard manual nature." But the department still receives applications from almost every country in the Commonwealth.

A. O. Aschim, assistant director of fire control, says the fame of the smokejumpers has spread so far that they now have a tremendous reputation to keep up.

When hired, smokejumpers are put through a course of physical conditioning, are taught the principles of smokejumping, safety measures, first aid and fire suppression. They get their wings after five open-field jumps and three into bush country. Compass training is important. Kelly says the hardest job is getting back from a fire.

Jumpers work in part of a network of fire control which stretches through northern Saskatchewan. More than 80 fire towers are manned to flash a call for help. Heavy equipment scattered at strategic points is ready to roll in case of a major break.

The group, formed seven years ago, is patterned after the United States smokejumpers set up in 1939. Work is seasonal, from the middle of April to Oct. 1. The most serious injury to date has been a broken hip.

Seeks Control Of Chicago Firm

NEW YORK (AP)—The forces of Florida industrialist Louis E. Wolfson squared away today for a proxy contest with backers of the conservative management of Montgomery Ward & Co. Both Ward and Co.

"We believe we now hold the largest block of shares in the company," the 42-year-old Wolfson told a press conference Wednesday. "Our continuing investment in Montgomery Ward stock, coupled with the intention to strengthen our position in the company with a view to supersending the present management."

Wolfson is vice-chairman of the board of the $700,000,000 mail order and retail empire, declined immediate comment in Chicago.

Wedding on Again

PATTERSON, N. J. (AP) — A lovers' quarrel that silenced Clarence (Red) Mosley's wedding bells Thursday, but not their fire, hero who lost both hands and feet in Korea set them to ringing again.

Ten days ago, the 23-year-old veteran announced he would be married Sept. 25 to Ruth Shaw, 22.

Thursday morning, Ruth's mother, Mrs. John Shaw, telephoned newspapers that the wedding had been called off.

Later Thursday, Mrs. Shaw again called the press. The wedding will go off as scheduled, she said.

Four Arrested In Trailer Theft

TORONTO (CP) — Four men were arrested Thursday and charged with the theft of more than 1,000,000 cigarets worth $27,000 from a stolen transport truck last Wednesday.

Police arrested Donald McLean, 27, and Gerry Peckham, 23, in a garage at suburban West Hill. John McIntyre, 28, and Anthony Mandeno, 21, were picked up at their homes. All were charged with stealing the truck and receiving the cigarets.

Police said they found a man guarding 140 cases of cigarets in the garage. The second man was arrested when he arrived in a truck to remove the stolen goods.

The cigarets transport had been stolen from Smith Transport Co. yards and found abandoned later at nearby Streetsville. From the cargo of 616 cases of cigarets, 166 had been stolen.

Young Rowdyism in Detroit Cured by 'Get Tough' Policy

DETROIT (AP)—Young rowdyism is on the downgrade in Detroit.

Authorities have their fingers crossed. But there is definite decline in the police record that gang arrests are critical problems them they were just a month ago.

The police youth bureau estimates this kind of juvenile trouble has fallen off 25 per cent.

The cure, if it is a cure, has probably been in part a derivative of the old "spare the rod and spoil the child" rule.

The courts have adopted a "get tough" policy. Young offenders have been packed off to jail, Borstal institutions, the army, churches and other groups, set out on a broad program against rowdyism and delinquency in general.

One judge insists on having the parents of a juvenile offender in court if the offender appears before him.

A stern police policy is supported. Churches are trying to stir up more interest on the part of young people. There are neighborhood plans for teaching errant youngsters manners and discipline.

Reasons advanced for the wave of rowdyism dealt generally with the lack of parental guidance, street attacks upon citizens.

Restrictions on the youngsters has now been in effect for one month.

Inspector Ralph Baker, head of the police youth bureau, said the "present drive against rowdyism stems from the courts' "stern attitude" and an aroused citizenry.

"People have begun to step forward and ask what can be done," he said.

Baker distinguished between "rowdyism" and actual juvenile crime. In the latter, he said, there has been no decrease.

Mayor Albert E. Cobo's youth committee, co-operating with the police, courts, churches and other groups, set out on a broad program against rowdyism and delinquency in general.

Relatives Mourn President Who Took His Own Life

Relatives and friends of the late President Getulio Vargas of Brazil are shown gathered around his casket in presidential palace in Rio de Janeiro. The 71-year-old chief executive committed suicide by firing a fatal bullet into his heart after leaving a note behind blaming his death on the hatred of his enemies. Vargas' suicide brought to an end Brazil's bitter political crisis which started with the death of an air force officer. Three of Vargas' presidential guards were involved in the killing. Demands by the military that Vargas resign led to his suicide. He had maintained that the only way they could get him out of the president's chair was by death.—Central Press Canadian.

Canada's Most Wanted Man Arrested at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — A routine fingerprint check had led to the arrest Wednesday of a man reported to be Canada's most wanted fugitive.

Police said they were holding a man whose fingerprints tally with those of Donald Stewart Henderson, sought since 1949 for the murder in a Calgary hotel bedroom of his fiancee, Yvonne Levesque.

Police Capt. Auguel Terragno said he arrested the man, who gave his name as Raymond Martin, on a drunk charge Aug. 18.

The man was released Thursday after paying a fine on the drunk charge but was taken into custody a short time later after Calgary police telegraphed they wanted him.

Calgary police said Martin's description also tallied with that of Henderson.

A few days later he was identified by a rooming-house keeper in Winnipeg, but disappeared again before police arrived and his whereabouts had been unreported until Thursday.

Captain Terragno said he expected a warrant would arrive from Calgary in a day or two but that Martin, who denied ever being in Calgary, had indicated he would fight extradition.

Two Killed When Car Shears Off Hydro Pole

COURTRIGHT, Ont. (CP)—Two youths were killed Thursday night when the car in which they were riding crashed into a Hydro pole and sliced off into a tree near this community about 15 miles south of Sarnia.

Dead are Jean English, 18, of Riviere au Rexard, Que., and Ernest Laberge, 16, of Sombra.

Hector English, brother of Jean, was admitted to hospital in Sarnia with internal injuries. Authorities described his condition as serious. Leo Vigor was admitted to hospital with a broken leg and possible undetermined injuries.

Police said the four were working on an oil-drilling project in Sombra township. They were driving in a car leased to them by Philip Bernard of Port Lambton when the crash occurred.

The cash brought Hydro lines carrying 4,000 volts to within 10 feet of the road and police said rescue workers had difficulty getting the dead and injured out of the car.

They were unable to determine who was driving the car.

'Flying Saucer' Was Helicopter Flown by Yank

OSLO, Norway (Reuters) — The Oslo evening newspaper Aftenposten said Thursday that the flying saucer that two sisters thought they saw near Mosjoen was in reality a large helicopter—and the "spaceman" they talked to was an American pilot, Bally Faurot.

Faurot left Norway Thursday to return to his base in Stuttgart, Germany. But a Norwegian ground mechanic who talked to him at Fornebu airport before he left said Faurot confirmed he had talked to two women when he landed in the hills above Mosjoen in northern Norway.

Mutual Need for River Basin Waters Has Embroiled India And Pakistan in Bitter Dispute

By EUGENE LEVIN

NEW DELHI (AP)—The mutual need for Indus river basin waters has embroiled India and Pakistan in one of their bitterest disputes.

Each nation is heaping accusations on the other in this struggle for waters of the Indus and five tributaries—vitally needed by both for irrigation and power.

The atmosphere has become so tense many Western diplomats are apprehensive that India and Pakistan may become irrevokably estranged.

BEGAN IN 1947

The long-smouldering Indus dispute began when India and Pakistan gained their freedom in 1947. The division of the sub-continent, after the British left, placed the headwaters of the Indus basin in Indian hands. However, the waters fed an intricate canal system irrigating millions of acres inside Pakistan's borders. Thus, Pakistan had the pipeline, but India controlled the taps.

India said it needed the waters for its own irrigation system. Pakistan retorted it needed them to keep its fertile lands from reverting to desert.

Two years ago the World Bank entered the dispute and got India to promise not to tamper with the Indus basin in any way that would harm Pakistan.

Last spring the bank came up with a proposal, exact details of which have not been released. India accepted the recommendation, but when Pakistan wavered, the Indians said they no longer felt bound to hold up their own river development projects.

INDIA OPENS SYSTEM

On July 8, India's Prime Minister Nehru pressed a button which opened the gates of the Nangal dam, sending waters from the Sutlej river into the Nangal-Bakra canals. Pakistan angrily protested that India had violated international commitments. Nehru and other Indian officials insisted they meant no harm to the Pakistanis, but asserted they had to go ahead with the development plans.

"If Pakistan goes without water it will not be our fault," one Indian official declared. "We have given them seven years to find alternate water supplies and they have done nothing."

The whole matter may reach crisis proportions in September. The monsoon ends in September and the Sutlej will run low. Then, if India taps all the river waters for her new canal, little will be left for the Pakistani waterways.

WORLD OPINION FACTOR

Indications are, however, India will not risk alienating world opinion by cutting off all of Pakistani's water.

It is generally understood the World Bank proposal would give Pakistan exclusive use of the three western rivers—the Indus, Jhelum and Chenab. India would get rights to the three eastern rivers—the Ravi, Sutlej and Beas. This would give Pakistan 80 per cent of the available water, but to use it, the Karachi government would have to construct a costly system of dams and linking canals tying the three western rivers to its irrigation system.

Indian officials feel the bank proposal must be adopted—at least until some other solution can be worked out. Pakistan opposes any division of waters, saying the project would cost too much and insists the two countries try to work out a joint development scheme.

Hall Resigning Conference Post In Protest Move

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA (CP)—Rail union chief Frank H. Hall of Montreal said today he is resigning as chairman of the general conference committee of non-operating unions as a protest against enforced arbitration of the railways-union contract dispute.

Hall last week turned in his resignation as chairman of the conference's smaller negotiating committee, and today he said in an interview he is resigning from the chairmanship of the parent body to reinforce his stand against compulsion.

At the same time, he announced the general conference committee will meet Sept. 8 at Montreal to review the decision of the negotiating committee Aug. 18 to submit to arbitration in the face of the calling of an emergency session of Parliament that would enforce it.

TO OPPOSE PRESSURE

Hall's announcement came as the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada convention was expected to receive today a resolution setting out TLC opposition to pressure exerted on the rail unions to call off a threatened strike for multi-million-dollar fringe benefits.

The Hall resignation would remove from the leadership of unions representing 145,000 workers the man who led them to Canada's first rail tieup in 1950 and who carried them towards another this year until Prime Minister St. Laurent stepped in personally last week.

The prime minister made it clear then, in conferences at Ottawa, he would swing emergency legislation to head off a strike.

The double Hall resignation is not expected to be accepted.

WILL BE ON HAND

Members of the 105-member general conference committee and the 15-member negotiating committee, here attending the TLC convention, say the strong-minded Hall will be on hand by committee demand for the arbitration proceedings expected to start in early October.

Non-committal on that point, Hall said he wants to see the arbitrator decide on all points at issue as they were from the start of negotiations late last year.

At that time the unions were looking for eight paid statutory holidays a year, 18 days a year sick leave with pay, longer paid vacations and higher overtime pay for Sunday work. The railways turned down all points.

Stone from Abbey Will Be Part Of Kingston Church

LONDON (CP)—A 14th-century fragment of stone from Westminster Abbey is to become part of St. George's Cathedral at Kingston, Ont.

It will be a permanent reminder of the Kingston choir's singing at the abbey Aug. 10-29. Canadian choirmaster George Mayhe presented Dr. Alan Don, Westminster Abbey dean, with a piece of Kingston limestone from the cathedral earlier.

The choir sings at the abbey for the last time Sunday. A festal evensong with a procession has been arranged to mark the ending of the choir's 20-day visit.

The service will commence with a fanfare of trumpets and the singing of "O Canada," during which the Canadian ensign—which has flown over the abbey throughout the stay—will be carried with St. George's flag to the sanctuary by members of the choir.

Abbey officials report the visit has been a marked success. Attendances at the daily services have numbered as many as 1,500 and on Sundays the abbey has been packed, with many people standing.

The choir, first from outside Britain to sing regular services at the abbey, was invited by abbey organist Sir William McKie after he heard them sing.

NEGOTIATIONS BEGIN

HAMILTON (CP) — Officials of the Steel Company of Canada and the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) started negotiations again Wednesday but would not say if progress was made. The parties will hold another meeting today in an effort to reach agreement for nearly 7,000 workers at the Stelco plant here.

FOOTBALL BY THE FIRESIDE

Football by the fireside becomes a Canadian institution tomorrow thanks the CBC, NBC, and the sponsors.

Television's noblest experiment, from a Canadian football fan's standpoint; begins when Ottawa Roughriders and Toronto Argonauts cavort for the cathode tubes in Varsity Stadium Saturday at 2.00 While the shortest distance between two points is usually a straight line, Belleville viewers will likely find the link with a kink to Rochester will give them the best view.

Purists are kindly reminded that the NBC version is being done by two casters who admittedly are beginners to the cult of Canadian football. Their commenis will more than likely be a constant comparison of the Canadian game with the U.S. version. This is not to be interpreted as a slur on the Canadian game but simply an explanation of it to American viewers who are not familiar with the rules. It will be quite natural if these two adventurers of the airwaves miss a few calls or come-up with a few explanations that sound a little queer. Just remember that they are experts on U.S. football doing their level best to interpret a slightly different game to the hordes of listeners available to them in the U.S.

NBC is also trying to capture the American viewer and wean him away from his own game. Competition with CBS and ABC begins very shortly and the force feeding may be pretty severe from the first few weeks. However, barring accidents, there is little the commentators can do to blur the picture so settle back and enjoy the show.

Paul Baillargeon, who teams with Ray Villmer against Mighty Ursus and George (Zebra) Bollas in the feature attraction of tonight's wrestling show in Memorial Arena is one of the strongest men ever raised in the province of Quebec. Mighty Ursus is one of Mexico City's most muscular monsters. Tonight the two of them have decided that their corrupt team matches should be concluded. Baillargeon and Villmer have declared that tonight is the fatest night and that they intend to demolish both Ursus and Bollas with no if's, and's but maybe a few bolts. Baillargeon claims that they would have succeeded last Friday if referee Joe Gollob had not been flattened under a pile of pachyderms. Villmer's shipmate spin finished Ursus in the first half and claims that it was only because Ursus and Bollas ganged up on Villmer when the referees should have been watching, that they lost the second fall.

Ursus and Bollas are confident they can whip Villmer and Baillargeon.

"After all, we have the weight," crowed Ursus, "So what is speed? The ring is only so here. Where can they hide?"

Two referees will be on hand to keep proceedings under control.

Luther Lindsay, the colored flash, tackles Sky Hi Lee in the main preliminary in one of the most attractive bouts offered in Memorial Arena this year. In the opener Don Lewis meets Jan Gotch.

SQUARELY UP AGAINST IT

Belleville Bataa are squarely up against it tomorrow night in the third game of their best-of-five Viaduct-Ontario Senior Baseball League semi-final series with Oakville Oaks. They are trailing 2-0 in games after a 12-4 setback in Oakville last Saturday and a heart-rending 6-4 loss in 10 innings at the Fair Grounds Tuesday evening.

Coach Vern Goyer, who tossed 16 men into the fray Tuesday to nab a tie in weight, couldn't out think a two run homer in the tenth. But he is prepared to throw the entire team into the fray Saturday in an attempt to gain a win and keep the series alive. Oakville's slick southpaw, Ross Paton, who took the first game with a route going five hitter, and the second game in two innings of relief, will be Oakville's starter.

YOU CAN'T WIN, DEPT.

Reid's Regents, who whipped Deseronto Athletics 13-8 in five frames in Deseronto last Friday had the game washed out because of league ruling states that after games must go at least seven frames. Regents claimed Deseronto delayed the game protesting about umpires. Last night Regents took off for Deseronto complete with scorer and qualified umpires. They neglected, however, to take nine players and lost the game by default.

What happens now is anyone's guess. Regents took a 7-5 thriller from the Athletics at the Fair Grounds Monday night so it would appear that each club has won one game. However, if Regents get credit for last Friday night's win the series ended Monday. If the first game was officially washed out the series is tied. In any case it looks like another case for the conference table.

Until Present Time Swap Has Been in Favor of Giants But Braves Get Chance Tonight

By REN FELLOWES
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Bobby Thomson-Johnny Antonelli winter trade between New York and Milwaukee is shaping up more and more as the key to the 1954 National League pennant.

It's been almost all in the Giants' favor so far. Thomson broke his ankle during spring training and has been benched as a regular until this week. But tonight and Saturday the Braves get their chance to reap a few dividends.

Milwaukee has beaten New York six in a row and when the Giants invade County Stadium for this two-game series, they'll find Thomson fit and ready for the first time.

The Scots-born outfielder, a hustler with a natural flair for inspiring his mates, personally accounted for the first victory in the Braves' string over the Giants when he drove in the winning run as a pinch-hitter in Milwaukee July 23.

GOT HIS HITS

In his second game in the starting lineup, Thomson whacked a double and a single as the Braves pounded Sal Maglie and Al Corwin for 11 hits en route to a 6½ games of the Giants.

Antonelli, the Giants' prize in the deal, won't show against his former mates but if he worked Thursday winning his 19th game by shading the Chicago Cubs 2-1 in the second half of a doubleheader that split snapped a seven-game New York winning streak with a 4-3 victory in the opener.

The defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers will be pulling for the Braves tonight. The Dodgers are just 3½ behind New York and need help in catching the Giants will be appreciated.

Brooklyn, idle Thursday, opens a four-game series in St. Louis tonight.

The Cardinals held on to fourth place Thursday night although they lost 2-1 to Philadelphia. Harvey Lynch drove in both runs and bonus rookie Laurin Pierce recorded his first major league victory.

TRIBE-YANKS WIN

Cleveland edged Washington 2-1, New York thumped Detroit 11-2, Chicago split with the Philadelphia Athletics, winning 8-1 but losing 6-1, and Baltimore broke its 14-game losing streak, defeating Boston 5-3.

The Indians, who lead the Yankees by 4½ games, needed an eighth-inning homer by Al Smith to down the Senators although Early Wynn gave up only five hits in registering his 18th triumph. An error followed by a double by Roy Sievers produced Washington's only run.

Irv Noren, the leader in the American League batting race, slammed four hits in New York's runaway against the Tigers. Bob Grim gave up eight hits in winning his 11th game, top one for the Yankee staff, and was backed by a 17-hit attack.

Sandy Consuegra won No. 16 for Chicago in the opener at Philadelphia but the White Sox fell nine games behind Cleveland when Bill Renna hit a two-run homer and Joe Demaestri a two-run triple in the second game.

WILLIAMS TIES DIMAG

The Orioles pounded eight doubles and four singles in breaking out of their losing streak at Boston. Bob Turley blanked the Red Sox until the eighth when Ted Williams homered into the right field stands. The big blast was the 24th of the season for Williams and the 361st of his career, putting him in a tie with Joe DiMaggio for fifth in the all-time list.

Milwaukee's victory came in the last of the ninth inning when Danny O'Connell slashed a two-bagger single with two out off Jerry Herm Wehmeier.

Willie Mays had four hits in four times up in the first game including his 36th home run. Ralph Kiner singled home the winning Chicago run in the eighth. The deciding tally in the second game also was scored in the eighth when Dusty Rhodes doubled home Don Mueller. Rhodes batted for pitcher Al Corwin after New York run in the duel between Antonelli and Bob Rush.

Sugar Kings Within Game Of Fourth Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Havana Sugar Kings can keep Ottawa Athletics in Cuba long enough they may yet make it into the International League playoffs.

Havana is within a game of fourth-place Syracuse and has three more games left in the current series with the last-place Athletics. The Sugar Kings made it two in a row over Ottawa Thursday night, 5-3, while Syracuse was bowing to first-place Toronto 8-1.

The Chiefs hold one definite advantage in that Havana has played and lost two more games. While the Sugar Kings get three more cracks at the Athletics, Syracuse goes home to face second-place Rochester Red Wings. Battle for first place seems pretty well decided with Torgilo holding a six-game edge over Rochester with only 18 games to play. Now the Red Wings have a battle to hold second since Montreal is only a game away.

BREAK STRING—Warner

The Royals edged Richmond 6-5 Thursday night, breaking a four-game winning streak for the Virginians and handing the Richmond entry its 33rd one-run defeat of the season. Montreal broke a 3-3 tie in the seventh and Joe Black came on in the ninth inning to preserve the victory.

Havana came from behind with a four-run rally in the eighth to beat Ottawa for the second straight night. Pedro Formental homered and drove in another run with a single during the uprising.

Rochester bowed to Buffalo 4-2 with lefty Ken Johnson beating the Red Wings for the fourth time this season. Johnson was in trouble in the eighth but struck out Nels Burbrink with the bases loaded to end the threat.

Bob Wilhelm, back in the minors after a trial with the Yankees, held Syracuse to two hits in winning his second straight game. The only run against him was a homer by catcher Joe Lonnett in the seventh. He struck out 11.

REMEMBER WHEN

Forty-two-year old Charlie Root singled home two runs in the ninth inning to give the nod in the 200th National League victory for the Chicago Cubs 33 years ago today. The veteran right-hander relieved in the first inning to defeat Boston Braves 6-4.

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Thursday night dropped halfback Tom Manastersky, a six-year vet eran with the team, and lineman Dan Sekanovich from the University of Tennessee.

Young or old, this coot is different. A marsh bird who prefers to run and hide rather than fly from danger. Unique scalloped toes equip it well for skittering across yielding masses of half-floating vegetation.

Enos Slaughter May Play Ball One More Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Enos Slaughter, the old war horse, figures he might ease up and put himself out to pasture after "one more year."

Even at the bold age of 38, Slaughter's admission that he's near the end of the line is about as startling as the deal which ended his long career with the St. Louis Cardinals and set him to the New York Yankees at the start of the 1954 season.

One more year would make it 21 years in organized ball for Slaughter who in the past was resentful of being benched but now accepts his part-time role for manager Casey Stengel's Yanks.

ARGOS 16TH

TORONTO (CP) — Jeff Newton, an end just released by New York Giants, joined Toronto Argonauts Thursday night to become the Big Four club's 14th U.S. import.

Horvath to Flyers

EDMONTON (CP) — Acquisition of the 24-year-old centre Bronco Horvath was announced Thursday by coach Bud Poile of Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League.

Horvath was obtained in a deal with Cleveland Warriors of the American League engineered on Flyers' behalf by the parent Detroit Red Wings. In exchange, Syracuse got left winger Jimmy Anderson, centre Ross Lowe and defenceman Larry Thibeault.

Horvath from Port Colborne, Ont., turned pro with Springfield Indians in 1950-51, joining Syracuse the next year.

Canadian Football Season Goes Into High Saturday With Opening of Big Four

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The 1954 football season, already under way in the West for the last week, shifts into high gear Saturday with the opening of the Big Four schedule.

The East's top league is set for what will be the greatest season in its history. This is the season that will decide whether the Canadian game will achieve international flavor or remain a sport that only fans in this country will go for.

TV cameras this season will bring Big Four games into the homes of eastern Canadian fans on a scale bigger than ever before. And for the first time the Canadian game will be beamed to the United States when NBC telecasts the opening game of Toronto's Varsity Stadium between Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts.

NBC GAMBLE

NBC has been beating the drums for weeks on Canadian pro football. Dollars of thousands of U.S. fans are expected to view the Ottawa-Toronto game and whether they take to it and the 32 other league games to be telecast is an NBC gamble.

The other Big Four opener brings together the defending champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats, and Montreal Alouettes. Then they meet in two straight games in the league playoffs last season.

In the Western Interprovincial Football Union, already filled with surprises after only four games, British Columbia Lions make their debut after more than a year of preparation.

They will meet the highly-rated Winnipeg Blue Bombers, last year's Grey Cup finalists, in Vancouver Saturday night in their first league game while Eastern Conference Big Four riders and Calgary Stampeders play their last tilt of the season.

Monday night Winnipeg travels to Calgary and the Roughriders journey to Vancouver in the first road trips for these two teams. Edmonton Eskimos, badly-battered after games in Winnipeg and Regina last Saturday and Monday, get a chance to rest their injured with a week-end layoff.

ORFU ACTION

There is also action in the three-team Ontario Rugby Football Union Saturday. Toronto Balmy Beach moves out on the home front for a game against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen who opened the ORFU season Wednesday with a 23-13 loss to Sarnia Imperials.

Both the Big Four games will be telecast this Saturday with the Ottawa-Toronto game being carried by CBC's coast-to-coast network and Ottawa's TV station, CBOT. The Montreal-Hamilton game will be shown on CBMT, Montreal; CFPL-TV, London; and CKCO-TV, Kitchener.

The home teams' area Saturday will be blacked out. But on Sunday Toronto will see a film showing of the Ottawa-Toronto game beamed by Hamilton will see a delayed telecast of the game played in that city the previous day. In addition Montreal will show the Ottawa-Toronto game on film Sunday.

Sports Roundup

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Konstanty has been added to the New York Yankee roster, causing one approximate fan to blurt:

"What are they trying to do? Turn the stadium into a junk yard?"

He meant that Konstanty thrown a variety of "nothing" pitches, which ball players refer to disdainfully as junk, and at Eddie Lopat has been peddling junk for the champions for many years now, the addition of another such pitcher would seem to be carrying things a little far.

It's an old Yankee custom, this business of casting a roving eye over the National League in the waning days of August and then picking out some player who might be able to help the club down the home stretch toward the pennant.

AUGUST ADDITIONS

Johnny Mize was acquired from the Giants Aug. 22, 1949; Johnny Sain was shipped in by Boston Braves Aug. 29, 1951; title to Ewell Blackwell was obtained from the Reds Aug. 28, 1952 and now Konstanty is obtained from the Phillies.

There was considerable agitation among the other American League clubs when Mize, Sain and Blackwell were assigned to give their all for the Yankee cause, and in the case of Mize particularly the agitation was not without cause. Mize was getting along in years even then, but he still could hit the long ball more than seldom.

Sain has also been of great value to the New York club; only Blackwell failed to come through as expected, due to his health and arm trouble.

HOTTEST AROUND

There was a time when the other clubs would have screamed self-righteous indignation over the Konstanty deal as about four years ago Konstanty was just about the hottest thing around when it came to relief pitching. His performance had a lot to do with getting the Phillies into the World Series in 1950.

Big Jim had a 17-7 record that year, and they did everything but write songs and name streets after him in Philadelphia.

Somewhere between the 1950 and 1951 seasons Konstanty lost his touch. He became a cousin to the National League hitters, instead of a distant relative, and ended the 1951 season with a 4-11 record.

He never regained his 1950 form, and his 2-3 record this year is something he will talk about only to himself. There always is the chance, though, that the new crop of batters he will face will be baffled for awhile by his brand of junk.

Soccer Results

By beating Northern Electric 4-2 last Saturday, Batawa established itself as the favorite to step up to senior ranks in the Eastern Ontario League. Smith with two, Easton and Curphey got the Shoemen's goals while Carriere and Lever replied for the Electrics. Northern Electric are now out of the running and can finish no better than third place in their next two games.

Kingston United pulled an upset edging top place Peterborough U.E.W. 3-1 in a Interzone City. The result still leaves U.E.W. at the top of the heap with a one point lead and a game in hand over Batawa.

In the other game last Saturday, Peterborough Scottish defeated Peterborough Merchants 4-0 and Oshawa finished in the league cellar.

Saturday afternoon Peterborough Merchants play Kingston United in Kingston. Sunday Batawa wind up the league schedule at home with a visit from Oshawa to Batawa. Enough. This battle between the league leaders and runners-up should be quite a game.

BENEFIT GAME

This game is also being played as a benefit game for George Williams, a member of Quinte Circles, British Columbia Lions make their debut after more than a year of preparation.

They will meet the highly-rated Winnipeg Blue Bombers, last year's Grey Cup finalists, in Vancouver Saturday night in their first league game while Eastern Conference Big Four riders and Calgary Stampeders play their last tilt of the season.

Canadian Grabs Second Greatest Prize in Shooting

VANDALIA, O. (AP)—A 34-year-old Canadian stepped out of the rain-spoiled tent he had been sleeping in since Monday and grabbed trapshooting's second greatest prize — the preliminary handicap—at the 55th Grand American here Thursday. It was the first clay-target event Vern Thordarson of Hamilton Ont. even won in his life.

Thornborrow making his first appearance here in the world series of trapshooting broke 100 targets in a row from 1h yards to outshoot 1742 ther entrants the largest field in the event's history.

The first Canadian to ever win a major championship here Thornborrow is only five feet five inches tall and weighs 130 pounds. He started shooting in 1952 and his best handicap score until Thursday was 92 of 100.

He was using a second-hand gun and he figures to pick up about $4,000 in purse money in addition to the $1,000 first-place prize.

Thornborrow operates a fuel oil and home heating business in Hamilton. It is owned and he runs it.

His victory was a startling surprise, since his over-all score in handicaps last year was 442 of 500.

GOING HUNTING

Asked what he was going to do with his winnings, he said "I'm going after hunting this fall."

The feminine laurels went to Helen Ryan of Marysville, Ky., 34-year-old housewife who broke 96 of 100 from 19 yards.

Thornborrow's win accented the fact that the high average shooters seldom win handicap events at the "Shooting Grand." The 1 t i e shooters are handicapped as far back as 27 yards from the trapfrom which the targets emerge.

Other Canadians who took part in the handicap, with their handicap yardages and scores included: J. Lake, Wellington, Ont., 77; 19; D. H. Nicholls, Chatham, Ont., 91; H. A. Aitkien, Duncan, Ont., 91; 20; G. A. McAteer, St. Thomas, Ont., 94; Hartman, Kitchener, 88; 22; H. W. Thrasher, Carlier, Ont., 93; Mahlon H. Thrasher, Carlier, Ont., 91; Mel M. Kerns, St. Thomas, Ont., 89; 23;. Leon Hartman, Kitchener, Ont., 85.

Wally Ulrich Man to Catch As 81 Golfers Swing Into 3rd Round of Labatt Open

By W. R. WHEATLEY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Somewhat subdued and shaken down in numbers, a field of 81 set out today to see what could be the most exciting round of the $28,500 Open about testing the leadership.

For the moment, the man to catch was hefty Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn. Ulrich came through with a five-under-par 65 Thursday to move in front of the pack with a 36-hole score of 130 at the half-way mark.

Only one stroke away was Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City, whose 66 Thursday put him alone in second place with 131.

The race was so close that eight golfers, including Stan Leonard of Vancouver, were only four strokes away from the top. And the way the tournament has been going a brand new shake-up today would come as no surprise.

The first round Wednesday brought out a great array of 58 par-breakers. The number shrunk Thursday, in cooler weather and fitful breezes, to 46.

Hard-working officials Thursday night shaking their heads at the 54 Canadian pros, 21 Canadian pros, five Canadian ladies and one American amateur will start.

The qualifying score underwent drastic revision in the afternoon as there are Canadians 'eligible for special dispensation today and tomorrow because it was suddenly discovered that amateurs who qualified in their own right will not collect the money end of the tournament after all.

Dave Douglas, of Groslnger's, N.Y., who set the pace in the first round with 65, is figure that tapered off Thursday with a 69, but remained in the runner-up spot at 132.

Another stroke back were Tommy Bolt of Houston, Texas, and Doug Ford of Klamesha Lake, N.Y. Both had 67s in the second round effort and Ford, winner of the tournament last year, a 66.

ONLY TWO AT 67

Stan Leonard, still low Canadian with 134, was the only pro in addition to Ulrich to clip the Thursday course for 65, a figure that was considered little better than fair-to-middlin' Wednesday.

The over-all Canadian par made it appear for a while that a par 70 for Saturday would be the qualifying mark. It first worked out that 146 for the amateurs would make the third-round grade with 143. Then came later offers, including the revised figure was 144. This didn't include Canadians who were outside that figure and had a chance for the special Canadian money which, in the midst of all the gyrations, was upped to $1,210.

The way the field shapes up today, there are 37 of the 54 starters who are still under par for 36 holes. Seven are even par 142.

Grouped with Leonard at 134 were Glen Teal of Jacksonville, Fla., Mike Souchak of Durham, N.C., and Jack Burke of Klamesha Lake.

Sam Snead of Greenshier, W.Va., in a large gallery watching his every swing, had a 68 Thursday and was alone with a 135 total.

The peculiarity of the tournament so far is that both Douglas and Ulrich are men who wound up in a sensational race for the championship in the Canadian Open over the same course last year, Douglas was the winner by 1 stroke, one stroke better than Ulrich.

Ulrich had big day Thursday in overhauling Douglas. The Rochester pro was out in 33 and back in 32, three under par for each nine. Using his irons to best advantage, he reached the par 4 and 5 holes and slipped over par only twice. His eagle three at the 520-yard 12th and 13th to move in ahead of Douglas, who improved by the United States PGA but are not members of the Canadian PGA. Mawhinney and Hale in and out with 138. Now Kesselring, with 144, and Horton Hutter, 145, get in. But Canadians outside the regular 144 qualifying score can qualify from play only for the special Canadian prize money.

DETROIT (AP)—Robert Sweeny who moves in the best circles of Long Island, Palm Beach and London, was the only "name" player left today in the national amateur golf championship.

The 43-year-old Pasadena, Calif., native has played in the British Amateur more times than in the American. He has been defeated until he came through Thursday with a dazzling 4 and 3 victory over Dale Morey, last year's runner-up.

The other survivors were Arnold Palmer, a 24-year-old former coast guardsman and Wake Forest College player who is rated top among the rising young amateurs; 36-year-old Eddie Meister, who may have more matches in this tournament than anyone around, and Dr. Ted Lenczyk, 32, year-old Hamtramck dentist whose golf reputation has been enhanced by that of his idol, Grace.

Palmer beat Meister in last year's Ohio amateur — the only time he has met Meister.

Palmer was knocked out of his first amateur by Frank Stranahan in the first round in 1950. He gained ample revenge Thursday by eliminating the great Stranahan, 3 and 1, and then going on to beat Don Cherry, 3up, after a tense, erratic struggle.

Cherry and Bill Campbell, both eliminated in Thursday's upsets, picked Sweeny to win the title.

Gavilan Claims His Right Hand Key to Saxton

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan said Thursday his right hand is okay again and that he intends to demonstrate its power on challenger Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia next Wednesday in their title fight.

This will be the sleek Cuban's first appearance in the ring since his close decision to middleweight king Bobo Olson in Chicago last April. After that fight Gavilan complained he had injured his right hand rome time before and could not use it effectively against Bobo.

Doctors of the Illinois athletic commission examined the hand before the fight and said there was nothing wrong with it. Nevertheless, Gavilan insisted there was and when he went home to Cuba he had it placed in a cast. "It is feel better now," said the 28-year-old 147-pound ruler at his training camp. "I use it in training it okay."

How about Saxton who said he would be a crowd-pleasing champion all the way?

"Saxton, he's pretty good," replied Gavilan. "He strong and he likes to crowd. How I answer strongest? I throw plenty of punches."

Philly Players Line Up Behind Manager

MILWAUKEE, (AP) — Philadelphia Phillies, in a statement handed to reporters Thursday by pitcher Robin Roberts, aligned themselves with manager Terry Moore in his row with second baseman Granny Hamner.

The typewritten statement, Roberts said, was "agreed to unanimously by all members of the squad. It carried no signatures.

The statement, which did not mention Hamner by name read as follows:

"The statements made in the press recently about our ball club were strictly the personal opinion of one player and do not represent the feelings of the rest of the squad. We have too much confidence in our manager, Terry Moore, to let this misrepresentation go unanswered. We hope the future results on the field will bear out these feelings."

Hamner and Manner patched up their disagreement late Wednesday after exchanging charges and counter-charges in the wake of Hamner's remark that the Phillies "aren't even trying." The players like high school kids."

Elgins Take Game Lead Over Majors In Playoffs

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Thomas Elgins, who two days ago weren't even sure they'd make the playoffs, Thursday night took a lead over London Majors in their Intercounty Baseball League semi-finals.

Showing the form they used in their last three games to edge into third place and a berth in the playoffs, Elgins scored an 8-5 win over Majors. They had two four-run innings including a grand - slam homer by Don Butler in the sixth.

In the other best-of-seven semi-final round, Galt Terriers blanked second-place Brantford Red Sox 7-0 at Galt.

Elgins got into the playoffs with a double win Tuesday over Brantford. They then downed Majors in a doubleheader game Wednesday for third spot.

DRAFCHO'S EIGHTH

Thursday's results on a 5 St. Thomas Thursday night saw southpaw Ed Draycho pitch a seven-hitter for his eighth win of the season. He has had seven losses. Bob Brake was the loser.

The second four-run inning came in the fifth frame when Willie Canavos smacked a two-run homer followed by a double by Ray Urban, two singles by Butler and Roger Breard and a sacrifice fly by Don Glenn.

Majors picked up a run on a homer by Jim Halkard in the sixth and Draycho got the last of his fifth. Their other two came in an eighth-inning rally of three hits, including a double by Gordie McEachen, a walk, a single by Halkard and a sacrifice fly by Breard.

At Galt, Jeep Jessup posted his fourth win of the season over Breard and came up with two-hit 3 wins against six losses.

Despite the sweep, it was a tight game with Galt having the edge in fielding play.

DOUBLE PLAY

Johnny Imbra engineered a smooth double play in the fifth with the bases loaded to bring the club's total for the season to 14. Breard fanned in the sixth again loaded, he raced into short left field to take Stan Lipka's grounder and then threw him out to retire the side.

Frosty Thomas provided the other fielding gem in the second when he nipped a threatened Brantford rally with a throw from centre field to nip Shanty Clifford at the plate in the third out.

Galt's first baseman Joe Parise was forced out of the game in the ninth by umpire Alex Stanley for protesting Stanley's decision on a close play.

DISCUSS WORLD SERIES

NEW YORK (AP)—Ford Frick, baseball commissioner, Thursday invited the presidents of the National and American Leagues and officials of the top three contending clubs from each circuit to attend a meeting here Sept. 3 for the discussion of world series plans.

New York, Brooklyn and Milwaukee were asked to send representatives from the National League and Cleveland, New York and Chicago from the American. The meeting is slated to start the park of the National League pennant winner this year.

SPORT IN BRIEF

RETIRE TOP PACER

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—The owners of Hi-Lo's Forbes, named the standardbred harness horse of the year in 1953, announced Thursday they are retiring the pacer to stud. Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Wagner of Landover Hills, Md., said Hi-Lo's Forbes is suffering an incurable ankle injury which has been diagnosed as a calcium deposit on a bone. This is similar to the ailment which caused the retirement of Native Dancer last week. Hi-Lo's Forbes won 11 of 17 starts and earned $52,625.

BRUNO OUT

OTTAWA (CP)—Ed Al Bruno won't be playing with Ottawa Rough Riders this year. A club spokesman said Thursday night it wasn't interested in the big American end, put on the Big Four waiver list by Toronto Argonauts earlier this week. There had been some talk that Bruno would wind up here this season.

FUTBALL INTEREST

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet consulate says it has received nearly 100 visa applications from Britons who want to see London soccer team, Arsenal, play a Russian club Oct. 5 in Moscow.

"Futbol is a great game," said a clerk at the consulate. "There is much interest in futbol. There's interest in our futbol from the British public than in our wonderful ballet."

DENIES REPORT

QUEBEC (CP)—Lionel Fleury, president of the Quebec Junior Hockey League, Thursday denied a Hull, Que., report that a franchise has been granted a Hull hockey team in the Ottawa junior "A" city league to play in the QJHL. Mr. Fleury said only the QJHL directorate is empowered to grant a franchise in its own league and it hasn't yet been approached.

Do a little adding and see what you get. Four and five total nine. Six and three are nine. Seven and two make nine. In terms of no-trump tricks you will know when you have a game.

When you bid no-trump count one trick for each high card (ace or king or queen). When you open with a bid of one in a suit you promise, among other things, four high cards (no-trump tricks.)

In answer to an opening one bid the partner who responds in a suit promises three tricks or more. Among them he makes a promise of two high cards (no-trump tricks.)

When either is forced to bid and his bid is no-trump he does not promise any more no-trump tricks. But each voluntary no-trump bid is a promise of one high card in excess of those shown before.

Sit south in the pair of partnership hands shown here:

SOUTH	NORTH
♠Q 2	♠A 7 4
♥A Q 5	♥K 7 4
♦A Q 9 6 3	♦8 5 2
♣K J 4	♣Q 7 2

Open with one diamond. Of your six no-trump tricks your opening shows only four of them. Therefore, somewhere in this deal you have the qualities for two voluntary no-trump bids or raises.

The north response is one spade. The takeout to a new suit is forcing for one round. With no more takeouts or an assist you are forced to bid no-trump Your bid here is one no-trump.

Your forced one no-trump bid does not reveal your fifth or sixth high card. To show either or both would take a raise in number. Such a raise here would be a jump, a signal you see game.

So far, north has shown only two highs. With your six you can see only eight at this time. It takes nine to assure no-trump game.

North has three highs; enough for one voluntary no-trump bid. He shows it with a bid of two spades. Again, it's one no-trump. Now you can make a voluntary raise to game in no-trump.

Add your high cards and please your spry pards.

Miami First Choice for Spot In Int. League

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — If and when the International Baseball League has a franchise, Miami will be given top consideration as a replacement member, Frank Shaughnessy league president, said Thursday.

Shaughnessy, stopping off en route home from Havana, told Jim Burns, sports editor of the Miami Herald, that he is exploring Miami's potentialities as a baseball city.

"We do not have a vacancy at the moment," he said, "but we do anticipate an opening and in my opinion Miami would be our choice. He is going to see and with a club here we could break our long airplane flight to Cuba."

WELDER FATALLY BURNED

FARMINGDALE, Me. (AP)—A welder ran 70 feet with clothing ablaze and burned to death Wednesday as horrified fellow workers tried to smother the flames with shovelsful of sand. As Henry Gallant, 37, of Skowhegan was working on a diesel fuel tank, it exploded, hurling the welder 10 feet to the ground.

Noted Director Called 'Skinny' By Friends on the Film Lot

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — They're calling Alfred Hitchcock "skinny" these days.

The noted director always asserts himself in his suspenseful films, and his portly figure is long been a trade mark. If he keeps up his dieting, you'll have to look hard to see him in the pictures.

From a high-water mark of almost 200 pounds, Hitchcock is he explained he had picked up 10 pounds in France while filming locations for "To Catch a Thief."

"Anyone who is as fat as I have been doesn't need food for lunch and breakfast," he said. "The body can live off the fat, just as a bear does.

WRONG WAY

"Actually I do it the wrong way. I should have the first two meals of the day and run off the energy. When you concentrate on dinner, you make dieting harder; your metabolism is at its lowest while you are sleeping.

But I enjoy having the big meal at night when I am relaxed and can enjoy it, rather than in the morning when I am raring to go."

Hitchcock said he reached his top weight when he was making "Shadow of a Doubt" in 1941. He started dieting on "Lifeboat." Through strenuous effort, he dropped to 208. But then he slipped back to 240.

HELD THE LINE

He made his resolve again while making "Dial M for Murder" in June, 1953. By last January he was down to 190 and has held the line more or less since then.

Such fluctuations have played havoc with his wardrobe. His waist has shrunk from 46 inches to 40. "I have a row of suits at home," he remarked, "a few in each size. I pick out the one which fits me at the moment."

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 28, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A better outlook than for the past few days. Sound business, professional undertakings, maritime prospects can be built up to great advantage today. Don't neglect spiritual needs.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Planets favorably aspected now. Good for building, merchandising, manufacturing; for those handling groups, teaching children, the arts, music. Indulge in wholesome recreation during free time.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mild indications, especially for personal affairs. Dealing in medicine, chemicals highly favored. Honest endeavors should advance reasonably.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — with a proper show of initiative and interest you can move forward in your chosen field. Be cheerful as you go along and others will enjoy giving you assistance, good advice.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Your magnetic personality and natural ability for salesmanship should bring you benefits, fresh opportunities. An early start, alertness to unexpected obstacles needed.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Outlook stimulating. This could be one of your good all-round days. Be keen, take advantage of opportunities. If in doubt, seek advice; also profit by past experiences.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Influences can greatly help your efforts in personal and business activities. Discount fluctuations in routine matters; they'll straighten out in due time. Be dependable, honest.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A good reconstruction period. The budget, expenditures, investments all bear careful watching! Give close scrutiny to all issues important matters.

November 22 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Only a fair day perhaps. Emphasis on tolerance, friendliness, helping others in generous spirit. Extra effort could achieve some gains; check all leads.

December 22 to January 21 (Capricorn)—You may have to point up the "little things" today. Control reckless desires and be ready to give your best when it is most needed. Personal affairs sponsored especially in a.m.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Stars warn against involvement in contracts entailing large expenditures, obligating you to take too much time from duties, regular work, family obligations.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Changing conditions. Incline toward conservativeness in most cases. Accept things with a smile; let simplicity be your theme. Analyze each proposed project before acting.

YOU BORN TODAY are keenly intelligent, refined, have good taste in dress and manners. You are generally frank, often critical; but by no means one who would deliberately hurt another. You will come to others' assistance, usually make an excellent nurse. Virgo has given us many noted writers, speakers, journalists, doctors, actors, decorators and persons who can be depended upon in an emergency. Don't take others' words, actions too seriously. Birthdate of: Sir Edwards Burne-Jones, Engpainter.

High Property, Economic Expansion Predicted by Sale

TORONTO (CP)—One of Canada's top industrial executives told a gathering of editors today that barring a catastrophic war or comparable international turmoil, there is no single reason why Canada should not continue to enjoy economic expansion and high prosperity.

Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford of Canada, told the closing session of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association convention "We have not been having a depression or a recession nor anything of the kind.

"We have been going through a perfectly normal period of adjustment and if I read the signs correctly we are on the way out."

"Our own swelling population guarantees a steadily increasing home markets — these are the source of a large part of our potential prosperity."

Canadians had seen signs of a betterment in world markets for Canadian products with the relaxation of exchange and import restrictions in some Commonwealth territories.

"The thing we have to avoid," he said, "is taking our prosperity for granted. There is no magic formula which makes it possible for the Canadian manufacturer, the Canadian agriculturist or the Canadian worker to sit back and expect the blessings of heaven to come perpetually without effort.

"We have a job to do," said Mr. Sale, "to protect and nurture an economy which is the envy of the entire world. If we spend less time worrying and more time working, nothing under the sun can slow Canada's march of progress."

Little Benny's Notebook

Ma sighed a big sigh to herself, saying to pop, I looked in the window of the Flitiman Fur Shop today, William, and there was a mink coat in there actually priced at 4 thousand dollars.

That mite of been just the asking price, pop said. I wouldn't be surprized if they'd let it go at 3 thousand 8 hundred and 98, if you went in there and stuck to your guns, he said, and ma said, Just to think, William, there are thoughtless, selfish women who buy furs like that on the part payment plan. I pity their poor husbands, scrimping and saving as how the eye can reetch, she said.

And I congradulate your fortunate husband, my dear, on having a wife who can look into a fur shop window and walk away with a musical fillosophical giggle, pop said, and ma said, Still and all, William, suppose I really was one of those silly giddy women, what would you do?

I'd have your head examined, and then I'd put you away in a nice quiet place till you recovered, pop said, and ma said, Oh dear, do you mean you wouldn't humor me, even if I was unreasonable!

My dear, if you bought a $4,000 mink blanket on the installment plan, which of course you wouldn't, I assure you I'd beg and borrow and lie and steal and mortgage our home till the bill was payed, pop said, and ma said, That's better, that makes me glad I'm so sensible on the subject.

And she gave pop a kiss like somebody feeling better instead of worse.

HOW TO KEEP TIRES SAFER--LONGER

Keep air pressure equal in all tires, especially for winter driving!

Be sure air pressure is correct for your car.

- Rotate all tires, including spare, at least every 5,000 miles. Rotating tires gives longer life, greater safety, smoother riding.
- Be sure wheels are properly balanced and aligned to avoid flat spots caused by excessive wear and continuous "scuffing".
- Avoid quick starts, sudden stops, and sharp turns—causes of unnecessary and dangerous tire wear.

Proper rotation adds 20% to tire life!

24 Airmen Killed As Big U.S. Bomber Crashes In Dakota

Three Others in Hospital In Very Critical Condition

RAPID CITY, S.D. (AP)—Four more bodies were recovered early today bringing the death toll to 24 in the crash Friday night of a huge B-36 bomber on its way in to a landing at the Ellsworth air force base near here.

The public information office said the three other crew members aboard the stricken ship were in "very critical" condition at the base hospital.

Roaring flames from the ship's outsized fuel tanks kept searchers and firemen from the fuselage section of the broken ship until about 7 a.m. when the last bodies were taken out.

The plane, largest of propeller-driven bombers in the U.S., took off from the base on what was to have been a routine training flight.

WEATHER PERFECT

The wreckage was scattered widely over a quarter mile area, one officer revealed. He described the weather as "perfect" at the time the ship was to have landed.

Officers said the plane apparently struck a small hill as it approached the lengthy runway and was burst apart and fired within seconds. It came down about a mile and a half from the base on the farm of Alfred Swallow.

Swallow and his son, Harold, said they were about to retire when they felt a "concussion which shook the ground." They saw flames right up the road immediately and drove to the scene.

Flames were sweeping the wreckage by the time they reached it. They said pieces of the ship were scattered over a wide area.

NUMBER OF EXPLOSIONS

Swallow said there also were a number of explosions, apparently of fuel tanks and ammunition. The plane had been on a routine training flight out of the Ellsworth base, 13 miles west of Rapid City. The crash occurred about 12:15 a.m. EDT. (1:15 a.m. ADT)

Names of all victims were being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Government's Surplus Is Cut From Last Year

OTTAWA (CP) — The government's budgetary surplus was trimmed in July to $28,712,000 as compared with $45,370,000 in July last year, as both tax revenues and expenditures continued to decline.

The small monthly balance brought the surplus for the first four months of the 1954-55 fiscal year to $137,756,000, some $90,000,000 less than the $230,407,000 in the same period last year, the finance department's treasury statement showed Friday.

The big hole on the collections side was in corporation income tax, which fell sharply declined by some $23,000,000 from last year's figure. On the spending side, the drop was concentrated in defence where expenditures decreased in the month by $54,000,000.

The government last year spent about $200,000,000 in this line $2,000,000,000 estimated for the year and it may be heading for another over-all cut this year, possibly greater than $200,000,000.

Total revenues for the month dropped to $361,830,000 from $389,294,000 last year, cutting the four-month total to $1,316,968,000 from $1,439,858,000.

The month's collection of personal income tax increased slightly to $112,400,000 from $107,600,000, but corporation income tax dropped to $88,262,000 from $111,367,000.

Free Enterprise Is Commended At Church Meet

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Churchmen from many lands, including some from the Communist side of the Iron Curtain, have commended private enterprise as a spur to economic progress.

A report to that effect was approved late Friday at the assembly of World Council of Churches.

The declaration, regarded as a shift to the right in the organization's position on economic matters, made these points:

The spread of governmental action in economic affairs "has been accompanied by a fresh recognition of the dependence of individual freedom in enterprise and of the role of the price system."

Churches have been "properly critical" of monopolistic and irresponsible business practices but, at its best, the private business system "has provided incentives for the responsible initiative and hard work which produces economic progress."

The report also maintained that government must be ready to "counteract depression or inflation" and to "relieve the impact of unemployment, industrial injury, low wages, unfavorable working conditions, sickness and old age."

IMPROVED WELFARE URGED

Christians were urged to work for "improved national or local welfare legislation and for the provision of adequate medical care."

The report advocated increased production and "a greater measure of equity in the distribution of wealth and income."

It said that farmers should have "a reasonable measure of security of income."

It also suggested that trade union, farmer and employer associations and other groups should be responsible to their members and society as a whole.

The report brought in Friday was drafted by the committee on responsible society.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A band of cloudiness moved into Ontario Friday night from the west, and there were a few light scattered showers Saturday morning.

Today will be mostly cloudy over the province, but on Sunday the sun will shine in most of the Great Lakes area.

Textile Workers Asked to Offer To Take Less Pay

MILLTOWN, N.B. (CP)—Mayor Ralph Eagan of Milltown Friday night appealed to the 350 union employees of the pulp mill here to volunteer a wage reduction program "of some magnitude," during negotiations for contract with their parent organization. The owner, Fraser Companies Ltd., have announced the mill is to be shut down.

The mayor, who once worked in the mill, said he has called a mass meeting of citizens for 11 a.m. today to remind them of "their obligations to the province and the community as a whole."

LABOR DEPT. SEEKS TO SETTLE MAJOR DISPUTES

Conciliation Meetings Called for Next Week

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two meetings have been called by officials of the Ontario labor department for next week in an attempt to settle disputes between companies and unions which involve more than 12,000 steel and farm implement workers in the province.

Chief conciliation officer Louis Fine is scheduled to meet labor representatives of the Steel Company of Canada and Local 1,005, United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

The second meeting is to be held Wednesday at the office of Labor Minister Charles Daley between Massey-Harris-Ferguson Ltd. and United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) officials from locals in Toronto, Brantford and Woodstock.

Negotiations on wage disputes have stalled.

The 6,000 members in the Massey-Harris locals, 2,700 in Toronto, have voted authority to their bargaining committee to call a strike vote at a time to be set by the committee.

MAY CALL STRIKE

Union officials at Stelco have also been given the power to call a strike. A mass membership meeting was held after a company package offer, including a 2½-cent increase in wages and a contributory benefit plan, was unacceptable to the union.

The package had originally asked for an hourly increase of 5½ cents over the basic rate of $1.43½ cents. The conciliation board recommended the company offer a five-cent raise.

At Toronto, a Massey-Harris-Ferguson spokesman said all non-economic issues were resolved but talks on wages failed to bring agreement. The union asked a 10-cent hourly increase, increases in off-shift premiums and improvement in group insurance and pension plans. All were turned down by a recent conciliation board majority report. The union rejected the report.

Churchill Acquires Streamlined Pigs, Danish Dachshunds of Swine World

By EDDIE GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, a man of many interests, has struck out in a new direction—streamlined pigs.

The 79 - year - old statesman-writer-artist - bricklayer - bought four Danish pigs from an American with a Swedish wife who lives and works in England.

It's an international way to go about the pig business, but, then, Churchill is a man of the world. He not only bought the quartet of pigs but the Danish groups should be a country home in Kent for luncheon and tidbred pigs from noon until 3 p.m.

Here's what happened:

Patrick Dolan, an American businessman who has a farm not far from London, has 300 pigs. Three years ago he heard about a breed developed by the Danes called landrace.

He found that the Danes developed the landrace as a bacon pig. It has a long body, hefty hams, narrow shoulders, a small head and a stomach to speak of.

"A mass production job of a streamlined pig if I ever saw one," said Dolan. "The dachshund of the pig world and a great producer of bacon."

The Danes exported a few to Sweden and from Sweden the elongated pig found its way to bacon-short Britain. Dolan bought some of them two years ago 100 more landraces were imported here. Dolan thought this would be a good time to build up his stock.

"I went to an auction near Peterborough," he said, "and I found everybody in the British pig world there. I figured I'd buy me four pigs for about $560. But I kept my hands in my pocket when $1,500 was reached on my bid and $2,800 —$7,000) the last."

So Dolan reasoned those landraces were more valuable than he thought. He did everything he could to encourage their multiplication.

Churchill's beard about Dolan's pigs and dispatched an emissary to the American's farm. The American was reluctant to sell, but Dolan he gave in, had lunch with the prime minister and parted with four pigs.

The price

"Well," said Dolan, looking out of the window, "anyone who says Churchill is losing his grip just doesn't have the facts."

TORONTO (CP)—Warriors of today and yesterday paraded today at the Canadian National Exhibition, perhaps with a little more pomp than usual for royalty will be watching.

The Duchess of Kent, who Friday sent the CNE towards what officials say may be its greatest success, will take the salute today as Canada's armed forces and veterans march on Warriors' Day.

"We have not forgotten the sacrifices made by Canadians during the war," the duchess said Friday in opening the 76th annual CNE, "the fact that over a million men and women from this country were at our side throughout those years.

"These were gestures of real friendship, and I am glad that I am to be given the opportunity of taking the salute at Warriors' Day parade, and of expressing something of what is felt by everyone at home for those who fought beside us."

Before the warriors' parade, Defence Minister Campney was to address a directors' luncheon meeting and the CNE generally will get down to a full second-day program.

Sunny, 70-degree weather and the attraction of British royalty boosted first-day attendance to a record total, 128,000. Last year, 103,000 showed up, 4,500 short of the 1950 record of 107,500.

The 25,000-seat grandstand two-thirds full Friday night a 2½-hour performance went stage in a western almost created by the Roy Rogers' pany.

Reds' Blast at Formosa May Be Screen for Indo-China

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP)—Red China's propaganda voice booms bitterly against Formosa these days yet there is no evidence of an invasion buildup. Persons in a position to know say the Reds still seem to lack ships and gear for a big amphibious move.

This invasion talk could be a kind of diversionary music.

It already has served to widen the disagreement between Britain and the United States over Formosa, especially over including Formosa in a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

And it has drawn attention away from Peiping's Southeast Asia plans, including the Thai autonomous movement in Red China. Peiping denies the Thailand foreign ministry's charge that Thai autonomous movement is a plot to invade.

This Red country is a land of plots within plots within plots.

This is what happened down in Indo-China, for instance, while everybody was busy watching Geneva's Indo-China or Pyongyang or Geneva:

In the mountains of Burma, Indo-China, Thailand and south China are many tribes that have enjoyed semi-autonomy for centuries through the ages.

One of the largest is the Thais (pronounced thes). About two years ago the Chinese Communists announced the creation of an Autonomous district" in the stretch of country where Yunnan dips down between Burma and Indo-China and almost touches Thailand. The autonomy was well supervised by commissars from Peiping.

At the same time the Vietminh Communists in Indo-China and the Pathet Lao in Laos and Tonkin. Pridi, a Thailand socialist who fell from power in 1947 and fled to refuge in Red China, Geneva as a Red spy. Infiltration of Thailand against the "reactionary Bangkok" and emphasizing agitations.

This is a standardized pattern of Communist subversion in Asia. Plainly Peiping is picked by Peiping to cause he was so well established in Thailand as a general.

The next step in this pattern after an interval of peaceful existence, could be a "revolt" to liberate the Thais across the river. This would set up a "liberated area" which then would become the "people's democratic dictatorship" of Thailand—to be soon recognized quickly by Peiping and Moscow.

This would mean the division of another nation was under way with perhaps another dividing parallel chosen at another Geneva.

Suspect Admits His Identity

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP)—Robert Henderson, the RCMP's No. 1 fugitive, wanted in connection with a five-year-old slaying in Calgary, was in custody of U.S. immigration authorities today pending deportation.

Police said Friday night Henderson admitted his identity after being shown fingerprints and a photograph sent here by Calgary police.

They said he denied committing the slaying.

Henderson, a native of Moose Jaw, Sask., and a graduate engineer, had given his name as Raymond Martin when arrested for drunkenness Aug. 18.

F. R. Oliver Sees Insurance Key to Road Scandal Cause

PICTON (Staff Special) — Hon. Farquhar Oliver, Ontario Liberal leader, stated here Friday night that "once the whole story is known of how much insurance highway contractors took out on equipment with A. E. Wilson and Co. of Toronto, we will all know much about why the highway scandal developed in this province'.

Mr. Oliver, addressing about 70 persons at the inauguration meeting of the Prince Edward-Lennox Young Liberal Association in Picton's Royal Hotel, stated that in 1945 "the Deputy Minister of Highways, Mr. Miller, told Ontario contractors they would have to increase their bonds to the Ontario government.

"In the final paragraph of his letter to contractors he stated that these bonds could be secured through A. E. Wilson and Co. and intend to find out how much insurance went to A. E. Wilson and Co. and how big a part it has played in the mess we are in in highways," said Mr. Oliver.

"I put the responsibility and the blame for the highway scandal squarely on the shoulders of the present administration," said Mr. Oliver. "There is only one organism to blame and that is the government of Ontario."

"The present administration has been in office 11 years and the Minister of Highways has been there for 11 years. The government plead ignorance of what was happening in the highways department. The scandal that has grown up is their responsibility."

"The government claims credit for the cleanup," continued Mr. Oliver, "but the mess would not be known yet except for a junior clerk in the Fort William division who, to use his own classic remark, "If I don't get my cut, so help me I'll spill the beans."

"Some people say the blame rests on highway department engineers, contractors or clerks. That is not so," said Mr. Oliver.

"The primary responsibility belongs to an administration which took an oath to administer well and has administered badly".

SAYS MINISTER RESPONSIBLE

"The Liberal Party," he continued, "stands four square on the belief in ministerial responsibility. If there is maladministration in a department the responsibility rests on the minister and he should be asked to get out or find someone else can take over. We should not pat him on the back and say to him it was only a mistake."

Mr. Oliver also delegates to the meeting that the "Liberals will not become a one issue party."

In speaking of the St. Lawrence waterway project, Mr. Oliver stated that "there is a tendency for Hydro to quibble with the people in the area about the rate and form of compensation.

"Hydro is given full authority for expropriation subject to appeal to the Municipal Board. It is hardly right to say to a person that if you disagree with one government commission he should go before another government commission. It is too much like a family affair and some families I don't trust."

Mr. Oliver said that there should be no quibbling.

"Let us deal fairly with those whose right and property are being impinged upon. Who is Hydro or anyone else to place a monetary value on the feelings of families who have roots in these communities for more than 100 years?

"The present administration at Queen's Park is too arrogant, too dictatorial and obsessed by the idea of a divine right to rule. They have the feeling they can do what they like."

MUNICIPALITIES' PLIGHT

Mr. Oliver charged that the present government has been lax in dealing with the growing discrepancy between municipal costs and municipal services and said that the Liberal Party, when elected, would work out an equitable distribution or taxing power as between municipalities and the province.

He said the Liberals would take over the care of indigents, and that welfare charges should not be borne by the province.

"We in Ontario have never had a government with too much money. Never was a province in a better position to support municipalities. But the present government does nothing about it," said Mr. Oliver.

Mr. Oliver claimed that the provincial government was in a position to supplement the federal old age pension, and the additional federal legislation and refused to undertake these measures, "because Mr. Frost says it is administratively difficult."

"The prosperity of this province of Ontario is not due to the present administration at Queen's Park," he said. "It is the reflected greatness of the Liberal government at Ottawa and the social policies of the federal government."

PARTY NEEDED

YOUNG PEOPLE

Mr. Oliver welcomed all young people into the Liberal Party and said that the party needed and wanted their imagination and zeal. He told his audience that in the last election 500,000 people in Ontario voted for the Liberal Party and that the nucleus of a victorious party was there for the taking.

He was introduced by Donald Baxter, Bloomfield, former member of the Ontario legislature for Prince Edward-Lennox.

Fred Johnston, Carrying Place, was elected president of the Prince Edward-Lennox Young Liberal Association. Other officers elected at the meeting were: Robert Clapp, Picton, honorary president for Prince Edward; Henry Wilson, Napanee, vice-president for Lennox; Marjorie Roblin, R.R. 1, Belleville, secretary treasurer; John W. Consecson, and Robert Madden, Dorland, membership chairman; and Alan MacDonald, Bloomfield, press and publicity chairman.

Senator W.A. Fraser Assails Wren's Attack on Doucett

PICTON (Staff Special) — "When you bring a political attack to a personal basis you resort to guttersnipe politics," said Senator W. A. Fraser, Toronto, in an address to a meeting of the Prince Edward-Lennox Young Liberals Association here Friday night.

Senator Fraser made this statement in referring to the attack by Oliver "the advice of an old mossback Tory politician," in connection with the personal attacks being levelled at Hon. George Doucett, Minister of Lands and Forests, Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor member of the provincial government for Kenora.

"I don't know Wren. I have never met him." said Senator Fraser.

"But he is the quintessence of political stability. It is stupid to attack a man personally for the faults of an administration.

"No one wants to see anyone persecuted. This sort of thing always boomerangs and it will again. My sympathies are with Mr. Doucett," said the Senator.

Speaking to Mr. Oliver as "my beloved leader," the Senator went on to urge him to fight the provincial battle on the issues involved.

"No leader of a political party ever had a greater opportunity to win power than you," he said to Mr. Oliver. "God's sake don't muff it.

"Toryism still always beat itself" he counselled, "because Toryism is based on the privileges of the few and the divine right to rule.

"Farquhar," he said, speaking directly to Mr. Oliver, "you can hardly fail to win with Liberal policy and the weakness, stupidity and arrogance of Toryism and inability of Tories to learn from the experience of their mistakes.

"Call out your hounds," he said. "Never charge or condemn the other fellow for what you might do yourself in the same circumstances."

Senator Fraser told the meeting that Mr. Oliver enjoyed the confidence of federal leaders.

"There is no division of front between Ontario Liberals and federal cabinet ministers," said Senator Fraser.

He promised Mr. Oliver a united front in the Eastern Ontario in the next provincial election.

For Parents Only

School Begins

By NANCY CLEAVER

"When I leave home to walk to school,
Dad always says to me,
"Marco, keep your eyelids up
And see what you can see."

The father's attitude in the poem, "And to Think that I Saw It on Mulberry Street" by Dr. Seuss is typical of that of most parents. When school begins again with the return of September, mothers and dads are eager that their children should be alert and "see what they can see". They want them to make real progress on the long journey of education.

These last days of summer mothers are busy looking after new outfits for their sons and daughters. How swiftly they grow out of their clothes! How often they need new shoes! Raising children is an expensive proposition!

It is the high cost of living, the necessity of providing for the immediate wants and future educational needs of a growing family, and not a desire for luxuries, which worries many mothers of school age children. Frequently they feel it is their duty to supplement the father's wage with part-time or full time work. This is an individual decision and a family's own concern.

COMPARE VACATIONS

Children often are looking forward to seeing their chums after the long holiday months. They want to compare their vacations, what they have seen on a trip, or done at a cottage or camp. Boys and girls usually adopt the popular attitude that going to school is "expensive"! But there seem a very eager, carefree happy lot as they chatter and play at recess time.

SCHOOL BEGINS!

The parents' attitude to their child's teachers is of great importance. It is bound to color a son's or daughter's attitude. Far too often ten mothers and dads are much too critical. Children especially are apt to look on "teacher" as someone who doesn't really appreciate the exceptional qualities of their child!

Chance remarks such as,

"It's too bad Johnny's teacher is so young! She hasn't enough experience to know how to handle children." Or, "Mr. Blank is so strict! It's no wonder his pupils are scared to death. Our Jeannie just trembles when he walks down her aisle!" . . . are not lost on small listeners.

DESERVE RESPECT

It may not be the parent's comments but the way the children in a home are allowed to talk about their teachers which is not what it should be. The teacher has a difficult role in a community and one of the most important tasks in our civilization. As a member of a vital profession, a teacher deserves respect. It is folly for youngsters to be allowed in their parents' hearing to "tear their teacher to bits".

Teachers are not perfect, but neither are pupils, or parents either, for the matter. But mothers and fathers should see clearly that teachers must be real partners in training children to grow into useful, happy citizens. The home and the school partnership must be based on mutual respect, consideration and co-operation.

During the term does your child's teacher realize that you look on him or her as a partner? Do you know the conditions under which the teacher works? Is the classroom properly lighted and equipped? Are there too many children for any one person to instruct? Is the teacher adequately paid? Last but not least, is your youngster's teacher confident that he or she can count on you for whole-hearted support! Be sure you give it!

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

GOOD CANADIANS

The word "Canada" or "Canadian" has been put in front of the family name of certain birds. It is perfectly possible for a Canada Goose, Canada Jay, and Canada Warbler (scientifically speaking, Wilsonia canadensis); but the white throated sparrow is affectionately called Canada bird by us because we imagine it sings, "Canada" over and over.

As most of the life of the majority of red-breasted nuthatches is spent in our country, the scientific name Sitta canadensis was given that species. The only spot outside Canada where the pine grosbeak breeds is the northern New Hampshire, and just a very few hawk owls ever cross our southern boundary, passing into northern Michigan, therefore some people know these birds as the Canadian Grosbeak and the Canadian Owl.

PURE AMERICAN

Of the flycatching warblers, one, the dusky, is a pure American, only some strays ever having been found on Canadian soil in the Lake Erie district. The redstart, though generally called American Redstart, is a favorite with citizens of both countries, breeding from Newfoundland to British Columbia, from Mackenzie to Alabama. A third, the one known by the name Canada Warbler, has earned its title by breeding from Newfoundland to Alberta; nevertheless, it is found nesting in some of the northern states, even to North Carolina, Tennessee, and in the mountains of northern Georgia. Because of its beautiful black necklace it has been dubbed the Canada necklace.

The fourth little flycatcher warbler is Wilson's sometimes known as the black-capped. Though not breeding excusively in Canada yet this is the member of the family which, by rights, should have received the "Canadian" title, for it is found from Newfoundland to western Saskatchewan, and north to the Arctic Ocean.

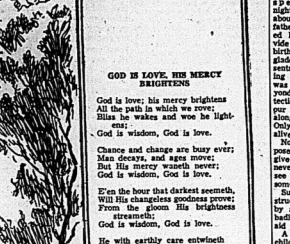
PREFER WILLOWS

On the way, now and then, two or three drop from the flock when they find damp, dense coverts suitable for nesting purposes. Their preference always is for willows and alders along streams and ponds, or in bogs and brush-grown swamps.

Oddly enough, although a particularly active little bird that, in order to catch its favorite food of flying insects, does much fluttering off the ends of the branches, it seldom works higher up than 10 feet. And either on the ground in moss, or but a few feet up in dense vegetation, it builds a bulky nest, like nest of leaves, moss, grass, and rootlets, lined with fine grass and hair.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE S. POWELL



GOD IS LOVE, HIS MERCY BRIGHTENS

God is love; his mercy brightens
All the path in which we rove;
Bliss he wakes and woe he lightens;
God is wisdom, God is love.

Chance and change are busy ever;
Man decays, and ages move;
But His mercy waneth never;
God is wisdom, God is love.

E'en the hour that darkest seemeth,
Will His changeless goodness prove;
From the gloom His brightness streameth;
God is wisdom, God is love.

He with earthly care entwineth
Hope and comfort from above;
Ev'rywhere His glory shineth;
God is wisdom, God is love.

Nearly every list of favorite religious songs contains one or more of the hymns of Sir John Bowring, brilliant English scholar and statesman whose writings, sacred and secular, did much to enrich the literary treasury of the nineteenth century.

Born at Exeter, England in 1792, Bowring served his country in distinguished fashion — first at home as a member of parliament and later abroad as a foreign diplomat in China and other places in the East.

He was familiar with nearly 100 different languages and dialects and was able to speak 22 of these tongues fluently. This talent proved invaluable to him in his literary work; some of his best writings — including several volumes on the songs of Europe — were translations.

His hymn on the love and wisdom of God, reproduced above, has been precious to Christians everywhere for more than 100 years. It first appeared in a collection which he published in London in 1825.

In the same group of songs was another poem entitled "Watchman, Tell Us Of The Night" which was adopted, almost at once, as a missionary song. The popularity of this hymn came as a surprise to Bowring. He was unaware of its wide use until one day, 10 years after its writing, when he heard it sung by a company of Christian missionaries in Turkey.

The life and ministry of Jesus supplied the theme for still another hymn in which the poet sang:

"How sweetly flowed the gospel's sound
From lips of gentleness and grace,
While listening thousands gathered round,
And joy and gladness filled the place.

From Heaven He came, of Heaven He spoke,
To Heaven He led His followers' way;
Dark clouds of gloomy night He broke,
Unveiling an immortal day."

Most magnificent of all, however, is his immortal hymn of the Holy Spirit which was considered so far above his other gems that the title line, "In The Cross of Christ I Glory", was inscribed on his tombstone when he died, in 1872.

What to do...

FOR A DISLOCATION

The main first aid principle to remember in the dislocation of a joint is: Don't try to put it back in place—leave that to a doctor.

A dislocation, as most people know, is the displacement of one or more bones at a joint. The joints most frequently dislocated are those of the shoulder, elbow, thumb, fingers and lower jaw. The jaw, incidentally, can be dislocated by a simple yawn.

Look for these signs and symptoms if a dislocation is suspected, says St. John Ambulance:

1. Pain of a severe sickening character at or near the joint.

2. Loss of power in the limb.

3. Fixity at the joint — the limb cannot be moved at the joint either by the patient or by the person giving first aid.

4. Deformity of the limb — the limb assumes an unnatural position and appears misshapen at the joint.

5. There is swelling about the joint.

ALWAYS AT JOINT

It is often hard to distinguish between a dislocation and a broken bone. However, keep in mind that a dislocation always occurs at a joint; there is no movement at the joint; no bony grating is heard (it may be accidentally discovered in the case of a broken bone); and if the end of the bone can be felt it is smooth and rounded.

If there is any doubt the injury should be treated as a fracture.

When dislocation occurs out-of-doors, steady and support the limb in the position which gives most ease to the patient, using padding where necessary in order to lessen the effects of jolting during transport.

When the patient is indoors place him on a bed or couch in the position which gives most ease. Were the dislocation is painful expose the joint. If a doctor is expected quickly, apply a cold compress (cloths soaked in cold water and then wrung dry) but if he isn't expected for some time, apply a hot compress (cloths soaked in hot water and then wrung dry and replaced when needed).

If the dislocation is in the lower jaw, remove dentures if they are worn and give the jaw support.

Woman Is Named As Delegate To Union Meeting

REGINA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada for the first time in its 70-year history voted Thursday to send a woman to represent it as fraternal delegate to the British Trades Union Congress convention next year.

The TLC convention delegates chose Mrs. Emily Ross of Edmonton, a member of the international executive board of the United Garment Workers of America. She defeated three other candidates.

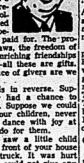
CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP)—Snow was reported in this Lake St. John region Thursday night as temperatures plunged to the low 30s. Motorists on the Baie St. Paul-Chicoutimi highway said a thin sheet of snow covered fields and there was snow on parts of the road. Chicoutimi is 150 miles north of Quebec.

A Lift For Living
Giving—A Double Blessing

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN



From infancy we were reared by those who gave of themselves for us—fathers who spent sleepless nights worrying about us, and mothers who worked hard to provide for us. Our birthdays were gladdened by presents. The school days we received was a service beyond what we paid for. The protection of our laws, the freedom of our land, the enriching friendships along the way—all these are gifts. Only by the grace of givers are we alive today.

Now take this in reverse. Suppose we never had a chance to give to anyone. Suppose we could never give to our children, never see their eyes dance with joy at something we do for them.

Suppose you saw a little child struck down in front of your home by a passing truck. It was hurt badly—and you could not give any aid whatsoever.

A friend of mine had an only child who was killed in a motor accident a few years ago. She left a little daughter who is being cared for by her father and his family. My friend, the grandfather, never can do anything for or to do anything for her. His heart is full to bursting as he yearns to give but is frustrated.

UNBEARABLE SILENCE

I know how many appeals we get and how we become irritated by them. But suppose we were never asked to give at all. A man once prominent in a Pennsylvania city lost his position and property. He had been active in his community. He drifted into New York and took lodgings, looking for a job. He said to me: "Once I was besieged by phone calls to the point of distraction. Now the silent phone never rings. The lonely silence is unbearable."

Mothers are worn to the edge of patience by little kids who pull at them and try to pull them towards counters to buy things they do not need and cannot afford. But what mother would not rather feel the pull of those provoking little tots' fingers than to look into the eyes of her child lying too sick to ask for anything or to be tempted by any toy?

Never to receive anything—that would be fatal, for we cannot live without what others give to us. But never to give anything—that also would be fatal.

PINCHED LIVES

The Master saw those who defeated themselves by thinking only of getting, those who lived pinched lives by pinching all they touched. He told the story of the rich farmer who thought only of building larger barns to house his bountiful crops and then died in the night.

In contrast to such niggardly people Jesus was drawn to those who gave more like the poor widow who put into the temple treasury all she had; and the grateful sinner, not counting the cost, poured the precious perfume on His head and feet. Jesus said, "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver." And can we not see why? Because the cheerful giver is a lovable character. We all love generous magnanimous givers.

When Jesus, therefore, bade people to give, it was not a beggar's file. was a life-begetter. And when worthy causes today ask you to give, do not think of them begging merely for their own interests. They are really begetters of life. They are opening the channels to bigger, better, more joyous living. It is enough, giving that we fulfill our selfhood.

CHARITY MISSING

Eight years ago this month I called on the American Embassy at Moscow looking across at the Kremlin. An officer of the embassy who stood beside me said, "I do not believe the word is still in the Russian dictionary. They have ceased to understand the word."

He was explaining why the Russian people, despite a highly organized American programs of giving, such as the Marshall Plan. They thought it but surprise us when you have some axe to grind.

In no sense that giving is sometimes tainted with self-interest. Let us recognize also that self-respecting persons prefer a chance rather than charity. Nevertheless we cannot build on the basis of cold justice. Nor can government do by taxation all that individuals can do by personal generosity. Higher and higher taxes must not be allowed to dry up the stream of human kindness.

The Master of Life said, "It is more blessed to give than to receive." Why? You can discover the secret this very day.

TO DUPLICATE CNE

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Martin V. Kennelly of Chicago and a group of Illinois political and business leaders will tour the Canadian National Exhibition here Sept. 4 to look over the possibility of duplicating the CNE in Chicago. The state of Illinois already has appropriated funds to assist the project.

ELECTION YEAR IN U.S.

This is election year in the United States.

Nothing unusual about that; every other year is election year.

Major interest is reserved for presidential elections; a president is elected for a four-year term.

But midway through a president's term he must face the possibility of a change in the control of Congress.

Senators are elected for six-year terms, one-third of the members of the Senate retiring every two years.

Members of the House of Representatives are elected for four years, half of the members retiring every two years.

While President Eisenhower will remain in office for another two years, the Republicans could easily lose control of Congress. The loss of one seat in the Senate would give the Democrats a majority, which would give them control of the important committees and chairmanships.

Similarly a few seat swing would wrest control of the House of Representatives from the Republicans.

Under our parliamentary system of government, a prime minister may have two more years in office with his party in the minority in the House of Commons would be placed in an impossible situation. In the United States, however, the administrative and legislative functions are separated. It is possible for a president to carry on although hamstrung by a hostile Congress—and it is even possible for him to see the policies he advocates win legislative approval from a Congress in which his political opponents hold a majority of the seats. A study of the voting records of both the House of Representatives and the Senate will reveal that it is the rule, rather than the exception, that a few members of both parties will switch sides on any important measure — a few Republicans voting with the Democrats, while a few Democrats vote with the majority of the Democrats, while a few Democrats vote with the Republicans. The individual member is much more a free agent than under our system.

Frequently one hears pleas for more independence by "backbenchers" in our Commons. To cite proceedings in the U.S. Senate or House of Representatives as an admirable example would, however, be misleading. The fate of the administration does not depend on the result of any one vote, as it does in the Commons. The administration cannot be thrown out of office, no matter how many times its measures may meet defeat.

While our parliamentary system has the drawback of tending to turn members into puppets echoing their masters' voices, it also has the advantage of promoting consistency. It is extremely rare for a member to vote against the principles of the Democratic Party or of the Republican Party by following the debates in the U.S. Congress. Some Democrats are ultra-conservative, some are almost radicals. The same applies to Republicans.

NORWAY WELCOMES 'SAUCERITE'

Reuters has provided us earthlings with an entertaining account of a face-to-face between a flying saucerman and two Norwegian sisters.

Unfortunately the long-haired stranger and the native berry-pickers were unable to understand each other's language. So the tale is not as detailed whence he came. It is customary to regard flying saucers as originating in outer space, but there is now a disillusioning report from a Norwegian newspaper that the flying saucerite was a Swede, and the operator an American pilot, one Bally Faurot. If this version of the incident is correct, it explains the Reuters description of the visitor as having the face and the description of a spaceman. But there is always a chance that there is a flaw someplace in this later explanation. Therefore, on the offchance that the "spaceman" headed for another planet when he buzzed off like a bumble bee, we hope that the Norway maids were comely, that he was favorably impressed with his reception and that he will report these facts to whatever crew was agency services the papers on his home planet.

We hope, too, that the spaceman noticed an item in this world's papers this week and that he is disappointed not overlooked. It appears that a couple of meteors hit an open switch on their plunge earthward and instead of reaching their destination are now circling the earth as satellites. Their presence was brought to the attention of the U.S. military, who promptly shuffled their top expert from telescope to gilded missile base and back again until the telescope end of the shuffle provided positive proof that the earth's new satellites were natural phenomena and not space ships.

Those homecomings to the guided missile depot must be disturbing. Obviously we are thinking about doing something about those satellites. If any inhabitant of a distant planet is clever enough to devise a spaceship capable of reaching earth, we would much sooner that he were greeted by a brawny maid than by the Corporal or some other device in the arsenal of the U.S.. We would have more faith in the power of a lass to soften his heart than in the ability of a bomb to encourage his wanderlust. It seems just possible that the brain which could build a spaceship might also be capable of finding an adequate answer to the hydrogen bomb, possibly bringing earth to a premature end.

By all means, spacemen, drop in on Norwegian berry patches, but avoid floating above the Nevada deserts.

MEN WITHOUT DAUGHTERS

I wonder how men without daughters to aid
Remember the dates when a gift should be made?
Who does the shopping for socks and ties, the
The glassware for weddings, the birthday surprise?
How presents I'd send, although not by daddy's,
Were it not for those two willing daughters of mine.

How do men without daughters,
as lonely as I,
For all glad occasions know just what to buy?
Who chooses the card that should go with the gift,

Spends more than she would if she understood thrift?
Who does the wrapping for them,
without fee,
As my daughters so willingly do it for me?

This is one of the trials of living alone:
I must be reminded when twelve months have flown.
I have to be told when a gift should be sent,
And learn from the bill how much money was spent.
If they are as careless and thoughtless as I,
I wonder how men without
daughters get by?

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 28th., 1934

The hotel at Massassage Park which at one time was the most popular summer resort in this section, will soon be but a memory. It was sold this morning for the lumber in the building and wreckers have been at work for several weeks demolishing the three storey structure and only the bottom floor now remains. Numerous Belleville residents and people from various parts in Ontario and the United States used to spend a large part of the summer at the hotel and a number of Bellevile people had attractive cottages in the park. The steamer Annie Lake made regular trips daily to the park and several weeks ago the motor launches brought many there to spend the day. Sunday School picnics were held there and dancing parties took place several times a week at the pavilion. Row boats and canoes were much in evidence and at that time the large lake boats by way of the Murray canal passed to and from the several times a week. Some Belleville people will recall many happy times spent at Massassaga Park.

30 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 28th., 1924

Mr. C. J. Hickin and Mrs. Harold Foulkes of Schenectady, N.Y., have arrived here by motor car to visit the former's parental Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hickin.

Mr. Adolphus Burgoyne and wife have left on a motor trip to places of interest in the United States.

Mr. Charles Keeber, former physical director at the YMCA here and now on the staff at the Sarnia Technical School, is renewing acquaintances in town.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Warren and daughter Jane, have returned home from Toronto, where they spent several days.

40 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 28th., 1914

At three o'clock this afternoon 88 members of the 34th Battery in this city, who have enlisted for active service with the Canadian Overseas Expeditionary force, left here by special train for Valcartier. Thirty three of the same battery left here last week. The men were escorted to the C.N.R. Station by the band of the 15th. Regiment and a large number of citizens.

George Hope, a volunteer for active service with the 34th battery was recently presented with a purse of gold by the members of Molra Lodge No. 11 A.F. & A.M. of which he is an officer. The presentation was made by Dr. J. M. Wilson, Worshipful Master of the Lodge.

Mr. Charles J. Bowell of the Intelligencer accompanied the members of the 34th. Battery to Valcartier today.

50 YEARS AGO

AUGUST 28th., 1904

Mr. Jack Philppen has arrived home from South Africa.

Mr. Chas. Schuster of Pittsburg, Pa., an old Belleville boy, is home on a visit.

Mr. George Ashley, who has been a clerk in the local post office for some time, has resigned. His place will be taken by Mr. Headley Fair of Foucher's Mills.

Mr. J. T. Luton of the high school teaching staff, who is on vacation, is at present visiting the Grand Canyon, Col.

The Rev. W. J. Gilliland of Emmanuel Church, and family have returned home after spending a vacation camping at Oak Hill Pond.

Competition Not Unfair

(Wall Street Journal)

Our Washington wire reported the other day that some worried businessmen are running to the Congress for help because of a stranger in our midst.

Competition for many years was unfamiliar to a number phases of business because of the war boom, the post-war boom and the foreign aid boom. There was enough business to go around and many everybody had a crack at it.

Now it's tougher, and people are no longer throwing orders over the transoms. Competition is tougher, too, as others get out after business.

So the auto dealers want a law passed to stop cut rate sales of new cars; ultra high frequency TV operators want the expansion of very high frequency stations stopped; airlines want private subsidies untrimmed; druggists, jewelers and appliance dealers want "fair trade" laws.

Not that any of these good people are against "competition" as such. Competition, as they will all testify, is the backbone of the free enterprise system and the lifeline of the nation's expanding economy. But what competition gets tough, somehow it seems also to get unfair.

Well, what these gentlemen really are asking—whether they know it or not—is that the Congress use the power of law to protect them against competition by injuring their competitors. Certainly if the Congress were to stop cut rate sales overnight the competitors would be out of business. Competition would be curtailed. the one to suffer most is the buying public.

The Congress believe that the Congress has no business passing laws to protect one segment of an industry from another just because the first cannot meet another on the market place.

There is also danger to the men who plead use of laws to stifle competition they call unfair. What the Congress does today for Smith to Jones' disadvantage, tomorrow can be turned about to Smith's undoing.

Scientist And Religion

(Golden, Colo., Outlook)

"We left the hundred tonne years ago when we planning to experiment with religion.

"Don't worry," he said, "I'm going to go to Church and see if it makes any difference in my life."

"Doctor," we asked after he had a number of degrees), "How does a man get into the experimental of a new field?"

"With research," came the reply. "It's getting the findings of other men in that field—determines what has been proven—and what is unknown."

"That's a good way to begin your experiments in religion" we suggested. "It would hardly be 'scientific' to judge Christianity, or your need for it, on the basis of one visit to Church. But a few months of faithful attendance, and many thoughtful evenings with the Bible will give you clear understanding of what others have found in Christianity. You'll discover spiritual truths which millions of experience have proven, and gain a faith that can bridge the 'unknown.'"

At last report, our chemist was making fine progress in his experiment. In fact, he no longer thinks of his religion as experimental!

Pork and Beans Tasty Dish

(Windsor Star)

Pork and beans have the unwarranted reputation of being somewhat plebian fare. They are rated with corn beef and cabbage, Irish stew, codfish balls or frankfurters as fit for people of common tastes.

Yet pork and beans are an appetizing and nutritious dish. The once-proud people of Boston, who looked down snobbish noses on the west Indians, boasted of that, diet of "the bean and the cod."

The bean, of course, isn't a vegetable to be treated lightly. To bring out its full flavor it must be properly cooked. This can be done in a number of ways, but the simplest and the skilled cook always is needed.

Western Ontario is the producer of the humble white bean. And as in Versaill, a bean-growing area, a gala festival is held every Labor Day. The repast is to be cooked in the open in big kettles over charcoal fires. We can't resist smacking our lips at the thought.

Pork and beans go together just as do bacon and eggs, steak and mushrooms or apple pie and cheese. But country housewives take great satisfaction from pigs' hocks and beans, and it is a tasty dish.

We ourselves, we prefer the pigs' hocks and beans to be cooked separately, to one can get the best flavor from each instead of a combined one in which the taste of each is dissipated in the taste of the other. But we would n't be dogmatic about how best to cook beans. That would start an argument. There is nothing stout which more cooks have more definite ideas than how best to cook beans.

High Rank, High Ceilings

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The Lancashire Territorial Army Association is in charge of the erection of huts for soldiers, and in doing so has run foul of the local restrictions in the City of Bolton. Municipal building regulations require that the ceiling of every room must be not less than eight feet. But the military orders are, seven feet, six inches for civilians and seven feet nine inches for junior officers and eight feet for officers of the rank of major and above. So the supervisors are under the necessity of telling the Bolton authorities that they have to ignore the municipal rules and obey army orders.

Height does not take up any room as width would, and we do not see the need for giving the ordinary Tommy the luxury of a ceiling than a captain, or six inches less than a general.

The army likes tall men. and a six-and-a-half-foot man makes a finer impression than a five-foot-four general, on parade at any rate, and it seems a bit of military snobbery to say that because he is of higher rank, the ceiling of a soldier's home must be a bit higher also.

Disputed Boundary

(Charlottetown Guardian)

The Labrador-Quebec boundary is still unsurveyed although the legal description of the line has been laid down in a Privy Council decision. Premier Smallwood raised the point at the official opening of the Sept Iles iron ore development and proposed a meeting with Premier Duplessi to arrange for actual line to be run. As property becomes fantastically more valuable in that area, delay in determining which province it lies in becomes a more serious disadvantage.

Congregation Made Mistake

(Kansas City Star)

The preacher might put on reading specs while reading his text, and lay them on the pulpit while expounding firstly, secondly, thirdly and fourthly. One of the favorite stories in Prairie Town community near Camdron, Mo., was the one told by I. J. Garvin.

The preacher had forgotten his specs that Sunday and was having difficulty seeing to read. That was in the days before new books came into use. The custom was for the preacher to read a verse and the congregation to sing the verse to the one tune used for all singing.

After a few minutes of fumbling through his pockets in search of his glasses, the preacher said: "My eyes are dim and cannot see; I did not bring my specs with me."

The congregation thought that was a verse to be used for the morning hymn, and they sang it loud and strong.

Unpinning Machine

(Winnipeg Free Press)

For the innumerable little irritants with which man's path through life is beset, there might be duly grateful. Without serious backsliding in progress they nevertheless provide fertile soil for finger exercises in philosophy; the "My eyes are dim" type most and, perhaps most important of all, they confront him with that challenge which, as the late father of Professor Toynbee knows, is essential to the developing of high civilization.

Among these minor ills the flesh is heir to one might have thought that the problem of removing pins from newly-purchased shirts would be too trivial a trial to challenge anyone's ingenuity.

The acquisition of a shirt, is for the ordinary man, a relatively rare occurrence and one would imagine that the thrill of possession might be dulled by the unpinning ceremony with a certain pleasurable relish.

But it was challenge enough to Mr. Bernard V. Stutz of Mountain City, Nevada.

Perhaps Mr. Stutz's path is strewn with more irritants than that one pin loomed large upon it. Perhaps he is a shirt collector. Perhaps he is a shirt-wearer of a frequent and therefore bothersome type.

However that may be, he did decide that there must be a better way of to end human unhappiness, that with the love of God is always uplifting. It's a matter of understanding, never reprimanding, always spreading out, like the loving nurses upon missions of love

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

MAYBE MY NAME IS DOCTOR FELL BUT NOT YET DENIS

There is a persistent rumor that (Brady) turned up my toes years ago and a syndicate of doctors or even the A.M.A. was to me no less than if the A.M.A. has conducted this column under the direction of my late self ever since.

According to another rumor I was "licked out" of the medical profession, medical society, American Medical Association or something of the sort. Just why I incurred such a penalty remains unrevealed, but you can guess, can't you? Likely as not I said No when the yes-men were all saying Yes.

Dr. Brady

It seems to be my lot, as well as my moral duty, to tell people things about physiology and hygiene, prevention and treatment of disease, medicine, surgery and obstetrics, which the old timers consider changes nothing.

The truth is that I got out of the A M A in the only way possible—I quit paying annual dues. Long before I learned that the organization had at last succeeded in getting age to rid itself of the self constituted "spokesman."

Every time I give you poor souls incontrovertible facts about the atrocious totalitarianism of the treatment of hernia, the injection treatment of hemorrhoids, natural childbirth and painless labor—ing-in method whereby the baby is NOT taken away from the mother, the shameful exploitation of patients by the devices practised by clinic racketeers, I make myself more unpopular with the profession if that is possible.

Sometimes I may pretend I don't care about this, but I do feel unhappy when my best efforts are met with my old colleagues. I sufferdoes the A M A and it has conducted this column under the direction of my late self ever since.

Every time I give you poor souls incontrovertible facts about the atrocious totalitarianism of the treatment of hernia, the injection treatment of hemorrhoids, natural childbirth and painless labor—ing-in method whereby the baby is NOT taken away from the mother, the shameful exploitation of patients by the devices practised by clinic racketeers, I make myself more unpopular with the profession if that is possible.

Sometimes I may pretend I don't care about this, but I do feel unhappy when my best efforts are met with my old colleagues. I sufferdoes the A M A and it has conducted this column under the direction of my late self ever since.

I say I feel it is my duty to warn the public against the devices practised and false pretensions made by charlatans" (as the now more or less obsolete Code of Medical Ethics express it). Among these devices are the following:

1. The clinic racket
2. Truth serum
3. Hardening cigarets and glorified sugar
4. Recertified by the editor when he insists it has nothing to do with health. Anyway, Hippocrates, I tried.

TODAY'S CHAT

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE LOVE OF GOD

I like to think of the love of God as something that has been distributed far and wide, as the rain in the Summer and Autumn which the wind scatters. We have the fields of wild flowers and in far off places where they are more assertions than anything else, evidence of their rarity.

God's love is, in like manner, scattered so that it may take root in many lives, and therefore become an abundant blessing, assimilated, given nourishment, and richness, that grows in the soil—to be ill in body or mind, the discouraged, or the troubled. The love of God is a medicine and a remedy that never fails. It has already tread into the mind and heart.

No matter what the experience or story of sin or human relationships, that with the love of God is always uplifting. It's a matter of understanding, never reprimanding, always spreading out, like the loving nurses upon missions of love

God as a plan and a purpose.

SMALL COMFORT

Many people in America and Canada will be astonished to know that some students of world affairs claim that moral conditions in the United States are improving. Moral conditions—bad as they are—are better than the conditions in Russia. We should not be too vast areas in Europe where people appear to have lost their faith entirely.

The lesson for us would seem to be that a period of moral decline, and certainly there are a number of areas in which that is true. We are not at present in a divorce statistics. We read reports from both the sexes as well as from men and women and we are astonished not only by the behavior of those described but by the complacency with which this behavior is frequently justified. There is corruption in high places today—and plenty of it in the headlines so graphically indicate.

It is a little comforting for us to realize, therefore, that our moral conditions—bad as they are—are better than the conditions in Russia. We should not be too vast areas in Europe where people appear to have lost their faith entirely.

East Hill Playground Wins Both Field Day Championships

The East Hill playgrounds captured both Senior and Junior Championships yesterday in the Third Annual Belleville Playgrounds Sports and Field Day held on the winners' grounds and under the direction of Ted Dorss and the Recreational Committee.

Some 1,100 children, ranging in age from four years to 17, participated in the gala event that brought to a close supervised activities at the playgrounds for the next ten months. The children flocked back to the grounds in the evening for presentations, a sing song and movies with most of the rivalry between opponents forgotten for another year.

The Seniors from East Hill made a run-away by racking up 65 points. C.N.R. finished second with 22 while Victoria Park (Fire Hall) were right on their heels with 20 and 27 in that order. Junior champs took their division with 35 points while Alemite, a new playground this season, came in second with 29 points to credit. West Hill finished third again with 24½ points.

When the children were not taking part in some sport they were busy at the canteen, gulping down ice cream from the Recreation Committee or cooling off with a coke donated by the local branch of the Coca Cola Company. Two members of the St. John Ambulance corps were in attendance at all times, looking after scratches and minor cuts, while always ready for a more serious type of accident.

Eleven playgrounds competed in all, with the supervisors and all others concerned doing an excellent job. The playgrounds were: East Hill, West Hill, C.N.R., Firehall, St. Paul, Bay View, Churchill Heights, King George, Alemite, Lions Bleachbeth and Charles Street.

EVENING PROGRAM

In the evening Ald. Jack Bradford, representing His Worship, Mayor John Black, who was unavoidably absent due to being out of the city on official business, paid high tribute to members of the Recreation Committee, workers and all others who had made the annual field day of the playgrounds such a wonderful success. Presentations of awards won, the showing of films and a few other addresses completed a day that was the best in the history of recreational activity in the city. The closing ceremonies were in charge of Lloyd "Ted" Dorss, Recreational Director.

Mr. Bradford stated he had been on the grounds a couple of times during the day and marvelled at the competitive spirit of those taking part. He expressed the best wishes of His Worship, that the playground movement would be built bigger and better. The speaker told his large audience that from a small beginning of two playgrounds the activities now include eleven playgrounds with an average daily attendance of 700. "It is marvellous to think", said the alderman "that 1,100 took part in today's program."

In closing he wished the committees every success in their work.

Ald. Claude D. Tice, chairman of the committee, hoped that the children had had a pleasant and profitable summer in wholesome recreation and thanked the supervisors, who had done such an excellent job all year. He explained the aims and objectives of the committee and expressed the hope that the playground movement would continue to grow in the city. He especially thanked the Director and members of the committee for the time and effort they had expended in working out a well-rounded program for the children.

PRESENTATIONS MADE

Ald. Bradford presented the shield to the East Hill entry and Bob Bateman, the supervisor, accepting it on behalf of the members. Ald. Tice presented the junior shield also to the East Hill team, Tony Petitti receiving the plaque. A happy note was injected at this point, when Bob Bateman, on behalf of all the playgrounds presented Director "Red" Doran with a Rolex, suitably engraved "Red", taken by surprise, sincerely thanked the supervisors for their remembrance and also for the work they had done during the summer.

William VanTassel, member of the committee and chairman of the Public School Board, told the boys in the audience that the committee knew a good job had been done and was not enough enthusiasm by the parents of the children attending the playgrounds.

"The committee is running a playground, not a nursery," said the speaker. "We are trying to help the children be better citizens, will you help us?"

In closing Mr. Doran thanked the Nelles Ice Cream Company and the Coca Cola Company for their kind donations & the children during the day. A number of films closed the day.

Criticize Press In Murder Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lawyers for Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard leveled a lengthy statement Friday criticizing newspapers and law authorities, and declaring it was "doubtful whether he would be able to secure an unbiased jury."

The statement did not specifically say whether they would ask for a change of venue.

Other portions of the 3,500-word statement were critical of the way the Sheppard murder case was handled by investigators.

Dr. Sheppard's bed-ridden osteopath, is held in county jail under first-degree murder indictment which charges he clubbed his wife Marilyn, 31, to death in their Bay Village home July 4. He had pleaded innocent, and has said a husky-haired intruder killed her and knocked him unconscious.

The statement said that "under the guise of news the Cleveland newspapers and the newspapers generally throughout the United States have reported and editorialized on the case of Samuel Sheppard so that he was convicted in the minds of the public before he was arrested and tried."

Man Committed For Trial in Case Involving $38,800

TORONTO (CP) — Neville Stephen, former president of the Lebanese Liberal Association Friday was committed for trial on 43 charges of theft, false pretences and bribery, involving a total of $38,800.

Thirty-nine of the 43 counts arose from transactions between Stephen and David S. Bloxham, dismissed Dominion Bank manager.

The other four—two of false pretences and two of cashing forged cheques—involve government contracts for a housing development at Malton.

William L. Houck, Liberal member of Parliament for Niagara Falls, has been named as a witness in the housing development charges, but he was not in court Friday.

Bloxham testified before magistrate W. W. McKeown that he had improperly advanced money to Stephen. He had done so, he said, on the strength of Stephen's promise to let him have machinery "at a ridiculously low price" which Stephen said he would be able to obtain "through his political connections with the Liberal government at Ottawa."

Bloxham is alleged to have advanced a total of $33,800 to Stephen in 13 amounts ranging from $250 to $5,000.

OUT-OF-TOWN PERSONALS

Mrs. George H. Ewald, Moira, and son, David, have returned home after vacationing with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Green, Niagara Falls, Ontario, after attending the wedding of her son, George to Miss Shirley Gordon, which took place recently in Oshawa, Ontario.

Weddings

EWALD—GORDON

A lovely wedding of wide interest was solemnized in the Pentecostal Church, Oshawa, on Saturday, August 14th, by the Rev. R. A. Bombay, assisted by the Rev. T. Ball, when Shirley Elaine Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall F. Gordon, of Oshawa, became the bride of George Robert Ewald, of Tweed, formerly of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Ewald, of Moira, Ont. Miss Dorothy Morris rendered the wedding music, and Mr. James McKnight was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her gown of white brocaded taffeta, fashioned with molded bodice having a sweetheart neckline and Queen Anne collar embroidered with seed pearls. The crinoline-accented skirt flared into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of silk tulle illusion fell from a pleated halo headdress of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses. A single strand of pearls completed her ensemble.

Mrs. Phillip Houston, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, and Mrs. Raymond Green and Miss Carolyn Gordon, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in iridescent rose taffeta fashioned with molded bodices, sleeveless, and ruffled, stand-up collars, the full skirts were accented at the hipline with puffed peplums. They wore pleated halo headdresses, beaded with seed pearls, and carried cascade bouquets of pale yellow gladioli flowers.

Mr. Frank Ewald, of Moira, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman and the ushers, Mr. David Ewald, of Moira, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. Lloyd Faulkner of Belleville.

The guests were received at the U.A.W. hall by the bridal mother, who was attired in lavender crepe and lace with navy blue accessories, assisted by the bridegroom's mother, wearing teal blue with pink and navy blue accessories.

For the wedding trip to the Adirondacks, the bride, chose a winter white Ottoman cord ensemble with matching duster and cocoa brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Ewald will reside in Tweed, Ontario.

Out-of-town guests were present from Orillia, Kitchener, Cleverdon, Toronto, Whitby, Peterborough, Belleville, Niagara Falls, Brighton, Cobourg, and Moira.

ESSHAUGH—ROWE

Baskets of coral and white gladioli formed the setting recently for a double-ring ceremony in St. John's United Church, Campbellford, on Saturday, when Colleen M. Rowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rowe, became the bride of Raymond E. Eshbaugh of Flint, Michigan. The Rev. Dr. Mansell Smith officiated at the wedding and Francis DeCarol sang "The Lord's Prayer," before the ceremony and "Because", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bouffant gown of embroidered tulle, over satin. The strapless petal shaped bodice was completed with a brief jacket of embroidered tulle. Her coronet headpiece, encrusted with pearls, held the fingertip veil of tulle illusion. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of gardenias and white gladioli.

Mrs. George E. Meades, of Belleville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Ellen Messenger of Campbellford, was bridesmaid. They were dressed alike in waltz-length gowns of tulle over taffeta in graduated shades of turquoise. A bolero effect across the shoulders completed the strapless bodices. They wore matching bandeaux decorated with pink gladioli blossoms, and carried crescent shaped bouquets of gladioli in pink and coral.

Mr. Robert Eshbaugh, of Flint, Mich., was groomsman and the ushers were Messrs. William H. Rowe, brother of the bride, and James Eshbaugh, brother of the bridegroom.

The wedding reception was held at the Trent House where the guests were received by the bride's mother, attired in navy crepe with white accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, attired in rose lace with navy and white accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

For a wedding trip to Ottawa, Montreal and points east, the bride chose a navy blue linen frock with matching jacket and white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Eshbaugh will reside in Flint, Michigan.

SISTERS ALL

SISTERS ALL

No longer do you need to fuss around with brush and turpentine to touch up corners around your car fenders and kitchen chairs. They now have a soft plastic container for small quantities of paint. You simply squeeze the container gently releasing the paint in a fine spray. A bottle of aluminum spray is especially useful in the house to prevent rust in many places.

POWDERS

Soon, it won't be necessary to mow our lawns at all. A new powder has been developed which you sprinkle over the grass area a few times each season. This powder stems the growth of the grass doing away with cutting.

If someone would find a similar growth-stopper to sprinkle on the head, much money and time could be saved on haircuts.

And speaking of powders, there is also one now which changes the character of the soil. For instance, if you have heavy clay in your flower bed, the powder will turn it into soft, light loam.

Too bad some cooks couldn't change the consistency of their pie crust by dusting on a little powder!

WATCH THAT LABEL

A person can't be too careful about examining the contents of a bottle before using it. Sometimes we are so sure of ourselves we will not take time to turn a light on to check a label.

We once handed a guest a bottle of rubbing alcohol instead of mineral oil. She had al but swallowed a mouthful in a dark bedroom when she discovered the mistake. The shape of the bottle and the color of the drug label were identical.

The other night a friend, not wanting to waken the baby, picked up a bottle of sun tan oil in the dark and applied it to her hair. She was certain she had the hair oil.

Bible Briefs Who Was This?

By A.A.M.

Who was the first woman leader of men mentioned in the Bible? She was a prophetess, a married woman who sat under a palm tree in Ephraim in the hill country part of between Bethel and Ramah. There she gave wise counsel to all who came to her for advice. She gained the name of "a mother in Israel."

For twenty years her people had been oppressed by the Canaanites. Their enemy, under the military commander Sisera, took away the spears and shields from the Israelites. Sisera, with his nine hundred chariots of iron, had frightened the Israelites off all the main highways. This woman realized that the time had come when her nation must fight to regain their freedom.

She sent for Barak, a man skilled in leading an armed force and said to him, "Does not the Lord, the God of Israel command you, 'Go gather ten thousand men at Mount Tabor. I will draw out Sisera with his chariots and his troops to the river Kishon and I will give him into your hand."

But Barak had not the courage to take the full responsibility for leading the Israelites against Sisera. He replied to this prophetess "If you will go with me, I will go; but if you will not go with me, I will not go."

Then this mother in Israel arose and accompanied Barak, warning him that his fearfulness would not add to his glory. She encouraged Barak to strike at the decisive moment, saying, "Up for this is the day in which the Lord has given Sisera into your hand. Does not the Lord go before you?" Sisera's army was completely defeated and Sisera himself met a horrible death as he fled from the fight.

The prophetess and the other leaders of Israel sang a song of Victory. For forty years the Israelites had peace in their land. Read this woman's name and this story in Judges, Chapter 4 and 5.

Relax Gents, Please No Furore, Bust Not Ousted by M. Dior

By CARL HARTMAN

PARIS (AP) — Relax, gents. Christian Dior hasn't eliminated your fair lady's bust. And not all of his waistlines bug the hips, though some of his numbers do look like little sister playing lady in mama's sweater.

Longer waists and flatter busts are the clearest trends in the welter of fashion and would-be fashion known as the Paris fall collections. But Dior hasn't gone whole hog in all of his creations, and there's a strong minority opinion from Jacques Fath and others.

Skirts? They stay about where they are, 17 inches above the floor, give and take an inch or two here and there. All that puttering above the waist is enough to make any woman's wardrobe out of date if she takes it seriously. And since that's the major purpose of any new fashion line, mischief can be made with skirt lengths another year.

Color? Somber in the daytime—dark brown, grey, and black; brighter in the evening—red, all shades, some green and blue. The Jean Dessès collection shows almost everything in red.

FURS POPULAR

Materials? Fur is nice if you can afford it. The fashion houses show a lot of it, including an evening gown by Pierre Balmain almost entirely in Russian Broadtail. One interesting and somewhat more practical novelty: a washable, quick-drying nylon velvet.

How about the early jazz-age shapelessness people talk about? Quite a few numbers, especially for superintendent, Luella Bonter; North Marmora junior superintendent, Helen Hardy; Marmora junior superintendent, Sabina Martin.

A few plans for the ensuing year were discussed.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

As a general rule, I'm afraid I'm old-fashioned enough—if you want to call it that—to believe that if a man is able to support his wife and family without the wife working, the marriage is apt to be happier. Whether this is right or wrong in principle—and many people believe it highly debatable—the fact nevertheless still remains that, in practice, things usually work out better that way.

In spite of this, however, there are circumstances in which it seems more sensible for young people to start out with both working, than for them to delay marriage indefinitely because the husband does not earn a sufficiently large salary to cover their joint needs.

This last statement seems to me to apply in the case of a girl who writes me that her fiance refuses to discuss setting a date for their marriage because he doesn't feel he earns enough and he is vehemently against the idea of having his wife work.

The young man, who is on his first job—being drafted shortly from service, earns $50 a week: takes home, after deductions, about $42. It looks though it might be quite a long time before he would reach the $60 a week he considers the minimum on which they should get married. In the bank, the couple have only $800. Part of this which was saved by this chap while in service, the girl is a business school graduate and holds an excellent job. She is not only willing, but eager, to continue working after marriage to help meet expenses until the young man can support her; while financial responsibility. But he is adamant. He has his own his own home immediately upon marriage and to have his wife stay in it.

REACH A COMPROMISE

To my mind, the only sensible thing to do in this apparently deadlocked situation is for the two to reach a compromise. More exactly, I think it not so much a compromise that is needed, as a little wise and reasonable yielding on the part of the young man, since the girl gives me the impression that she definitely would not insist on working against his wishes after they are well launched. In fact, she herself thinks it would be very pleasant indeed to stay home and be supported like a lady.

The man is 27, the girl 26, and it does seem foolish for them to delay their marriage any longer. My idea would be for them to marry, and for the girl to work a year or two, perhaps, until they have more of a breathing in the bank and more if the man insists on immediately buying the home he wants, they have made a good start on paying for it. In the meantime, of course, he himself would be working as hard as he could to win promotion to a higher-salaried position in his firm. Then, when they felt themselves to be on safe ground financially, she could stop working and devote herself to maintaining a happy home and raising a family.

Obviously, of course, there remains the problem of how she is going to convince the young man to be willing to yield this much. I would not advise any ultimatum at this point, but merely that she keep trying a little persuasion at diplomatic moments. Also, if they have any friends who are successfully carrying out a plan somewhat similar to the one suggested, she should try to spend an evening with them now and then, with her fiance, so that he could see for himself how well such a project could work out.

I think, however, that if no progress has been made after a reasonable length of time, she should speak out firmly, saying that if they cannot come to some agreement, it might be better if they were to break their engagement. For it certainly is not fair to any engaged girl to have her marriage date dangling in the air indefinitely. Also, if a man is going to be so completely rigid as this would show him up to be, and so unwilling to compromise on points of difference, it is almost certain that there would be many unhappy situations, even bitter arguments and battles, ahead for them as man and wife.

Readers' Saturday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . this is the first year I have done much canning and little problems keep arising. My troubles this time concern chicken. I don't like any of the combinations we had chicken. We have so much jelly and there are usually a few nice white pieces on top then a whole tin full of dark scraps. All the recipes I've looked up say that pressure canning is the only safe way to do meat canning of any kind. There are many people I know who have done chicken other ways and it has turned out fine. For this pressure canner do they mean a pressure cooker? I don't have one but could easily borrow one. It doesn't seem to me that it would hold any quart jars. Could I use canning, frying or stewing chickens? I mainly will use the chicken for sandwiches and salads . . . a couple of years ago while visiting a relative down the lake I had some preserved grapefruit rind. It was in fairly large pieces and seemed to have some glucose in it, but I couldn't be sure. I have a recipe for sweet pickled grapefruit rind which has no ginger in it. Also I have one for pear chips which has preserved ginger, lemons and sugar. Do you think either of these could be used or is there a proper recipe for preserved grapefruit rind?—Lucy W.

ANSWER:

It is always a pleasure to hear from you Lucy for I appreciate your respect for the scientific principles of canning.

Use your recipe for pear chips for the preserved grapefruit rind, but if you want to you can substitute, ounce for ounce, ginger root for the preserved ginger (because it is cheaper), and after boiling until tender the grapefruit skin pieces, scrape off the inner white skin with tip of spoon because it is bitter.

If you can borrow a pressure canner or pressure cooker (they are the same thing) do so by all means. The size you are referring to may be the popular 3 1-2 quart size. Use wide mouth handles that are parallel when in pressure position. If so this also holds 7 imperial pints. Use 2-year-old plump hens culled from flock preferably during August. Prepare for cooking and boil in water to cover until meat will fall from bones. Strip meat from bones and pack, not tightly, in sterile pint jars (or tin cans), cover to within 1-2 inch of top. Seal. Process at 15 lbs. pressure (250 deg. Fahr.) 85 minutes. Since meats require a long process be sure to consult the pressure canner cookbook of instructions for amount of water to be added. I think water should come nearly halfway up jars, but am not certain, and cannot check this height with my files.

QUESTION:

I would like 2 or 3 casserole recipes, inexpensive, and for about five in the family. I have had several out of your column, but I sent them to my sister in England. I would like them for a main dish. I have had lots of requests for salad help from you, and enjoy reading about your pear flavlarine. Good luck and much happiness to her, also good luck and continued success to your column.—Mrs. Stanley F.

ANSWER:

Thank you so much from both of us. I hope you saw last Thursday's column (2 days ago) and clipped the recipe for Rae's Meat and Potato Dish. It would be very perfectly, even if it does serve nine.

BAKED NODDLES WITH CHEESE AND HAM

Four cups boiled noodles (about 1 3-4 cups when dry), 1 cup finely chopped ham, 2-3 cup grated old cheese, 2 cups thin white sauce, boil noodles in salted water until tender and drain. Arrange layers of noodles, ham and cheese in greased baking dish. Cover with white sauce made by melting 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, stirring in 2 tablespoons flour, then 2 cups milk, salt, pepper, and cook until all ingredients are used. Sprinkle top with cheese. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 25 minutes.

LUNCHEON RICE

Boil 3-4 cup raw rice in plenty of water until tender. Drain. Add 1 chopped onion, 2 cups tomato juice, 1 cup grated old cheese, salt, pepper and turn into greased baking dish. Bake about 1 1-2 hours at 300 deg. Fahr. This is easy and good with a large raw-green salad with cabbage in it.

GOOD MANNERS

WIDOW PLANS HER WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a widow (40 years of age), and soon I am to be married again. I have 10 children; eight are married; and I suppose they will all be home for this special day. My husband-to-be has not been married before, and he has several brothers and sisters.

(1) Can we have a church wedding?

(2) If so, who would give me in marriage? May I have my brother-in-law do this? You see, I would like very much to have all my daughters and sons to be together, and not to take part in the ceremony.

(3) Please word the invitations for me. I would like to write these myself.

(4) And please give me any other suggestions. Thank you—A.

(1) I am quite sure that you will be permitted to be married in church. And I do hope so. However, you and your husband-to-be should go at once to consult the minister who is to perform the ceremony. He will guide you, make suggestions.

(2) Ask him also about having someone give you in marriage . . . this is very often not done at a second marriage, particularly when the principals are of mature age.

(3) Under the circumstances you should plan to have a very small wedding. Inviting only members of the immediate families, perhaps a few other close relatives and perhaps a few intimate friends. Therefore you may correctly invite the guests verbally or by telephone, or, to those who live at a distance, by notes. Worded somewhat like this:

Dear Katherine,

David Smith and I are to be married on (day and date) at—o'clock, in—(name of church, and if necessary, the address), a small simple wedding. We do hope that you and Paul will be with us at the church ceremony, and come afterward to my home for a small gathering. Do say you'll both come.

Affectionately,

(4) Small—simple— informal. These three words should be your sure-taste guide, in making your plans. I suggest you wear a simple, street-length dress or perhaps a light weight suit (perhaps your going-away costume), with well-chosen accessories. You or a close attendant, preferably a matron of honor; and the bridegroom to have a best man. If you wish, you might ask two of your sons (or sons-in-law) to escort the guests to their seats; but not to take part in any processional.

"GET-WELL CARDS" NOT "SYMPATHY CARDS"

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Yesterday I told a friend that I was sending "Sympathy Card" to a friend in the hospital, who was recovering from an operation. She laughed and said that I'd better buy a "Get-Well Card" instead. What's the difference?—Lee W.

A "Get-Well Card," which is what you should send to your friendly, cheering card sent to an ill friend. A "Sympathy Card" is the card sent to a person who has lost a dear one. (A "Get-Well Card" is a gay card, sent to cheer, amuse, or encourage the ill person. A read-made "Sympathy Card" is not considered good taste by people of taste—a note of personal sympathy understanding should be written instead.)

USE MOCK ATOMIC WEAPONS

STOCKHOLM (Reuters) — Mock tactical atomic weapons will be used by the Swedish army in their autumn manoeuvres, army chief Gen. Car August Ehrensvard told a press conference Thursday. He added that a mock atomic bomb had also been constructed in order to accustom troops to the threat of atomic warfare.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

TENSION IMPERILS GOOD LOOKS

Faithfulness to one's duties and responsibilities is a noble quality, but there is such a thing as drowning on it to the detriment of one's health. The honorable members of the medical profession have a lot to say about the dangers of tension and nervous stress, and this reporter would suggest that the "drive-yourself" woman read up on the subject.

Such a woman plans a day's activities that would send an ordinary woman into a state of collapse. She attends to every duty, if it kills her — and maybe sometimes it will. She goes breathlessly from one task to another.

She develops nervous knots. She is constantly keyed up, feels she must always be on the move. She doesn't realize that such a state cuts down on efficiency and interferes with digestion. Her digestive motors slow up because they are driven so hard, eventually become a victim of malnutrition.

The "drive-yourself" woman should realize that the greatest of beauty secrets is relaxation. It brings an expression of serenity that makes the face radiant and is the greatest of wrinkle preventives.

She will ask herself how can she find tranquility. Does anyone have peace of mind these days? It comes from a well-organized life and faith in the future. It means that one must have release for continuous work, that one must have a certain amount of play and outdoor life.

Over-activity is definitely ill-health hazard. It leads not only to a deplorable nervous state but is mentally depressing. The remedy is found in relaxation.

If you are tearing around like crazy, stop, pause and consider. Then, lie down, close your eyes and close the doors of your mind against all thoughts of things that must be done.

Let your body relax and go limp. Breathe deeply. Rest yo'self, lady. It is the only way.

Little Benny's Note Book

We were eating dinner, being old roast beef with gravey and mushrooms to make it look new, and ma said to pop, Honestly, William, I mean actually, you wouldn't bleeve the fuss women make over so-called celebrities.

Oh yes, I think I'd bleeve it, pop said, and ma said, Dolores Silo is making a personel appearance at the Narcissis this week, and this afternoon I happened to drop into the Zipper Tea Room, and there was Dolores Silo as big as life, with every woman in the place gawking and gawking at her as though she was some strange unknown animal in the zoo, instead of just an ordinery human woman with all the faults and draw backs that make the average woman unpopular. I assure you, William, I never even lerned my head for a 2nd look ma said.

I hope she wasn't offended by your lack of attention, pop said, and ma said, Well if she wasn't, it was only because she was too busy bestowing smiles rite and left like a queen in carridge, and not from any lack of vanity. Just look at all the concected flour sifter on her astounding ma said.

For Peet sake, how did her autograf ever find its way to your icy retreet? pop said, and ma said, Oh, my goodness, it is just itching for an excuse to "no over to her table to sniff her perfume at close range, and all the other women were sending their waitresses over to get autografs, so I took pity on the poor little creature and let her take my menue card over for the writing to scrawl her name on.

Excuse my mirth, my dear, I cant help laffing at those other women, pop said.

And he laffed some more to prove it.

Some New Perennials for the Garden

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

"Be not the first by whom new things are tried, nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

Sir Walter Scott had something there which could be used in garden practice. When we are offered new plants for our garden, they are not really new, just new to us. They have been tried in many places, have competed for place in the open row in many locations under various conditions and for several years before they are offered for sale.

I often think the gardener is over-cautious in his selection of plant material. Many good plants are offered, and because the demand is so poor, the nurserymen discontinue them, and we have lost an opportunity to add variety to our garden.

EXPERIMENT

If you are fond of iris do not be content to complete a row of one variety in a few colors, go on and experiment with the ruffled forms, Pumila, the tiny early type with old world charm for the border. Then add Cristata, Siberica and the Kaempferi.

Delphiniums are the darlings of some gardens and their fanciers should include, besides the giant hybrids, Belladonna, Belladonnas and Chinese delphiniums which include blues, white and lovely, sensational pink.

The hybrids may be bigger and better according to the blurb of the advertisers, but the old fashioned, unnamed varieties often have a lot to offer too and will extend the season of bloom for delphiniums along with less care.

We should put bank occasionally and see if we have passed up a good old friend for a flashy new one that has only served a lot of editing to perform as advertised.

Take phlox, for instance. It is a big family, and you will be happy to add some older types to those along with latest hybrids. Sunni mound is a low creeping form. Hybrid Arendsi and the blue Divaricata are taller types.

Try these and some of the Beltsville Beauty Phlox. They bloom by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. They come true from seed and may be planted in August to produce blooming plants for next year.

MANY TYPES

You could plant a lovely garden using only Gaillardia Bells. There are at least 15 varieties which bloom from early in the season to late. They come in the true form and peachbells. Misty Morn and Pride of Exeter are two of the best.

At the U.S. Air Force convention held recently at Omaha, Neb., air force secretary Harold Talbott reported that Major Lee Murray, seen above, of Los Angeles, Calif., reached a height of around 90,000 feet last month to set a new world altitude record. Mr. Talbott did not elaborate on the announcement because of security regulations. The flight was made over Edwards air force base, the Mojave desert flight test centre where numerous secret tests have been made and are being made. The plane used for the climb was the Bell X-1A, the stubby "flying laboratory," in which Major Charles Yeager last December set a piloted craft speed record of 1,650 miles an hour. For the latitude test, the X-1A was taken 33,000 feet into the air, to conserve its fuel and then launched from the belly of the B-36.

BATEMAN'S

"Our Reputation For Quality And Fair Dealing Is Unsurpassed"

Brooklyn Dodgers Finally Showing Signs Of Pennant-Winning Form

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

It is do-or-die tonight at the Fair Grounds for the Batas as they meet Oakville Oaks in what amounts to a sudden death playoff in the Viaduct-Ontario Senior Baseball League semi-finals. Batas trail the Oaks 3-0 in games in a best-of-five series and if Oaks win tonight's contest Batas are washed up in league playdowns. Manager Jack Carson, who affiliated Batas with the OBA during the regular season, has stated that until the Y-O playoffs are concluded or Batas are eliminated, the team would not be interested in OBA playoffs. However, should they enter OBA playdowns it is likely they would meet Peterborough Petes.

Tonight's game, however, looms as the big one. Lefty Ross Paiton, who has received credit for both Oakville wins in the series to date, is the likely starter. He has been beaten only once by the Batas this summer in six games including playoffs and relief assignments. Coach Vern Geyer has not announced Batas' starting hurler but in all likelihood he will send Art Wright to the hill azala. Art held the Oaks to one run in the first five frames of Tuesday's 10 inning thriller at the Fair Grounds before departing in the sixth. The team will be at full strength and Geyer intends to use every player, if necessary, to pull out a win.

The season's largest crowd saw Tuesday night's game and despite a 25 minute delay in the arrival of the Oaks, hardly a soul left the seats until the dramatic finish at 11.40. Tonight's game should be another thriller.

SENIOR BASEBALL SERIES

Northern Electric's softball team, which downed Point Anne Chemicans 2-1 Wednesday night for its second such victory in an eight game series with the Ox Pointers, appears to be in top shape to meet Peterborough tonight at 5.45 at the CNR softball field in the first game of a best-of-three Series B OASA playdown series.

The Electrics, who had to go Senior B when Point Anne chose to play Intermediate A, are meeting an unknown quantity in the Peterborough squad. No word has been received locally about the strength of the visitors or the teams they play in, but if Peterborough's teams in general are any indication of their potential strength, the visitors from the Littlock City will be formidable opponents. Northern has a best club, however, and softball fans would be well advised not to pass up this contest.

Reid's Regents and Deseronto clash in the fourth game of their current battle to provide a finalist in the Belleville and District Baseball League playoffs at the Fair Grounds Monday night at 8.30. Regents took the first game in Deseronto a week ago Friday, 13-8, took the second one 7-5 in Belleville Tuesday, and lost the third game Thursday by default when they failed to come up with a full roster in Deseronto. The first game was washed out when it failed to go seven complete innings so the series stands at one game each.

The winners meet RCAF Flyers. The Flyers downed Wellington in two games in the other semi-final series and have been idle a week awaiting a winner of the Regent-Deseronto contest.

BITS AND PIECES

Good news for outdoorsmen in the current bulletin from the Lands and Forests office at Tweed. Officers report only 25 miles of trail in this district to date and only one since July 24th . . . Rangers also report an Ottawa citizen with 26 speckled trout for one day's catch. What rangers can't figure out is how he did this feller says that the lucrative lake he stocked not to mention the mystery of how he found it once he knew. Denbigh residents had their eyes opened recently when four out-of-town fishermen took 10 trout weighing a total of 20 pounds from a small nearby lake. Residents have bellieved the lake to be empty for years and hardly anyone even bothers to fish it.

C'est la guerre.

Bums Fight Back on Friday To Lick St. Louis Cards 8-4; Giants Cool Out Braves, 3-1

By BEN FELEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been a long time coming but the Brooklyn Dodgers finally are showing flashes of the brilliant form that made last year's pennant race a breeze.

With three good games under their belts, the Dodgers are set for a triumphant tour through the west and the return home when they run head-on into the New York Giants in a three-game series next weekend.

Going into today's games they trailed the Giants by 3½ lengths and manager Walt Alston said he had hopes of cutting the deficit to 2 or 2½ before the Giants left.

"I just hope we can stick on their tail and then get a hot streak in the last week of the season."

That last week the Dodgers have six games—three with Pittsburgh and three with New York.

SHOW POWER

The Dodgers showed their mighty power in swamping Cincinnati twice and Friday night they displayed the ability to fight back under pressure when they licked the St. Louis Cardinals 8-4.

Brooklyn went into the ninth inning trailing 4-2. Then Gil Hodges' homer by Rookie Walt Moryn tied the score and Duke Snider's second four runs in the 10th to win going away.

The Giants put a temporary halt to Milwaukee's pennant aspirations with a 3-1 victory before a Milwaukee record crowd of 46,946. The Braves got to Sal Maglie for a run in the first inning but the veteran righthander settled down and then helped the rest of the way.

Cleveland's American League lead over New York was trimmed to 3½ games when the Indians were beaten 4-3 in Washington's 10 innin and the Yankees defeated Det t 4-0. The Chicago White Sox Philadelphia 13-0. Boston shaded Baltimore 3-2 and took over fourth place from Detroit.

CUBS BEAT PHILLIES

The Chicago Cubs defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 in 12 innings and Cincinnati edged Pittsburgh 2-1 on Ted Kluszewski's 37th homer in the last of the ninth.

Bobby Feller lost a heartbreaker to Johnny Schmitz in the Washington-Cleveland battle. The winning run scored in the controversial Dave Philley booted Mickey Vernon's single long enough to allow Pete Runnels to score from first base in the 10th. Feller gave up only three hits, all bunts, between the second and the 10th.

Tom Morgan of the Yankees held the Tigers at bay with six hits, never more than one to an inning. The shutout was the 16th suffered by the Tigers, tops in the league this season. Irv Noren hit his 11th home run.

DORISH HURLS SHUTOUT

Triples by Jim Rivera and Minnie Minoso and a home run by Johnny Groth led to eight runs for Chicago in the third inning at Philadelphia. Harry Dorish, normally reserved for relief duty, pitched the shutout.

The Cubs tied the Phillies in the ninth on a home run by Ernie Banks. Then in the 12th when Hal Jeffcoat singled, scampered to third on an error and scored on a beautiful squeeze bunt by Gene Baker.

The Redlegs completed the first triple play in the National League this season. With Frank Thomas on second and Sid Gordon on first, Jack Shepard bounced to third baseman Bobby Adams who stepped on the bag and threw to John Temple at second. Temple's relay to first baseman Lluzewski beat Shepard.

Schenectady Wins Little League World Title

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Billy Maqucci, a 12-year-old right hander, pitched himself in and out of jams with a fast ball Friday as Schenectady, N. Y., hammered out a 7-3 victory over Cotton, Calif., to win the 1954 Little League baseball championship.

The win, 10th in tournament competition for the New Yorkers, completed a perfect undefeated, only once before in Little League world series play.

Last year the Schenectady all-stars were defeated in the final by Birmingham, Ala.

The New Yorkers were favored over the eight-entrie representing 3,500 leagues in the U. S., Canada and nine other countries. Schenectady has averaged eight runs a game in winning nine previous tournament contests and had scored seven shutouts.

Elgins, Terriers Have Two-Game Leads on Rivals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Thomas Elgins and Galt Terriers each have a healthy 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven intercounty Senior Baseball League semi-finals by virtue of Friday night's victories over London Majors and Brantford Red Sox.

The fighting St. Thomas crew scored a 6-5, 11 inning victory over the Majors at London while Galt's Maple Leafs were outslugging the Red Sox 8-6.

The Elgins tied it up at 4-4 in the ninth with a two-run rally. They notched another two runs in the first extra inning.

London scored into a 4-0 lead in the first inning when Joe Bechard laced out a three-bagger with the bases loaded and Bob Halkard singled. But after that they were kept in check.

LASTED TO EIGHTH

Elgins' Wilmer Harris lasted until the eighth and Cam Church took it from there to the finish. Bill Best went nine innings for London and was relieved by Bob Brake.

Over at Brantford fans saw a weird game featuring 28 hits, seven errors and 14 runs and balls.

The Red Sox had a 5-1 lead at the end of five innings but Galt came back with a big one for the fourth and seven in the fifth. The sixth inning was the big one for Brantford when they scored seven runs to get back into the game. Ace Red Sox pitcher was called Brantford but went astray in the fifth when his wildness hit three and three walks. Combined with three errors this led to seven runs by the Terriers.

CLARKE STOPPED 'EM

Southpaw Alf Gavey was sent to the rescue but failed to retire a batter. John Clarke was called on then to put out the fire.

The Terriers started Hal Duncan and he was done out in the ninth to give Roly Larouche a chance. Galt's 14-hit attack was led by John Imbra and Wray Upper with three hits each. Upper also collected a homer in the sixth, but the bases were vacant.

Brantford's leading clouters were Stan Bread and Stan Lipka with three hits each. Lipka hit a three-run homer in the sixth and George Carruth a two-run homer in the third.

Potential Audience of 40,000,000 Will View Ottawa-Argo Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Big Four kicks off today on the most ballyhooed football season ever to hit Canada.

With a potential audience of 40,000,000 persons in Canada and the United States, the Big Four opens in Toronto and Hamilton with Ottawa Rough Riders going against Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes meeting Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

But it will be the Ottawa-Toronto game that will give the Big Four its international flavor. The NBC will telecast the game on its network into thousands of American homes. A host of American sports writers will be around for a first-hand glimpse.

Nothing like this has been seen since Grey Cup time around Toronto, when thousands of football fans invade the city on a football pilgrimage. As a counter attraction to U.S. college football televised by another network, the NBC made a deal to telecast each Saturday one Big Four League game. The network also is considering featuring the Grey Cup classic Nov. 28 to U.S. viewers.

Play in the Western Interprovincial Football Union already is under way. In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, Toronto Balmy Beach plays Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, who ended off-season play with a 23-19 loss to Sarnia Imperials last Wednesday.

The Tiger - Cats — who always came close but never quite made it until last year, will go against Alouettes to start the defence of their Grey Cup championship. Aware of the mistakes of other former champions who failed to repeat, shrewd, painstaking Carl Voyles of the Tiger-Cats has not been content to stand pat with the club that powered over the Big Four opposition last year and winged in the Grey Cup game.

He said months ago when he started lining up his imports for this season that the team must be 25 per cent better to retain the title.

The coming weeks will tell whether he has succeeded in achieving the necessary improvement. But at least he hasn't figured that a team that was good enough one year could win again without too many changes, an error made by all coaches of Grey Cup-winning teams since 1948.

Ulrich Shoots Three Even Rounds to Lead Field Into Final Day of Labatt Open

By A. E. FULFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—An easy-going, 30-year-old pro who says he's never stupid to be frightened, led the field today into the final 18-hole test of the 72-hole $36,000 open golf tournament.

Ad he started Friday's third 18-hole round Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn., told a kidding competitor there was no use trying to scare him—"I'm too stupid."

From the pointed green where the remark was made Ulrich walked to the first tee, shot a one-over-par six and then settled down to demonstrate that he's no dope at keeping his nerves when he scored 65-65 on the first two rounds.

He finished the first nine in 37, one over par, but birdied two holes on the second nine for a 34 and the 36-hole total of 138, a stroke better than Tommy Nolt of Houston, Texas, who shot a 67 for a 203 total. With 19, the Minnesota pro was in the clear for the last holes.

Ulrich, a happy-go-lucky character with a shaggy crew cut, blonde hair and all air of not caring particularly what happens, was unsteady on the first nine but with deft chip shots, better approaches and keen putting on the second nine he shot a 32, three under par.

However, Ulrich was far from home free today in the four-day tournament. Two strokes behind Nolt and three behind Ulrich were Jack Fleck, Davenport manager's, N.Y., and Doug Ford of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., with 202. In the third round Douglas shot a 70 and Ford was one better.

The leading Canadian, Stan Leonard of Vancouver, was five strokes back of the leaders with 208, together with Bo Winsger of Oklahoma City. Winsger, 4 strokes behind Ulrich as Friday's play started, shot a weak 73 but Leonard, with par 36 out and one under coming home, made it in 70.

The Scarboro course, its par lasted by 56 golfers on the first day of the tournament and 33 on the second, stood up more stoutly to the firing of the American pros Friday. With the position of the Ulrich putt, his only stroke below par at the eighth when he covered the 190-yard pitch his second. He birdied the ninth with another 10-footer.

Both the home nine Ulrich shot a birdie four on the 343-yard 10th hole and another on the 200-yard 13th. He had two bogeys and one double, including seven- and six-foot putts, got him bogeys at the 12th and 16th. He parried the last two holes.

Leading amateur after the three rounds of play was Canada's Bob Toronto Lambton who shot a 74 Friday for a total of 222, three strokes ahead of Moe Norman of Kitchener, Ont. Norman shot a 68 for a total of 225.

Hamner, Ennis On Trading Block Report

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Journal said in a signed story by Sam Levy, that Granny Hamner and Del Ennis of the Philadelphia Phillies had been offered to the Milwaukee Braves in a trade as an outgrowth of a row between Hamner and manager Terry Moore earlier this week.

Hickey, recently under fire from Pittsburg's poor showing in the National League for the last several seasons, fainted as he entered Pelican Stadium Thursday night to attend a New Orleans - Atlanta Southern Association game.

Doctors treated Hickey at his hotel.

"The doctors tell me it was a vertigo attack and they called it pneumonia," Hickey told The Associated Press in a telephone interview. "The doctors told me I would be possible to have a dozen or so attacks a day, but they also said I could go 12 years without an attack."

Hickey said he understood no one died with the malady.

"But the doctors said you wish you were dead when you get one of these attacks," he said. "I can't tell that from here, but I believe them. You just have to take these things in stride."

Water Conservation

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
Noted Sportsman, Author, and Creator of Sahmar Tables

Most folks take water pretty much for granted. All too few of them realize that a an unfailing supply of clean, fresh water is one of God's most important gifts to mankind. Without water we could exist but a very short while.

To show you what I mean about Mr. Average Citizen and the water supply, watch him at the tap for a glass of water. First, he turns it full on until it runs cool; then he fills his glass and drinks; then he rinses his glass and sets it aside; after all that, he turns off the tap—five gallons or so wasted while he takes one drink.

For the most part the North American continent is generously endowed with water enough for everybody and more. Yet as our population grows, we seem to be doing the best we can to deplete or defile our fresh water.

Consider, for example, New York City. There, right in its side yard, flows the Hudson River, one of the world's largest streams. That river, beginning as a trout stream in the Adirondacks and augmented by countless other trout streams on down through its watershed, has its beginnings in clean, cool, crystal-clear fresh water.

Yet as it moves along it loses its status of purity all too quickly. Factory wastes, creamery refuse, countless sewers, all combine to render this water unfit for human consumption.

PERIODIC SHORTAGES

Thus, New York City has its perfodical water shortages when rainfall is insufficient to keep full its reservoir system in the Catskills.

New York City is not unique in this. Most large towns and cities are built beside rivers or lakes. It is true that some of this supply is limited supply, running it through purifying plants to make it potable if not palatable. The majority, however, depend upon complicated and costly systems of wells and reservoirs to keep the people from going thirsty.

Meanwhile our population grows. Improved manufacturing methods, better and more elaborate plumbing facilities, air-conditioning units (most of which require water-cooling) all combine to put greater loads on our water supplies.

The result is that the water table, to which little, if any, thought was given a generation ago, are being lowered as the years pass. Water shortages, unusual in past years, are now commonplace.

Old Mother Nature, instead of keeping pace with modern trends, goes along just about as she always did. She sends our rainfall much as she has always done and then when there was no such thing as water plumbing.

RAINFALL WASTED

Instead of using this rainfall wisely, storing it high in the watersheds, and avoiding damaging floods, we have done exactly the opposite. Forests have fallen to the axe and saw; swamps and marshes have been drained; land has been cleared.

Thus, the average raindrop, instead of being held for future need, is hurried on its journey to the sea, racing over denuded land and usually taking with it its burden of rich topsoil. The Mississippi Delta is what it happens to be because our forefathers left little regard for cared less about water and soil conservation.

So, as I say, we have floods—damaging, disastrous floods which reach higher levels with the passing years, due entirely to the inability of denuded land to assimilate and store excess rainfall.

By the same token, we have our dust bowls, dried-up lakes, ponds, springs and wells, and our water shortages. The whole blooming business makes little sense even when you stop to look at the overall picture.

Naturally, we worry about flood control. And what do the powers-that-be do about that? Authorize the construction of huge dams in our lower river valleys to hold the check—in part at least—our raging rivers.

This solution to our water problems makes just about as much sense as locking the barn door after the horse has been stolen.

Research has shown us that intelligent watershed management is the only true answer to flood control and water conservation. They tell us that natural is-soak on a well-managed watershed is five times more effective in flood-control than a big dam or a series of big dams. Moreover, it is four times less expensive.

Now we have this increasingly serious condition — compared to former years, less water is being taken into the land and more water is being drawn-off. How long-this unsafe arrangement can continue is anybody's guess. I'm sure you will agree that something of a more definite nature should be done about it. If you want some startling, drop me a line in care of The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Des Moines, Iowa.

AIR WORLD SERIES

NEW YORK (AP)—The Mutual Broadcasting System Friday announced the fifth broadcast of the world series will be aired by an augmented chain of approximately 200 stations in the continental United States and Alaska and Hawaii. In addition, the MBS program will be carried on the Dominion network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Villmer and Baillargeon Easily Best in Tag Team Contest; Luther Lindsay Crowd Pleaser

Ray Villmer and P. Baillargeon, soon Urusa was hollering for help the people's choice, were easily the best for over the Mighty Ursus and George Bollas in the rematch at the Memorial Arena Friday night before a packed house. The night winning in two straight falls. A crowd of close to 1,200 hollered themselves hoarse as the heroes put the two villains through their paces. The card was an exception ally well-balanced one with Jan Golch drawing with Don Lewin in thirty minutes and Luther Lindsay, to a prime favorite here, winning over Vern Taft, a substitute for Sky Hi Lee in fourteen minutes.

The traffic was congested in the main bout. Villmer and Baillargeon, light as ballet dancers on their feet, shed by almost unconcerned over their two bulkier opponents. The first fall went to the eventual winners when Ursus told me to wouldn't be possible to have a dozen or so attacks a day, but they also said I could go 12 years without an attack."

Hickey said he understood no one died with the malady.

"But the doctors said you wish you were dead when you get one of these attacks," he said. "I can't tell that from here, but I believe them. You just have to take these things in stride."

Hopeing they were ready for the kill, Ursus and his partner took over a new lease of life but Villmer and Baillargeon weathered the storm and soon had the two piled up again on the canvass and it was goodnight for the villains.

Golch and Lewin wrestled as if they had never seen each other before in their life. Golch tried to keep it clean but Lewin was not having any pink tea affair and before it was finished he was sorry he started all the trouble. Luther Lindsay has made a host of friends since his appearance here a week ago and last night, he took Vern Taft's lamp without trouble. Lindsay is about the best proposition to appear in these here in some time and should be ready for a main bout. He would have them here with him with the exception of the Whipper. It was a good card and the fans were happy leaving the Arena.

Palmer Nails Birdie on 39th To Enter Finals

DETROIT (AP)—Young Arnold Palmer of Cleveland sailed a birdie on the 39th hole to win an overtime battle from fellow townsman Minister Friday and go into the finals of the 54th United States amateur golf championship at Indianola suburban Robert Sweety.

Minister, who missed a six-foot putt on the 36th and a three-footer on the 37th, was forced to over Dr. Ted Lazcryk, shy little dentist from Scranton.

So today it's Sweeny, 43, against the ex - coast guardsman from Pennsylvania's coal country — 15 years his junior—for one of the sport's great prizes.

The bitterly-fought Palmer-Minister match was knotted seven times. Minister, a lumbering 36-year-old magazine publisher, held the lead only twice. That was on the one hole—before the two went down the wire to one of the longest matches in the history of the tournament.

The final stacks up as one of the most interesting in years.

Palmer, a sportsman who follows the international set from London to Cannes to Palm Beach, Golf has been his life. He won the British Amateur 17 years ago.

Young was the loser in seven innings, allowing four hits for two unearned runs, while fanning five and issuing free passes to three. Burshaw struck out two and walked four in his eight innings stay.

Miller singled in the lead-off position for Stewart-Warner and Bob Brooks' triple after Burshaw fanned two, netted one in the first. Three walks two of them off Burshaw, a sacrifice and a passed ball made it 2-0 in the third.

Hatfield beat out a bunt for the first hit off Young in the fifth with Logue drawing a base on balls. Bunk Young slashed a sharp single to centre with Hatfield racing home to cut it.e lead in half.

Hatfield's hard single to left that Ted Hurst permitted to go through his legs made it a new game in the sixth.

Bob Brooks led the victors with a triple and single, while Frank Murray had a double and single. Miller contributed a pair of important singles with Bertrim also hitting safely. Hatfield claimed a pair of singles in defeat with the others going to Dusseury Young and Bone.

Stewart Warner Claws Bobcats By 4-2 Count

By GARRY ALEXANDER)

A pair of ninth inning errors paved the way to the winning runs last night as the Stewart-Warner T.V.s turned back the Bobcats by a 4-2 score in the third game of a best-of-seven series for the right to represent Belleville in the OASA Intermediate "AA" playdowns.

The Bobcats still hold a two-one edge in games with the series to continue at the Alemite Field on Monday evening.

The winners got off to a 2-0 lead with a single marker in the initial frame and another in the third, while Dip Young held the Bobcats hitless for the first four frames. He weakened in the fifth for one Bobcat tally while an outfield error knotted the score in the sixth and set the stage for the eleventh-hour victory.

Shorty Miller led off the top of the ninth with a clean single to centre and Keith Bertrim sacrificed him to second. Doug Murray, the next batter, hit one on the ground to Duesbury at second with the ball going through him and Miller racing all the way around to put his team out front by a 3-2 score. Bob Brooks followed with a single to centre and Donovan's throw-in went back to the fence, near the stands, with Murray. Doug Logue

Co-starring roles are Piper Laurie, William Bendix and Vincent Price. On the same program are scenes of doings with Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz in the musical comedy hit, "Too Many Girls" with Richard Carlson, Ann Miller, Eddie Bracken, Francis Langford and Hal Leroy.

BRITONS TAKE RIBBING IN STRIDE

(Feature)

If the sign of a healthy democracy is the ability to be self-critical, and to laugh at one's self, then the English are, thank you very much, in the pink of condition.

From the time of Shakespeare, through the Victorians, to the present (notably by such films as "The Promoter," "The Titfield Thunderbolt" "Kind Hearts and Coronets" and many others) the English have exhibited a healthy ability to laugh at their foibles and follies.

Mark Twain's fantastic fictional jape at the English is his great short story, "The Million Pound Bank Note." It has just been adapted for the screen, under the somewhat less unwieldy title of "Man with a Million", and it stars Gregory Peck in the role of the penniless American who is launched on a fantastic adventure when he is given a million pound bank note by two eccentric Londoners. A United Artists release photographed in Technicolor, "Man with a Million", closing today at the McCarthy.

"Man with a Million" makes fun of Victorian morals and manners, and the Eminent Victorians who first read the story laughed it and loved it. But what Mark Twain himself, the story was a favorite with the English people. They appreciated a good laugh at their own expense, and chances are, they still do.

Co-starring roles are Lucille Ball, Richard Carlson, Ann Miller, Eddie Bracken, Francis Langford and Hal Leroy in the musical comedy "Too Many Girls".

Elva Tyme is a hardy a brain cell she could call her own. But even she can learn to count tricks practically. One for each high card (ace or king or queen) and one for each card short of three.

What she should know next is that she should expect no more than two tricks in the hand of her partner when she bids three. Therefore, if she opens with a bid of one she should have five tricks.

Why is this so? Because a bid of one must take seven tricks. To make a bid of one she needs five with the two from partner. This tells her how many raises can later be made by either of them.

If she has six tricks, she bids one trick more than her opening promised. So she can only once during that deal. If she has seven tricks she can raise twice. Even she understand this.

If her partner has three tricks, only one raise should come from there. If partner has four tricks, two raises can come from there. With five tricks, partner has three raises.

All this is based on the idea that the opener, among the five tricks can see four high cards of which two are sure (quick) tricks. And among partner's tricks are two bidds.

With this knowledge alone she can get along in bridge games. Better even than those she plays well because they are more confident of the tricks they have or the raises they can give.

Take the partnership hands shown here:

SOUTH	NORTH
♠Q 10 5 2	♠K 9 4 2
♥A 4	♥8 7 3 2
♦Q 5	♦8 4 3
♣K 7 4 2	♣A 6

South counts seven tricks; five high, a short in each red suit. North counts three tricks; two high and a short in clubs.

One spade is the opening by south. North assists to five spades. This uses up the only raise north has. South raises to four spades; two raises to show two additional tricks.

You need not be clever with simple endeavor.

Durocher Says Odds Against Braves' Chances

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Leo Durocher is a mite dubious about the Milwaukee Braves' pennant chances.

"I'm not counting them out, understand," warned the manager of the New York Giants, currently 7½ games ahead of the third-place Braves and 3½ ahead of second-place Brooklyn.

"But the statistics are against them."

The Giants beat the Braves, 3-1, Friday night on Sal Maglie's five-hitter which Durocher called "his best game of the season." They meet again today with another sell-out crowd certain at County Stadium where Friday night's game drew a record turnout of 46,944.

"I don't count any of 'em, out until it's impossible for 'em to win," Durocher said in the clubhouse after the game. "But the way I look at it, the Braves have got it pretty tough with two teams to catch instead of one.

WOULD WIN

"I said at the start of the year I thought 96 games would win the pennant. I still think so and that means I need 7 more out of the 30 we've got left, just a little over .500.

"So if I get that many, the Braves have to win 25 of their 31 to tie me. All they can lose is the rest for the way.

"And with both us and Brooklyn ahead, they can't let up at all. It's pretty tough."

two-hit pitching.

Syracuse shaded Rochester 3-2 with a two-run rally in the eighth. Bob Miceli(sic) singled home what proved to be the winning run.

Ray Noble homered for Havana's 1-0 triumph over Ottawa. Julio Moreno checked the Athletics on eight hits.

Buffalo Hurler Misses No-Hitter By One Bingle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If young Frank Lary of Buffalo keeps on trying he may yet pitch a full-fledged no-hitter.

The strikeouts wizzard from the University of Alabama missed a pitcher's dream game by one Friday night. He mowed down the league - leading Toronto Maple Leafs with nary a hit, a walk nor an error through 8 3-3 innings.

Then plush-hitter Archie Wilson, batting for Ray Shore, smashed a clean single through the middle. Wilson was the only Toronto baserunner and he never moved past first. Buffalo won 2-0.

Lary, regarded as a year away from the majors when he clashed with Detroit Tigers during spring training, pitched a seven-inning no-hitter in the International League last Sept. 9.

Buffalo won the first game of the Toronto doubleheader, too, 5-3 as Duke Maas batted Goodman down.

Montreal moved into a tie for second with Rochester by whipping Richmond 8-0 behind Ed Roebuck's

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY AUGUST, 29 1954

March 22 to April 20 (Aries) — Today's indications carry many pleasant implications and a few restrictions (which are good for all of us occasionally). Enjoy wholesome Sunday activities, your family, recreation.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — This can be a happy, wholesome day with your cheerful help. Don't expect wonders to happen, but do know that you will be happy and accomplish if you stick to your finer traits, and pray.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — There's nothing more satisfying than a contented mind and his we can all gain through prayer and doing charitable, kindly deeds. Essential work need not be a hardship; it can be pleasant.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Your Moon and Uranus friendly. Make the most of your fine talents, enjoy your family, worthy friends and healthy outdoor activities. Start day with religious service.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Restful pastimes, good devotions—are "first" on today's sponsored program. Daily duties also favored.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — There are times when we all should give our mental equipment complete rest, a vacation from worry and anxiety. Today advocates just that. But don't neglect God.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Another reasoning day for the good at heart. Taboo needless worry and doubt. Enjoy healthy, pleasant diversion from humdrum daily affairs. Be your genial, helpful self.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — You folks enjoy and are nourished by music and the other fine arts. Indulge them today. First prayer, then spend your time in the company of agreeable friends.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Discord of any nature hurts you, so do your share to keep it out of your family and other relationships. Seek God's guidance, follow His gentle ways and you will be happy, successful.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — You can be a happy somebody and help others to enjoy the day more. Play with children, visit the lonely and ill. You'll relish the joy that comes from doing good. Necessary tasks favored.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Curb restlessness, join your family or good friends in some healthy, restful activity. God will bless you two-fold for aiding the poor and the ill, and for doing your chores cheerfully.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Today stresses a need for self-restraint to insure smoother going—at home, with friends, or at work. Make some time for religious services.

YOU BORN TODAY are fair-minded, usually gracious and often look younger than your years. You may have to conquer a tendency toward timidity. Innately talented and capable, you will sacrifice and work for those you love. You have a keen mind, strong intuition and a friendly manner; can learn facts and information from others without seeming to ask questions; are curious but only to be helpful, encouraging. However, do not try to make others over! You can attain heights in your profession, trade, whatever your calling. Birthdate: Maurice Maeterlinck, famed Belgian poet, dramatist; John Locke, writer, physician, philosopher; Oliver W. Holmes, writer, physician.

1,000 ENGINES A WEEK

COWLEY (Reuters)—The British Motor Corporation, manufacturers of Austin and Morris cars, said today that their new Melbourne, Australia, plant would be producing 1,000 engines a week within a year. The corporation recently acquired a 20-acre site at Fishermen's Bend, Melbourne, for the factory, first step in a £2,800,000 expansion program in Australia.

Will Play One Game

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders are bringing quarterback Tom O'Malley-up to professional status in that quality him as a non-import for the football season in 1955.

Coach Clem Crowe said Friday he will use O'Malley in Rough Riders' second exhibition game on Saturday.

O'Malley, 28, a graduate of Queen's University, was a quarterback, led Rough Riders to the Grey Cup in 1951 his first with the club. He is not playing football this year because he is held to his job with Canadian Industries Limited.

If he gets on the field for only one minute, it will be enough to qualify him as a fourth-year import. Next season, if O'Malley returns to Canadian football, he will be considered a non-import.

MONTREAL (CP) — French tapestries worth $1,000,000 will be displayed at city hall next week in connection with a French Trade Fair to be held here Sept. 9-26.

Youngsters Win Major Honors In Handicap

By FRED HOWELL

VANDALIA, O. (AP)—Fourteen was the magic number Friday as three 14-year-olds outshot the Methuselahs of the field in hitting to sweep the major honors in the $10,000 Grand Amateur Handicap.

Nick Kean of New York, who will be 15 Sept. 27, won the big one, the Roaring Grand amateur championship, breaking 99 of 100 from 13 yards to tie two other unknowns, and then defeating them in a 50-target shootoff.

The feminine laurels went to 14-year-old Dianne Williamson, who enters the ninth grade at Compton, Calif., next week. The California girl, who plays football with a pickup team, broke 95 from 22 yards.

The third 14-year-old to enter trapshooting's hall of fame was Myles Tom Fisher of Findlay, O., who broke 96 to take the junior laurels.

PAYS WELL

Young Kean's victory which he added to the national sub-junior championship at 15 yards Wednesday, should pay him in the neighborhood of $8,000.

Friday's Grand American drew 2,008 participants from all parts of the United States and Canada, including the powerful Texas squad, 1949 by 60.

Young Kean became the second youngest ever to win trapshooting's greatest prize.

The youngest ever was Alfred Rufus King, Wichita Falls, Tex., who won at his 14th birthday in 1930. Ray Williams of Eaton, O., who won last year's Grand, slipped to 95 Friday as did Fred Thornborrow of Hamilton, Ont., who won Thursday's preliminary handicap with a perfect score of 100.

Other Ontario scores (handicap yardages in brackets) included: G. A. McAteer, St. Thomas (20) 96; H. A. Aitken, Simcoe (19) 94; Will Hartman, Kitchener (20) 93; Leon Hartman, Kitchener (23) 91; Hal M. Kemp, St. Thomas (22) 90; R. F. Nicholls, Kingston (20) 89; Mahlon H. Thrasher, Cartier (22) 86; Wilfred J. Gilhula, Chatham (18) 80; A. J. Lake, Wellington (18) 76.

END BALLET DEADLOCK

LONDON (Reuters) — Thirty ballet dancers in the famous Sadler's Wells Company on Thursday night accepted new pay offers and ended a deadlock which threatened to cancel an eight-week provincial tour by the company's "second-string" group.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Those experts who believe the decline of the Yankees are convinced now that Casey Stengel will retire to his swinging four-flat Glendale, Ida his wife has been begging him to for three years if he fails to win his sixth straight pennant.

At his birthday party earlier in the season Casey said seriously "If I can't win with this team, then I don't deserve to be called a big league manager who can." Casey's listeners did not pay him too much heed. They knew not as the tide goes against him they feel certain he would quit.

For one thing, Casey was bitterly disappointed when George Weiss, the Yank general manager, sold pitcher Vic Raschi to the St. Louis Cardinals early in spring training. Casey didn't realize that Weiss was on the point of exploiting Raschi, who was holding out in a beach cottage only a few miles from Yankee headquarters, had not even called him by phone to discuss the terms of his contract.

So, if Cleveland wins and Casey calls it a day, there are those who always will think it would have been different if a $20,000 a year pitcher had spent 10 cents at the right time.

National League president Warren Giles, from his head office and time-consuming squabbles between the players and his umpires, has advised the athletes to take a little more time in giving decisions to the umpires, when in doubt, to seek help from one another.

He told them there was no loss of dignity in not being abrupt and overbearing, and that the shining objective was to arrive at the right decision, even if "eventually." This is one of the smartest things said by a league president in our time and should be the theme of the strain off the boys in blue.

Now the umps can get their heads together, anyway, as they should have all along.

Barney Ross, who was a great name in boxing some 15 years ago, is away from one of Rocky Marciano's workouts the other day saying that he could see and predicting that the champion was going to burn himself out long before his time if he didn't temper his rigorous training methods.

As is well known, the ex-pro probably puts in more time on the road and spends more hours boxing with his sparring partners and pounding away at the heavy bag than he ever thought king of the tory. He really loves the spartan life, even locking himself away from his wife and child for lengthy periods.

Ross asked what he thought of Ross' gloomy prediction, Rocky said he was unimpressed and that between his trainer, Charlie Goldman, his manager, Al Weill and himself there should be considerable knowledge of how he, Rocky, should prepare himself for battle. He added that he had never felt stale in his life.

Nevertheless, recent visitors to the camp have come away with the distinct impression that Rocky is taking things just a little easier as he girds for his second session with Ezzard Charles on Sept. 15.

Civic Employees Have Organized Big New Union

REGINA (CP)—Formation of a new union of civic employees that will be one of the largest in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was announced today.

Garnet Shier of Toronto, expected to be its president, said the union will have 19,000 members for a start and hopes to jump fairly soon to 28,000 with co-operation of the congress.

Setup of the new organization was worked out here in the last few days in conferences between the TLC executive and representatives of the Federation of Public Service Employees, of which Shier is president. The federation is a loose-knit association of small groups of municipal workers that are under direct contract of the congress.

Under the arrangement that has the blessing of the TLC executive, the 185 local groups will be turned loose to unite under the name of the National Union of Public employees as of Jan. 31.

The new union will be affiliated to the congress, the difference from the present status being that its collective membership will have autonomy as a "national" union.

MEMBERSHIP NEW

Shier said existing membership of the new body consists of about 10,000 in Ontario, 5,000 in British Columbia, 2,300 in Alberta and 1,700 in Saskatchewan.

He said in an interview it expects its membership will go to 28,000 before long as the congress executive influences other federal unions to move into it. The whole organizing field of civic employees within the TLC, Shier said, amounts to about 80,000 persons.

On Shier's count of a 19,000 membership, the union would be about the fifth-largest in the 380,000-member TLC. President Percy R. Bengough's machinists are on top with around 52,000.

Shier, a licence issuer for the city of Toronto, said his organization has no intention of raiding the Canadian Congress of Labor's municipal employees union for membership.

When it gets established, he said, the union will sign the TLC-CCL non-raiding pact approved this week by the Trades and Labor Congress.

AGEING BONES

A feeble, palsied octogenarian once met himself face-to-face in a public street. But the self he met was only thirty years old. With a croak rage the old man raised his cane and proceeded to pound his younger self on the head until the police came and hauled him off.

"Believe it or not," he told the police, "that was me—at the age of thirty. The worst enemy I ever had in the world. He wasted my money and he wasted my health, and a few knocks on the head is small payment for that."

"Why do old people's bones break so easily and so badly. My father, aged 76, slipped on the sidewalk and broke his leg four years ago. He is still a cripple, and the doctor says he may always need crutches. I am 45 and in good health and hope to stay that way. Is there anything a person can do at my age to keep his bones from becoming matsinoticaxes?"

The majority of older people have defective calcium metabolism, and delayed union of fractures. An adequate daily diet keeps the bones of people of all ages in a healthy condition.

CONSTANT TARGET

Living bone is a constant target for the chemical chiselers which are the osteoclasts (bone-breakers) that erode bone tissues and leave pit marks on the surface. The continuous wear-and-tear process requires a constant formation and deposition of new materials throughout every individual's full life period.

It is necessary from earliest youth to extreme old age to keep up a dietary supply of vital minerals, proteins, and other food materials. Calcium and vitamin D in some form are particularly important for normal growth, upkeep and repair. Cod-liver oil is an excellent source of vitamin D.

You can't go wrong by following Canada's Food Rules. Too many Canadians do not follow these rules strictly. These are the foods you should eat every day:

Milk; citrus fruits or tomatoes or their juices, one serving of other fruit; one green vegetable and one yellow vegetable, preferably raw; one serving of whole grain cereal; four slices of bread with butter or fortified margarine; one serving of meat, fish or meat alternate such as dried beans, eggs, and cheese. Use liver frequently.

LITERARY POLITICIAN

Railway Unions Ready for Fight Leader Declares

Financial Post Article Stirs Up Threat of Revolt

REGINA (CP)—A member of the negotiating committee of railway non-operating unions said Saturday the unions are still ready for a fight.

Joe Connolly of Toronto, plumbers' union representative on the 15-man committee, got steamed up over a newspaper article he read during the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Calfiba.

"If they want a fight on Sept. 8," he said, "I am sure the members of the committee will give them a fight along with the members of our (TLC) organization."

The negotiating committee speaking for 145,000 non-operating rail workers agreed Aug. 18 at Ottawa to submit to arbitration in the big rail-union contract dispute after the cabinet indicated Parliament would be called in to pass legislation outlawing a strike.

MEET SEPT. 8

The 105-man general conference committee of the rail unions — which sets policy for the negotiating committee—is due to meet Sept. 8 at Montreal.

Connolly's angered statement arose from an article in The Financial Post on Ottawa's arbitration decision. The story was headed "Legislated grief cited for Frank Hall."

Hall, chairman of the general committee of negotiating committees has been attending the convention but was not the floor when Connolly spoke.

Charles Stewart, Vancouver city railway man, moved that the convention condemn The Post's "scurrilous report" and pledge support to the rail workers for their rights to strike to enforce contrary demands. The motion was carried.

President Percy R. Bengough commented "the gold-digging days aren't over for The Financial Post."

Provincial Labor Officials Will Enter Disputes

One Company Accepts Board Report

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Provincial labor officials were scheduled to step into labor disputes in two major Ontario industries this week.

A third dispute appeared to be shaping up in Windsor while the possibility of settlement in a fourth seemed improved following acceptance of a conciliation board report by the company concerned.

Meanwhile, a meeting of the three largest industrial unions of southern Ontario, scheduled for Windsor Saturday to discuss recent conciliation board reports of which the unions have been critical, was called off.

However, officials of United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) held a strategy meeting after it was learned Leo Mitnick, assistant director of United Steelworkers of America (CCL-TLC), and Fred Dewhirst, national director of United Packinghouse Workers (CIO-CCL), could not attend.

TO MEET TODAY

Louis Fine, Ontario's chief conciliation officer, was to meet today in Toronto with the Canada Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton, and Steel Workers, demanding 25-cent hourly pay increase, have already given their union official authority to call a strike. The company offered a 2½-cent boost and Conciliation Board Report suggested a five-cent increase.

Labor Minister Daley will enter the second day of the Windsor hearings he meets with UAW officials and representatives of Kennedy-Harris-Ferguson Ltd. plants in Toronto, Woodstock and Brantford.

The 6,000 employees involved earlier approved strike action.

Thursday, a company spokesman said all non-economic points have been settled. Negotiations broke down on wages.

The workers asked a 10-cent increase but a conciliation board report, which the union rejected, turned down most union demands.

INCO ACTS

International Nickel Company announced Saturday acceptance of a conciliation board recommendation following a dispute with employees at Sudbury and Port Colborne.

The report suggested a 2½-cent hourly increase effective Oct. 1 and 1 and fringe benefits. The company acceptance and the report will be considered at a meeting of union members today and Tuesday.

In the United States Saturday, officials reported no progress in negotiations with the steel industry to avert a strike for plant and office workers. The office workers are demanding the same increases as the 15-cent increase asked by hourly-rated employees.

Seven auto union representatives charged that the Canadian Manufacturers Association has "adopted a hold-the-line policy on wages." The pattern of negotiations so far this year, spokesmen said, showed wide-spread company opposition to proven wage increases.

Say Hundred Killed In Stalingrad Blast

HAMBURG, Germany (Reuters) — The independent newspaper Die Welt reported today that "hundreds" were killed in an explosion at a Russian oil refinery in Stalingrad Aug. 14.

Victims included L. B. Safrasian, deputy minister for the Soviet oil industry, and A. N. Pavlulin, chief engineer of the ministry, the paper said.

Red Violations of Korean Armistice Daily Occurrences On Canadian Front Says Boss

Bill Boss, for three years Canadian Press correspondent with troops in Korea, returned to the Far East on leave this summer and visited the present 25th Brigade. His story on brigade activities under peacetime conditions follows.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Communist violations of the Korean armistice are daily occurrences on the Canadian front.

But troops of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade don't panic about them. They just report them.

The violations are more than technical. Chinese soldiers in sizable groups improve weapons positions and bunkers right in the demilitarized zone. They even do military drills, including bayonet practice, and lines engaging in sports and camp choruses.

One company a week from each brigade battalion takes turns guarding the zone's UN frontier, manning its defences, patrolling night and day up to the dividing line, and maintaining liaison on the Communists' activity.

Companies take that job. It gets them away from routine training, gives them a chance to see their "other fellow," and is carried out more under "camping-out" conditions than is life by the battalion areas.

The soldiers are in good fettle and morale. There is a full range of spare-time amenities available including a well-stocked bobby shop, library, a canteen and even brigade concert parties.

It's been Canadian policy to allow soldiers from other parts of the Commonwealth to share the facilities of Maple Leaf Park if they wish. Some old hands beef about this but this attitude isn't general.

Signs of the war are all but concealed by the lush three-year growth of wild rice and underbrush all over the former front and in most parts of the immediate rear.

The Canadians have allowed two small Korean villages to resettle in their areas, have lent a hand in getting the peasants started, have been impressed at how speedily the paddies have been retamed. The brigade is raising chickens, has asked families back home to send clothing for the people before winter sets in.

Peace - time soldiering has brought in a lot of "spit and polish." The accustomed "guards - type" routine which calls for unnaturally high conversation and sheading or stamping when they are pounded back to ground in the "at ease" or "stand easy" positions. The doctors complain unavailingly. It's a part of having Canadian officers and instructors trained by the British Army.

Canadians are well organized and besides Tokyo, Kobe, Osaka and Nara, Canadian soldiers now may go to Hakata in Kyushu, where they may swim, play golf and visit states army leave centre.

But like three rotations of their predecessors, the Canadians still are leaving Korea without knowing anything of the country beyond their forward areas and the conditions they meet there. No effort has been made to introduce them to the country, its culture or its more representative citizens.

High Cost of Housing Caused By Value of Land, Services

WINDSOR (CP)—David B. Mansur, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said today municipalities should examine the cost of essential services when considering methods of reducing the high cost of housing.

He told the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities in a speech prepared for consideration in reducing costs is the problem of land ownership and demand priced such as $1,000 for a 50-foot lot of raw land.

Mr. Mansur's text was infused to the press before delivery.

Although the housing outlook is high, he said, it had remained relatively stationary during the past two years. During the same period, incomes had increased which had the effect of stabilizing or reducing the costs.

Mr. Mansur released figures to show the trend toward urbanization in Canada. The number of houses started for each 1,000 persons is increasing in large metropolitan areas but decreasing in other municipalities.

In municipalities of more than 5,000 population, new houses started during the first three months of 1954 were 49,000 compared with 46,000 in 1953 and declined the new starts during the fall of this year would be 106,000 during 1953.

Mr. Mansur dealt with the effect of recent changes in the National Housing Act changing the limit insurable mortgage to an insured mortgage basis and making chartered banks more interested lenders.

In June and July, insured loans approved amount to 14,000, compared to 7,000 in 1953. The banks made 40 per-cent of all loans approved in July. About 40 per-cent of new houses started in those two months were initiated with assistance under the Act, significantly, the figure for the period was about 60 per cent and the corresponding figure in the United States is 36 per cent.

Duchess Officially Opens New Generating Station at Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The Duchess of Kent today officially opened a huge new generating station, adding a fresh surge of power into the vast Canadian resources of electrical energy.

In a brief speech, she praised the Ontario hydro commission for naming the Sir Adam Beck generating station No. 2 in tribute to the late father of Ontario Hydro.

The Duchess made the statement in the text of a speech issued to the press before delivery. The actual opening ceremony was scheduled for 2 p. m. EDT.

"I feel sure that you could have made no better and no more appropriate choice for naming a great new power station after him and I am very pleased to have had the privilege to open it. I shall be associated with a development which would have given him the greatest happiness," she said.

"The central position of Ontario and the energy of its people have contributed to make it a leader in manufacturing area," she said. "Immensely rich in natural resources, its situation on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence gives it an additional advantage and I can fairly claim a large share of the characteristics of water which amount to more than six per cent of the vast tract of territory we know as Canada.

"And it is water power that has made the greatest contribution towards the tremendous expansion of Ontario and Canada in this century, has transformed the province from a largely agricultural area to a thriving industrial community.

"The importance of this source of power was not so widely recognized at that time as it is now. There was, indeed, opposition in those early days. It was left to Sir Adam Beck and a handful of a few enlightened men to lay the foundations of the system which would render Ontario independent of fuel supplies from outside and would provide power at the lowest proportion."

Probe Started As Second B-36 Crashes, Burns

One Killed and 15 Hurt In Accident in Texas

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The United States Air Force has sent special investigating teams from flight safety headquarters to seek the causes of crashes of two giant B-36 bombers within 24 hours that left 25 dead and 18 injured.

The value of the B-36, world's largest bomber, is estimated by the U.S. Air Force at $3,500,000.

One of the six-engined planes, trying to land but crippled by apparent power failure, smashed into an open potato pasture a big housing project on the El Paso outskirts shortly before midnight Saturday and it disintegrated into a fiery, exploding heap, killing one of the crew and leaving 15 injured.

WORST IN HISTORY

The night before, 24 men died and three were seriously hurt when another B-36 crashed at Rapid City, S.D., while approaching the world's air force base for a landing in "perfect" weather. The wreck left behind it the worst history of the globe-girdling air force giants.

The air force announced in Washington that formal boards of inquiry in both crashes will be headed by teams en route from its flight safety headquarters.

The spokesman said B-36 crews last year set the lowest accidents rate of any in the Strategic Air Command. For the first six months of this year the B-36 fleet had a rate of one for each 100,000 flying hours compared with an average of 14 for all types of SAC aircraft.

Texas Election Proves Pleasing To Eisenhower

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — President Eisenhower today was reported "highly pleased" at the results of Texas Governor Allan Shivers, a conservative Democrat who supported Eisenhower, in the publication in the 1952 presidential election.

Shivers rode a record Texas primary turnout to a big victory over Ralph Yarborough, who was backed by liberal Texas Democrats.

The election was viewed by many as a test of Eisenhower's popularity. Shivers said he stands in political life by his backing until normally Democratic Texas to Eisenhower in 1952. He said he'll be a "good Democrat" in the Democratic presidential candidate, regardless of Texas' vigil after losing Texas' ownership of oil-rich tidelands.

Martin Pledges More Federal Help In Civil Defence

Is No Time to Withdraw Provincial, Local Support

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Health Minister Paul Martin said today the three services indicated the nature of the investigation.

There were leaders in the crusade to rid Russell (county) betterment association who charged that the widespread election machinery in Phenix City and inflitrated even into the Russell County sheriff's department.

Other witnesses included state investigators, highway patrolmen and federal officers who have seized hundreds of slot machines, crooked dice, marked cards and lottery tickets in widespread raids on gambling dens.

Another was ousted police chief Hal Daniel, who said Mayor Ernest Folmar ordered him to let gambling joints operate unmolested.

Reese, who denied the accusation, was arrested earlier on charges of wilful neglect of duty.

federal government can and will do more to support civil defence preparations but this is no time for provincial and local governments to think of withdrawing their support.

In a speech to the annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, he said Canada's civil defence program is the envy of other countries. The CD program was taken over by the department of health and welfare from the department of defence in 1951.

The rest of Mr. Martin's address was made available in advance.

He stressed that a successful program could only be worked out through co-operation of federal, provincial and municipal governments.

OTTAWA CARRIED SHARE

He said the federal government had carried its share of responsibility to date and has taken most of the financial responsibility.

"But the time has come when all the responsible civil authorities must take their fair share of responsibility . . . now."

The role of the federal government is essentially one of encouragement, Mr. Martin said. During the last fiscal year, as much was spent by the federal government on civil defence as was spent between 1948 and March 31, 1951, about $2,000,000 worth of civil defence training supplies and equipment have been provided provincial and local organizations, he said. A new program has been worked out permitting federal aid in civil defence to municipalities regardless of whether provincial aid is available. Grants can be increased to double the basic amount where provincial aid is available.

SPENT $6,000,000

Outlining progress during the last three years, Mr. Martin said the federal government has spent $857,000 on civil defence during 1951-52 and the total in equipment and grants for the last fiscal year was $1,000,000. He said 165,000 Canadians now have relationship with civil defence and there are 4,000 qualified instructors.

He declared the hydrogen bomb made civil defence obsolete. "The existence of thermonuclear weapons . . . makes the need for strong civil defence preparations even greater than ever."

The boat house is owned by Mr. Eugene Kalnay, owner of the cottage, in which the Perrys are staying, and is located about 100 yards up the shore from the Perry property.

"We didn't see anything," said Mr. Berrigan. "We saw nothing unusual and made no screams for help."

Weiner Roast Held Saturday By Paper's Staff

Leaping flames of a glowing bonfire reflected the whole-hearted enjoyment of some 50 members of the staff of the Ontario Intelligencer at a weiner roast held on Zwick's Island Saturday night.

It was the first get-together of the staff and their guests in some years, and the post-party comments was "make it an annual affair."

Each department of the newspaper was well represented with special mention made of Charlie Hartwick, dean of the staff, who recently marked his fiftieth year as composing room foreman and his 87th year as a newspaperman. Charlie recently returned from a well-deserved holiday on the west coast.

Thanks to the fine organizational ability of Miss Elizabeth Sonne, of the business staff, and her competent committee, the party proved to be an unqualified success. Editorial staffers Frank Carver and Harry Mulhall proved excellent masters of ceremonies while Eric Broadbent was outstanding with his one-man harmonica band. Miss Phillis Gordon was the top entertainer of the party.

Succulent hot dogs toasted to the king's state, luscious marshmallows, and cool cold drinks rounded out the refreshment part of the party. Evening reddish-yellow coals provided the "heat" for the hungry newspapermen and gals, later blossoming into bright flames that lighted the scene for the evening fun.

Talent, more or less dormant, some unknown, was brought out in the fun-filled pog-tubing activities. No respector of persons' matters of ceremonies Carver and Mulhall insisted that each member and guest do his or her "stuff" and the evening became a hilarious merriment on the part of all concerned. There were songs, stories, community singing in an enjoyable variety of get-together.

Plans were discussed for a winter party for the staff some favoring a pre-Christmas get-together.

To the delight of CNE crowds, the Duchess of Kent and her daughter discarded formality and found the Toronto fair grounds in this miniature scooter train. Their only regret was that there was no time to linger and enjoy the rides in the midway. The two visitors, who officiated at the opening of the "Ex" as well as attending many civic functions, are managing to mix fun with their nightly throughout their visit to Canada.—Central Press Canadian.

Sunshine Not Sufficient To Dry Catches

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Cod fishermen in Newfoundland were faced with a new problem this summer—not enough sunshine to dry their catches.

Even with hundreds of pounds of split codfish lying on the drying flakes around the shores, many fishermen have been forced to throw away fish that became rotted in the damp, musty weather.

Despite introduction of modern methods here and there, hundreds of fishermen in the outports still depend on sun-drying to cure their fish. July and August are the most popular drying months, but this year fishermen are counting heavily on a sunny September.

Losses so far have not climbed too high, but fishermen say a continued absence of sun could make the season a virtual failure.

Weather of course is always the fisherman's biggest worry. Storms wreck traps and equipment, drenching rains wash away shore equipment and keep the boats close to shore. But this is the first time in many years that the weather has spoiled catches after they have been landed.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — First-hour stock exchange trading today was the heaviest in more than six months but the market made no definite movement.

Lower-priced mining issues drew most attention. Volume at 11 a. m. EDT was 1,027,000 shares — the most active first hour since Feb. 8.

The industrial board was narrowly ahead with strength in papers and steels.

Gold groups were steady, while uranium and Manitouwadge stocks as groups were a little easier.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Sales of cows were too few to establish a price trend. Receipts: Cattle 6,000; calves 970; hogs 340; sheep and lambs 755; holdover from last week 800 head of cattle.

Prices: Choice steers all weights $21-22; choice weighty steers up to $22.50; good steers $20-21; medium down to $18; good heifers $18-18.50; choice heifers to $19; mediums down to $16; good heavy bologna bulls $13-13, a few butcher bulls to $13.50; common light bulls down to $8; choice fed yearlings $22-23 with tops of $23.50; mediums down to $20; good stockers $18-19.25; mediums down to $16; veal calves steady at $22-24 for good to choice vealers; mediums $19-22; good stock calves $18-19.

No price was established on hogs. Sheep and lambs steady at $23 a hundredweight delivered by rail for good ewes and wethers; $25.50 delivered by truck; bucks discounted at a hundredweight; good light sheep $8-10; common sheep down to $4.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

Aussie Couple Enjoy Sailing Around World

VANCOUVER (CP) — An Australian couple who travelled from Sydney to Vancouver in their 43-foot ketch will soon sail again this time to the West Indies and possibly later to the Mediterranean.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Scott have explored the length and breadth of the British Columbia coast and recently circumnavigated Vancouver Island in the "Never Silver Gull" designed and built by themselves.

Vagabonds of the sea, they go where they please and stay as long as they like, making friends at every port.

LIFE ON WAVES

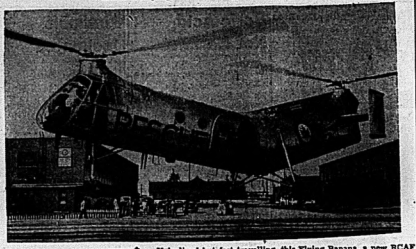
Their voyages started in Sydney seven years ago. Their ketch is made from solid douglas fir and has lots of room and comfort below for a long voyage.

"When we started we had no intention of making a career of sailing," said Mrs. Scott, "but now it just looks as if we'll keep on going as long as we feel like it."

Leaving Sydney, they visited Tasmania and New Zealand, then cruised leisurely through the South seas to Rarotonga, Tahiti, Samoa, Fiji, Canton island and Hawaii.

Mr. Scott is the navigator but Mrs. Scott is also handy with the sextant.

RCAF's Flying Banana 'Copter Can Do 146 MPH



Ugly lined but fast-travelling, this Flying Banana, a new RCAF helicopter, can do aerial tricks as easily as a seagull. It can accommodate 20 bucket-type troop seats or 12 litters.—Central Press Canadian.

Prince Edward County Fair Attendance Is Over 22,000

PICTON — The 102nd Prince Edward County Fair at Picton passed into history at midnight Saturday. The four days were favored by fine weather though it was cool two nights and windy on another. The annual weather and the great variety of attractions brought out a paid attendance of around 22,000 people to which can be added a thousand persons using membership cards and passes and all children 12 and under, and the "fence jumpers". This was an increase over last year and is especially gratifying to the Society in view of the Fair's location.

It was the first Class 'B' Fair and in keeping with the object of the Agricultural Society, the emphasis was placed on agriculture.

Factors, in addition to the weather, which contributed to the attendance included the Congress of Canadian Dare Devils whose precision driving and stunts included a car shot from a cannon, They drew a paid grandstand crowd of 2,600 on two nights and were seen, free, by as many more when they could not get seats. The horse races three days were the best in many a time with nearly every race being completely filled and many applications having to be refused.

FINE HORSE SHOW

Another highlight was the horse show which drew nearly 80 carriage horses, roadsters, ponies, saddle, teams and others, judged by A. Crawford, O.A.C., Guelph.

A variety show Saturday night, presented by the Kiwanis Club, raised $133 for the Agricultural and Community Centre.

Dog Saves Four From Fiery Death

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) A pet dog was credited today with saving four people in a fire which Sunday damaged a Tarentorous township home.

Mrs. Lesley Dumond was awakened at 2:30 a. m., by the dog frantically licking her hands and face. She found flames leaping from between the floors of the two storey brick home.

Mrs. Dumond carried her two children, Darlen, 1½, and Mildred, 3, to safety. A neighbor, 14-year-old Margaret Bonin, who was staying with Mrs. Dumond, also escaped.

Bedrooms were badly damaged by fire and smoke, but firemen saved the rest of the house after a two-hour battle.

COMPETITION SHOULD BE RETAINED

A short time ago employees of the Studebaker firm in the United States voted to accept a wage cut.

Recently L. L. (Tex) Colbert, Chrysler president, addressed the Chrysler council of the United Auto Workers and suggested the time was right for a battle in the car market with General Motors and Ford which the industry expects to be one of its toughest in history. Statistics show that the Chrysler firm has been losing ground.

For years Chrysler ranked second to General Motors in the U.S. automotive industry. In 1951-52 it was supplanted by Ford. General Motors and Ford are gaining larger and larger shares of the market. Last year GM had 45 per cent of the business in the first five months of this year it claimed 49 per cent. Ford rose from 25 per cent to 30 per cent. Between them they sell 79 out of every 100 cars bought by U.S. residents.

If this trend is continued the situation will be "bad" not only for Chrysler employees and for employees of the "independents" but also for motorists. Intense competition between car manufacturers has resulted in a great improvement in their products and has kept the price down as low as possible in view of the public's demand for automobiles combining powerful engines with luxurious appointments.

It may be argued that the battle between Ford and General Motors, growing in intensity, provides assurance that the benefits of competition will continue to be enjoyed. How true this is time will tell — but if two firms ever captured the entire rich car market there might come a time when there would be a tendency to follow a policy of "peaceful co-existence."

Some Canadians seek another horse in the race to protect its interests. It is therefore to be hoped that Chrysler can at least hold its own — and if the Kaiser-Willys, Hudson-Nash and Studebaker-Packard mergers produce strong new challengers so much the better. If, however, they are to make any impression on the hold that General Motors and Ford have on the car market they will have to build bonnie fighters, with good wagons, that is excellent automobiles. The industry leaders gained their positions by producing good cars at reasonable prices — and by telling the world about it through advertising.

THE ARMY, THE FINAL ARBITER

A highly significant sentence appeared in an article in the Christian Science Monitor on the suicide of President Getulio Vargas of Brazil. The Army officials joined Air Force generals in demanding his resignation, says the article, Vargas had no recourse but graceful withdrawal.

"For the Army is the final political arbiter."

Only time has sounds to us!

And yet it is one of the facts of political life in many of the world's nations.

The secret police forces in totalitarian nations are but armies within armies. Even in these lands, though, the regular armies would have little difficulty in dictating to governments if they tried.

The populace, which needs the army to defend it from foreign powers, has no protection against the tyranny of the army if it should choose to use it strength.

Any army which is strong enough to resist aggression from without is strong enough to impose dictatorship from within.

There is only one safeguard against such an abuse of power — a political philosophy shared by soldier and civilian alike which makes such an action unthinkable to the soldier.

It is this recognition of standards of right and wrong which provides us with such a certain protection against tyranny by the armed forces in our own land. Perhaps the day will come when moral standards will be an equally effective safeguard against aggression from outside our country's borders. But that day lies far in the future.

WOMEN'S BURDENS

Pouring tea can become a tryng occupation for a politician's wife says Mrs. Stuart Garson, wife of Canada's minister of justice.

Wives of public men have many chores. Such tasks, however, are shared in different degrees and various forms by many other wives.

In theory equality of the sexes is now conceded but, though women may work and hold office, few husbands find themselves required to act as aides to their wives in their careers.

Or are we just kidding ourselves. Is keeping the front lawn cut the husbandly equivalent of pouring tea?

LABOR

Men who earn the pride of skill; Men whose task in service ends;
Men who toil with forge and drill,
Tile on these the world depends.

Useful hands and bodies stout
Shaping wood and steel and clay,
These the world can't do without.

Simple tribute this to pay:
Limited or vast their powers,
Free men working day by day
Glority this world of ours.

Men who labor night or day,

Lobsters On Prairies?

(Edmonton Journal)

The officials who run the Fisheries government's enthusiastic and costly information services seem to be curiously ignorant of Canadian geography, and particularly of the distance of certain localities from the sea coast.

This is the only explanation we can offer why The Journal-Post, common, presumably, with all other prairie newspapers has not received a notification from the department of fisheries, setting out detailed new regulations for lobster fishing.

If any of our readers are engaged in catching lobsters in North Saskatchewan, we must warn them that the department will be very, very irked if they use traps "which do not have a rectangular and unobstructed space measuring at least one and five-eighths inches between the two uppermost laths at the front of the trap."

Canadian taxpayers, too, may be a little irked at the idea of sending such material, not merely to the fishing areas in the Maritimes but all over the country—at public expense.

Boric Acid Not Harmful

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

Mothers of new born babies may be relieved to learn, as the recent announcement of the American Medical Association, an announcement which states that the use of boric acid in a mild form is not harmful as has been suggested during the last couple of years.

About eighteen months ago a great hullabaloo was created publicly when Toronto and Montreal hospitals, those for children in particular, banned any form of boric acid because it evidently had contributed to the death of an unfortunate child. It was alleged that boric compounds were poisonous and could seriously impair a child's health, even to the point of death occasionally fatal.

With this announcement research scientists and doctors started experiments to check out these claims levelled at an acid which has been used for generations in the treatment of sore eyes and other infections of childhood. Even the New York Foundling hospital made an extensive search into the matter. And now it is found that commercial baby powder containing up to five per cent boric acid is not harmful and may be used freely. In the tests made at the New York hospital 1,200 babies were involved, and each diaper change in the tests contained a powder in which five percent boric acid was one of the ingredients.

Unless there was an allergy or some complication in the case of a child's physical system present, the powder containing the acid was found to be safe.

Such research is worthwhile in that quick decisions sometimes born out of temporary panic damage unfairly the reputation of some worthy products, and real and objective tests are needed to confirm or disprove the accuracy of such announcements. Too often reliance over-hasty and ill-considered action is taken which is dangerous. From the layman's point of view it would seem that tests should precede such announcements, instead of following them.

No Wool Over Attlee's Eyes

(Stratford Beacon-Herald)

The Red brass in Moscow and Peiping may be ready to accept Aneurin Bevan and some of his fellow-travelling British Laborites with their baby-waisy act, but we've a hunch they won't fool Premier Attlee.

You may have missed it, but after all the Moscow and Peiping blow hot and cold IT vodka toasts, and the portly Malenkov leaping high from his chair to acclaim flowers for Dr. Edith Summerskill. It was Attlee who said to the British people, in effect, that "peaceful co-existence" doesn't seem to mean the same thing to the Communists that it does to the West. Here it means freedom from having to make a choice. There it is the choice, or freedom to make a choice."

That was Attlee then. In it recalls the story they tell in Yugoslavia about Attlee's visit last year when he took afternoon tea with sights and feted his party with slivovitz. Which is to say, perhaps, Attlee thought about Yugoslavia and its progress.

"I was very impressed with your progress," Attlee replied finally, "but I am much disturbed because you have no political counterpart in Yugoslavia—the leader of the Opposition."

The story in England is that Attlee who is getting along in years, doesn't want to make the strenuous trip to Russia and Red China, but that he finally decided somebody solid better go to balance the radical and frequently anti-American Bevan.

It is probably a good thing he did. Bevan and Attlee may be quiet and drab, but he hates tyranny, loves freedom, knows what the word score is, and keeps his eyes open. Vodka and rice wine, words from Malenkov and Mao Tse-tung won't fool him. He'll be thinking about slave labor camps in British Guiana, and in Malaya, Red obstructionism in the labor unions, and Communist-inspired aggression and subversion that have kept the world divided and without peace.

Windmills Decimated

(London Times)

Age and decay have so shorn the English landscape of its windmills that of 10,000 which stood in their heyday to England by God's fair sky only the remains of probably fewer than 1,000 can be seen today, and of these fewer than 50 are still working.

Several efforts have been taken steps to preserve mills of exceptional interest and Essex notably has been active in this article, of merit by the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings of its work in this connection.

West Sussex once contained many mills, but except at Barnham only where the machinery is driven by diesel engine, none in the county is still working, and even those still in fair condition will quickly decay and vanish unless repaired.

Of some 26 mills or their remains in West Sussex, three, each of different type, are said to be worthy of preservation. They are at High Salvington (Worthing), Halnark, and Shipley.

The Salvington mill was built about 1700 and is the only remaining post mill in the county. Of its last working predecessor, the body of the mill is supported on a massive post, the revolving oak tree, the roots of which remain as a perfect anchorage.

The Halnark mill was built in 1821 and was sold on condition that it was kept in its present state when the miller ground his last sack of corn; so it contains all the original and working parts and tools.

King's mill at Shipley is a smock mill, painted white on a tarred brick octagonal base with five storeys and originally had four sails. It was built in 1879 by Mr. Jeremiah King and many other and older mills.

The tower mill at Hainaker was built perhaps between 1700 and 1750 probably during the reign of Queen Anne. The mill has not worked about 1900. The tower is somewhat lower than in most mills of this type which brought the sweeps close to the ground. A fine mill but I only wish I knew life when she was struck as she played.

Just a Lull Between Wars?

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat)

"I have read," said Premier Mendes-France in his address to Paris from Geneva, "that Wednesday was the first day of total peace in the world in many years." By that he meant no shooting was being going on around the globe.

As the scene lit tolited since the end of World War II, the Kremlin hierarchy must be quite content. Its satellites, from ring to protect Russia proper.

China has gone Red and is its most virile counter-force in Asia. Korea remains divided, entirely Red-dominated in the north.

Indo-China has been cut up pretty much as the Communists wanted.

Russia has a potent friend in India's Nehru.

Tibet is within the Red orbit.

Austria is still without a peace treaty, a victim of Communist intransigence.

Southeast Asia, outside Indo-China, is being processed for Red aggression. Thailand is probably next on the list.

On the other side of the coin: Russia has no military alliance or friendship for the United States, despite much pressure from Moscow to get such a pact or infiltration.

The Philippines are our staunch friends.

Australia and New Zealand are urging a southeast Asia non-aggression pact.

Iran has stiffened its back in the face of Russian threats.

Turkey is a firm bulwark in the Near East. Western Europe generally is in less danger now than a year ago of falling under Communist influence. This includes the stouth, Egypt, Israel and the Arab countries are nominally at peace, although their differences are far from settled.

So, although the world enjoyed its "peace" for only a few many years, there is nothing in prospect to assure that peace is now being established for a long period of life. To the contrary, there is every reason to believe we are enjoying just a "breather."

Another global war is not in the cards immediately, but we cannot look forward to much more than a let up in the cold war, which will be resumed whenever the Communists think it is to their advantage.

The moral: Keep our defenses strong and measure the Communists by their deeds, not their words.

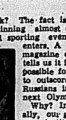
RUSSIA BREEDS ATHLETES WHILE WE BREED DELINQUENTS



Dr. Brady

Harsh talk? The fact is that Russia is winning almost every international sporting event she enters. A Life magazine editor says it is quite possible for us to outscore the Russians in the next Olympics.

Why? Ironically, our greatest institution, our free Public Schools do not offer equal opportunity to all in physical Education. We do not train all the boys and girls in athletic skills. We train just a few, selected by the "coach" for the "Varsity" teams.

In Russia all the citizens play team games, young and old, male and female. Avery Brundage, director of the Olympic Games International Committee travelled for two weeks in Russia. He was impressed to see many people paying games, everywhere he went. In Gori, one town, for example, he saw 900 teams playing in a volleyball tournament. In the Ukraine, he said, there are 50,000 soccer teams.

In America, you can see the 60,000 in the bleachers, smoking, drinking, gambling and flirting with the diseases of degeneracy, while eleven men play football another eleven. These eleven have been trained up through the public high schools and at the expense of the remaining great majority of our sons and daughters who were neglected, even to the point of not acquiring skill in any sport useful to them in later years.

Which country is most likely to breed athletes?

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEWS ADAMS

GIVING SOMETHING BACK

In reading an interesting article by John Gunther on Albert Schweitzer I came across a most significant statement that this great man had made. Here was a man already distinguished and widely known in Europe giving up everything in order to go into the wilds of Africa and establish a hospital to care for natives to whom no one else had ever given a thought to their health.

Asked why he had given up his great career, so promising in so many lines—theology, music, medicine and literature—Dr. Schweitzer said he felt he should give "something in return" for the happiness he had received. How wonderful it would be if we all adopted that plan. The world would be changed overnight.

I believe that we are constantly receiving blessings for which we offer or actually give back little, if any give, yet withheld so often! We are indebted to both God and man for all we have received from day to day. Think of the riches that are stored in libraries and museums all over the world. And to most of them we can go and partake of those riches as free gifts.

All history is full of the brave feats and sacrifices of other human beings, many of them giving their very lives that we might be blessed by those who followed them. Upon the campus of Yale University stands the noble statue of Nathan Hale with that famous inscription. I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country. There was a moment when that young man gave back! To him all lovers of liberty are indebted.

Those who give us birth and who nurtured us through those first years of life, we owe more than we can ever repay. Nothing is asked—but loyalty and appreciation. So easy to give, yet withheld so often!

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In several parts of the country there are serious campaigns under way to promote better use of hand signals in driving. Some with good and stale arguments issue official lists of hand signals, for turning, slowing, passing and other intentions on the part of motorists.

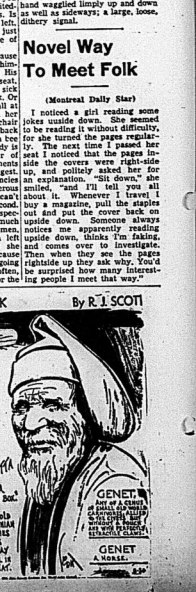
None of them, however, lists a signal for "I haven't made up my mind." A look at what I am going to do," is manifest.

I suggest that the arm extended to the full out the window, and the hand waggled limply up and down would be always; a large, loose, dithery signal.

Novel Way To Meet Folk

(Montreal Daily Star)

I noticed a girl reading some jokes uuside down. She seemed to be reading it without difficulty. She turned the pages regularly. The next time I passed her I casually noticed that the pages of the covers were right-side up, and politely asked her for an explanation. "Sit down," she smiled, "and I'll tell you all about it." Then she went on: I buy a magazine, pull the staples out and put the cover back on upside down. Someone always notices me apparently reading upside down, thinks I'm funny, and comes over to investigate. Then when they see the pages rightside up they ask why. You'd be surprised how many interesting people I meet that way."



Congress Starts Year With New Leader But Policy Unchanged

REGINA (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the country's oldest and biggest union body, starts its 71st year today with a young new leader but with its policies basically unchanged.

In a week of conventions ending Saturday the 580,000 member congress generally reaffirmed its existing views and to administer these policies put 61-year-old Claude Jodoin of Montreal into office as president. He will take over Nov. 1 from 71-year-old Percy R. Bengough who retired and was made "president emeritus" after 18 years in office.

At Saturday's closing session, un employment was the main concern of the 695 delegates. They adopted a resolution calling on the federal government to start a program of public works and construction of low-rental housing to help the number of available jobs.

One departure from existing congress practice Saturday was a demand for a national flag and the designation of "O Canad" as the ntional anthem. Previously, the TLC had steered away from taking a stand on this question. The resolution on the controversial subject came from the Quebec Federation of Labor.

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLE M

In the unemployment debate the congress resolution suggested the development of the power potential the Fraser and Columbia rivers in British Columbia and the West and the development of a natural gas pipe line to the west coast from the Peace River area, including northern Alberta and British Columbia.

During the discussion Jack Bruce of Toronto, Canadian chief of the Plumbers' Union, said unemployment a "terrible problem."

"The unemployment will be magnified next winter" said Orville Braxter of the Pulp and Sulphite Workers' Union in Vancouver. "We should put the heat on the government to start the biggest public Canadian goods."

"The only solution is to cut down the number of hours we work, but not the pay," Toronto plumber Harry Lees said. "We need a five day, 30-hour week, otherwise we are going to have an economic belly ache next winter."

Lees said the development of atomic energy is going to increase unemployment.

Alberta First Of 10 Provinces To Be Featured

By JIM PEACOCK

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Alberta goes on display at the Canadian National Exhibition today, first of Canada's 10 provinces to be featured in line with the CNE's "Canada on the march" theme of 1954.

At the same time, the lowly five-cent piece gets a workout for its Children's Day at the "Ex."

Royalty was absent, the Duchess of Kent and Princess Margaret Alexandra left Toronto Sunday for Niagara Falls, but with more fine weather in prospect 1954 was initially locked for continued record attendance.

Sunny Tuesday weather, plus the added attraction of royalty, so far have made the 1954 exhibition the most successful in attendance in the big fair's 75-year history.

A single-day record crowd of 396,500 persons crushed through the turnstiles Saturday, 2,000 more than the previous one-day record of 394,500 set in 1951 and 13,000 ahead of the former second-day high of 383,500 established in 1953.

TRACK AND FIELD OPENS

On tap today were the opening of the second annual Olympic track and field training plan which embraces athletes from all provinces, swimming competitions for the youngsters, a double performance of the national horse show and the first of the afternoon Roy Rogers grandstand shows.

The "Canada on the march" theme today scheduled a display of Alberta's wares in the graphic arts building, an address by a provincial official and literature and films showing the province's attractions and industry.

Saturday saw the Duchess of Kent spend two hours at the exhibition, taking the Warriors' Day parade salute from some 7,000 marching men and women from the United States and Canada. Her daughter, 17-year-old Princess Alexandra, was also on the reviewing stand and took part with her mother in presenting some of the trophies to winners of parade divisions.

Drainage Day Demonstration Well Attended

Close to 300 Hastings County district farmers received first hand information on the latest in farm drainage technique when they attended the drainage day demonstration Friday at the farm of Hidley Wallbridge, three miles west of Belleville.

Various types of drainage equipment were in operation all day at the Ridley farm with discussion groups being conducted during the afternoon on the merit of the various pieces of machinery.

Seen in operation during the day was a buckeye ditcher, mole mounted on a truck which scoopcut ditches and tiles.

The use of a bulldozer in digging a farm pond was also demonstrated. The 4-foot deep ditcher preparing trenches for laying of tile, and the mole ditcher.

Irrigation equipment sampling water from the Bay of Quinte, 600 yards away, sprayed life-giving water on a dozen acres on a Wallbridge farm meadow.

The drainage day was sponsored jointly by the Hastings County Soil and Crop Improvement Association, the drainage department of Kemptville Agricultural School and the county branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

White Cane Club Enjoys Annual Picnic

On Thursday afternoon the White Cane club and their friends held their annual picnic at the Fair grounds. It was a perfect day with sunshine and a cool breeze and everyone entered into the spirit of fun to make it a successful outing. Several of the officials from Kingston and local board members attended. A plentiful supply of sandwiches, cakes, soft drinks, tea and ice cream was enjoyed at tables set under the trees.

Games were played under the direction of Mrs. R. Rollins with the "getting acquainted" game to start where everyone shook hands and dimes were passed from hand to hand, with those who held the dimes when time was called keeping them. Mrs. Rollins and Mrs. O'Shea, Rose Munro, Marjory Rushlow, Janet Steven, and Carol Steven.

Early this morning Provincial Constables Williamson and Robertson spotted the man in a field near Point Anne. He was brought to Belleville and later returned to

World Council of Churches Opposes Racial Segregation And Use of Nuclear Weapons

By ERNEST A. AGNEW

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — The momentous second general assembly of the World Council of Churches neared its end today after ringing declarations calling for "the living Christ of the East and West and placing the church adamantly against racial segregation and the use of nuclear weapons.

This assembly of church leaders representing 163 denominations from 48 countries ends tomorrow after almost continuous sessions since Aug. 15.

During the week-end the assembly accepted reports which:

Appealed to Communist and non-Communist powers to recognize that they must "live together" in order to head off their march toward a catachrymic war. "However deep the conflict may be," the council said, "it is not necessarily an insuperable bar to living together. Mankind is sick of it, and wants to be at peace."

OPPOSES FORCE

Urged upon all countries the abandonment of force as an instrument of policy "even in times of rising frontiers."

Termed communism a share of "false promises" but warned the west against anti-Communist hysteria.

Called on all countries to "pledge that they will refrain from the threat or use" of nuclear weapons against the territorial integrity or independence of any state.

Urged new efforts for international control, inspection and prohibition of atomic, hydrogen and other mass-destruction weapons to end "an arms race of unprecedented dimensions."

Termed racial segregation "an unutterable offence against God to be endured no longer."

AVOIDS RED TERM

Concerning East-West relations, the report said that it purposely avoided the term "co-existence" because it first was used by Communist leaders.

Mother Crawls Under Truck To Save Child

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (AP)—Arthur Rapson drove his two-ton truck 10 feet up into his driveway. Then, to his horror he discovered his 18 - month - old son, William, wedged between the front axle and the ground.

William's mother crawled under the truck. But her efforts to remove the child were futile. The baby, beginning to struggle, was turning purple in his face.

Rapson told his wife to stay exactly where she was.

"I couldn't take time to jack up the wheel," he said later. Then he backed the truck onto Mrs. Rapson's shoulder, enough to free the child.

On a three-mile drive to a hospital Mrs. Rapson gave mouth to the baby's mouth and forced her breath into him. At the hospital William was revived with oxygen.

William is under medical care for injuries. His mother was treated for bruises to her back.

Cardinal Schuster, Foe of Reds, Dies in Italy

VARESE, Italy (AP) — Alfredo Ildefonso Cardinal Schuster, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Milan, died today at the age of 78.

The churchman, who was elevated to the College of Cardinals in 1929, had been in failing health for some time. He died in the papal seminary at Venegono, near here.

His death reduces the College of Cardinals to 68, two fewer than its full membership of 70. The college's ranks had been full for the first time in more than 200 years at the last consistory in January, 1953, when Pope Pius named 24 new princes of the church. Massimo Cardinal Massimi died March 6.

The son of a member of the Vatican's Swiss guard, Cardinal Schuster was born in Rome and with his family became a naturalized Italian. He took monastic vows at 19, studied philosophy and theology at the Benedictine College of St. Anselm, and was ordained a priest in 1904.

BECAME AUTHOR, AUTHORITY

During the next 14 years, as he rose to successively higher offices in the Benedictine order, he also became an author of note and an authority on church history, liturgy, theology and archaeology.

Pope Benedict XV made him the first president of the Pontifical Oriental Institute. Pope Pius XI named him t the College of Cardinals he served also as prefector of the congregation of rites, procurator-general of the congregation of Benedictines at Monte Cassino, president of the pontifical commission of sacred art and president of the liturgy in the superior school of sacred music. In his spare time he was a member of three of the 13 sacred consistories, that order the affairs of the Roman Catholic Church, those for religious orders, rites and seminaries.

Expect St. Laurent to Name Aides to Cabinet Ministers

OTTAWA (CP) — The appointment of at least one and possibly three parliamentary assistants to cabinet ministers is expected to be announced soon by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The appointments would increase the number of Liberal members serving as assistants to 11 from 11.

There is no statutory limitition on the number who may be appointed but the practice in recent years has been to name assistants to 14 ministers.

Trade Minister Howe and Labor Minister Gregg have been operating without assistants in those portfolios for more than a year. George McIlraith (Ottawa West) was assistant to Mr. Howe during the 21st Parliament and Paul Emile Cote, former member for Verdun-LaSalle, was Mr. Gregg's assistant.

Mr. McIlraith resigned and Mr. Cote retired from politics to accept an appointment to the Quebec bench. The two posts were not filled when the government reappointed parliamentary assistants after the election. Douglas Dickey (Halifax) was appointed assistant to Mr. Howe in his capacity as minister of defence production.

FICARD SUCCESSOR

The third vacancy was created when Hon. Roch Pinard was appointed secretary of state in the July 1 cabinet shuffle. He had been serving as assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson.

A possibility exists that Walter A. Tucker (Rosthern), a former veterans affairs parliamentary assistant, may again be named to that post. Colin E. Bennett (Grey North), present assistant to Veterans Affairs Minister Lapointe, may become assistant to Mr. Howe.

There is no immediate speculation on who might be named parliamentary assistant to Mr. Gregg.

ASSISTANTS LISTED

The 11 parliamentary assistants now in office by provinces:

Ontario—Robert McCubbin, Middlesex West, agriculture; Mr. Benedickson, finance; Dr. F. G. Roberston, Northumberland, health and welfare, and Mr. Bennett, veterans affairs.

Quebec—J. A. Blanchette, Compton-Frontenac, defence; J. G. I. Langlois, Gaspe, transport, and Maurice Bourget, Levis, public works.

Nova Scotia—Mr. Dickey, Halifax, defence production; T. A. M. Kirk, Shelburne - Yarmouth-Clare, post office.

Canadian Ensign Placed on Altar At Westminster

LONDON (Reuters)—The Canadian ensign was placed on the high altar of Westminster abbey Sunday at a service commemorating the visit of the choir of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, Ont., to the abbey.

Trumpeters of the Royal Military School of Music sounded a fanfare and the congregation sang "O Canada" as the ensign, with the flag of St. George, was carried from the west door to the sanctuary and laid on the altar.

The ceremony preceded a special festal evensong of farewell to the choir, which has led the abbey services since Aug. 10. It was the first time a Commonwealth choir had paid such a visit.

The canon-in-residence, Archdeacon Adam Fox, said the were thankful for the "maintenance of the services in their full beauty during the month of August" and to place so far apart as Canada and to "proof that just the same spirit moves in Anglican communions in Great Britain."

Canadian High Commissioner Norman Robertson was present at the service.

Weddings

RYAN—LYNCH

St. John's rectory, Windsor, Nova Scotia, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Friday evening, August 13, at 7.00 p.m., when the Rev. Father Penny united in marriage Barbara Marie, youngest daughter of Mrs. Lynch, Windsor, Nova Scotia, and the late Mr. T. C. Lynch, to Charles Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Ryan, Deseronto, Ont.

The bride looked lovely in a ballerina dress of turquoise net with matching stole. She wore a headdress of white net trimmed with pearls and carried a nosegay of red roses and white baby 'mums.

Her attendant, Miss Margaret Allbon, wore a pink net ballerina dress with taffeta jacket and pink headdress. She carried a nosegay of turquoise and white baby 'mums.

Mr. Garth Pulsifer was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Owen Sound, Ont., and Miss Mabel Young, aunt of the bride, presided over the daintily arranged dining table, which was centred with a beautifully decorated three-tier wedding cake. Girl friends of the bride served.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Pryor Smith to which the bridegroom responded.

For going away the bride chose a two-piece dress of navy gabardine, with white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryan will reside in Halifax, where Mr. Ryan is stationed with H.M.C.S. "Stadacona."

PEERLES—EARNSHAW

A quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized at Holloway Street United Church parsonage, on Wednesday afternoon, August 25th, at two o'clock, when Rhoda Mary Earnshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Earnshaw, Apsley, Ontario, was united in marriage to Willet Harold Peebles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Peebles, Castleton, Ontario. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. Sidney E. Larman.

Given in marriage by Mr. W. C. Mundrey, Belleville, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of pale blue nylon net over taffeta with matching mitts and fingertip veil which fell from a crescent of red and small flowers. She carried a cascade bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Marjorie May, of Belleville, was gowned in pink nylon net over taffeta with matching mitts and headdress of net and white flowers.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. John MacQuarrie of Belleville.

A reception followed at the home of Mrs. Grace Salisbury, Station Street, Belleville, after which the happy couple left for a motor trip to Algonquin Park. The bride chose a suit of blue linen for travelling and worn a corsage of red roses. On their return they will reside in Belle-

Klondike Kate 'Ordinary Girl', Had 500 Yards of Silk in Dress

VANCOUVER (CP)—There were 500 yards of silk in the dress Klondike Kate wore in her dance in Dawson, Y.T., 50 years ago.

Here for the 23rd international sourdough reunion, the Queen of the Yukon at 73 showed the trim ankle that helped carry her to fame in the gold diggings as "The Girl of the Flames."

Her face is lined, her hair grey and she walks with a cane, but her refreshing, vivacious personality is unscarred by time.

There were 500 yards of silk in the dress" said Kate Rockwell now Mrs. William Burns of Redmond, Ore. "I waved the folds of silk and the spotlight played on them. They said I could make silk talk."

Daughter of Judge Frank A. Bettis of Spokane, Wash., Kate went north because "my feet always wanted to move. I went to Dawson City with the Savoy, a vaudeville combination organized in Vancouver.

FEET ONLY

"I danced with my feet," she emphasized with a grin. "Not striptease. Now you can't tell. Some dance with their hips, hands or ankles. With me it was feet."

She said legends about the wild life in the North were untrue.

"Everyone called me Aunt Kate, but people like to think I ran around with diamonds about my neck and spangles on my ankles," she said. "That was the greatest beauty on two feet.

"I was just an ordinary-looking girl. The shows had to be clean. There was no smutty stuff and even with a high kicker you only saw spangles and a pair of lace. A decent lot of girls worked in the dance halls . . . sourdoughs had lots of respect for our girls."

Holy Rosary C.W.L. Plans Fall Activities

The opening meeting of the fall season was held on Tuesday, in Holy Rosary Hall with Mrs. Eves, presiding. There were 15 members present.

Father Michael opened the meeting with prayer, followed by a word of welcome to the members and a vote of thanks by the spiritual work the sub division had done in the past year. Father Michael urged all the women of the parish to attend the meetings and take an active part and also to make a special effort to attend monthly communion in a body.

Due to the absence of the treasurer, no report was given. Correspondence was read by the president and dealt with.

SPIRITUAL BOUQUET

Holy Rosary sub division has offered 75 rosaries for the Rev. Rev. Benjamin I. Webster, D.D., the new director of the C.W.L. in Ontario. These are to be given in a spiritual bouquet from all C.W.L. members in Ontario.

Plans were also laid for the fall card parties and these get away the first part of September. Mrs. Brennan is the convener of the first party. The calling list is to be revised and new names added, Wednesday night is to be given a trial instead of the usual Friday night.

Mrs. Eves was appointed convener and Mrs. Smith, co-convener for the Christmas bazaar to be held early in December. The draw will consist of four prizes, miscellaneous, clock radio, doll and bassinette and a hand-woven luncheon cloth. Mrs. Brown is ticket convener assisted by Mrs. Ralston. Tickets on sale from all members.

A leader is needed to start a Brownie Pack. Anyone interested contact Mrs. Eves.

A rummage sale is planned for October and a supper the latter part of November. These events are open for more discussion.

Refreshments for the September meeting are in charge of Mesdames Waller, Brennan and Bashall.

Mrs. Eves extended a vote of thanks for the splendid success of the strawberry social.

Father Michael closed the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses for the evening and an enjoyable half hour spent.

Hobbies Net Nfld. Women $10,000 Yearly

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Hardworking Newfoundland outport women often toil under a scorching sun turning codfish on drying flakes before going home to a full evening of housework and baking. But they have found time to turn spare-time knitting and weaving into a $10,000-a-year business.

Some 900 women, many working by the flickering light of kerosene lamps, bend strong backs over clacking looms, turning out finely woven fabrics that find a ready market in St. John's stores.

That's not all they do. Outport mothers there make sure their children's hands and children have enough socks, sweaters and mittens before any time is spent on "commercial" work. Sock after sock comes from the flashing needles of nimble-fingered mothers before they turn to "pocket-money weaving and knitting."

ASSURED OF MARKET

But when the family is looked after, the women begin to earn big annually turning out hundreds of handmade rugs, shawls, sweaters, dresses, and even slippers.

Two organizations handle practically all the handiwork the home women are assured of markets.

The Newfoundland Outport Nursing and Industrial Association, known as Nonia, sells about 150,000 worth of homework a year for these women. And the Jubilee Guilds, an affiliate of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, sells about 40,000 worth of the home products.

Nonia, which operated outport nursing stations until 1934 when they were taken over by the government, began the home industry marketing scheme in 1924 to help the women pay part of the nurse's salary. When nursing was taken over by the government, Nonia continued caring for handicrafts and now has a modern store here, with representatives in key cities on the mainland.

The Jubilee Guilds buys material for the weavers who make items at fixed amounts for the guilds, which sells it to the public in St. John's. Looms costing about $90 are sold to weavers on the instalment plan.

Many women earn several hundred dollars a year with these hobbies.

More Women Needed In Public Life

By PEGGY THOMAS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — More women should take an active part in public life, says Mrs. M. A. O. Baig, wife of the Pakistani high commissioner to Canada.

"Men have not succeeded in keeping peace among themselves; perhaps women can," says vivacious, dark-eyed Mrs. Baig, who is a "great admirer" of Ottawa's Mayor Charlotte Whitton.

"My greatest interest has always been politics," she said in an interview, "but unfortunately, since my husband is a diplomat, I've never been able to take it up."

TIMES CHANGE

At one time politics would have been an impossible interest for an eastern woman, but times have changed. They have changed so much that a friend of Mrs. Baig's was recently offered a cabinet post.

"She didn't accept it though, because she would have been tied down to the party," explained Mrs. Baig.

"Men regard politics as a career, but women regard it either as a hobby or an ideal. They feel they can do the country better if they can speak freely when they don't agree with the party. After all, the country comes before the party."

Mrs. Baig has been in Canada since last September. Educated in England, she has travelled to every continent except Australia, and lived in Paris at different times. She was in Washington before coming to Ottawa, and finds the comparative quiet of Canada's capital "a blessing—not nearly such a hectic life as in Washington."

SUBURBAN HOME

Now home is settled in a big brick house in a quiet corner of suburban Rockcliffe with her family—her husband, two grown sons, and a lively black puppy of doubtful ancestry named Ibaico — Pakistani for "teddy-bear."

Though she confesses that she is primarily interested in "what makes people tick," doing is the world." Mrs. Baig's "at home" hobbies are the traditionally feminine ones of needlework, knitting and sewing. She has embroidered most of her household linen with colorful designs.

Another of her activities is public speaking; she has addressed a large number of Ottawa women's organizations, and has broadcast in three different languages from three continents.

BEAVER BARRICADES

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Protection of beaver is causing salmon to disappear from some Newfoundland rivers, says M. J. Sinnott, former magistrate at Bonavista. He claims weakened after spawning cannot jump beaver dams and remain to die.

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:

LOWER RATES ON Niagara Loans

You might think that rates on loans are exactly the same from company to company. This is an idea that's far from true. For Niagara Finance has a rare structure that is lower in many cases and here's the reason why. It's a master of plans with Niagara to believe that it is no more trouble to make a loan of say, $750 than it is $100.00 . . . and, if the cost of charge was exactly the same on both loans we'd obviously make more money on a $750.00 loan. So we work on the idea that on loans for larger amounts the rate should be lower. Likewise while at the same time rates on smaller amounts are standard. Besides that, we think you'll like our idea of giving loans to $1500 life-insured at no extra cost to you. That's the sort of protection that a family man can appreciate. Come in and see us if you need money; we'd like to meet you.

Fashion Flashes

The rich glow of velvet shines through fall fashions. Making up a charming party costume is a royal blue velvet skirt and a royal blue velvet blouse. The skirt has a pressed pleat and fancy gold feathers with purple accents. The blouse has a deep, narrow V neck and short sleeves. There is a tucked cummerbund of purple satin.

About now comes the desire for an extra frilly blouse and there are some beauties in the stores. Most becoming is a swirling suit of navy wool-knit, with curved top and legs outlined with bands of white rib knit. Mid-section has a navy ribbed knit insert.

An original approach to cashmere is seen in a beautiful black cashmere coat which features big red velvet pockets laced with pasementerie and black beading.

Waiting for baby finds mothers-to-be dressed prettier than ever this Summer. From now into Fall one house shows a paper-thin black and white checked taffeta dress and jacket, with red coin dots sprinkled on the jacket. Short sleeves on dress, while jacket sleeves are elbow-length and gathered. A big red bow draws attention to the neckline of the dress.

It's a pleasure to find so many new dresses in the stores now, dresses that look right now and that will be perfect for many months to come. One such is a theater dress of navy or black silk crepe. It has short sleeves and an interesting neckline cut low in a wide oval front and back. Its back it is held by a strap. Skirt flares out from a broad cuff at the hipline.

NEW ADDRESS ON BIRTH-ANNOUNCEMENT CARDS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our baby is to arrive within the next few weeks. We have recently moved into our new home, and many people I have on my birth-announcement list do not know our new address. Is it proper to put our address on the envelope of the announcements, or would this imply that we are expecting a response? Please answer soon in your column for we don't know for certain when Sir Stork will arrive, and I'd like to send out the announcements while in the hospital. Thank you. —S.

It is not only proper to write your new address on the envelopes of the announcements, but I suggest that you also write this new address, if possible, on the announcements themselves. For example, you could achieve double-duty cards by having informals made with your new address in the lower right corner of the cover-page (your names Mr. and Mrs.—in the center of the page.) Then on the inside pages, write lines of announcements, or simply the baby's name and the birth-date. Or you may use plain white informals, with the "Mr. and Mrs. ——" in the centre of the cover-page, the new address in the lower right corner. Or if you have another type of announcement in mind, there is also a space on it for your new address on card and/or envelope "imply" a present. . .just think of these cards as messengers of the Wonderful News!

TO MINISTER FOR SERVICE AT FUNERAL

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I would like to send a cheque to the minister of our church for his services at my father's funeral. (1) What is the customary amount given for the average funeral? (2) Should I enclose it with the cheque in the name of the minister or of the church? If in his name, do I write it "Reverend" before his name? (3) Should I write a note to send with the cheque? —M. M. M.

(1) For the average funeral the minister usually is given from five to twenty-five dollars. But naturally the amount varies with the circumstances.

(2) Make out the cheque in the name of the minister. No title before his name, no degree-initials after his name. Simply his name: Peter Joseph Hill.

(3) By all means enclose a note, expressing your appreciation for his kind and thoughtful service, and for the comfort he gave you and your family. .

GRANDMOTHER IN RECEIVING-LINE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

If a husband and wife are both ill and unable to attend a reception, their son's or the grandmother (with whom the boy has lived) stand in the receiving-line, or do the parents and uncle?—M.

Since the boy has lived with his grandmother, it would be more appropriate, I think, for the grandmother to be given the honor of standing in the receiving-line.

GROOM'S FATHER SHOULD BE CORRECTLY DRESSED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our son is to be married at a large, formal afternoon wedding the latter part of September. His bride is to wear a white bridal gown, with a train. The bridegroom best man, ushers, and the bride's father are wearing formal daytime attire; cutaway coats, striped trousers, and so forth. My husband had just taken it for granted that he would wear a dark-blue business suit. But today our son told him that he must dress the same as the bride's father. Is our son right about this?—Groom's Mother.

Really our son is right. Just as, at a formal wedding, the mothers should be correctly dressed alike in type, "the fathers" should wear the same type of attire. You don't say any reason why your husband cannot wear formal attire, so I judge he can — and if he doesn't own formal daytime attire, as most men don't, it is easy and inexpensive nowadays to rent every correct detail of this attire. If your husband can plan to wear this correct attire, he will be fulfilling one important obligation: (1) He will be correctly dressed as the man guest of honor, which he will be at the wedding; (2) he will make his son, the bridegroom, proud of his correctly-attired father.

CHILDREN aren't usually inclined to sit patiently and wait their turn in a shop, doctor's office, etc. So when you must take them where there may be a delay in action, you'll both be happier if you bring along a couple of books, a small toy, a box of bite-size cookies.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

YOU OWE YOURSELF A GOOD BREAKFAST

Many girls who graduated from college last June and are now holding down jobs find that the toughest part of their new life is being aroused by the clang of the alarm clock every morning. They drag out of bed at the last minute, have a sip of coffee, a nibble of toast, a glance at the morning paper and slam goes the front door.

Biggest single time breakfasts are ordered by the honorable members of the medical profession, backed up by the big-wig nutritionists. They tell us that one fourth of the day's food requirements should be taken in the morning if we are to keep our energy motors going.

So don't say you can't force a lip if her stomach is empty. Without breakfast there is no fuel for the machine, but a sense of exhaustion before the day's activities begin. After all, the clock has ticked off 10 to 14 hours since the previous night's dinner.

A good breakfast makes for production-line efficiency, also for tiptapping the old typewriter without wanting to yawn.

Many women have jittery nerves and a continual sense of fatigue because they are hungry and don't know it. The digestive system is crying out for fuel needed for the well-being of every part of the body—nerves, muscles, eyes, complexion, finger nails. It takes a nutritious meal to keep one going until lunch time.

Cereals are the backbone of a breakfast but you can't make women believe it. A hot cereal with sugar and rich cream contains any number of elements that are good for what ails you. Before that, one should have fruit, preferably grapefruit, or orange juice for their vitamin C content. Tomato juice can be substituted. The ideal breakfast should also include an egg, two slices of toast, a bit of broiled ham to provide protein.

Eating for beauty is a matter of habit. After a few maintenance breakfasts, a girl will enjoy them, and respond to them with pleasure.

A well balanced luncheon for the career girl may consist of a sandwich, a glass of milk and a green salad, eaten slowly, not bolted so as to have time for a shopping binge.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

HOW CAN SHE BE HAPPY THOUGH UNHAPPY?

How to be happy though unhappy —that's the problem of a woman of 48 who is behind the eight ball of misery with an unfaithful husband.

"He has always been a woman-chaser," she writes, "and I should have left him years ago. But I had two children, and since I myself was raised without a father, I didn't want my children to have that experience.

"Besides the fact that my husband has a woman friend right now, he is cranky, and nothing ever suits him. The 30 years I have been married to him mean nothing to me. Don't you think I am entitled to some happiness? Making my living would be no problem, as I have worked for 12 years. I know my husband will never change, so please tell like your advice on what to do."

When this wife speaks of being "entitled to some happiness" she, by any chance, thinking that the only way she can get happiness is to leave her husband? Her letter reads as though she doesn't feel very sorry back, and quite frankly any happiness whatever with her husband, so I cannot see what else could be in her mind.

WHAT ALTERNATIVES OPEN?

Has she, I wonder, made any attempt to figure out what alternatives are open to her? She says nothing about loving or hating her. But has she actually figured things out so that she knows for certain that it would be better for herself and a little home of her own anywhere? And if she set up a home of her own right where she is, since no doubt her job is there, could she be perfectly happy, satisfying life in the same town where her husband? Wouldn't it perhaps be better, if she does decide to separate from him, to go to some city a distance from the present one and work out an entirely new life for herself? If she continued to live close to her husband, wouldn't he be likely to keep her upset in one way or another all the time?

And then suppose that, after careful deliberation, she finds herself reluctant, after all, to break up a marriage that has lasted 30 years. Could she not go courageously and determinedly about filling her life with so many interests that she would inevitably find a measure of happiness and content in spite of her marital problem? Could she not find real joy and satisfaction in making new friends and sharing with them some projects in the community? And could she not pick out, and make herself expert in, some absorbing hobby at which she could work at home and so divert her mind from her domestic woes there?

All these are questions that call for very clear-cut answers as she tries to make her way out of her confusion of thought toward a wise decision of course to follow.

Here, then, is my thinking on her problem based on what she has told me about it. If she would care to write me again and give me more details, perhaps I might be able to make some further suggestions.

In any event, I would like very much to know what her final decision is.

Simply Peachy

By Mary Moore

Everything is back to normal and average again. The telephone rings about a dozen times a morning. It seems as if I just finish answering the front door when somebody wants to sell me something at the side door, or there's a rush job to be done on a bee-you-tee-ful picture I want photograph, or Marianne just has to have me with her when she shops for a new pair of tartan slacks in preparation for her trip to B.C. to meet Herbie's folks.

If you are somebody's mother you know what I mean. I liked those good old woodstove days last month, where there was no telephone and sometimes no car; nothing much but water, air and sleep.

But I'm duty bound to reveal all about the peachy peach dishes I've concocted this week, for come work or play nothing ever dulls the appetites of this family of mine, Mine either.

PEACH COTTAGE PUDDING

Generously butter a shallow baking dish (if the dish isn't deep the batter will not bake through in the allotted time); slice into it 6 large ripe peaches and sprinkle them with 1 or 2 tablespoons sugar. Cover evenly with batter. Cream 2 tablespoons shortening and stir into it 2-3 cup sugar. Add 1 egg. Sift flour and measure 1 3-4 cups and sift it with 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Add dry ingredients to first mixture alternately with 1-2 cup milk. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 40 minutes. Test at centre to be sure batter is baked through before removing from oven. Serve warm or cold with pouring cream, or top milk. NOTE:

If you are in a great hurry a white cake mix is a good substitute for the above batter.

FRESH PEACH ICE CREAM

Mix together 2-3 cup sweetened condensed milk and 1-2 cup water until blended and pour into freezing tray and freeze until ice crystals form around sides of tray. Meanwhile whip 1 cup heavy cream until fairly stiff. Slice ripe yellow peaches and measure 1 1-4 cups and sprinkle over them 1-4 cup icing sugar. Fold whipped cream into frosty milk and water mix and then fold in sweetened peaches. Freeze until mushy, remove ice cold bowl and beat for a minute. Freeze until firm.

JELLIED PEACH RING

If you have a ring mold it is ideal for this but don't hesitate to make it if it must be molded in a bowl.

Drain the juice from a 20-oz. sliced peaches. Oil lightly a 1 1-2 quart ring mold. Overlap peach slices in the bottom of it. Dissolve 2 packages of orange or lemon jelly powder in 1 1-2 cups boiling water. Then add 1 can (6-oz.) frozen orange concentrate, 1 6-oz. can water or 1 12-oz. bottle of ginger ale. Chill until it is slightly congealed. Now beat it until it is foamy. Chop all of the remaining sliced peaches from the can and fold in. If desired 1-2 cup shredded almonds may be added too. Spoon this carefully into the mold with peach slices in bottom and chill until firm. When ready to serve turn out on large round dessert plate. Fill centre with cottage cheese or this luscious Fruit Dressing—In top of double boiler mix together 2 tablespoons sugar and 2 tablespoons flour. Add 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons vinegar, juice and grated rind of 1 lemon, 1 cup peach or pineapple or pear juice, 1 cup water and cook, stirring, over boiling water, until thick. Remove from heat and chill. Just before serving fold in 1 cup heavy cream whipped, and, if desired, 1-2 cup finely-cut marshmallows.

OPEN FRIDAY EVENINGS

Peasants Feared Communists But They Knew How to Resist

By FRED HAMPSON

In the country of Shantung one day, a Communist water conservation commissar ordered the peasants to dig 20,000 wells. The peasants feared the Communists, but they knew how to resist.

They dug 20,000 holes, and dug them an old place at all. Of the 20,000 "wells," only a couple of dozen produced usable water.

There lies one of the greatest problems at present-day Communist China, and one of the big reasons why Communist China is likely to be frightened of involvement in a large-scale war. The regime still has a tremendous distance to travel before it can claim it controls the country.

The Chinese are not like the Russians. Russians are easily regimented, easily led, do what they are told, shrug their shoulders fatalistically, have little personal ambition.

No so the Chinese. The lowliest has boundless faith in the most extreme poverty, he is a shrewd manoeuvrer, a natural trader. He is a master at evading the law, and never does it with any feeling of guilt. He is a born private capitalist, an enterpriser, a bargainer, a seller. That is all right at the lowest levels, but when he becomes too successful he still tries to do it all by himself and either gets bogged down or has to scale back.

"The Chinese are," says a man who knows them well, "just about the worst subjects in the world for regimentation, and I still think that before the show is over in China they are going to turn communism out. The danger to the rest of the world is that they may not be able to do it in time."

Chinese culture is old and Chinese memories are long. There have been other regimes which ruled them harshly, but there never was one which really had iron control of all China. When ever dynasties tried to tighten the loose Chinese federation the dynasties fell.

Today the Communists are trying to impose a central control which rules every phase of every man's life.

Not long ago, during a land reform drive in Honan province when the Korean war had the Red army tied down, Peiping made a startling admission.

"We have no control below the Hsien (county) level," Peiping said.

The peasants were resisting central government measures and the military could not be spread thinly enough to stop them.

That was only one phase of the central regime's troubles. "Warlordism", was cropping up continually, and could be halted only by Red army force. In a remote county, a commissar whose power went to his head could easily turn warlord, collecting local tribute and ruling in much the same as local warlords have done for centuries.

The Communist regime has control at the top level, but at the lower levels a regional bureaucracy has grown up which can defy Peiping at times. Periodically there is probably a violent clean-up when Red army units can be sent in for the job. And often, after the army units leave, farm reform teams visit the rebellious areas only to find that between the army's departure and the team's arrival an entirely new set of landlords has established itself, complete with money-lending, mortgages, hired labor and other remnants of the old days. The land would have to be "reformed" all over again.

There are trials and punishments, but it is likely that most of the top county-level Communists are spared after proper public criticism and self - criticism. This is because there are not enough party cadres to permit any wholesale elimination of sinning Communists.

There is hardly any question but that the Korean war constituted a heavy drain on a flimsy Chinese economy. And the question arose naturally: Could such a flimsy economy withstand a major shock—such as a third world war? The answer obviously was in the negative.

Information is still fairly scant on China's economy, but there is enough to piece together a picture of a regime caught in a struggle against terrific odds to pull a vast, loosely joined country together and modernize it. It is coating much in human blood and suffering, and it surely does not present the picture of a regime ready to risk large-scale war.

Two Teen-Agers Are Sentenced In Murder Case

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (CP)—Pauline Parker, 16, and Juliet Hulme, 15, who last June battered Pauline's mother to death, were sentenced here to confinement for "an indefinite period."

The sentence came after an all-male jury overruled impassioned pleas by defence lawyers that the girls were insane.

The girls cannot be executed under New Zealand law. They will be kept in custody "during Her Majesty's pleasure"—that is, as long as authorities see fit.

In arguing that the girls were insane, defence counsel A. R. Haslam had contended there was "a great deal to the incident when Juliet found her mother" in the apartment of another man, Walter Perry.

The silence in the courtroom following announcement of the sentence was broken by an unidentified young man in the gallery who leaped to his feet and shouted, "I protest—I object." He was hustled out of the courtroom.

The guilty verdict closed a six-day trial which gave the world a picture of a lurid adolescent dream-world.

Swather King On Prairies In Poor Weather

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Out on the Prairies now, the swather is king.

Ever at the mercy of the weather, Prairie grain farmers are getting increasing aid from a piece of equipment that incorporates the features of a giant hair clipper and a factory conveyor belt.

That's the swather. It works against the weather, speeding up harvesting operations and saving farmers millions of dollars in possible crop losses through bad weather.

The swather, growing more and more popular on the plains, bites into big stands of ripening grain, disgorges them on a conveyor belt via innards and neatly piling the grin on its side in rows where the can easy get at it quickly and prepare it for the combine.

Only in dizzy days, many farmers depended mainly on the multi-use combine to harvest their crops. The combine did the cutting, threshing, dividing the heads of grain from the straw and shooting the valuable heads into a waiting truck.

This sometimes that meant harvesting delay. If parts of the field were still green, the farmer would have to wait until it ripened before he sent the combine out. By that time other parts of the field might be over-ripe, with the result that the combining operation would shatter the grain head.

Thus the swather came into being. Even if parts of the field are still green, the farmer can send his machine out to begin cutting operations. Attached to a tractor or self-propelled, the swather cuts a path of grain about 10 or 15 feet wide.

The grain is cut just about four inches from the bottom of the stem leaving a stubble or stump. On this the swather lays the grain, row on row, in ways so tenderly that none of the riper grain is shattered.

When the sun has sufficiently ripened all parts of the crop, the combine picks up the grain and threshes it.

The swather is not little use in a field ripening quickly and evenly. But in bad growing conditions, as in the current season, chances are that fields will ripen unevenly.

Swather sales have jumped to 10,000 in 1952 compared with 2,100 in 1945.

Scientist Explains Origin Of Tornado and Identifies It As One of Man's Best Friends

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—A University of Maryland scientist has a new theory which explains the origin of the tornado and identifies it—surprisingly—as one of the best friends mankind ever had.

The world would not be fit to live in if it weren't for the type of air turbulence that brings about tornadoes, says Dr. Theodore Theodorsen.

Without them, he says, winds would sweep across the face of the earth constantly at the 100-mile-an-hour veolicities which prevail in the upper atmosphere; buildings would be blown over, vegetation uprooted and life would scarcely be possible.

The new theory, as propounded by Theodorsen, is that tornadoes are "merely the largest representatives of the element of turbulence, and turbulence is absolutely necessary to prevent excessive (wind) velocities along the earth's surface."

Scientists and weather experts are hailing the theory as a significant contribution to man's understanding of the atmosphere. It appears to solve the mystery of nature's creation of turbulence and the origin of tornadoes.

The theory maintains that whirling air formations, hereafter the shape, exist in the normal day-to-day main flow of air over the surface of the earth.

"If we could see air," explains Dr. Theodorsen, "we would note that it is saturated with spinning, the origin of the tornado and identifies it—surprisingly—as one of the best friends mankind ever had.

air from building up to tornado size.

The tornado is actually horseshoe-shaped, although the complete tornado vortex is seldom seen.

Special weather conditions permit the production of big horseshoes of turbulence which easily may become tornadoes. One example of tornado-forming weather is a condition during which a large mass of hot air suddenly rises into a steam of cold air in the higher atmosphere.

The exact technique for applying of Dr. Theodorsen's new theory to predicting where and when tornadoes will occur remains to be worked out. The theory does, however, form the general basis now for all tornado studies and observations.

GERONIMO ON WAY

NEW YORK (AP)—The 510th Tank Battalion's baby buffalo mascot finally got on its way to Germany Friday after two tape held it up for a week. The buffalo was flown out aboard a transatlantic cargo plane, due in Frankfurt Saturday night. The buffalo, named "Geronimo," was held up here for a week by U. S. health authorities for further examinations after its health papers were found to be inadequate.

Tibet's Bandits Routed by Reds But Peasants Poor

Editor's Note: The following story is by V. M. Nair, a Reuters correspondent in New Delhi, who is believed to be the first non-Communist newspapers reporter to have entered Tibet since the the occupation by the Chinese Communists. Nair arrived in Tibet with the first pilgrimage to go to Mount Kailas since the signing of the Sino-Indian treaty on Tibet earlier this year.

By V. M. NAIR

TAKLAKOT, Tibet (Reuters)—Years of Chinese Communist rule in Tibet have rid the countryside of roaming bandit gangs, but brought little improvement in the economic condition of the Tibetan peasants.

In their all-out campaign to suppress lawlessness on the Tibetan highway, the Chinese Communists at one time deployed several hundred troops to seek out robbers frequenting pilgrim routes. Several were captured and shot, others punished by primitive Tibetan methods such as cutting off hands and dipping the arm stumps in boiling oil, blinding by red-hot iron rods, flogging and military confinement in dungeons.

This ruthless campaign soon spread terror among the bandit gangs, who overnight found it expedient to become law - abiding peasants or shepherds.

REDS BROUGHT 'SECURITY'

Hundreds of Indian pilgrims and Bhotia traders who visit western Tibet each year now find it no longer necessary to sleep with rifle or revolver handy. The sense of security which they now experience is considered by many, both Indians and Tibetans, as the biggest achievement of the Chinese Communists in Tibet.

There are many indications of economic distress among peasants in western Tibet. Food is scarce and prices prohibitive. People want food grains as payment for the hire of yaks and ponies rather than silver Chinese dollars.

Winona Family Grabs Spotlight At Horse Show

TORONTO (CP) — The family show of the Cudneys of Winona, Ont., featured the opening-night performance of the Canadian National Exhibition's National Horse Show.

Ross Cudney, riding E. H. Cudney's Copper King, won in a jump-off Friday night with brother Doug Cudney in the top event of the night, the jumpers open performance.

The Cudney brothers covered the eight-jump course without a fault in their first ride, 20-year-old Ross taking Copper King through with a clear performance, and Doug, 22, riding Hangover, also owned by E. H. Cudney, safely over the jumps.

In the jumpoff, Hangover had eight faults, missing two jumps, while the younger Cudney took Copper King over with four faults. Five horses tied for third.

Little Benny's Notebook

There was a wedding at the church, and some peeple, mostly ladies, were waiting outside to see the bride come out, so me and Glasses Magee started to wait too, and I said, I'm going to be an old batchlor when I get big enough to get married.

Then you better not expect to have any kids to run errands for you, Glasses said, and I said, Maybe I wont, but I'll always be able to go to whatever movie I feel like, without a agreement.

Maybe you will, but you'll have to sew on your own buttons, Glasses said, and I said, Oh no I wont. Some lady is sure to sew them on for me, because it makes ladies sad no matter whose buttons they see off. And besides, I'll be able to eat ice cream at different restaurant every day, and order a different change every meel, I said.

G, that's rite, but suppose you happen to feel like some home cooking just for a relief? Glasses said, and I said, That'll be a cinch, I'll just take a bunch of flowers to somebody's house around dinner time, and they'll have to invite me to stay out of politeness.

Oh well, maybe I'll be an old batchlor too, Glasses said, and some man standing rite in back of us said, You've settled the question for me, too, thank you, young man.

And he kept on going without even waiting to see the bride.

Being a man with a little mustash and a big stummick looking as if he was probably married already, and we, started about five more minutes, and Glasses said, Aw, what's the use?

Sure, the heck with it, I said.

And we kept on going too.

SAYS $50,000 WASTED

TORONTO (CP) — Token machines in Toronto's subway were a waste of $50,000, the transit commission said Friday. The commission spent innumerable man-hours trying to keep the machines operating efficiently, said W. E. P. Duncan, TTC general manager. The machines now have been removed.

HAS ROLE IN DEFECTION

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) Alfred Mentschel, 33, a former West Berlin medical student, arrested here as a Communist spy, has confessed to playing a role in the desertion to East Germany of Dr. Otto John, former West German security chief, police said Thursday. The police did not say what part Mentschel played in John's defection. Mentschel was arrested several days ago and charged with passing confidential information to the Communists.

BATAS BOW OUT

Belleville Batas bowed out of the Viadact-Ontario Senior Baseball League semi-finals Saturday night as Oakville Oaks took a 9-7 victory and a three game sweep of their best-of-five series. Lefty Ross Paton picked up his third victory of the series although he was sent to the shower in the eighth in favor of Mark Pollock.

Paton who tamed the Batas 12-4 in Oakville a week ago on five hits, and picked up Tuesday night's 6-4 win in relief, lost his razor-sharp control in the eighth as he walked four and gave up three hits including Al Ketcher's two run triple. Four Bata pitchers combined to strike out 15 Oakville batters but the Oaks sandwiched in 11 hits, including a three run homer by Grant Redshaw in the seventh.

Coach Vern Goyer sent 14 men into the lineup in an effort to cop the win but the late inning rally was effectively out off by Pollock. Nine right-handed Bata hitters started in the lineup and of the eventual 14 only Mulholland swung from the right side. But Paton quelled them with four hits until the eighth.

NO HITTER IN OSHAWA

Oakville now tangle with Oshawa Transporters in a best-of-seven league final. The Transporters eliminated Toronto Hosking Burners in three straight to the Intermediate 'A' crown. In the third game Oshawa right hander, Cec Hail, threw a no-hitter at Hoskings as he faced only 23 men. Harold Hait, first Hosking batter in the eighth, was the first man to reach first and it took an error to put him there. Tom McKillop opened the ninth with a walk. Hail's envy free pass, and was promptly wiped out by a double play.

The Batas move into senior OBA playdowns and take on Peterborough Petes in the first game of a best-of-seven provincial quarter final tonight in the Littlock City. The second game is slated for the Fair Grounds Thursday evening at 8.30. Subsequent games are to be arranged according to manager Jack Carson with the teams flipping for the seventh game if necessary.

Oakville and Oshawa get byes into the semi-finals as they are tied up in the Viadact-Ontario series. Winner of the Bata-Peterborough series meets Oshawa in the semi-final while Oakville will take on the Niagara District winner.

DISTRICT PLAYOFFS

Bryson Rifle's Regents meet Deseronto under the lights at the Fair Grounds tonight at 8.30 in the deciding game of a best-of-three quarter final series in the Belleville and District Baseball League playoffs. Winners take on RCAF Flyers, who have been idle a week after beating Wellington in two games, in the semi-finals.

• • •

Bill Hurst's Stewart Warner TV's, who copped a 4-2 decision from Bob Temple's Bobcats at the CNR Recreation Field Friday night for their first win in three games of a best-of-seven series, host the Bobcats tonight at the CNR Field at 6.15. Bobcats lead the series 2-1. The winner will represent the Belleville and District Softball League in the OASA Intermediate AA playdowns.

Northern Electric looked good Saturday evening as they bowled over Peterborough Transporters 12-5 in the first game of a best-of-three OSIA Senior B playdown series. Lum Carson, veteran Northern hurler, was master of the situation throughout as he pitched one of the headiest games seen locally in a long time. His ability to hurl with control and perfection as he upset the Transporter sluggers with a tantalizing mixture of control pitching.

Point Anne Cementmen, B. and D. Softball League reps in Intermediate A OASA playoffs tangle with Peterborough Seabrooks at 8.00 p.m. Wednesday night in the Littlock City. The return game is set for Point Anne at 5.45 next Saturday. Jack Boyle, Northern Electric hurler who has been working in Peterborough of late, reports that Seabrooks are the toughest team up there. Red Sullivan, American Hockey League star with Hershey, is the club's home run hitter.

WORD FROM THE GRAPEVINE

Word from the grapevine concerning the Senior B Hockey Memos for the coming season is definitely encouraging. Latest tidbit has it that Butch Stahan, a veteran defence stalwart with Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Hockey League, will ink a contract this week as playing coach. Word from an unimpeachable look also has it that Memos are working on a player agreement with Senators' T. P. Gorman and that Gorman has already promised to aid the local club by furnishing talent this season. With Parisé already in the fold at final Memos' hockey stock has taken a decided turn for the better . . . T. A. "Tommy" Carruthers, won the-Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club championship Sunday by downing Murray McIntosh 5 and 4 in 36 holes of match play. He finished the morning 18 three up and sank a 30 foot putt for a birdie on the 14th in the afternoon round to clinch the verdict. It was Carruthers' second victory in two years and his fifth in the last eight. He also repeated his 1951 sweep of the field day and the club championship.

Defeat Boston Red Sox Twice To Extend Consecutive Win Streak to 10; Brooks Gain

BY JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees aren't conceding the American League flag to Cleveland, but the first round of double heading to grow in the minds of the defending champions.

This suspicion was gleaned from a remark by Allie Reynolds, veteran Yankee pitching star who helped in all five consecutive triumphs.

"If they (the Indians) continue at this terrific pace," he said, "they deserve to win."

Reynolds was referring, of course, to Cleveland's sensational .721 winning percentage, a pace never before attained by an American League club. Should the Indians continue at this pace through the end of the season, they will smash the league record of 110 victories turned in by the 1927 Yankees.

The Yankees, travelling at a .690 pace, a fast never before reached by a runner-up club, defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1 Sunday but lost ground to the Indians. While the Yankees were winning their sixth straight, the Tribe was extending its consecutive victory string in Boston's Fenway Park to 10 walloping the Red Sox twice 6-2 and 8-1.

BOOSTS LEAD

The doubleheader sweep boosted the Indians' lead over the Yankees to three games with 25 left to play by each contender. Cleveland tries for a-sweep of the series leg-ger Monday night and Tuesday. The Indians have captured seven of nine from Boston in Cleveland.

The National League race continued to lighten as the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers whipped the Braves twice in Milwaukee 7-3 and 11-4 to close to within 1½ games of front-running Giants. The best the New Yorkers could do was gain a split in St. Louis after dropping an 11-inning 5-4 decision to the Cardinals. They managed to avert a "lost weekend" by overcoming a 5-1 deficit to win the nightcap 7-4.

Cincinnati Redlegs strengthened their hold on fourth place, by defeating Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 and 8-4 to leave the Phillies their sixth and seventh straight loses. Chicago Cubs came from behind twice to sweep a twin bill from Pittsburgh 7-6 and 6-1.

In a wild doubleheader marred by a free-for-all, the Detroit Tigers took two from Philadelphia's Athletics 14-3 and 2-1 to wrest fourth place from the Phillies by percentage point. Baltimore, fresh from 16 losses in its last 17 games, surprised Washington with 8-4 and 5-0 victories.

LEMONS' 20TH

The pitching of Bob Lemon and Art Houtteman and the hitting of Larry Doby and Vic Wertz featured the Indians' teeing-off party in Boston. Lemon statistical eight hits in the opener, racking up his 11th straight victory that made him the majors' first 20-game winner. He and teammate Bob Feller are the only active pitchers 20-game winners.

Until the sixth, when the Indians erupted for three runs on homers by Doby (No. 29) and Wertz (No. 10), Lemon was hooked up in a 2-2 pitching duel with rookie Tom Brewer. Wertz hit home run No. 11 in the second game to help Houtteman gain his 14th triumph with a six-hitter.

The Yankees finally beat Virgil Trucks on the third try of Virgil Berra and the pitching of Whitey Ford. Ford hurled a neat six-hitter for his 15th victory and fourth over the White Sox. Berra doubled in the first two runs and scored another. Trucks has whipped the Yankees three times, twice by shutouts.

A capacity crowd of 45,822 crestfallen Milwaukee fans witnessed the Dodger sweep that dropped the third-place Braves 7½ lengths behind the Giants. The turnout boosted Milwaukee's home attendance to 1,841,666, setting a National League record for the second successive year. The Braves drew 1,826,397 last year, their first in the National League.

DODGERS BLAST 'EM

The Dodgers blasted 11 Milwaukee pitchers for 24 hits in the doubleheader. Four of them were homers, two by Duke Snider, one by Gil Hodges and one by Rube Walker. Snider batted in three runs in each game. The Dodgers rang up eight runs in the 11th inning of the opener after the Braves had rallied for two runs in the ninth to tie the score at 4-4. Billy Loes breezed to his 11th victory in 14 decisions with a nine-hitter in the nightcap.

Alex Grammas' 11th-inning single drove in the winning run for St. Louis in the opener after Stan Musial's second homer of the game had tied the score in the 10th inning. Musial also got his 500th double. Dusty Rhodes, whose two triples had gone to waste in the first game, led the Giants' attack in the second with two homers and two doubles. His six extra-base hits tied a major league record. Willie Mays hit his 39th homer for New York in the opener.

Ted Kluszewski smashed two homers, his 38th and 39th, to tie Mays for the league lead in Cincinnati's double win. Rookie Art Fowler outpitched Robin Roberts, Philadelphia's 18-game winner, in the opener.

Bob Wilson hit two homers, one a grand slammer, a double and drove in six runs to help Gerry Staley gain his 15th game for Detroit. Gromek precipitated a near riot in the ninth when he charged out to Marion Fricano after the Philadelphia pitcher had hit him with a pitched ball in the ninth. Gromek threw several punches before the two combatants wrestled to the ground. Players from both benches joined the fracas. When peace was restored, both pitchers were ejected.

Oriole catcher Clint Courtney backed up Joe Coleman's shutout pitching against Washington with five hits in five times at bat in the nightcap.

U.S. Writers Pleasantly Surprised At First Look at Canadian Game

TORONTO (CP)—United States sports writers were pleasantly surprised with Canadian football.

A group of them on Saturday for the opening Big Four game between Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts. It was the first look for many of the newspaper men. The NBC carried the game to the U.S. on its coast-to-coast television network.

Argonauts won 15-7 but that didn't mean much to the visitors. In interviews after the game they said they liked Canada's brand of football, and there was no downfield blocking and only three downs instead of four as in the U.S. game.

A few of their comments:

Fred Smith, New York Herald-Tribune columnist: "I liked it very much. It was interesting to watch the boys run with no downfield blocking. And those three downs! The ball changes hands a lot with only three downs."

Pat Harmon, Cincinnati Post:

"The skill is not up to the United States professional game but it is more interesting to the spectator. I prefer Canadian rules. They make for a more fluid game."

LIKES IT

Frank Graham, New York Journal-American: "It was very exciting. I find the difference between the American and Canadian game is favorable to Canadian rules."

Ted Smits, AP sports editor: "I've seen four games and I still like it. We are stepping up our coverage plans on the games."

Al Buck, New York Post: "It was interesting. A fast-moving game. I think U.S. television fans will like it."

Lou Niss, Brooklyn Eagle: "I like it because there are fewer whistles. There's more action. I like the idea of three downs. The players know they have only a couple of downs to go and they go to town."

Jack Hand, The AP: "Canadian football with its racy, non-stop action looks like a good bet to win converts among U.S. fans who go for fast-breaking basketball and the constant passing of the American pro games. . . it may not be many years before the U.S. fans are importing some of the Canadian men."

18 Imports And Fancy Canadians Selling Football To U.S. Audiences

Argos Whip Ottawa 13-6 While Champion Ti-Cats Take 24-6 Drubbing by Als

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eighteen imports and some fancy Canadians have started selling Canada a big-time football to the United States. The routine looks good.

As estimated television audience of 40,000,000 fans, most of them slightly confused by the rules and scoring, got a taste of the Canadian game Saturday when Toronto Argonauts whipped Ottawa Rough Riders 13-6 in the opening game of the Big Four schedule in Toronto.

It was the first of a series of Big Four games and the Grey Cup final the NBC will carry over its coast-to-coast television network during the 1954 season. The reaction was distinctly mixed. Many experts said the U.S. fans would go for it. Wrote Red Smith, New York Herald-Tribune columnist:

"It is different enough from American football to have the charm of novelty, similar enough to be followed intelligently and entertaining in its inflatie enterprising variety."

CRAMMED WEEKEND

The game was part of a crammed football weekend in which all the country's three senior leagues swung into full stride. In the state of Big Four game Saturday, Montreal Alouettes, displaying the offensive fireworks of a team in mid-season form, defeated the Hamilton Tiger-Cats 24-6.

In the West, far from the television screen, dead-pan Indian Jack Jacobs and little Eddie Lebaron were a couple of hot stars with powerful pitches.

Indian Jack's passing magic told the tale when Winnipeg Blue Bombers edged British Columbia Lions 8-6 as the Lions made their debut in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. A record crowd of 26,500 fans at Vancouver's Empire Stadium saw Jacobs the Lions pull a big upset.

At Calgary, the twinkle-toed Dutchmen walloped Toronto Balmy Beach 35-13.

Two Canadians, fullback Ted Toogood of Argos and Ottawa's Bob Simpson, end, also found the spotlight Saturday when Argos went well for 16,702 fans at Varsity Stadium. Toogood was running strong all day. Once he crashed through the scrum for 30 yards to finish off an 80-yard Argo march for the first of Toronto's two majors.

OTTAWA RECEIVER

Simpson made nice catches of passes from quarterback Johnny Grambling and halfback Woody Turner. He scored the only Ottawa touchdown. Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts converted it.

Al Pfeifer scored the other Argo touchdown. Noreen Berry kicked one convert and a single on an attempted field goal. Alex Brown made a 61-yard punt in the first quarter for the other single.

The Hamilton crowd appeared loose and disorganized against the tight arm of Sam (The Jet) Etcheverry. A crowd of 13,000 at Hamilton's Civic Stadium saw the Als strike for three converted touchdowns in the first half and shunt Tiger-Cats right out of it.

The Montreal defence, on the other hand, withstood three successive drives within the four-yard line during the first quarter. Tiger-Cats opened their only touchdown when Ray Rainsby, former Chicago Cardinal end, took a 25-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Ed Songin in the fourth quarter.

The once-feared long-pass defence once-feared Art Voyles last year for Tiger-Cats last season was missing for this one. Etcheverry's receivers had a fairly easy time.

YANKS SCORE

Calf- foot Montreal touchdowns were scored by Americans, Etcheverry, Alex Webster, Larry Grigg and Virgil Wagner got them. Ray Poole, former New York Giant end, kicked four converts.

Two Hamilton fumbles and an intercepted pass set up three of the Als' majors but they were strong on the ground, gaining a total of 468 yards compared to Hamilton's 251.

The big Calgary score compared with the 43-5 thumping inflicted on Riders by Winnipeg in the 1953 semi-finals as one of the worst WIFU routs in years.

The two touchdowns left Blue Bombers in first place with three wins in three games. That's two points ahead of the Roughriders who have won two and lost one. Calgary and Edmonton Eskimos, winless in their first two outings, still are without a victory, two points behind Regina.

Dodgers Take Long Stride Toward Pennant

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Brooklyn Dodgers, who clinched their second straight National League pennant here last Sept. 12, have taken a long stride toward their third—but there isn't a man on the team who'll admit it.

The Dodgers, who Sunday whipped Milwaukee Braves 13-4 and 11-4, were surprisingly subdued in the clubhouse after the twin bill, coupled with New York's split at St. Louis, pulled Brooklyn to within only 1½ games of the league-leading G'ants.

"We've looked good before, but we've stubbed our toes too," said Pee Wee Reese, cautious Brooklyn captain.

"Well, it was a good day's work," said manager Walter Alston. "But we've still got a long ways to go. We've got to keep right on winning if we're going to catch 'em."

Alston, shaving, paused to shout at Reese, with a grin:

"Hey, Pee Wee, do you guys want to work out tomorrow, about 10 o'clock?"

Reese shouted back, shrugged. "Whatever you say," he replied. Alston made no further comment.

Breen of Buffalo Wins CNE Swim For Amateurs

TORONTO (CP)—George Breen, of Buffalo, N.Y., American distance swimming champion, Saturday won the Canadian National Exhibition two-mile amateur swim, finishing at least 250 yards ahead of his closest competitor.

Breen, 18, made the four turns around the half-mile circuit in 46 minutes, 30 seconds, less than a minute short of the event record of 45 minutes, 42 seconds set by Jack Wardrop of Ralph Flanagan of the United States.

Breen won the Ross Gold Trophy and a $500 scholarship.

George Park, of Toronto, finished second and a member of the Canadian British Empire Games team, finished second in an upset over Peter Duncan of South Africa, who was third, 300 yards further back.

Doreen Howatt of Fergus, Ont., won the women's mile swim in 27 minutes, 29 seconds to win the Rose Trophy.

Muriel Ferguson of Toronto was second and Joan Campbell of Fergus, third. Miss Howatt, 18, won the same title last year.

REMEMBER WHEN

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Arky Vaughan, former National League baseball star, was drowned at Eagleville, Calif., two years ago today. Vaughan played shortstop for Pittsburgh Pirates for 10 years starting in 1932, and in 1935 was chosen the league's most valuable player when he batted .385. Sold to Brooklyn in 1942, he voluntarily retired in 1944 but made a comeback with the Dodgers in 1947.

Elston Howard Named Catcher All-Star Team

MONTREAL (CP)' — Five outfielders, two first basemen and a catcher have been selected for the International Baseball League's 1954 most-valuable-player award, Al Weber of the Rochester, N.Y., Times-Union announced today.

One player from each club is nominated by the league's Baseball Writers Association, of which Weber is president.

Rocky Nelson, first baseman with Montreal Royals and winner of last year's award, was given the ballot this year as the Royals' entire player. He led the league in home runs with 27.

From Rochester, outfielder Bill Virdon, league-leading batter with a .347 average, was chosen while Yogi Berra of Buffalo was also named from Toronto Maple Leafs. Howard, 25, newest batter in to his credit, the first catcher in a decade to lead the league in that division.

Outfielders Jim Pisoni, also chosen from Buffalo Bisons, outfielder Paul Smith from Havana Cubans, outfielder Joe Taylor from Ottawa Athletics, outfielder Bob Milkowicz from Richmond Virginians and first baseman Marvin Blaylock from Syracuse Chiefs.

Split Prevents Rochester Moving Into Second Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Richmond and Johnny Bistnik once played for Rochester Red Wings, and that International League club probably wishes the two Spartans were on the other league.

Richmond belted four for five and Bistnik six for three as the Chiefs won the opener of a Sunday doubleheader from Buffalo Bisons 11-1. Rochester won the second game 5-1 but the loss of one game prevented Rochester from moving into second place ahead of Montreal. Bistnik drove in two runs with a home run and double, and scored three. Richmond got one run batted in, scored twice, hit a double and stole two bases. Three of the nine United Syracuse to five hits in the second game as the Chiefs moved into a tie with fourth place while fifth-place Havana was losing to Toronto.

Jerry Scala hit two timely singles to drive in four runs as Chiefs scored seven times in the last two innings to down Havana 7-3.

The leading Toronto Maple Leafs split with Buffalo, winning the opener 6-3 and dropping the second game 9-2. Catcher Danny Ryan got three runs batted in slashing batting in four Buffalo runs. The Bisons tallied seven times in their last two innings to break a 2-2 deadlock.

Richmond downed Montreal 8-7 when Allen Barbee singled home the winning run with two out in the last half of the ninth.

Frankford Hands Manotick 11-9 Loss in Playoffs

FRANKFORD — The Frankford Juvenile Juniors overcame a 5-4 deficit in the seventh inning on Saturday night to hand Manotick an 11-9 setback in the first game of the best-of-three O.A.S.A. Juvenile "C" baseball playdowns played at Frankford. The return game will be played next Saturday and should Manotick win, the third and deciding game will also take place there.

The winners took a 2-0 lead in the first frame but five runners left on the fifth made it 6-3 with another pair in the sixth and one in the top of the seventh building a 9-4 score, then came Frankford's big rally.

Wannamaker and Whitney shared hurling duties for the victors, being three giving up eight hits. O'Brien was the receiver. Hegey and Buchan worked on the mound for losers and were touched for 13 safe blows. Mowat was the receiver.

McKee set the batting pace for Frankford with a home run and two singles while Baker clamored a trio of singles. Wannabaker helped his own cause with a double and one-base blow, Kemp had a brace of singles, while Whitney slammed a home run.

Heney and Craig each had a brace of base hits to defeat with Mowat delivering a four-base blast. Line Score:

Russians Make Impressive Display at Games, Win 9 Titles

BERN, Switzerland (AP)—The greatest of all five European track and field championships which ended Sunday produced the emergence of Russia as a steadily increasing power, and ended in defeat of one of the world's greatest runners.

There was something sad in seeing Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia surrender his crown Sunday in the 5,000-metre run. Zatopek recognized that he was outclassed by a sturdy Russian soldier, Vladimir Kuc, and he appeared listless and didn't even bother to second place against Britain's Chris Chataway.

This was no fluke defeat for the man who won three gold medals in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki, and who held every world mark from three miles and up.

Kuc broke Zatopek's world record with a masterful time of 13:56.6 seconds, and also bettered the Chataway-Vyacheslav Green three-mile mark with 13:27.4.

Zatopek was in good condition, for he won the 10,000 metres on the first day of the meet in pouring rain and on a soggy track. He previously had run the distance in the time than his 28:58 last November, but no one was within 25 seconds of him on the opening day.

Another athlete who made history this year may have run his last race Sunday — but Britain's Roger Bannister finished with a victory.

The great four-minute miler ran the 1,500 metres—the metric mile—in 3:43.8, outstanding time for a championship event on Bannister's class. The record, held by Australia's Lew Hoad, is 3:41.8.

As for the Russian team, in five days they won nine men's titles and bettered two world records.

In addition to the 5,000 metres, Mikhail Krivonosov tohed the hammer 207 feet, 9.75 inches. They piled up 135 men's points compared to 76 by Hungary, 67 by the Czechs and 56 by Britain. Russian women won eight of 11 events.

Bud Holscher Comes from Behind To Win Labatt Open and $5,000

By GARY SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Bud Holscher, 23-year-old golf pro from Monica, Calif., vaulted into the big-time golf spotlight Sunday by rallying to win the $26,500 Open with a brilliant 15-under par 269 for the 72-hole tournament.

Seven strokes off Wally Ulrich's pace-setting 69 going into the final round, the lanky, boyish-looking Holscher blistered the 6,607-yard, par-71 Scarboro course with seven birdies for an eight-under-par 63 to win the richest first-prize money and the Labatt Trophy.

His 63 equalled the course record held by Ulrich, Oliver of Lemont, Ill., in 1947 and duplicated in the first round of this tournament by Dave Douglas of Grosse Ginger's, N.Y.

Holscher's 72-hole total of 269 was only one stroke off the record 268 set by South Africa's Bobby Locke in 1947.

THE FOR SECOND

Four strokes back of Holscher and tied for second place were last year's winner Doug Ford of Kinnesta Lake, Fla., and Dutch Meyer of St. Petersburg, Fla., who each collected $2,440 for their 273. Ford fired 67 in the final round, while Mayer went three under with 69.

Trigger-tempered Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., Canadian Open champion Dave Douglas and Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn., each had 274 totals and split $1,390 for their third-place finish.

Ulrich was the only final round leading the field with 199 and Bolt was second with 200. Douglas was tied for third with 201 but was the end of 54 holes with 202. Ulrich, Rochester, Minn., driver of the year, Bolt soared to 74 and Douglas went one over par with 72.

Holscher's putting was the key as much for the front-runners. He went out to Ulrich's pace and captured the back nine in two-under-par 33 for his 63.

Earl Stewart, Jr., of Dallas, Tex., and Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., finished in the money with 275s and took home $950. Tied for fifth-place with 276s were Jack Burke Jr., of Houston, Tex., and Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., and Al Mengert of Palm Springs, Calif. They each collected $750.

SNEAD WAS 5TH

The great Slammin' Sammy Snead of Greenbrier, W. Va., was just another player in the tournament. Snead tied with three others, Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., Jerry Barber of La Canada, Calif., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., for fifth place with 277. Each of the four picked up $575.

Snead finished strongly Saturday, carding a three-under-par 68 to go with his 72-hole total of 209.

Top Canadian in the tournament was Norman Von Nida of Toronto who fired 279 to win $355. Leonard also received $213 first-place money for the special awards given to Canadians only. Bill Kerr of Pointe Claire, Que., and Ross Hoot of Montreal followed him in the special Canadian division at 284 each and each received $250. Bill Mahwhinney of Vancouver took third spot in the Canadian division with 286 and got $200.

Moe Norman of Kitchener won low amateur honors in the tournament, Norman and Gerry Mayer of Toronto each finished with 286s and Norman beat Magee in the sudden-death at the playoff first hole.

Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener had a total of 288, won $125 for tying with two others for fifth spot in the Canadian Professional awards. Lloyd Tucker of Kitchener won $35. He finished with 295.

Batas Bow Out of VOBL Playoffs Losing to Oaks For Third Successive Time

Grant Redshaw's three-run homer off Art Wright in the top of the seventh proved the margin of victory for Oakville Oaks Saturday night as they handed the Belleville Batas a 9-7 defeat under the lights at Exhibition Park.

The win was the Oaks third in as many games and dumped the Batas from the Viaduct-Ontario Senior Baseball League's best-of-five semi-final series.

The Oaks three-run seventh was the cushion as Batas came back in the eighth ith a four-run rally that chased stylish left hander Ross Paton for the first time in six meeting this season. Paton gave way to Mark Pollock with one out in the eighth and four runs in, three on base.

Pollock doused the Bata rally and held the locals in the final frame to preserve Paton's third win of the series.

Coach Vern Goyer tossed 14 men, including four pitchers, into a lost cause.

EXCHANGE SINGLE RUNS

The teams exchanged single runs in the first frame with Johnson, who walked, scoring on Dowling's double to centre for the Oaks. MacDonald got that one back in the Bata half. He was safe on an error at short, sacrificed to second by Pettitt and plated by Goyer's single to centrefield.

Oaks picked up three runs in the fourth inning on a walk to Gerry Pollock, a walk to Ross Paton, Al Kelleher's two-run error in right and Grant Redshaw's second and a double by Baxter.

Singles by Salvisburg and Baxter and a ground rule double by Brian Scott scored another in the fourth.

A walk to Vern Goyer, two sacrifice bases and Dave Jones' single gave Batas another run in the fifth. Pettitt, safe on a fielder's choice in the fifth scored on Goyer's bring to left by out Oakville's lead to 5-3.

SCORE IN SIXTH

Paton scored a single Oakville run in the sixth, with a double by Brown, a walk to Ken Pollock and Redshaw's blast over the centrefield fence netted them three in the end.

Batas came back with another dramatic rally in the eighth as Paton lost his control. He walked four and gave up singles to Kelleher, Bastin, Goyer and a triple to Al Kelleher before retiring in favor of Mark Pollock.

Pollock applied the brakes and the Bata drive collapsed as Redshaw and Baxter walked and MacDonald went out on a fielder's choice.

Howard worked over the two thirds innings striking out seven, walking three, and giving up only six hits. Bastin struck out three, struck out three and gave up only two hits. Goyer and two relievers in two innings but was charged with three runs and the loss Art Wright threw the route. Redshaw and Redshaw but was charged with only one run in his innings.

Sam Mulholland threw one pitch to Salvisburg, who lined to first for a double play to end the inning. Sam the Man loaded the sacks in the seventh with none out but escaped without damage striking out two and getting Redshaw on a force to center. Sam was out five and walked one in the cleanup.

Northern Electric Takes Game Lead Over Petes

Northern Electric defeated Peterborough Petes 12-5 Saturday night at the CNR Recreation Field to take a one-game lead in their best-of-three CASA Senior 'B' playoff.

Veteran hurler Lum Carson fired one of his best games at the Petes as he failed them to six hits over the route. He used his slow ball lavishly in a heady mixture that had the Pete batters off balance most of the evening.

The Electrics scored three runs in the first frame on two walks, two hits and two errors as they batted around. They added three more in the second with the first of Vern Goyer's two doubles driving in Carr and Young.

Peterborough picked up a single run in the third on singles by Castle, Mackness and Stewart but Northern kept up the bombardment collecting two runs in the fourth on three errors and a single by Goyer, and three huns in the fifth on a single by Soules and Goyer's second double.

A double by Mackness, three walks and Electrics' eighth run produced Peterborough's final two runs in the sixth.

CARSON TRIPLE-LIES

Northern ended 3bb-scoring in the seventh when Carson tripled to right field, scoring on Claude Carr's double to right.

Carson allowed but four and walked four in a route going effort for the win.

Guilfoyle started for the Petes and in five innings gave up seven hits, five walks and struck out four to take the loss. Gordon came on in the sixth, walked one, struck out one and gave up two hits for one run in three innings of relief.

Vern Goyer with two doubles and a single to his prigs led the winners at the plate. Carr, with a double and single, and Soules, with two singles in four trips, were the other Northern sluggers. Mackness, with a double and single in five trips was the only Pete batter with two safeties.

The return game in the series is slated for Peterborough Tuesday night.

Ottawa Defeats Houstons 9-4 For Eastern Title

The Ottawa Merchants scored four runs in the top of the ninth to sew up a 9-4 victory over Houston Lumber at the C.N.R. grounds on Saturday afternoon to take their series by two games, this was the Eastern Ontario O.B.A. Midget "A" finals.

The hard-hitting Ottawa squad drove in Leo St. Denis from the mound in the initial inning when they netted three runs, a lead which they never relinquished although it was cut to 4-3 at one time. Joe Ryan took over for St. Denis and lasted until the ninth when Norm Stelkner came on with the bases loaded and fanned the side.

Ross hurled for the winners, giving up nine hits, whitting 10 and walking seven. The Belleville pitchers combined to allow 12 safe blows, fan nine and walk the same numbers.

Hutchen led the Capital City crew at bat with a double and two singles while Oulette, Cockwell and Menchett had a brace of hits each. Bob Hall was tops for Houston's with a triple and double while the other hits went to Schiller, Vaughan, Walmsley, St. Denis, Foster, Horwood and Wannamaker.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzers

For the next several weeks you will read here a report of the hands played in the winter national open pair finals. They will be the exact spreads played by the highest ranking masters.

The finals consisted of two sections of survivors; 144 players, 72 pairs, 36 tables, split into two sections of 18 tables each. The same hands were played at every table in both sections.

Before me is the result of each pair and the comparison score made by each of the other pairs. Although I have the names of each pair and what each pair did with each deal I will not name them.

The names are those you read about in national magazines and are the names of familiar acquaintance. The reason I will not identify them is on account of the numerous errros they made.

They made more mistakes than I have ever seen in a tournament of duba. Not only colossal boners in bidding and defense, but lack of actual play, a department of bridge in which they excel.

The number of familiar blunders is almost unbelievable. Particularly in the most obvious of the easiest types of hands. The worst of the players I have met could not have done much worse.

The players in this match were experts on whose performance the millions of followers hang their bridge destinies. In any other line of endeavor such teachers would be exposed as incompetent.

Under the rules of duplicate bridge they could offer alibis for their acts that would be great only to nincompoops. But when so many of them brought such bad results it can mean only ignorance of basics.

For instance, here is deal number 17:

NORTH
♠Q 9 3
♥K 7 5 4 3
♦K 3
♣J 8 7 4 3

WEST EAST
♠A Q 8 5 2 ♠7 6
♥J ♥Q 10 8 2
♦A K J 10 8 ♦9 7 6 5
♣K 5 ♣A Q 10 6

SOUTH
♠K J 10 4
♥A Q 10 6
♦Q 3 2

West has a slam in diamonds. But five souths played it in one spade undoubled. In contrast, 4 west pairs down 1 going five spades.

Not even palookas are that far apart.

AT THE BELLE — Lovely and charming Eleanor Parker portrays the role of a mail order bride and Charlton Heston is the groom in Paramount's brand new action-loaded Technicolor suspense drama, "The Naked Jungle", now entertaining large Belle Theatre audiences. Set deep in the heart of the South American jungle, the film tells a tale of spine-chilling intensity.

AT THE CAPITOL — Lucille (I Love Lucy) Ball and Desi Arnaz are back in town again at the Capitol Theatre tonight in "Too Many Girls". Love goes to college with Lucille and Desi. Swinging, singing, dancing romance set to famous Rodgers and Hart music. Richard Carlson, Ann Miller, Eddie Bracken, Francis Langford and Hal Levy make up the fine cast. On the same program in Technicolor and having its first Belleville showing "Dangerous Mission" starring Victor Mature, Piper Laurie, Vincent Price and William Bendix.

AT THE McCARTHY

"ACT OF LOVE" SHATTERING FILM OF SENSATIONAL BEST-SELLER

"Act of Love" is compounded of so many fine elements it could hardly fail to achieve the deeply moving entertainment which is now on view at the McCarthy Theatre. Anatole Litvak, who gave us "The Snake Pit" and "Sorry, Wrong Number," has fashioned a powerful love story that shatters the emotions. The noted novelist Irwin Shaw wrote the screenplay delicately and with tremendous insight into the hungers and passions of an illicit romance, basing the script on the widely read Alfred Hayes story, "Girl on the Via Flaminia."

Highlighting the sensational story is a brilliant performance by Kirk Douglas as the GI, Bob Teller, searching for surcease from a biting lonesomeness in the turbulent Paris of the war. He meets the lovely, desperate homeless Lisa, magnificently portrayed by the young French star, Dany Robin, making her American debut in this production."Out of her desperation she first shares the bare chocolate, the American cigarettes and the other amenities so familiar to American GIs in Paris. Out of their blossoming romance develops a dramatic story that will leave theatre-struck with tragedy and suspense.

Filmed on location in Paris, "Act of Love" takes you nightly from the authentic locales, the picturesque cafes and the ugly, shadowy back alleys where the yellow ticket is found in every tattered purse. A chronic turning of events hurls young Lisa into this maelstrom. Arrested for illegally living as "Mrs. Robert Teller" she undergoes the degrading police procedure given Paris as a rule— the rounding up by the gendarmes of known prostitutes for a physical examination and a checkup of their yellow identification cards.

Dany Robin's heartfelt portrayal in this scene marks her as one of the most promising dramatic stars of future American films. She is a wisp of Gallic loveliness caught up in a swirling emotional storm which excites irresistibly to its shatter-ing climax.

"Act of Love" is an experience which adult moviegoers can share with deep compassion and understanding. Indeed, only one's own sympathies can discern the thread of morality which differentiates an act of sin from an act of love. The star-crossed lovers in "Act of Love" had found their own answer.

County Council Said on Way Out, Favor Metro Plan

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Success of the metropolitan form of government may mean the end of county governments in urban Ontario, officials of the Ontario Municipal Association said at closing sessions of the annual meeting.

Former reeve W. C. Woods of Preston told the association last week that abolition of county governments is almost assured if the province doesn't make drastic revisions in its policy on county grants.

He described county governments of today as the fifth wheel of government.

Mr. Woods said creation of metropolitan governments would find the counties of Essex, Middlesex, Welland, Wentworth, Waterloo, Ontario, Brant and Carleton stripped of all industrial assessment.

Bobby Green Hurls 2-Hitter But Loses Game

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Bobby Green's two-hit pitching effort proved to be a wasted factor on Saturday evening, when Paul Mercier's Bluebird Juniors dropped a heartbreaking 3-2 decision to the Oshawa Merchants at Oshawa Kinsmen Stadium.

This was the first game of a best-of-three O.A.S.A. Junior "A" playdowns with the two teams scheduled to hook up again next Saturday afternoon at the Belleville C.N.R. Recreation Park.

A two-run homer by Oshawa first baseman, Courtney, preceded by their only other hit, broke a 1-1 deadlock in the bottom of the fourth to give Oshawa the victory. Bill Spafford's gang cut the margin of victory in the fifth with a single marker but failure to come through in the clutch told the story.

Green hurled his best game of the season, in his estimation and no doubt would have been the victor with a little better baserunning and timely hitting. He set 11 of the Merchants down on strikes, while issuing five walks and according to coach Spafford will start in the second game here.

Nichols gained credit for the triumph, hurling a fine ball game. He was touched for six safe blows, while whiffing five and walking the same number. Numerous force-outs at second and a pair of twin-killings pulled him out of trouble on several occasions.

SCORED ON SACRIFICE

The winners took a 1-0 lead in the initial frame, when O'Connor drew a walk, advanced to third on a pair of infield outs and scored on Nichol's fly ball. Belleville knotted the score in the third. Bonay took a walk to start the rally but was out on a force play with Barclay catching. Then Russell was safe on an error and Gerry Goyer lashed a line single over short with Barclay sliding under the throw at third base. Finally, Pete Green went down to end any further scoring chances.

A lead-off single by Nichols followed by Courtney's rather soft homer between the right and centre fielders made it 3-1 but Green bore down to retire the side.

PLATED WITH TRIPLE

Paul Russell beat out a bunt in the ninth and took second on a throwing error but was cut, catcher to third, when trying to advance on a short passed ball. Goyer's grounder was bobbled for a two-base error and Russell would have scored but it was time to be. Pete Green plated the runner with a triple to make the scoreboard read 3-2, but that was all as a double play and three more force-outs at second erased the Bluebirds scoring hopes the rest of the way.

Nichols was best with a single in two official trips while Courtney's two walks but Courtney's homer was the most important blow of the game.

Paul Russell had a brace of infield hits for the local lads with Pete Green clamming a triple. The other singles went to Gerry Goyer. Junior Day and Bert Faulkner.

The line ups:

Belleville — Barclay lf, Russell 2b, Goyer ss, P. Green c, R. Green p, Faulkner cf, St. Denis 3b, Bonay 1b, Casey rf, Day rf in sixth.

Oshawa — O'Connor 3b, Hannon lf, Nichols p, Courtney 1b, Sutherland rf, Sulek cf, Hutchson c, Thompson ss, Peel 2b.

Umpires: Ethier (Belleville) and Sheinkoff (Oshawa). Time: 1.35.

42 3-4-lb. Pike Caught in Sask.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) — F. W. (Chick) Terry, 40-year-old Saskatchewan game management officer, has set what is believed to be a Canadian record for pike, a giant 42-pound, 12-ounce female taken from Lake Athabasca in northern Saskatchewan.

The fish weighed 10 ounces more than the record pike caught by Harry Bed eight years ago in Delaney lake, Ont. The world's record for great northern pike was set in 1940 by Peter Dubuc who hooked one weighing 46 pounds, 2 ounces from Sacandaga reservoir, New York.

Terry caught his pike July 18. It measured 43 inches in length and 24 inches in girth. Terry plans to enter it in annual fishing contests sponsored by Canadian and United States sports magazines.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—It doesn't look as though the members of the Baseball Writers' Association will be able to steam up an argument even among themselves when they sit down to vote for the major leagues' two outstanding rookies of the current season. This is unusual, for the boys like to argue.

Unless all signs differ, balloting will produce an almost unanimous agreement that Wally Moon, slugging young outfield sensation of St. Louis Cardinals, and Bob Grim, part - time bartender who has racked up 17 victories for the Yankees, are the cream of an exceptionally fine crop of freshmen.

The only American leaguer who might give Grim a small rassle for the honor appears to be Jim Finigan, the crack young third-baseman whom the Philadelphia Athletics obtained from the Yankees in their big winter trade. Finigan promises to be a solid .300 hitter and is a slick fielder, but his play with the bedraggled Athletics scarcely has been as eye-catching as that of Grim in keeping the Yanks in the pennant race.

HOMER FIRST TIME UP

Moon, the phenom who smote a homerun his first time up in the majors and who has a good chance of leading all National league batters in total hits, has no real rival in sight. It has been some time since such a phenomenal clouter showed up in either league. He's a doer in the field, too.

One of the most interesting features about the emergence of Grim and Moon as outright stars is that neither was even on the parent club's roster when he reported down south the past spring. Moon slil was the property of the Cards' Rochester farm club, while Grim, after a two-year hitch with the marines, was ticketed to report to Binghamton of the Eastern league when he showed up at the Yankees' tryout camp in February.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Sporting News reports that organized baseball is thinking about substituting some industrial leagues for class C and D minor leagues. J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the weekly sports newspaper, says in the article, that because the lower class league have been hard-hit financially by dwindling attendance they are unable to compete with the industrial leagues in salaries to players. The article says that under a proposal plan the industrial teams would be paid for any players taken into the higher minor leagues.

STORING CABLE

Crew members of the Monarch, world's largest cable ship, watch as electric cable is fed into her holds. The 3½-inch cable was laid across the St. Lawrence river to carry power from hydro stations on the river's north shore to mines and industries in Gaspe peninsula. The raw cable was coated and finished at Rimouski and stowed aboard the Monarch for the cable-laying job. (CP Photo).

Power Cables Across River Mean Big Step in Industrial Development of Que. Province

By BERTRAND THIBAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

RIMOUSKI, Que. (CP)—For the world's largest cable ship, laying power cables across the St. Lawrence river was one of the shortest jobs of its kind in history. But for Quebec province it was a big step in industrial development.

The 8,000-ton Monarch, owned by the British Post Office, took only 30 hours to carry three power cables 28 miles across the St. Lawrence and drop them as deep as 1,200 feet below the surface. A ship the size and capacity of the Monarch, normally engaged on trans-ocean jobs, was needed to carry the 2,000 tons of 3½-inch cable.

When the electricity is turned on in a few months, the exploitation of a 70,000,000-ton copper deposit near Murdochville, Que., will begin and Gaspe peninsula's retarded development will get a new start.

LABRIEVILLE POWER

The cables stretch from Manicougan on the river's north shore to Les Boules on the south, about 250 miles down river from Quebec city. The power will be generated at Labrieville on the north shore, site of the province's giant 1,250,000-horsepower Bersimis river hydro development.

The 240-mile Labrieville – Murdochville link will be only one leg in a power network which by 1960 will have 800 miles of transmission lines stretching as far west as Montreal and up into the Chibougamau mineral region, 200 miles back from the river.

Lack of hydro has slowed development of the Gaspe and the St. Lawrence south shore. Two years ago the few south-shore rivers harnessed for power went dry, leaving small industries to close for a few hours each day. The great power potential lay in the rivers flowing down to the north shore.

POWER FOR ORE WORKINGS

Word of power became even greater when Gaspe Copper Mines, Limited, blocked out vast ore deposits. So Quebec hydro-electric commission engineers decided to bridge the 240 miles between Labrieville and Murdochville with high-tension transmission lines.

Canada Wire and Cable Limited set up a plant here 15 months ago to finish the underwater cables that would carry power under the St. Lawrence, 28 miles wide between Manicouagan and Les Boules.

The raw cable, 2½ inches thick, arrived at Rimouski from Toronto wound on spools in 7,000-foot lengths. Workers here added a half-inch in thickness with insulating fibre and tar and aluminum-wire sheathing and joined the cable lengths.

It took the 25-man crew 18 hours to make each of the 80-odd splices. The cable core is made up of 36 wires and each wire had to be unwrapped from its layer of insulation before the joints were soldered and wrapped again.

$3,000 A DAY JOB

The Monarch, fresh from a job of laying telegraphic cable between Miami and Puerto Rico, was chartered for the cable-laying job at a reported cost of $3,000 a day. Fog stalled operations for five days but when it cleared the Monarch did the job smoothly.

She started at Baie des Outardes near Manicouagan. With the cable secured to a buoy near shore she steamed across the river at five knots paying out the cable slowly and following a lane marked by buoys. When the far end of the cable secured to another buoy the ship retraced its course until four cables were laid four feet apart.

When the full power load is being transmitted two years from now, voltage in the cables will be 69,000, stepped up to 161,000 volts for distribution over landlines through the peninsula.

Guatemala's New President Tackling One of Toughest Jobs in Latin America

Editor's note: In power a little more than a month, Guatemala's Castillo Armas is using the tactics of a chess player—which he is—to bring order out of the chaos resulting from civil strife. Here's a closeup of the little colonel and the way he's going about one of the toughest jobs in Latin America.

By CARLOS ESCUDERO

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—The wiry little colonel has a friend named Betty.

In Spanish her name is Chabelita. There's affection in the way he says it.

Betty is a .45 calibre automatic. Her owner, Lt.-Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, president of Guatemala's junta government, says of her: "We are inseparable. Wherever I go, Chabelita goes."

LIKES CHESS

But somehow, the gun seems out of character with Castillo, a man of the cloister, whose favorite pastime is chess. He is soft-spoken, friendly and unaffected among people he knows.

In action, however, he can be bold, as he was in leading a ragtag army of insurgents against forces supporting former president Jacobo Arbenz Guzman, regular army colonel now in exile at the Mexican embassy here.

Castillo keeps Chabelita handy because his position has been uneasy since his insurgent army won the two-week revolution last June which overthrew Arbenz. At the moment, although there still may be setbacks, it appears to have matters well under control.

Castillo is short and thin. A professional soldier, he is neither an expert politician nor an economist. But he is an avid reader with a quick mind.

He graduated from Guatemala's military academy in 1936 and went into the army. In 1945 he returned to the academy as its deputy director. In 1947, he became the school's director.

TWO AWARDS

During the Second World War, Castillo served as a member of the joint U.S.-Guatemala commission charged with planning the mutual defence of the hemisphere. His work earned him the Mexican Order of Military Merit and two Bronze Stars from the United States.

He has two loves, beside Betty—Guatemala and its freedom, and his attractive brunette wife. They have no children.

DOMESTIC PROGRAM

Castillo has disenfranchised all illiterates — about one-third of Guatemala's 3,000,000 population, who formed a basis for much of the Communist support under Arbenz. His domestic program is simple: Economize, rebuild, encourage free enterprise, offer foreign capital fair and equal treatment and a chance to earn fair profits.

He wants to guide Guatemala back into the organization of Central American states, which the Arbenz regime walked out on. He is a supporter of the United Nations.

A grim-faced armed escort accompanies Castillo wherever he goes and outside his home a 24-hour guard stands watch.

He wants to stay in power long enough to do his job as he sees it.

Restore peace and prosperity, call a convention to draft a new constitution and hold free elections.

PRESS FREEDOM

The junta now is ruling by decree. It has outlawed all political parties including the Communists. It curtailed civil rights for a month but has now restored them. From the beginning, the junta has allowed full freedom of the press.

His enemies call him a traitor and a mercenary. His friends call him a dedicated, honest and selfless patriot.

Royalty Takes Ride on Coaster At Exhibition

TORONTO (CP)—The Duchess of Kent and Princess Alexandra took a ride on the roller-coaster at the Canadian National Exhibition Saturday night. The 17-year-old princess thought it was "wonderful" and went back for another trip.

They also took a crack at the shooting gallery. Both scored several hits but not enough to win prizes.

The 15-foot distance limit between the royal couple and the people was brushed aside as the duchess and princess made their way through the crowd.

The impromptu visit to the exhibition, which was officially opened by the duchess Friday, was made after the duchess and princess expressed a desire to see the midway.

Security officers mingled with the crowd as the royal couple and their party made the rounds which also included rides on electric cars and the "caterpillar."

One concession operator presented Princess Alexandra with two black-and-white panda bears.

As the duchess and some other members of the small party headed back to their car, one midway operator said to the princess and several young members of the group: "I hope you kids enjoyed yourselves."

European Army Plan Is Rejected By French House

Postpone Debate on Treaty Dealing Death Blow to EDC

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS (AP)—The Western coalition against communism reeled today under France's rejection of the European army, but Allied leaders rushed forward new rescue plans.

By a vote of 319 to 264 the National Assembly voted Monday night to postpone debate indefinitely on the six-power European Defence Community Treaty, signed 27 months ago after long and troublesome negotiation to bring German soldiers to the Western side but with their bayonets pointed east.

The vote on the procedural motion was a clear-cut death blow to the plan which France herself originally proposed to join 12 German divisions in an internationally controlled force with the Americans and those of Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands.

For four years EDC had been a keystone of Western defence policy. In the United States, President Eisenhower termed the French action "a serious setback" to the Free World. Russia's Communist party organ, Pravda, was jubilant.

Only limited steps can be taken immediately unless the U.S., Britain and Britain decide to go ahead without France.

Economist Paul Reynaud, a supporter of EDC, opened the way today for a new foreign policy debate in the Assembly by asking Premier Pierre Mendes-France's government what it plans to do as a result of the treaty's defeat.

Reynaud's request for the debate to question the government's ministers was supported by the leaders of the 10 parties. This means it must be taken up immediately.

Source of orators, frustrated in their desire to speak during the Monday debate, they will be able to air their views even though they do not win their points.

OPPOSED ARMAMENT

Many of the French deputies who voted down the plan to put German soldiers in a European army have declared they would vote also against any immediate rearming of Germany, even though if she were to pledge her troops to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Many deputies who supported the European army swore by oath against German rearmament without the controls EDC would have provided.

U.S. diplomats and military leaders here today also were not entirely the unofficial talk heard in Washington that U.S. and British aid might go ahead alone with the rearming of Germany if France tries to slow things again.

Germany her independence, which up to now has prevented the formation of the European army.

French premier Pierre Mendes-France already has said he will go along with the speedy restoration of sovereignty to West Germany, but he has emphasized that this endorsement does not include rearmament. Any British-American effort to by-pass the French on this likely would precipitate a crisis in the North Atlantic alliance.

HYDRO, WEATHER SHOWER DUCHESS WITH WATER

Rain All But Spoiled Official Opening

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Ontario hydro and the weather-gods gave the Duchess of Kent a fine show Monday of their basic commodity—water.

The duchess, accompanied by her daughter, Princess Alexandra, stood in swirling mist near Niagara Falls and later descended deep into the cliffs on the Niagara River gorge to see how water is used to supply Ontario with electricity.

And they were chased from one official duty to another by a deluge of rain.

The weather all but spoiled the official opening of the Ontario hydro-electric power commission's $34,000,000 Sir Adam Beck generating station No. 2.

But 3,000 persons braved the rain to watch her Royal Highness open the plant.

A SURPRISE

Arriving at the official platform, the duchess stepped out of her car to find a foot of the red carpet submerged. She leaped gracefully over the rain-filled gutter to drier land.

Guests seating themselves after the majestically slow rendition of the National Anthem, squirmed uncomfortably in their rain-filled chairs. Speeches were mercifully short.

The duchess acknowledged the part waterpower has played in the province's industrial development and then walked over to a stand to push a button signalling the opening. She couldn't have shown more surprise at the result.

From a loudspeaker came the recorded roar of a power generating unit. She whirled around on the platform as electric light signs flashed on proclaiming: "Hydro for Ontario, Ontario and more power for greater Canada."

Princess Alexandra wore a white duster coat over a white figured silk dress and a white hat, dashed through the rain to the waiting car. She and her daughter were driven to a nearby reception centre to meet 20 hydro employees, representing each of the power-house and then back to the surface to unveil a memorial plaque.

BASEBALL SCORES

At the civic reception the duchess chatted with Lou Perini, whose team played a major role in the construction of the generating station, about his Milwaukee Braves and the National Baseball League.

As the royal party prepared to leave Niagara Falls by train for Toronto and southwestern Ontario centres, it was learned that Princess Alexandra received medical attention in her suite by Dr. J. H. Bowlby, a physician from the Falls board of health. Nature of the physician's visit was unknown but was obviously not serious as the princess kept all her appointments for the day.

Police Official Supports Idea To Publish Names

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto police department official supports the idea of publishing the names of convicted drunk drivers in newspaper advertisements to deter potential offenders.

But Ontario government officials said it isn't practical and will not amount to persecution.

Staff-Inspector Frank Such a law. The names of 49 persons found guilty of the offence since last May 1st would fill a lot of newspapers throughout Newfoundland Monday.

The police official here said drinking drivers fear publicity and it would be a good step in an effort to curb them.

W. M. Nickle, chairman of the legislature's select committee on highway safety, said drunk drivers are adequately dealt with in the province's papers.

"Any further publicity would turn out to be persecution into persecution," he added.

In Toronto so far this year 778 persons have been charged with drunk driving, driving while ability impaired and driving in charge of a car while drunk. Nearly 97 per cent have been convicted.

She Marched Into Public's Heart, Then Found, Baby, It's Cold Inside

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—The road to fame may lead a girl right into the heart of the public but, baby, it's cold in there.

That is the feeling of Marilyn Reddick, Miss Canada of 1952, a volatile blonde lass from Toronto.

"It's wonderful to be Miss Canada—that I admit," she said in an interview, "but I believe me, it has its heartaches too, plenty of them."

The petite Marilyn was interpreted as a girl who had a heart-heart talk a few days ago with Miss Canada—the statuesque Barbara Markham, 21, of Cornwall, Ont., who is preparing to enter the Miss America contest starting at Atlantic City Sept. 7.

"It was a little girl—not off the farm, but that was the feeling—when I became Miss Canada," said the convalescing Marilyn. "I used to tell other girls what it's like. Not by any means to debunk the pageant, but to do what I can to help.

"Write that down," she continued in earnest, "I've gotten for the moment what he was there for. Occasionally to stress a point Marilyn leans to the terviewer imperiously on the chest.

"Being Miss Canada—the youngest winner of the title, said: "I'd encourage any girl to enter the competition at 18 was possible. She should be at least 21. She should know pretty well what a glamorous side. . . A girl doesn't know her own mind at 18. How about 21 or 22?

"That's the toughest thing about being Miss Canada—being yourself. The public can be very mean that way."

Miss Reddick said her struggle to please Canadians during her "reign" between her inauguration and the strain led her to a nervous breakdown from which she now is recovering. A singer, she now lives at Quebec City after moving from Toronto.

Fire Does $500,000 Damage To Bloor St. United Church

TORONTO (CP)—Firemen with axes hacked out stained glass windows today to fight a three-alarm fire which caused damage estimated as high as $500,000 to historic Bloor Street United Church.

Cause of the fierce, sudden blaze, first reported shortly after 6 a.m., was not determined. The arson squad was called in to investigate while firemen still were fighting the flames.

While most of Toronto's downtown and central firefighting equipment battled the church fire, east-end firefighters fought a $6,000 blaze in a wholesale florist supply warehouse at Boulton and Queen streets.

Rev. Ernest M. Howden, pastor of the 64-year-old church, said the 1,800-member congregation has spent nearly $100,000 on extensive renovations during the last three years. He said the church stained glass windows were rebuilt at a cost of $7,500.

During the summer, the congregation put out $25,500 for redecoration, painting interior walls, new carpet and repairing the exterior. Painters' scaffolds still were in the church when the fire started.

Firemen said flames roared from the gaping holes and rapidly spread upward to dry wooden beams of one of the best known United Church structures in Canada. The blaze was fiercest in the space between the ceiling of the main part of the church and the roof.

Morning rush-hour traffic was snarled for more than 1½ hours. Street cars were re-routed.

The fire gutted the central section and heavily damaged other parts of the church, but left the pastor's office and vestry untouched.

Dr. Howse, who returned Monday from the World Council of Churches meeting in Evanston, Ill., watched from the sidewalk as the slate roof crashed into the auditorium.

He said he expects insurance will cover the loss. For the time being, members of the congregation will worship with those of Trinity United Church under the arrangement similar to one in effect during the summer holiday period.

A crowd of upwards of 500 persons watched as firemen smashed out stained glass windows to get at the fire. The section of the building housing the church proper was left a hollow, roofless shell.

Bloor Street United church was the dream of Presbyterians, who in 1890 planned a structure which eventually became a large edifice. When first erected, the church was one of the most northern outskirts of the city.

For nearly 50 years the congregation has specialized in sacred music and its choir leaders and organists become famous across the land.

External Affairs Department Closes Out Momentous Month

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA (CP)—Three king-size problems are occupying the close attention of the external affairs department—Indo-China, German rearmament and Korea. Indo-China heads the list.

Officials say August has been one of the most momentous months in the department's history.

It began with the decision to serve on the Indo-China truce commissions with India and Poland is regarded here by most as probably the most difficult undertaking in Canadian foreign policy.

Canada, although small in population, for some years has been playing an important role in world affairs. But this time Canada is in the middle.

"We're an umpire in Indo-China" said one official. 'And who loves an umpire?"

The step was taken July 26 and for the next month officials have been assembling personnel and trying to foresee the problems and possible solutions.

The preliminary work now is nearly completed. Some 100 officials, most of them supplied by the army, have been assigned to the commissions and nearly all are in Indo-China or en route. Food, accommodation, pay, medical and other facilities are being set up.

Officials say the armistice agreements for Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia "are a fair compromise" states of Indo-China, are so vague that there is no end to the number of arguments which one may crop up.

The first problem may be the prisoner issue. On that, the department expects, would be only the beginning.

The job may last for at least two years, when an election is scheduled to be held. Canada will base her decision strictly on legal grounds as to whether the armistice agreements.

But the others (India and Poland) should play it politically, there is still no justification for withdrawal from one authority said. "As far as possible, we're going to play it by the book."

Meanwhile, there was gloom in the defence department concerning the French rejection of the European Defence Community. Canada has favored EDC as the best means to rearm Germany, said, would appear to allow West Germany to enter the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Canada fears any further delay of or argument over Germany rearmament may cripple or even destroy, NATO.

The Korean problem, officials appear pleased that the U.S. has decided to withdraw four of its six divisions.

This will enable Canada to bring home a brigade group from the infantry brigade in Korea and officials said that this also will result in less talk from President Syngman Rhee of South Korea about the possible resuming the war with Communist North Korea.

OFF FOR ASIA, DULLES WORRIES ABOUT EUROPE

Washington Is Gloomy Over Death Blow to EDC

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary Dulles, obviously concerned over Europe's new defence crisis, arranged to leave tonight for Manila to map negotiations for an eight-power Southeast Asia defence alliance.

France's death blow to the long-cherished European army project cast a mantle of gloom over his Far Eastern trip.

Before his departure, Dulles was expected to comment on the French Assembly vote Monday night to defeat the European Defence Community 27 months after it was conceived.

President Eisenhower, in a talk here Monday night, termed the French action a "major setback" in the fight against world communism.

Senator John McClellan (Dem., Ark.) called the French parliament's action "a serious blow" and said that "disappointing is too mild a word" to describe his reaction. Senator Stuart Symington (Dem., Mo.) termed it a "crucial defeat" in efforts to strengthen the Free World, and added: "I will be interested to hear the administration to tell us now what are, or will be, the military plans of NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization).

DEFENCE MORE IMPORTANT

Aides said Dulles believes that collapse of EDC makes united defence against communism in Southeast Asia even more important.

The conference he is to attend was set up nearly a month ago as a direct result of campaign to prevent Red aggression in Indo-China from spilling over into neighboring areas. A formal treaty which would seek to meet the Red threat, as well as the menace of subversion, has been drafted in diplomatic exchanges.

Founding members, countries, would be the United States, Britain, France, the Philippines, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand and Pakistan. Further alliance would be open to any additional country in the region which might want to join later.

AWAIT BLOW

NEW YORK (AP)—The season's third hurricane, weakened from a long sweep up the Atlantic coast but still packing a fair wallop, thrust today toward heavily populated Long Island and the New England coast.

Eastern Long Island expected the full force of the storm by late afternoon and some south shore areas were evacuated. Storm warnings were sounded in New England.

TRAFFIC SNARLED

Power lines already were down in many Long Island communities in the Greater New York area. Transportation was snarled and small boats were adrift. Airplane flights and departures at major airports were delayed or shifted to other cities. More than an inch of rain had fallen in 12 hours.

At 5 p.m. EDT the weather bureau said the hurricane, named "Carol," appeared to be just east of New York, moving rapidly north-northeastward.

The Italian liner Cristoforo Colombo was ordered to take aboard customs men, immigration officers and public health officials as it reached New York this morning.

USE TWO ANCHORS

The authorities were aboard a small cutter. The winds and high seas slammed the cutter against the liner's side. City sons thought force that attempts to board the 29,000 vessel were abandoned. Coast guard officials said they believed it was the first time in at least 20 years that had happened.

The liner United States, also arriving this morning, had to drop two anchors and use tugs in landing operation. The Queen Elizabeth, however, beat the main forces of the storm into port Monday and reported "practically a normal docking."

Chinese Millionaire Had Jet Plane 'Transported' to Him in Heaven

By WARREN WHITE

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—A Chinese millionaire who died here recently had a jet aeroplane "transported" to him in heaven.

It was an elaborate paper model of a jet aircraft and transportation was by the simple process of burning the paper in the model on fire.

The particular millionaire already had with him in heaven several palatial mansions, complete with servants, motorcars and all the usual hand-maidens inside, lavish wardrobes, opulent dining apartments, motorcars and a steamship.

All this is part of the "high cost of living" for rich Chinese.

Most millionaires set aside a substantial amount to be spent on their funeral rites. The figure sometimes is as high as 100,000 Straits dollars (about $33,000).

It would include a special coffin made of old wood brought years ago from China which may cost up to 10,000 Straits dollars.

Some millionaires decide that their body shall lie in state in their home for a few days before interment. During that time, friends and relatives come to pay their respects to the dead man at the rate of about 500 a day. The cost of food and drink for the visitors can be as much as 80,000 Straits dollars.

The funeral itself, by comparison, is not so expensive. But with professional mourners and gong beaters it may still come to about 50,000 Straits dollars.

A multi - millionaire may also leave orders for as much as 50,000 Straits dollars to be spent on paper models for his journey to heaven.

There is no hell like the Chinese hell, a place of hell-broiled and hell-fried devils with human bodies and long tails.

Judge's Ruling Upsets London's Bus Routine

By EMERSON CHAPIN

LONDON (Reuters) — Middle-aged London businessmen today were stepping out after the city's big red double-decker buses like track stars pounding down the straightway.

Gone was all the traditional aplomb with which the patient but stop queues normally await their turn—sweet away in a single bold judgment by Judge Paul Bennett, who declared in court Monday that "A citizen has the right to get on a bus at traffic lights or whenever it is stationary."

The punch in his statement lies in the fact that British buses have no doors. Passengers simply step onto the open platform at the rear, then make their way to their seats and wait for the conductor to come and collect the fare.

This permits the nimble-footed traveller to discount in a hurry as his bus slows at corners, or get the jump on his fellows as it approaches the next stop. But for those who would get on when the bus is slowed by traffic, the way has always been barred by the firm figure of the conductor.

Arguments were rife at many intersections today as the employees of the London Transport Corporation continued to insist on their rule—"No passengers on or at unauthorized stops." Boarders replied by waving newspapers between their noses, flaunting the judge's revolutionary ruling.

'Small Town Stuff'

HAMILTON (CP) — A proposal that United States' visitors to Hamilton be exempt from parking meter penalties, was described as "small-town stuff" by Chief Constable Leonard Lawrence Monday.

Acting Mayor Leslie Parker made the suggestion to exempt tourists from the penalties after he had received a miniature of a cardboard key distributed by the city of Woodstock. The keys are placed under the windshield wiper of American tourists' cars, welcoming them to the city and assuring them freedom from parking fines.

"How can we justify the principle of partial enforcement?" asked the chief. "Our own citizens spend money in the stores, too."

Dairy Owner Says Milk Shortage Story Not True

TRENTON. (Special.)—Al Taylor owner of Wilson's Dairy today called newspaper reports that there was fear of an acute shortage of milk here unfruthful and without foundation. "I don't know where they would get that story," he said, "but I do know we have absolutely no shortage." Mr. Taylor based his statements on the fact that his dairy was still shipping plenty milk to the cheese factories. He indicated that the story featured by the local paper and carried in a Toronto morning paper could bring serious repercussions from the farmers supplying the Trenton dairies "The dairymen may think that they are responsible for the reported shortage and take steps to enlarge their herds," he explained. "We dairy owners don't want that to happen because in a week or so we expect to have more milk than we need," he said.

Mr. Taylor said that milk went down in production during the dry spell but not down 40 per cent as the report asserted.

The proprietor of the other Trenton dairy could not be reached for comment since he has been out of town since last Friday.

MORE COOL WEATHER

TRENTON (Special) — Trenton and district residents can expect no let up in the cool spell for another two days, according to the duty forecaster at the Trenton Air Station this morning. "There is a high pressure area over the district bringing in cold air from the north east for the next day or so," he reported.

Farmers who have stared fall plowing will be heartened to know that the forecaster foresees further scattered showers during the remainder of the day and possibly more rain for tomorrow. He is of the opinion that the recent rains and the indication of additional wet weather has put an end to the drought.

Municipal Board Dismisses Appeal

TRENTON (Special)—A request for dismissal of the appeal against the town's assessment settlements was turned down by the Ontario Municipal Board at Toronto yesterday. The sponsors of the request, Harold Weaver, Richard Whitley and Mrs. Winnifred Weaver were ordered to pay the costs.

Senator W. A. Fraser and O. G. Alyea appointed to the Municipal Board after the Town of Trenton made settlements earlier this year with local assessment appellants on Judge Gerald F. Smith's approval.

The request dealt with by the Municipal Board yesterday referred to as a "point of motion" contained two items which read: 1. That the appointment William A. Fraser and Orloff G. Alyea have no legal status to appeal to the Ontario Municipal Act. 2. That the motion of appeal of the said William A. Fraser and Orloff G. Alyea does not disclose any basis in point of law or fact to disturb the judgment of His Honor Judge Gerald F. Smith sitting as the Judge of the County Court of the County of Hastings.

Meanwhile it was announced that the case appeal will be heard here by the Municipal Board on Tuesday, October 19.

EDC Scuttling Serious Setback Says Eisenhower

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—President Eisenhower Monday night called the French Parliament's scuttling of the European Army project "a serious setback," but declared the United States never will quit the fight for free-world security against any Communist threat.

"We have our setbacks, we are disappointed, but we must not be discouraged," the president said emphatically in a speech at the Iowa state fair.

FRAISES PLAN

Eisenhower spoke of EDC as "a device whereby the free world could establish, without indulging in the traditional fights among themselves in Western Europe, security from any threat from without."

"This (EDC) proposal was established to allow Germany—Western Germany—to enter into defensive alliances without any danger whatsoever that it would be in a position to start a war or, indeed, to engage in any kind of aggression.

"Because of these characteristics of this plan, the U.S., Great Britain and all the Western nations stood for it and approved this great French plan.

"Now there is no disguising the fact that this is a serious setback. But what I want to say to you people is this: The free world is still overwhelmingly strong when compared to the Iron Curtain countries, in the people we have, in their levels of intelligence and understanding, in their skills, in agriculture and industry."

WILL NEVER QUIT

The crowd jammed in the grandstand and the area to either side of it listened quietly and intently when the president declared:

"We must never be discouraged."

And there was a round of applause when he said:

"America has never quit. In something that was good for herself and the world, we will not quit now. We shall never do so."

The cattle were thrown to the highway and at least one was seriously injured. McBride and his passenger, Arlington Drinkwater of Jarvis, were not hurt.

The cattle were owned by Mr. Drinkwater, Norman and Frank Whaley of Caledonia, Gordon Robson of Haggersville, N. C. and Young and son of Cayuga.

Bailey, of Lakeview, was elected chairman and Mr. V. Russell, of Windsor, received a position on the executive board.

Mr. Edgecombe just recently entered the Pension Adjustment field. His success in this work has qualified him for this position. The committee was addressed by the Provincial President, Jack Lundberg, who introduced Mr. J. J. Ranney, chairman of the Army Benovelent Fund of Ontario.

Mr. Ranney gave the committee an informative talk on the operation of the Army Benovelent Fund. He also complimented the Army, Navy and Air Force for the co-operation he has received from them.

Twelve-Pound Trout Taken At Mosque Lake

MARMORA.—Three local anglers, Frank Bobyk, Leo Auger and Tom Bedore were cast fishing on Mosque Lake, formerly Moscow Lake, near Ompah, over the week-end for lake trout. They took six-pound test and salt water tackle. Bobyk got a twelve pounder which entangled itself in the line, Auger got a nine-pounder and Bedore a smaller one on the jig so the trio felt their expedition was a successful one.

MAKES PIPES FOR FRIENDS

In 1940, Nicholas Anderson of Marmora, was charged four and a half dollars for a "cherry" pipe which he took a fancy to, "Why can't I make one myself?" he later queried. And he has been making a few since partly for himself and special friends. He uses bird's-eye maple for the bowl second growth maple for the stem which is surmounted with a ferrule fashioned from a 32-special shell. The 62-year-old veteran of both World Wars makes no charge for those he occasionally makes for friends.

One-Man Board To Investigate All Complaints

TORONTO (CP)—Labor Minister Daley of Ontario announced Monday that the government has appointed to investigate complaints of racial discrimination Leslie Rumble.

He said he is not prepared to announce the name of the commissioner.

It was reported, however, that the commissioner would be A. E. Riebel of Windsor, Ont. the labor minister's resident commissioner for that area, who investigated reports of discrimination in employment.

Earlier, J. F. Nutland, appointed by the minister to administer the fair accommodation practices act, said a complaint that a restaurant in Dresden, 30 miles northeast of Chatham, refused to serve an Ohio couple Saturday will be investigated.

FORMAL COMPLAINT

The act prohibits discrimination in places where the public is "customarily permitted."

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Allen, Negroes of Dayton, Ohio, couple from Cincinnati, complained Saturday that they were refused service in a Dresden restaurant.

H. R. Burnette, secretary of the National Unity Association in Dresden, said he intends to make a formal complaint to Mr. Nutland.

LICENCES

New days, new ways.

The evening's fishing was done, but there were still worms in the can.

The nine-year-old insisted that they should be transported home, not from any inherited frugality, but from the deep-seated wisdom of the young which told her that the fishing trip was much more likely to be repeated if there were in evidence worms ripe for the hooking.

There was, however, one point which worried her.

"Daddy, you don't have to have a licence to sell yourself worms, do you?"

"No!" An indignant "No" this, sprung from the well of upbringing in a day when licences were largely unknown and universally unpopular where known.

"Do you have to have a licence to sell dew worms to other people?"

"No."

"Do you have to have a licence to sell minnows?"

"No—well I think not—I don't know."

Turns out you do.

Today's paper, tomorrow's lawmakers, will see nothing strange in that.

After all, at nine, the worm-saver has already acquired an intimate knowledge of licences. Of course, she knows nothing about that licence, called a birth certificate, which was necessary to make her entry into the world official. But she has since been served by a procession of licensed personnel, and after annual proddings parents received from the hands of her procrastinating parents her own annual licence, to ride her bicycle. This is just the forerunner of hundreds of licences until that day when the final licence will certify she is dead and permit her to be buried.

Meanwhile, as she and other nine-year-olds accept licences as normal, the number of licences is likely to increase.

A STRANGE INCIDENT

Thursday night a prisoner was found hiding under a building inside the walls of Collins Bay penitentiary.

He was a 24-year-old Espanola man, who was sentenced at Sudbury in 1952 and who had only a month of his term to serve.

It is believed that he had concealed himself in an attempt to break out of prison later under cover of darkness.

This incident makes strange reading. What could drive a man, within a month of regaining his freedom after two years of confinement, to risk everything by attempting to escape?

There must have been some compelling reason for his action.

What was that reason? Of itself the incident would indicate that an entirely ill-destined "Whim it is coupled with the recent riot in Portsmouth Penitentiary, the conclusion is inescapable that careful investigation is imperative.

PROOF OF A JOB WELL DONE

Claude Jodoin is the new president of the 580,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

He is from Quebec. Opponents had expected that, while Jodoin would be slightly ahead on the first ballot, he would not obtain an overall majority and that on a second ballot Allister F. MacArthur, president of the Ontario branch, would pick up English-speaking votes. It did not work that way. Jodoin won a clear victory on the first ballot.

His successor as Quebec vice-president was Scottish-born George Schollie.

A French-speaking Canadian thus heads the predominantly English-speaking national body, while an English-speaking Canada is the leader of the overwhelmingly French-speaking Province of Quebec.

The proof that speaks well for Jodoin's ability. He has been chairman of the TLC's committee against racial discrimination. If his work is as effective as it has been in the field of racial discrimination, as proven by these election results, the Trades and Labor Congress will have selected an excellent president.

STAGE LIFEBOAT RACE

We are not at all sure that the event will "make" the sports pages—perhaps it will not even squeeze its way into the paper—but the news pages of the nation's press will be a-buzz with the great importance is being held today in the narrows of New York harbor.

This news comes via the Norwegian Information Service.

The race is for lifeboats. Apparently it is an annual affair. Last year's race was won by a crew from the Norwegian-American liner M. S. Oslofjord, a ship which has entered a boat again this year. There are at least two other Norwegian crews, a Danish entry and a team from Iceland. Presumably there will also be many other lifeboats entered, representing ships of many nations, but the Norwegian Information Service is only interested in news with a Scandinavian flavor.

This is one sporting event where the result could be of real interest to the spectators, but with modern navigational aides and highly trained personnel the chances that these lifeboat crews will ever have to race against death, rather than against each other, are fortunately comparatively remote.

GOOD TO FORGET

Do it and forget it.
If some one you aid,
Happy be, but let it
From the memory fade.
"He'd have failed without it."
Maybe that is true,
But to tell about it
Spoils the deed for you.

When you help another,
Travel, or poor, or rich,
In some way or other,
Think of it no more.

Never dwell upon it.
Kindness isn't rare.
Others would have done it
Had they happened there.

Never seek the most of Any friendly act.
Good deed or favor boast of.
Notice to attract.
Never try to set them
In the mind to last.
Do them and forget them.
Leave them to the past.

More Common-Sense Attitude Toward Wildlife Needed

"If it's young, capture it; if it's strange, chase it; if it tries to escape, kill it.

"Far too often, such ideas control man's reactions towards creatures of the wild," it is pointed out in an editorial in Northern Sportsmen-Outdoors in Canada. Keeping any live game animal or bird in captivity without a permit from the Department of Lands and Forests is expressly forbidden under The Game and Fisheries Act in Ontario. On summary conviction, the offender "shall be liable to a penalty of not less than $5 and not more than $100 and in default of payment of the penalty shall be imprisoned for a term of not more than three months with or without hard labour as the Act states."

"Witness the number of young wild things carted home at this time of the year," the editorial commentator continues, "young fawns, bear cubs, birds of various kinds—even polliwogs and fish. And what becomes of them?

"The great majority either die quickly or else spend a miserable existence under conditions that are no credit to the captors. Others are kept until they become a problem and have to be released, wild state, abandoned, or killed off.

"Even a return to a wild state, after being tamed, is quite often an unfortunate handicap for any wild creature. Instead of early parental training in its natural state, its senses dulled and its whole food supply from human association, its fear of man or other enemies has been overlooked and its natural scent overlaid by that of man and his environments, it has a poor chance to adapt itself again to the hazards and demands of life away from civilization.

"There is an attractiveness about the young of most species that makes many want to fondle them or adopt them for his own pleasure. This is a practice that should be discouraged as wild creatures are to survive.

"Leave the fawn where you see it. In all likelihood, absolutely sure it has been abandoned. Let the young bird remain in the nest. There is no sign of the mother around. If the parents are killed and the young left to die, the ever-increasing protective measures could be in order. If, however, the young bird makes pets of the young, is not excusable, where they cannot spend the rest of their lives in a reasonable comfort.

"Young animals seem to thrive well enough in captivity, especially where they have a measure of freedom, but they rely entirely on man for protection and food at all times. But when young wild creatures are captured, deliberately, to be penned in small enclosures, they have to know and be exposed to the teasing and tormenting curiosity of others, the practice is anything but commendable.

"Strange how the slaughtering urge dies with maturity—young and old—to kill any new, strange form of wildlife that comes within their ken. Witness the number of snowy owls, the eagles and hawks, the gannets and other sea birds that fall prey to this yen for killing. Somewhere deep in the unconscious stirs the shiftless desire to destruction that makes every snake, every bird of prey, every skunk or porcupine or bear or groundhog a thing to be sought out, pursued and put to death.

"Why must all suffer because a few have been prevented from fun? Why must man's dominion over other animals be characterized by his self-accepted right to destroy every time any of his interests conflict with those of wild creatures?

"Have you ever 'enjoyed' the unpleasant sight of humans with a powerful motor chasing deer through deep snow, beaver through the water? Have you ever seen them beat a snake to pulp just because they think all snakes are dangerous? Have you ever used a loon as a living target or tried to pick a wheeling gull out of the sky? Does the sight of a hawk or owl annoy you enough in order to run it down?

"Have you ever been ever been guilty of supplying young folk with rifles and arrows, slingshots and other implements which believe most doctors have, that tetany occurs always or nearly always in infants.

"Then, if you are guilty of any of these acts, you are as guilty as anyone else for the existing ignorance which makes for such needless slaughter of species from worthwhile ones, or other human beings from unnecessary killing for the killing's sake.

"These are the hazards that creatures of the wild must face whenever man shows up in their midst. The intentions of the man may be a thing for humans to anticipate with pleasure. Too often, to the wild, they are fraught with only mean an increase in their chances against normal survival.

"It is not enough to make a law, and let it go at that. We must now prohibit chasing animals with the wake of every motor vehicle, forbid the killing of any wild creature is held in captivity. There must be restrictions on the protection of lions, owls, gulls, swans and song-birds. There must be a real hunting and for the carrying of weapons.

"Above all, above all these there is a place for education and enlightenment beyond restrictive legislation by law. This is, in a real sense, another phase of conservation. The fullest appreciation of life can, in the long run, merit only criticism.

"Let us know more about the interrelation of species. Let us be more aware of the delicate balance of one upon another. Let us see more clearly the possibility of a disrupting upset in nature's balance when we, thoughtlessly, or deliberately, set about the removal of any group of birds, fish or mammals. And let us do it before we begin to use a little more restraint and common-sense in our treatment of wildlife, young or old."

Handshake Brings Suit

(St. Catharines Standard)

At last someone has taken action against one of those persons who delight in trying to crush the hand in a conventional handshake. Even Ripley overlooked the story that a $20,000 damage suit has followed a crushing shake inflicted by one resident of this city upon another.

The plaintiff charged the handclasp of the defendant was a bit too enthusiastic. Apparently it was. He claims the ardent finger of the plaintiff's right hand. He claims the latter "did wrongfully and intentionally" grasp his right hand "exert great force in squeezing it," thereby causing severe assault and battery. A bone-grafting operation to repair the finger has been found necessary.

This is an extreme case, hardly typical. But the United strength to deter anyone from putting another's hand in a vise, and a foreknowledge an introduction or a greeting by action indicating "the pressure is all yours."

There will be general agreement, particularly from those who have suffered the bone-crushing handshake, that persons inflicting such painful assault will be liable for making it a better man wince.

nothing in life absolutely good and nothing absolutely bad. It depends, they say, on the individual. It depends on the way you look at a situation or on the circumstances which compose a situation.

And so we get our artists whose palettes are covered with gray paint. The people whose pictures are not bright black and white may not be popular, but they are revered by everybody who appreciates the work of their opponents. Inflexibility can become a vice, but it would be hard to find a more deadly or devastating vice than compromise, wash brush. To them, there is no such thing as black and white; everything is gray. Good is a relative matter and so is evil, according to their philosophy. When it comes to social customs, people who favor gray paint usually bid their associates remember that when one is in Rome, he does as the Romans do. For such people changes in custom never involve morals. In fact for them there is

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

PEOPLE NEW TO US

People are constantly changing, mentally, physically and spiritually. That's why some of our old friends seem to have an air of strangeness after a long time, seem changed when we meet them. Well, they have changed, but it's all change from year to year.

Suddenly the physical body stops growing at maturity, but not the brain. The brain forever growing, expanding, developing, building itself, and changing its structure to accommodate more and more useful valuable information. Everchanging people are wonderful to whom to tie. They will never bore you.

All of us have friends whom we have known for a long time, but not until thrown into intimate contact with them do we actually come to know them. Then they become new to us. I am a lover of books and of my luncheon club I contact many men. A few years ago I met an interesting news reporter but not until we sat one day talking about rare books and collecting them did I really come to know him, for he was immediately new to me and so in spring he has been changing into a new man every time we meet for a good talk.

Many a human being is misjudged and not known simply because we may be prejudged or have formed about him. Just as soon as we really come to know such a one, then it is that that person becomes a new one to us. He's still though we had never met of him before. My first visit to the West Coast at San Francisco sold California to me forever. Everyone was so friendly. I, a stranger, came out on the first tube that morning and the first man I passed greeted me with a Good Morning! But this was not an isolated case. I learned it was habitual with Californians. These were new people to me.

We read a great deal about the people of all countries and locations, but not until we have personal contact with them do they present themselves as new to us no matter how well informed we may be about them.

More Deaths Than Births

Auto Parked For 8 Years

(Christian Science Monitor)

It was like dipping into fairy lore to read the other day about that Chevrolet that had stood by a city curb for eight years. Before being towed away by the police, it had defied not only traffic regulations but the ire of a race that even baseball umpires had to fear—namely, the Brooklynese.

This is the sort of thing—impudent and physical-minded—that, in some circles, would suppose could only happen in some Laurel and Hardy land where nothing is quite real and so provided it makes nonsense.

But this story can be translated into a literal transcription. Then it turns out that the delapidated car was really a sort of princess of automobiles in 1937 Cinderella-ing around in a setting as by any other reason why it should be allowed to stand in front of its apartment house for eight decades while dirt collected underneath to a depth that permitted, well, if not a tree, at least a shrub, to grow on that spot in Brooklyn?

Maybe there is. Some newspaper readers will note that its owner was a driver of a police patrol wagon. His neighbors there reported that when they complained to the local police authorities about his car no one in authority seemed ever to have heard of it, or to have noted that in eight years. Some drivers who have overstayed parking meters by eight minutes will like that.

But let's not take the delightful story too seriously. Let's call it story. There is a land where such things can happen—a land where there are fairies and sprites. It must be Brooklyn.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

WIDE PREVALENCE OF ADULT TETANY

To the best of recollection I never saw or heard of a case of tetany in four years of medical school and two years of internship in a 400 bed hospital where I have since been always 30 miles from birth to two years of age. Occasionally I came across allusions to the condition in my reading, but medical authors seemed to shy away from it.

Dr. Brady

perhaps because earlier authors set the style for them.

I found these allusions chiefly in textbooks of pediatrics and thus acquired the impression, which I believe most doctors have, that tetany occurs always or nearly always in infants.

Well, now, this isn't the only wrong notion entertained by the rank and file of the profession. Take beri beri, for instance. Most physicians in North America assume without much consideration that it isn't happening in our midst. Our way of living is the highest in the world, as we boastfully claim. Ergo, no beri beri. Yet beri beri (which is Singhalese for "I cannot," I'm told) is widely prevalent here, in children and adults, but is milder form which typically goes unrecognized even if the persons who have it seek medical advice.

The cause of beri beri in America as in Asia, is vitamin B deficiency. In the Philippines, China, India, Ceylon the B deficiency is due mainly to deprivation, famine, restricted diet. In America it is due mainly to ignorance—the great majority of middle class and well-to-do Americans, who purpose to be well nourished, get most of their calories from distinctively modern foods—refined white sugar. The Yankee Wisecare "high scale of living" is based on a diet that is rich, nourishing, appetizing, digestible and delicious—other adjectives the technicolor package claims, but it is cheat-food nevertheless, for it cannot nourish anybody well.

The replacement of polished white rice with brown, or unmilled rice, in the Orient, refined white flour with whole wheat flour, in the modern, is the best known way to prevent beri beri. Tetany is due, I am convinced, to calcium and D deficiency. Nineteenth century medical textbooks and current medical journals which hash over the old hokum with four or five officers; then was a strenuous mess kit, mug, knife, fork and spoon, which a private might express himself after eating, and stows in his kit.

The theory was proven when the Medical Corps took over the other ranks who had the jaundice and found they benefit greatly from special units with permanent quarters where utensils were used in common.

Dishwashers should have a higher social rating than is usually afforded them. In the home, mother generally superintends the job if she does not actually do it, the darling, after getting the meal and the food themselves. In pretty high-hearted characters who do a half-hearted job. In restaurants, a dishwasher is among the lower orders of humanity. But if he knew how important his work is to the realm of public health, he would carry himself far more proudly than he does, whenever we see him slinking furtively in the background, trying to keep out of sight, you'd think.

The preparation of food is an art. The preparation of dishes, utensils, should be a science in every modern restaurant and, of course, army.

Huge Machines Build Turnpike

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

Monster machines, some of them bigger than any ever used before on a highway job, are at work on the Ohio Turnpike and are filling a 241-mile roadbed for the Ohio Turnpike.

Scoops that lift 7 1-2 cubic yards in one bite and "draglines" that lift even more, fill endless lines of trucks and dumpers that haul away 30 cubic yards in one load.

The largest "crawler tractor" in the world, put to work recently, is 20 feet long; 10 feet high and weighs 70 tons. Its engine is twice as big as the biggest ever built before.

The dragline blade alone weighs more than five tons, and the machine, pile up 90 tons of earth in five minutes.

Without such earth-moving equipment the Turnpike would be only a dream highway—never a reality. Seventy million cubic yards of earth and rock are being moved. Some is "cut and fill" and much is "borrow," because there is more filling to be done than cutting. Where beri beri about all the earth to be moved would weigh well over 100 tons.

Twenty-two miles of Ohio Turnpike hooking up with the Pennsylvania Turnpike is scheduled to open December 1.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In Italy in the late war there was a serious shortage of mess tins which was just as effective in putting officers and men through their evening meals. Several Simmonds himself came down with it. It appeared to be epidemic. Many of the medical corps had made a thorough study of the situation, they made the curious discovery that it afflicted officers far more than it did the rank and file.

Various theories were bandied about. Did officers eat their dinner out of their hands? Did they eat food than the men, and if so, which of the foods might be responsible for their presently fair jaundice? Were officers more delicately constituted than the ranks? Heck, no. Far more buck privates carries Aesculyius or the Oxford Book of Verse in their packsacks than did officers. Was it vino? Officers should afford more vino than the troops.

Then someone arrived at the solution. Private soldiers have their own personal eating utensils, which they share with nobody. Officers eat in messes, even in operations. Their utensils are communal. Contagion is far more likely to spread in the plates, cups, knives, forks and spoons of an officers' mess, even a company mess

Justice Gives Reasons For His Decision

ROUYN, Que. (CP)—Mr. Justice Eugene Marquis of the Quebec Superior Court gave in notes made public Monday the reasons he concluded that Jehovah Witnesses' beliefs could not be considered a Protestant religion.

Mr. Justice Marquis said he made his decision after reading Witness books submitted at a trial here three months ago. The notes were appended to his recent ruling which ended a three-year fight between Jehovah Witness follower Paul Emile Perron and the Rouyn Protestant school board.

The books were introduced at the trial by the school board, where witnesses testified that they contained their beliefs.

"RELIGION OF DEVIL"

Mr. Justice Marquis cited the following excerpts from Witness books:

"Protestants are the slave of satan. . . Protestants are instruments of the devil. . . they reject Christ and conspire with the devil against him. . . The Catholic church is the whore of Babylon and the Protestant church is a child of the whore. . . They (the Protestants) practice the religion of which the devil is the author. . . Today protestantism is dead. . . Protestant pastors, as well as rabbis, follow the orders of the Catholic church."

Mr. Perron claimed the board had refused to admit his three minor children to the school. He asked $1,000 damages. The court, in dismissing the case, ruled it was "ill-founded." The plaintiff was ordered to pay costs.

Municipal Growth Discussed At Windsor Meet

WINDSOR (CP)—Mayor Elmer E. Robinson of San Francisco, president of the United States' Conference of Mayors, said today it is better that municipalities be faced with problems of growth and expansion than with those of poverty, famine and disease.

The statement was made in the text of a speech given to the press before delivery.

He told a luncheon meeting of the conventions of Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities that the rate of increase in population of Canada and California are the same—about 500,000 persons a year. Municipal governments feel this explosive growth most for they must supply area for industries, commercial buildings, home sites and municipal services, the mayor said.

Expansion involves cost for educational facilities, recreation facilities, police and fire protection, traffic and parking, Mayor Robinson said. He cited the success of an underground parking project which handled 3,000 cars a day in San Francisco and said another would be opened.

Mayor Robinson said any curtailment of taxable property must be regarded as serious. The fluidity of municipal taxation are reaching their limit and the question of higher levels of government usurping every reasonable source of taxation is unthinkable.

He urged conferences among the three levels of government on financial policy and suggested an obvious alternative to present taxation fields is municipal income tax which has been introduced in several American cities.

Education Costs Are Discussed As Mayors Meet

WINDSOR (CP) — A Canadian educator told the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities today Canada gets just what she pays for in the education field and the present cost is an average 87 cents a day for every pupil enrolled.

During a discussion on education at the 17th annual convention of the federation, M. E. Lazerte, research director, Canadian School Trustees' Association, said Canadian children are getting an education which is cheap in money but expensive for the amount paid out—in at least 20,000 Canadian classrooms.

The statement was made in a speech issued to the press before delivery.

He compared tax-paying ability in the provinces and said Prince Edward Island has the least ability and Ontario the most. But Ontario ranks lowest in the measure of effort in education as shown by the ratio between personal income and money spent. New Brunswick is the highest.

COSTS WILL INCREASE

He said future costs of education is bound to increase. Student enrolment is rising and the teacher shortage will be seriously aggravated unless salaries are increased. By 1965 the total cost of education will probably be $780,000,000 compared to $450,000,000 in 1951-1952.

To meet this increase, Mr. Lazarte suggested it was the responsibility of senior governments to take on more education costs. He said provincial tax levies have increased 190 per cent in the last 15 years and federal levies 500 per cent.

Civic Employees' Pay Should Equal That in Industry

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Professor H. D. Woods, director of McGill University industrial relations centre, said today wages and working conditions for civic employees must approximate those in private industry where the full power of the unions and collective bargaining is felt.

In a speech prepared for delivery during a discussion of municipal labor relations at the 17th annual conference of the Canadian Association of Mayors and Municipalities, the professor outlined some problems unique in relations of municipalities with their employees.

He outlined collective bargaining procedure in private industry which he said depends for its effect on economic threat of a strike and the damage it can do to both union and company.

"When we recoil from these possible consequences, we must be prepared to find a better alternative," the professor said. "In my opinion we have not been able to do so."

He said the only alternatives to collective bargaining are individual negotiations between employer and employee and retention of trade unions but outlawing of the strike. He said the first was already proven unsatisfactory. The second would increase the rigidities of the economy and transfer much power from private to state agencies.

BOMB EXPLOSION FATAL

CASABLANCA (AP)—One person was killed and 20 others were injured Monday when a bomb exploded in the market of Oued Zen, a small community near Casablanca. All victims were Moroccans.

Britain Planning Sweeping Slum Clearance Plan

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain, finally caught up on repairing major bomb damage, now plans a sweeping slum clearance program to bring modern living to millions of Britons living in homes without bathrooms.

In the nine years since the end of the Second World War, the government rehoused the victims of Hitler's bombing raids. Now it intends to rid the country of slums.

Housing Minister Harold Macmillan Monday ordered municipal governments to take stock of their dilapidated housing so that by 1956 the government may start its first five-year plan for slum clearance.

Since 1945, more than 1,500,000 new houses have been erected to care for the serious housing shortage which absorbed the construction industry, so nothing was done about the equally violation tenements still standing.

A recent survey estimated that Britain has 5,000,000 homes with no bathrooms and nearly 1,000,000 with no sinks. MacMillan has only a rough idea of the number of sub-standard homes in the country, and that is why he has ordered the exhaustive survey.

The worst problems are in industrial cities, where thousands of grimy back-to-back houses built in the 19th century have almost no modern conveniences. Other quaint villages, so admired by tourists, contain decaying houses which are hardly fit for human habitation.

What are you saying that spare room for? A rainy day? Visitors?

Well, here's a suggestion. Why not turn it into your TV room? You know — a room with a view!

A friend of mine has done this, with marvellous results.

When his last youngster got married, this fellow found himself with an extra room. Not a very big room, and rather odd-shaped.

All he did was to rearrange the furniture, paint the walls, put in new lighting fixtures, and install a low line ceiling. Presto! With hardly any fuss or bother — a luxurious TV room!

He tells all his friends now that he's got a private theatre in the house. And that's practically what it is.

You can have one, too. As a matter of fact, you don't even need a spare room. Use the living room.

Most folks don't really get enough living out of their living rooms, anyway. They seem to reserve them for company. That's pretty wasteful, isn't it?

Install TV, and you'll find your living room a far more attractive place, a refuge from the day's cares, and a spot each while away many pleasant hours.

We've got plenty of ideas. Drop in. We'd be glad to tell you about them.

Make West Germany Our Ally Outside EDC Pearson Urges

WINDSOR (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson said Monday night Canada is willing to see Western Germany brought into the collective security group of Western nations through some other avenue than the European Defence Community.

Speaking to a banquet meeting of the convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, Mr. Pearson said the defeat of EDC in the French Assembly does not mean hope for some sort of union is lost.

He said Canada now favors viewing the matter in the North Atlantic context rather than the European context. In an interview afterward, he said Germany must be brought into the Western collective security group, if not through EDC, then in some other way.

He said he was not necessarily advocating Germany should be admitted to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization but said some similar move must be made.

The theme of Mr. Pearson's address was whether Western Nations could live "in peaceful coexistence with communism." He said the answer was in vigilant and aggressive Free World policy backed by powerful defensive forces.

He said a civilization like that in Russia will, in time, collapse, due to its own internal weaknesses.

Health Minister Martin introduced the major speech at a luncheon of the convention. He outlined Canada's progress in the field of civil defence and stressed the importance of co-operation among federal, provincial and municipal governments in producing an effective civil defence organization.

Maj. Gen. F. F. Worthington, co-ordinator of civil defence for Canada, explained in detail the plan of financial assistance during a discussion of the problem at a business session later in the day.

He said the federal government will give direct grants up to 25 per cent of a municipality's civil defence program. It will match any grant made by the province dollar for dollar up to another 25 per cent.

Governor Val Peterson, administrator of civil defence for the United States, said during the same discussion the H-bomb had not changed the nature of damage inflicted but had widened its scope.

The most effective way to deal with H-bomb damage is to evacuate the large segments of the population even though gigantic organizational problems were involved.

BETTER JET

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — The Sabre jet fighter now being built under licence in Australia can hit harder than the American product because it has been fitted with British cannon instead of machine-guns, Defence Minister Sir Eric Harrison said today. He spoke at a formal handing-over ceremony of the first Australian-built Sabre to the Royal Australian Air Force.

Party leader Clement Attlee will not accompany the mission to Japan. He has a separate invitation to visit Australia and New Zealand.

Weddings

WALSH—MEAGHER

A lovely, double-ring wedding ceremony was solemnized in St. Charles Borromeo Church, Read, on Monday, August 16th, at 10.00 a.m., when the Reverend F. P. Meagher, brother of the bride, united in marriage, Margaret Lucy Meagher, of Read, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denis Meagher and the late Mr. Meagher, to Raymond Bartholomew Walsh, of Corbyville, Ontario. Gladioli and ferns formed a pretty setting for the ceremony.

The wedding music included "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus", and "Jesus, Joy to Me," rendered by Mr. William Hanley, soloist.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. James Meagher, the bride wore a charming bridal gown of nylon, lace and tulle fashioned with fitted bodice having a scalloped neckline accented by tulle inserts, and long, sheath-like sleeves pointed over the wrists. Her waist-length shirt fell in graceful folds. She wore a floor-length veil and matching headdress, and carried a semi-cascade bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Gerald Walsh, of Shannonville, as matron of honor, sister of the bride, and Mrs. James Meagher, as bridesmaid, wore gowns of similar design in waist-length, fitted shirts, of embossed nylon, and the latter in yellow nylon, with matching mitts and headdresses. They carried cascade bouquets of yellow 'mums and bronze roses, respectively.

Miss Rosemary Walsh, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl, wearing a frock of light blue nylon crepe with matching headdress trimmed in pink. She carried a nosegay of pink and white flowers.

Mr. Harold Walsh, of Corbyville, attended his brother as groomsman, while Messrs. Aubrey Abeles, of Howe Island, brother-in-law of the bride, and Leonard Walsh, of Corbyville, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

At the Golden Acre Inn, Kingston Road, the bride's mother received, attired in light blue crepe and lace with pink accessories, and corsage of pink Briarcliffe roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted, wearing navy blue crepe and lace with white accessories, and corsage of yellow roses.

A general reception was held later in the afternoon at the home of the bride's mother.

The bride's table was centred by a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature vase of sweetpeas, while a cloud of pink tulle, surrounded the base. The bridal bouquets added a pleasing accent.

For travelling to eastern points, the bride donned a coordinate ensemble with pink topper coat, white accessories, and pink carnation corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh will reside in Belleville.

Guests attended from Perth, Marmora, Napanee, and Belleville.

Pioneer Nurse Tells of Life In B.C. in 1896

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—A 93-year-old great-grandmother, who had been a pioneer nurse here at the turn of the century, might be excused for feeling that people were made of sterner stuff in her day.

Mrs. W. J. Newburn, now of San Francisco, came to Nelson in 1908. But she and her husband sailed up the Columbia river, the only means of transportation, to settle in Trail in 1896.

One of the first practical nurses in the area, she says, The facilities for nurses in the early days would surprise you. We didn't have all the little gadgets they have today."

Much of her nursing in those days when Nelson was a lusty, brawling mining town was among the Chinese population.

And there was no such thing as an ambulance to take people to hospital. There was nothing like the north shore road and Nelson ferry, now a link in the southern trans-provincial highway.

The active, good humored woman recalls one time in 1910 when she and a doctor rowed seven miles up Kootenay lake in the dead of night to deliver a baby.

"I do a lot of travelling," she said. "When I feel I want a trip, I just pack my bag and go."

She told of her first motorcycle ride on her 90th birthday when she rode with one of her great-grandchildren down a four-lane highway in Portland, Ore.

"When the people saw my grey hair, I just told him to go faster," Asked if she had ever travelled by airplane, her keen eyes twinkled. "I always travel by bus. If I were meant to fly, I'd have wings."

YOUTHS CHARGED

SARNIA (CP)—Larry Kiyoshi, 17, and Manuel Johnson, 18, both of the Walpole island reserve, were charged Monday with the rape of a 23-year-old woman on the reserve Aug. 22. They were remanded in custody to Sept. 7.

Four of Quints, Plan to Live In Montreal

NORTH BAY (CP) — The surviving four Dionne Quintuplets all plan to go to Montreal for next month to continue their studies.

Still saddened by the death Aug. 6 of their sister, Emilie, 20, the 20-year-old girls will be in the same city as another sister, Pauline, 11 months older. Pauline, who completed an art course in Montreal recently, plans to take advanced art training there.

Olive Dionne, their father, made known their plans in an interview Monday.

Marie, who returned home in July after spending eight months in the convent of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament in Quebec City and taking preliminary vows as a nun, will not return to the order. Extreme homesickness and loss of appetite forced her to leave the strictly-cloistered religious community.

MARIE MUCH IMPROVED

She and Annette will enter the Marguerite Bourgeoys College, a convent providing college educational standing. Annette will specialize in music, with a view to making music her career while Marie will likely take a general course.

The college is the one where Yvonne and Pauline studied last year.

Partly because of her run-down condition, Marie took Emilie's death the hardest of any of the sisters.

"Marie is vastly improved now" Mr. Dionne said. "Her appetite is good, she has gained some weight and she is sleeping well."

Cecile and Yvonne will become nurses-in-training at the Notre Dame de l'Esperance Hospital at Ville St. Laurent on the outskirts of Montreal.

Mr. Dionne said the family still is overwhelmed by the tremendous number of expressions of sympathy which followed Emilie's death from suffocation during an epileptic seizure at Ste. Agathe, Que.

"We have answered about 900 of these messages," he said. "There are still about 2,000 unanswered and I hope those who sent them will understand if we find it impossible to acknowledge all of them."

PANTHER FAMILY

GAGETOWN, N. B. (CP)—Sighting of the rare eastern panther has been reported from several points in New Brunswick but Gordon Cameron, rural mail driver, said he saw four of the animals come out to the highway near this town 20 miles north of Saint John.

ALPINIST KILLED

TRENTO, Italy (Reuters)—Mountain climber Francesco Frisanco, 27, crashed to his death in a ravine when hit Sunday by falling rocks 100 feet from the top of an 11,000-foot mountain near here. His 20-year-old cousin and fellow-climber was saved by being caught on a ledge.

GIRL SAVES BROTHER FROM FLAMES

When their frame house at Collingwood, Ont., caught fire, Bernice Howell, 13, rushed in the jammed front door and rescued her five-months-old brother, Gordon. Fire started when her oldest brother dropped a flaming gasoline can which he was attempting to throw outside. Four other sisters were burned. One, six-year-old Peggy, died in the flaming house when she could not see her way out of the smoke.—Central Press Canadian.

3,500 Canadian Girls Expected To Enter Nursing

MONTREAL (CP)—About 2,500 Canadian girls are expected to enter nursing schools across the country in the next few weeks.

The Canadian Nurses Association says 25 per cent of all girl graduates from high school annually ask the three-year course in 171 schools of nursing in Canada.

"Nursing continues to be the first occupational choice of Canadian girls graduating from high school" says Frances McQuarrie, nursing education secretary of the CNA.

Girls prefer nursing as a career, she says, because they are "interested in working with people rather than with a typewriter or serving across a counter."

HELD IN HIGH REGARD

"Both the daughters and their parents tend to favor nursing because of the public's high regard for the profession. But what we really look for in a girl is the desire to serve, and a genuine interest in health improvement."

Opportunities for nursing are wide and stimulating. Miss McQuarrie said that in addition to service on hospital staffs, nurses are needed in public health, private duty, in industry and in remote settlements.

Openings also exist in the World Health Organization, the Colombo plan, the international Red Cross and other organizations.

As for romance, Miss McQuarrie noted that a large number of nurses marry after a short time in the profession. "As far as I know, there is no better preparation for marriage than a nurse's education," she says.

Women's Activities

FOXBORO L.G.-W.M.S.

The Foxboro Presbyterian Ladies' Guild and Women's Missionary Society, held their August meeting on Friday night at the home of Mrs. Roy Bartlett. Miss Bell presided with Mrs. Earl Ketcheson at the piano.

Some interesting stories were told of missionary work and plans made for the sending of Christmas cards to the mission schools and for the sending of the bale in September. The Ladies' Guild will cater at Scotts Community Sales barns next Tuesday night.

Miss Sharon Chappell delighted with a piano solo. A Bible contest was given, resulting in a tie among several members, with Mrs. Ketcheson being the winner.

The September meeting is to be held at the home of Miss Lena Watt. All regret to report Mrs. Glen Ketcheson's misfortune in breaking her arm, and all hope for her a quick recovery.

Woman Holds Man-Sized Job In Int. Union

REGINA (CP)—Some women refuse to take a back seat to anyone, even in trade union ranks where the going may be tough.

Take Mrs. E. G. Young of Toronto as an example.

Mrs. Young, a delegate to the recent annual convention here of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, holds a man-sized job in the International Association of Machinists. She helped form the Toronto local, of which she was once president and now is secretary-treasurer.

A trade union member since she was 18, Mrs. Young tells people to "look on me as a machinist, not as a woman."

Mrs. Young had an early initiation into trade union activity. At 18 she was a talisman in the Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society in Glasgow. She made union dues, but didn't take much part in activities.

"I was young then and had other interests," she says.

She came to Canada in 1926 and worked as a waitress for three years. She left the trade when she was married, but returned after her husband died.

Mrs. Emily Ross of Edmonton, general board member of the United Garment Workers of New York, another TLC delegate, is the only Canadian representative on that board.

Mrs. Ross says more women should serve as officers of union locals, and women generally should take more interest in the labor movement.

She once worked in the shops as a sewing machine operator. Now she travels far and often, spending as much as seven months of the year on the road. Her territory includes all Canada except Ontario.

ments, and a social time was enjoyed by all.

Church services will continue next Sunday, September 5, after three weeks' holidays, with Mr. J. McMurray in the pulpit.

GOOD MANNERS

TIPS WHILE TRAVELING

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My husband and I are planning a train trip from here to the East. It has been years since I have traveled on a train, and I am sure my train manners are more than a little rusty. So will you please answer a few questions for us?

(1) When reserving sleeping accommodations, is it customary for a couple to reserve a section (lower and upper berths), or just a lower? (2) The matter of tipping comes up next. Is 10 per cent of the bill satisfactory in the dining-car, or is more expected? (3) When tipping the porter, do you tip him each time he performs a service (no special services), or at the end of the trip? What tip is customary for a couple, for several nights on the train?

(4) What tip to the porter for carrying the luggage to and from the station or in a hotel? — A.

(1) A section (lower and upper) is customary; but only a lower if you prefer. I suggest you ask the railroad agent, or a travel agent for a brochure describing the various types of Pullman service, the size of a berth, and so forth. (There are sometimes special train services that are very advantageous.)

(2) In general the same tipping-procedure holds for meals on trains as is customary in restaurants. And today customarily a dining-car waiter is tipped 15 per cent of the bill, never less than a quarter if a meal is served.

(3) The train porter is not tipped for each service. Generally he is tipped at the end of the journey? For one night in a lowerberth the usual tip is 75 cents; for 3 nights in a lower it is the tip might be $11.50 to $2.00. For one night in an upper berth; usual tip 50¢ cents; for 3 nights in an upper berth, the tip may be $1.00.

(4) Nowadays, in the railroad stations in the largest cities, a fee of 15 cents or 10 cents (now usually the former) per piece of luggage is the official tip to the porter, or "redcap" as this applies in the railroad station you use, the porter will give you a stub receipt for each piece of luggage or each parcel he carries, and asks for your assent-agreement (as shown on your ticket): then he leads the way and takes the luggage to the proper place in the train. When he turns the receipts to the porter with the 15 (or 10) cents for each piece of luggage. Since this is a uniform charge, every compensable porter, no tipping is necessary, but if you wish, you may give a small tip for extra attention or extra service. If the official tipping doesn't apply, you might tip 25 cents for one big bag or two small ones, 50 cents for three. For the hotel bellboy who carries one or two pieces of small or medium-size luggage to the room, 25 to 50 cents for more luggage, a tip in proportion.

SHOWERS FOR THE DIVORCEE REMARRYING

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

1. I am a divorcee, am to remarry soon, but as yet we have made no announcement of whatever of our engagement. How should we do this, that relatives and friends will know that we are engaged and will be married for the second time, or isn't this proper? — M.B.

1. You tell the news to your relatives and friends, and write to those who are at a distance. Your fiance tells his relatives and friends, writes to those at a distance.

2. It is not customary to have showers for the divorcee who is remarrying. Although one small shower may be given by a group of her most intimate friends.

Hotel Accomodation for the Maid of Honor and Guests

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

The girl who is to be my maid of honor lives in another city. Am I expected to pay for her hotel accommodations? Also am I expected to pay for the hotel accommodations of my guests?

Yes. if you cannot invite your maid of honor to be your guest in your home, it is a relative or friend asks to be hostess to her, then you make accommodations for her at the hotel and make arrangements with the hotel that these are to be paid for by you. But you are not expected to pay for the hotel accommodations for guests, although it would be most convenient for all concerned if you make these reservations.

THAT NEW baby will ends: herself to Big Brother rigt: (even though Sesame rastly!) If she "brings" him a gift when she arrives from the hospital. It's one good way to make Baby's first appearance easier for every one-especially if Brother's about two-and-a-half.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

EYE STRAIN IS BEAUTY'S ENEMY

Eyes smart and burn? The printed page isn't as clear as it used to be? Trouble reading names in the telephone book? Well, scuttle to an eye specialist as fast as you can get there.

Don't think that glasses will make you look older? Not as old as those quaint lines that are forming because you can't see properly. Glasses are not a symbol of age any more. Look at all the boys and girls who are wearing "specs." Good vision is far more important than appearance.

If you feel so tired you can hardly drag your feet along, it may be a reaction from eye strain. If you feel depressed, it may be because you are abusing your eyes. The physical mechanism is wonderfully put together. And when one part is out of order everything goes haywire. Persistent headaches are sometimes a warning, as is a jittery nervous system.

The well-dressed woman who clutches the nearest support as she stumbles over an unseen step does not present a pretty picture. Nor does she appear particularly attractive when she joins a party, stares into the dim corners and fails to laugh at the features of her hostess with materialistic.

Then there is the far-sighted woman who must have the theater program held at arm's length. In order to study her vision one is apt to squint or frown and such expressions not only become instinctive but they are wrinkle-makers of the first order.

Specialists have been made so decorative that one can consider them as accessories to dress. Behind their well trimmed glasses a pretty face can remain distinct, clearly standing apart from the glasses before it.

Fashion Flashes

AN OUTSTANDING DESIGN is beauty of beautiful clothes is a beautifully cut coat of creamy white wool fleece with detachable sleeves made of lacey leopard and leopard cuffs. Coat is lined in white satin, appliqued with cut-outs of leopard-printed velveteen.

A TREAT for big city sightseeing is a suit made up of a cropped jacket and a high-rising pencil skirt, both of fine all-wool striped grey and white cotton. The blouse is of white cotton broadcloth with collar tabs and long cuffed sleeves that are completely visible when the jacket is worn.

LONG NEEDED, and here at last, are furs designed specifically for the short-waisted figure and proportioned to suit. Manufacturers are showing petite furs for the well developed shorter figure, for the short slim girl, as well as junior furs for the adolescent girl. No more of that swimming around in a fur coat much too long for the dainty woman. Little furs, jackets and coats with all been specially designed and should provide a big boost for sales.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

NOW SHE SEES HIM AND NOW SHE DON'T!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 17 years old, and have been going out with one boy for about a year. He is 18 and goes to college.

I guess you'd call him the "now you see him and now you don't" type. That is, when we go out together, he always takes me to nice places and we always have fun, but he says goodnight, he never mentions another date and I don't see him for several weeks after. He doesn't like to talk on the phone, so I only call him if we've calls me is to ask me out for a date.

I'm very, very fond of him and so I can't refuse a date with him, because I know once, and after that never heard from him for three months.

What advice can you give me?

— Candy

Dear Candy:

I guess you'll have to make up your mind whether you can get sufficiently interested in this chap to accept his "off again on again" relationship which seems to be his specialty. If you do like him that much—and I suspect you do, or since you say you can't refuse a date no matter how long the intervals between—then you'll have to put up with his behavior.

Obviously, he's not interested in "going steady" with you, so I strongly advise you not to act as if that was what you were waiting for, but to go out with just as many boys as you can, as often as you can. If you give this participation one the best of your dating in between your dates with him but sit around waiting for his call, he will soon think he is impressed with you. But if he gets the idea that you're so popular that your evenings are pretty well spoken for, he may be more active.

And by accepting all the other dates you can, you'll be ahead of the game if you do not hear from him, for what can you do to regain their friendship? — R.

Dear R.:

The high school will soon be starting. I should think you would have lots of opportunity to make her because she was getting to be a very attractive girl. Also, I think I am trying to get better acquainted with other girls, but I don't seem to be making much progress. I have a feeling that they think just because I used to go around with this girl, I am, like her.

What can you do to regain their friendship? — R.

Dear R.:

The writer of this letter deserves whole-hearted admiration:

"Dear Miss Moore: What do you are on the subject of training children, please write me your views on how to teach them table manners. . . I have five children, 10 and under, and manliness my bedlam. Should they be served separate or with Mother and Father sit down? Should they be made to stop talking, sit straight etc. as we were when children?

"I find that any correction meets with such remarks as 'I can't eat anything more" or, in the case of the younger ones, throwing food, etc.

"Your children seem to have such large appetites and for me it is a large variety of foods. Surely you can give us some pointers. I'm not like the cook-anything kind of cook, but follow the food rules and never miss your cue, so my task is the more discouraging. — D.G.

The subject of table manners is close to my heart, but I am reluctant to offer suggestions. I feel that the social acceptance of young people can depend on their manners at their first dinner tables. . .

A much more important reason for cultivating good manners at the table is for the atmosphere of courtesy and good cheer that is the norm three times a day, every day, every week, every year, in your home.

I feel so strongly on this subject that I'm going to try to make it easy by enumerating the steps that I feel my friends have found get results.

(1) 100 per cent co-operation between husband and wife.

(2) Clean up plates without comment— unless complimentary. (See below.)

(3) If child is not eating without fuss, dismiss him politely by avoiding a certain item on his plate he goes to his room. His lunch, (Serve milk only after main course is all eaten.)

(4) No dessert for child unless main course is completely finished pleasantly.

(5) If a strange new food is served each child is required to taste it—there one full bite until he learns to like it. (The perfect reward for co-operation on this subject is to eat dinner out in some glamorous new restaurant.)

(6) Use fork in left hand, knife in right. Discard spoon for main course at end of second year.

(7) Don't discuss food at the table. Require children to take part in interesting conversation on topics of interest to all on events of the day. Do not permit chatter, particularly concerning food by parents.

(8) If a child throws or spills food he cleans it up himself to the parents' satisfaction. (Milk spilling never stops.)

(9) If a non-eating child cries when he is sent to his room with only water and a bit of bread to the table is to stop crying, promise to eat and behave like a gentleman. If he doesn't keep his promise, send him back to his room with bread and water, and return until the next meal. (It is a rare child that this treatment won't cure.)

(10 Children should do all of the waiting on table.

Table Manners

By Mary Moore

If children are not good eaters allow no food between meals.

Children should be praised if their manners are good, but not given gifts of intrinsic value. Rather their privileges should be enlarged. For instance let them have more responsible duties such as washing dishes as a promotion from drying or waiting on table all along. Tested and with help.

Further comment on No. 2 Step. Make very small servings for picky eaters, giving them a chance to clean up their plates. The hearty eaters can always come back for more.

From the day a child arrives, his training for social life begins. Never say "he's only a child." The fact is he is a miniature-in-training. You can't slip on or off good table manners like a coat. They have to be second nature.

If any of these ideas is new to your household, have a conference with the children, telling them the reasons why you have them repeat it to you to make sure they understand. Promise rewards for co-operation at the end of the first, and keep your promises.

Then be inflexible.

If you have a will of iron, a body of steel, faith in the Lord and a boundless sense of humor —your efforts will be rewarded without measure.

How to say Hello to a GARGOYLE

AFRAID OF HEIGHTS? Then you wouldn't want to be one of the men who recently did repairs up among the gargoyles of the Peace Tower, atop the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa. The scaffolding, rising 280 feet, was the highest ever erected in Canada. We were pleased, but not surprised, that it was made of light, strong, easily assembled aluminum tubing . . . 37,000 feet of it. Saved a lot of time putting up and taking down. And incidentally saved Canada taxpayers a tidy sum of money. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Hail Damage Heavy in West

EDMONTON (CP) — Hail damage has cut heavily into crops in big wheat-producing area of Alberta and Saskatchewan. Damage has suffered, too, in Manitoba. No provincial government officials there were unable to estimate its extent.

Wire wheat still standing in the fields and the hail hazard still great, early reports showed 275,000 Alberta acres destroyed and four Regina hail insurance firms reported 11,000 damage claims from Saskatchewan.

EUROPEAN ARMY

Canadian officials in Ottawa said the only logical answer to the Western dilemma is to bring West Germany into NATO.

High officials in Washington were bitterly disappointed at the French vote but made no public comment initially. Eisenhower, however, in a speech in Des Moines, Iowa, said, "We are not the discouraged. We need not despair."

In Rome, Italian Premier Giuseppe Saragat called on the "Western democracies to renew their efforts to re-weld their solidarity in order to build an efficient community for peace and defence." Italy and France were the only members of the EDC alliance which had not ratified the pact, but the Italians had been expected to follow the lead of Paris.

The French action has posed a new threat to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's West German government, which had banked heavily on EDC to provide the means toward independence which the German people have been demanding.

SAYS POLICY FAILURE

Mendsier's chief opponent, Socialist leader Erich Ollenhauer, was quick to assert that the French vote meant Adenauer's policy had failed. The opposition chief called for the Western Allies to meet at once with Russia to consider German reunification and European security.

The assembly victory of EDC's opponents, with whom the premier seemed to side and at any rate did not oppose, does not mean that Mendes-France will find it any easier to line up ready support for some new German rearmament scheme.

His failure to oppose the resolution cutting off debate after only the opponents had spoken provoked a core of bitter feel with whom he will have to deal in future legislative efforts.

The angriest perhaps was a veteran Independent and former premier, Paul Reynaud, who fought his way to the tribune during the procedure tumult to denounce the throttling of the debate.

"For the first time in the history of the French Parliament," he shouted, "a treaty has been rejected without giving the author and signer of the treaty a chance to speak."

He referred to Robert Schuman, former foreign minister and ex-premier who had envisioned EDC as a big step toward permanent peace between France and Germany and a basis for future European unity.

EDITORIAL REACTION

French editors ranged from despairing to gleeful today in their comments.

"The Communist victory is complete," said the influential modernistic Figaro. "Tomorrow we may expect great fear. Tonight it is something else; we are shamed."

The Independent rightist l'Aurore a critic of EDC, was optimistic, however. "Nothing is lost," it declared, adding that "it is not possible that out of the French ruckus the Communists can win. Mendes-France proclaimed his fidelity to the only alliance which for us is conceivable—the Western alliance."

From the Communist l'Humanite came a happy cry in blazing headlines running a third of the way down the front page:

"Victory of people of France and peace

"EDC is rejected

"Honor artisans of victory."

Swedish Family Deported After Misfortunes

HALIFAX (CP) — A Swedish family that arrived in Halifax three years ago with $1,500, a ton of belongings and high hopes for a happy new future in Canada, sailed back for Sweden Sunday night $800 in debt and with only a third of its belongings.

In a shipboard interview, Henry Werjefelt said that he, his wife and four children were being deported. He added that the immigration department order was because he withheld information concerning his wife's health.

"They are just kicking us out," said Mr. Werjefelt.

"I feel that I am leaving the country like a criminal. I came to Canada with a clean record, owing nobody. That's the way I would have liked to leave here."

MANY MISFORTUNES

Mr. Werjefelt blamed the deportation on a series of misfortunes.

In Stockholm, Mr. Werjefelt said, he had been assured that he would have no trouble obtaining a job as a machine layout man.

But in Toronto he could find no such employment for nearly a year.

Following an attack on his wife by an unidentified man in 1953, a psychiatrist advised that Mrs. Werjefelt enter a mental hospital for rest and treatment.

"And that was the most silly thing she could have done," Mr. Werjefelt commented.

His wife was released two weeks after she entered and shortly afterwards, Mr. Werjefelt said, the department of immigration asked whether Mrs. Werjefelt had ever been confined in a mental hospital in Sweden. She had and a notice of deportation was received.

Mr. Werjefelt still would like to return to Canada some day.

"In spite of all the trouble, we liked it here, we really felt at home," he said.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

Gordie Howe, the hat trick golf champion of Lake Waskesiu, Saskatchewan, who plays hockey for Detroit Red Wings during the winter when there is snow on the links will never win any prizes for oratory. Gord is the soul of co-operation in an interview but is modest to the point of silence when it comes to describing his hockey and golf exploits. But you should hear him tell about his wife Colleen's prowess down the fairways and on the greens.

The beauteous Mrs. Howe, whom Gordie stole from under the eyes of a million male Detrolters, took up golf this summer and already is a winner. She picked up first prize in a Saskatchewan tournament this summer. As a matter of fact, Mrs. Howe's triumph is given credit for spurring Gordie to his grand slam.

I'll never forget that 11th hole," says Gord, describing Colleen's game. "She was down to the green in two while her opponent took a five. Then she chipped over the green into a trap, dubbed three times, finally put the ball on the green and sank her ball on the second putt. The other lady was on the green in five but she took four putts and they halved the hole." said Gord. "When Colleen took a nine I thought she was finished."

Gordie, Colleen, and their six-months-old son, Marty Gordon, named for Marty Pavelich and papa Gordie, were interviewed yesterday while visiting the summer home of Lawrence Eggert at Rossmore. Mr. Eggert's Detroit home. his summer home at Rossmore and his winter home at Fort Lauderdale, Florida, are second homes to Red Wing hockey players. The Howes, who had been vacationing in Saskatoon, arrived late Sunday night after 1,900 miles and three days of driving. Yours truly, recreational director, Red Doran. a friend of Howe since his Red Wing days, and Garry Aleander of the Intelligencer sports staff chatted with the Eggerts, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Cullen (Mrs. Cullen is Eggert's daughter) and the Howes Monday noon.

The stick Howe used to score his 200th NHL goal is resting in a place of honor over the doorway to the living room of Mr. Eggert's Rossmore home. Gordie gave the puck to his mother.

While Gordie spoke glowingly of Colleen's prowess it was necessary to glean the statistics about his own golfing feat from a clipping provided by Truman Cullen. He won the tournament's low gross honors with a 141 for 36 holes, a low qualifying score of 73 and low net of 68.

Gordie reports to the Red Wings training camp on September 13th for the opening of practices September 14th. He reports no change in his weight during the summer mainly due to a job on a golf course.

"If you can't beat it, join it." he said of golf. "So I joined it. My weight doesn't vary much during the year anyway." he concluded.

THEY LOVED LINDSAY

The subject of exhibition games was broached as interested parties in the city are trying to arrange an intra-squad game by the Red Wings here this fall or winter. Gordie, who is a Canadian, expressed puzzlement at the attitude Canadians take to Red Wing exhibition games in Canada.

"Foster Hewitt has said the Leafs is Canada", he. said. recalling healthy heckling even in communities close to Detroit. As for Windsor! He couldn't understand why Windsor fans rode Detroit so hard especially when Detroit sponsored their Junior A Spitfires.

The most appreciative exhibition audience he has ever played to were inmates of Marquette penitentiary. The Red Wings played a game inside the walls on an open air rink.

"Most of these guys in there for 180 years loved Ted Lindsay," said Gordie with a chuckle. "They kept shouting 'Hi Ted!', all during the game."

Of all the goals Gordie has poured past NHL twine tenders, his most unusual goal was not allowed because of a rink ruling. It happened in a rink in Coral Gables, Florida, this spring. Howe, Metro Prystal, Ted Lindsay, Jim Wilson and others were vacationing in Florida when the management of a rink in Coral Gables asked them to play an exhibition game.

They got but when they arrived at the rink found it fog bound. The temperature outside was so warm that fog shrouded the ice. Fans used to blow away the fog could not be directed towards the ice because the heat would soften the skating surface.

During the exhibition Gordie fired a rink-length shot that went in the net. The goal was disallowed, however, because of a rink ruling that all shots on goal had to be taken inside the defending blue line because fog obstructed the goal tender's view of long shots.

The toughest goal tender Howe has faced is Harry Lumley in Toronto.

"I didn't score a goal on Lum in Toronto all last season," said Gordie shaking his head.

He is looking forward to another season with the Red Wings under new coach, Jim Skinner.

"I broke into pro hockey with Jimmie in Omaha in 1945," said Gord. "He is a good fellow and popular with the players. He is the kind of coach who fights for his players. When he gives a player hell he feels as badly about it as the guy getting the lacing," he said.

How does Gordie feel about Tommy Ivan's transfer to Chicago Black Hawks?

"Ivan has a lot of hockey brains. He will do well in Chicago —if he gets any material."

Gordie things that Montreal Canadiens will be toughest for Red Wings this season.

"They are all tough," he said. "but some are tougher than others, and Canadiens look' like the toughest."

All the while he was talking Gordie was playing with his peaches-and-cream complexioned blond son, who at the tender age of six months packs 30 pounds on a sturdy frame.

"He is a little light, yet", said Gordie when Red Doran asked if Jolly Jawn Adams, the Wings' bossman, had signed him up.

Marty obviously enjoyed sitting in his dad's hand and bouncing on his knee.

When asked how long he would be staying at Rossmore Gordie answered that Colleen wanted to go back to Detroit prior to leaving for training camp.

"I don't know when we will be leaving," he said. "But I'll have the last word when we do. It will be, Yes dear," he said grinning at Colleen.

Bobby Thomson Hits 3-Run Homer for Braves to Defeat Brooks; Indians Increase Lead

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

No matter what happens now the New York Giants still will be in first place when they collide headon with the Brooklyn Dodgers in their three-game showdown series starting Friday in the Polo Grounds.

The margin might be as small as two percentage points. It could be as much as five games. But big or small it will be the Giants on top with the Dodgers trying to climb. Any small boy with experience on a greased poll can tell you what's going up is the hardest.

The Dodgers, who had been burning up the west like a prairie fire during a 40-game run that put all but Brooklyn killer from several seasons back Monday night and dropped a 7-5 decision in Milwaukee.

28-GAME WINNER

The Giants whipped St. Louis 6-1 while Johnny Antonelli becoming the first National league pitcher to win 28 games and promptly took a 2½ length lead over the Flatbush forces.

Bobby Thomson, the No. 1 public enemy in Brooklyn since his dramatic home run in the 1951 playoffs between the Giants and Dodgers, showed up in a Milwaukee uniform and smashed a three-run homer in the seventh inning for the winning runs.

There were some home runs earlier, too. Duke Snider bit his 34th with two aboard in the first. Jack Dittmer gave the Braves a lead with a two-run drive in the fourth.

ALLOWED FOUR HITS

Antonelli, the first Giant lefthander to win 20 since Carl Hubbell did it 17 years ago, pitched one of his best games. He held the Cards to four singles, walked three and struck out five. The Giants didn't pull ahead until the seventh when a pair of singles wrapped around a fumble produced the tiebreaking run.

Dusty Rhodes drove home the other pair in the ninth with a bases loaded single.

The Cleveland Indians, who put their 4½-game American league lead on the line against New York in a three-game series starting in Yankee Stadium tonight, wound up the Boston end of their season Monday with their 11th victory in 11 starts against the Red Sox at Fenway Park.

They got from four runs behind to nip the Sox 5-4 with a five-run rally in the seventh. Baltimore won its third straight from Washington 3-1 and Cincinnati made it five in a row with a 5-1 triumph over Philadelphia in the only other major league action.

FIVE PITCHERS USED

Aging Heinie Majeski, a Staten Island neighbor of Bobby Thomson, slashed a three-run double during the Cleveland uprising. Five of Cleveland's 10 pitchers saw action in the struggle, starting with rookie Ray Narleski and ending with Mike Garcia, one of the "big three" Cleveland starters.

Bob Turley of the Orioles had a no-hitter working until Jim Busby bunted safely in the sixth, but he had to strike out pinch hitter Maury McDermott with the bases loaded in the ninth to preserve his 11th triumph.

Another one of those three-run homers that figured prominently in Monday's games came in the Cincinnati victory over the Phils. Jim Greengrass hit this one during a four-run Redleg rally in the sixth.

The Giants have two games left in the west before the Brooklyn series, one tonight against the Cardinals and one in Cincinnati Thursday night. The Dodgers finish in Milwaukee today, then move to Chicago for a pair with the Cubs.

Brundage Says Net Impression Of Reds Favorable

NEW YORK (AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the international Olympic committee, said Monday the Russians assured him their gigantic sports program abides by the amateur rules—"and I saw nothing on my trip to make me question this."

"They probably have some excesses just as we have in college football," said Brundage, who added that his net impression was favorable.

Brundage found to his surprise that the Russians are not committed to compete in the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne. Diplomatic relations between Russia and Australia have been broken off over a spy case.

Brundage told a press conference here that he was impressed by the enormous program of sports he saw throughout Russia.

Brundage had an interview with Nicolai Romanov, head of Russia's department of physical culture, and presented him with clippings from American and Western European papers stating that Russian athletes are supported by the state and as professionals should not compete with amateurs in the Olympics.

Romanov denied any professionalism and said Russian athletes must place their education and their jobs ahead of sports.

Winnipeg Bombers Swamped By Calgary Stampeders 41-0; Lions Defeated by Regina 17-0

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Winnipeg Blue Bombers have reason to feel blue today.

Undefeated in three Western Interprovincial Football Union games this season, the Bombers absorbed their worst defeat in five years Monday night at the hands of Calgary Stampeders who downed the last year's Grey Cup finalists 41-0 before nearly 18,000 fans in Calgary.

It was Winnipeg's worst drubbing since 1949 when whitewashed 47-0 by Saskatchewan Roughriders.

In the only other league game, Roughriders chalked up an easy 17-0 victory over the winless British Columbia Lions, newest WIFU entry.

The coast game attracted a record of 14,878 fans despite a relatively rain and drizzle which saturated the field at Empire Stadium.

Saskatchewan and Winnipeg are tied for first place with three wins and a loss apiece. Calgary is next with a 2-2 count while both Edmonton Eskimos and the Lions are winless in two starts.

CONVINCING PERFORMANCES

Calgary's performance was more convincing than the last outing when they defeated Edmonton 34-0. The Stamps roamed up and down the field almost at will. Once did the Bombers penetrate Calgary's 30-yard line. And that was late in the fourth quarter. Stampeders led 21-0 at the half.

Tom Mimer, imported from Tulsa university, put on a brilliant kicking display for 16 points. He booted four field goals and converted four of the five Calgary majors.

Another import, halfback Eddie Macon, turned a 40-yard run and a 20-yard pass into touchdowns while Glen Christian intercepted one of Jack Jacobs' passes for a major.

Keith Spaith, used as signal-caller in the fourth when Calgary tried reserve players, and Ivan Livingstone were other Stampeder scorers.

Winnipeg ended up with a minus 24 in the yards rushing department. Calgary gained 332. The Stamps made 21 first on air on six of 13 pass attempts while Winnipeg went for 58 yards on nine of 22 attempts.

In Vancouver, the Roughriders formed a perfect blocking machine which kept Lions' big line in place on the aerial game.

SCORES ON PASS

A pass from quarter Larry Isbell to Mac Speedie from 25 yards out was good for a major. Halfback Carpenter plowed over tackle for the other.

Joe Aguirre scored five points, two on converts and three on a field goal. Two of Isbell's kicks were good for single points on rouges.

Riders rolled for 200 yards along the ground against 59 for the Lions.

Relief quarter Gerry Puttle tried to avoid being shut out by taking to the air in the fourth. He completed six out of 11 for most of Lions' 92 yards gained through the air.

Bad Weather Wins Decision From Clubs

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bad weather ended a decision from the International League clubs Monday night.

Not a game was played as rain fell throughout the eastern Atlantic states, and it also marked the first hitch in the baseball loop's three-country operation. Richmond Virginians, idle for a game in Havana, couldn't make it to the Cuban capital because of the weather. It wasn't raining in Havana—the Virginians just didn't get there.

The league will try again tonight with doubleheaders in Havana, where the Cubans hope to pick up ground in their fading battle for a playoff berth, and in Buffalo, where Bisons hope to begin to build up its second-place margin over Rochester. The Royals currently lead the Chiefs by half a game.

Toronto and Ottawa, who weren't scheduled Monday night, will meet in Ottawa.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—For the next three nights and days the eyes of the baseball world will be centered largely on Yankee Stadium, and at the end of that period we may know with some degree of certainty whether Cleveland Indians are destined to sweep the Yanks' string of five straight world championships.

If Al Lopez's vastly improved club should succeed even its most felerious prospect and sweep the three-game set behind its "Big Three," then general manager Hank Greenberg will be safe in cracking open the customary bottle of champagne when the Tribe boards the cars out of here Thursday night. Chicago White Sox fans' chances of recovering from such a blow would be substantially dim.

If they take two out of three, the Indians will establish themselves as extremely strong favorites to win the usually contested 154-game wire. Even a single victory would send the Yanks' way still in a very advantageous position.

The only thing they have seriously to fear is a possible collapse and the loss of three straight to their hardest opponents.

SHOWDOWN BATTLE

In other words, this is the showdown on whether the 1954 edition of the Indians is, as its admirers claim, the finest team in baseball position from the Cleveland clubs which have ruled supreme for the past three seasons. They say there is no choice in this outfit and that for what we are about to find out for certain.

The champions, rolling smoothly behind a six-game winning streak, go into the set with a margin of a day's rest and with their top pitchers—Bob Grim, Ed Lopat and Whitey Ford—primed for action. They are cocky, as only champions can be, and they still are completely confident that they will slice up a third world series melon.

This club was good enough to win five for me," manager Casey Stengel points out sensibly. "I don't know why it shouldn't make it six."

SPORT IN BRIEF

STAY HOME, YOUNG MAN

TORONTO (CP) — A leading American track and field coach Monday advised Canadian athletes to stay home rather than attend United States universities if they want them "merely for their ability to earn points."

Brutus Hamilton, University of California coach who trained the U.S. Olympic team in 1952, said there are many such schools in the U.S.

Hamilton spoke at the Olympic training plan clinic in conjunction with the Canadian National Exhibition's interprovincial track and field meet.

"I believe it is no longer necessary for Canadian schoolboys to leave Canada in order to get the best of coaching and good competition," Hamilton said.

TWO PLAYERS FINED

CHICAGO (AP)—Pitcher Marion Fricano of the Philadelphia Athletics, involved in two recent "dustings" incidents, was fined $150 Monday by the American League for an altercation Sunday with Detroit pitcher Steve Gromek.

Last Friday night Cass Michaels of the Chicago White Sox suffered a skull fracture when struck by a ball pitched by Fricano.

Gromek was fined $100 for his part in the second incident which took place in the first game of a doubleheader at Philadelphia Sunday.

Gromek charged the Athletics pitcher in the ninth inning after being hit by Fricano's pitch.

In Sunday's game Fricano and Gromek wrestled on the ground as players from both teams ran onto the field and staged a free-for-all. Both pitchers were ejected from the game.

CHAMP'S BABY-SITS

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano spent his day off from training Monday serving as a baby-sitter for his 20-month-old daughter, Mary Ann. It was one of Rocky's presents to his wife, who celebrated her 30th birthday Monday. Rocky will have a party of his own on Sept. 1 when he reaches the 30-year mark.

Yesterday's Stars

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Pitching — Johnny Antonelli, Giants, who won his 20th game as New York blanked St. Louis Cardinals 7-0, allowing seven hits and striking out nine.

Batting—Bob Thomson, Braves, who smashed a three-run homer against Brooklyn for the winning runs as Milwaukee beat the Dodgers 7-5.

Twenty Victories Mark of Stardom Says Antonelli

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Johnny Antonelli Monday night became the National League's first 20-game winner this season and New York baseball fans everywhere watch the magic number in 17 years.

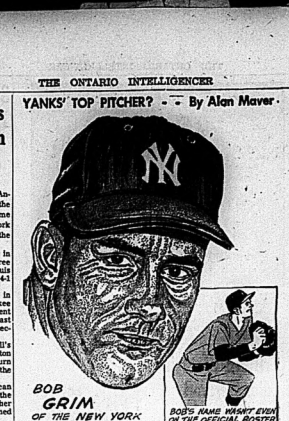
The 24-year-old lefty turned in his 20th win against only three defeats, as he held St. Louis Cardinals to four singles for a 4-1 victory.

Antonelli came to the Giants in a deal last Feb. 1 with Milwaukee as outfielder Bobby Thomson went to the Braves. With Milwaukee last season he racked up a 13-12 record.

Carl Hubbell, now in baseball's Hall of Fame, and Cliff Melton were the New Giant hurlers to turn in 20 wins. Both accomplished the feat during the 1937 season.

Dizzy Dean, last American League Cleveland Indians is the only other major league pitcher to win 20 this season. He turned the trick Sunday.

Antonelli, who has pitched five shutouts and seven one-run games this season, said: "It's just the clubhouse that the mark was "the big thrill of my life." The mark of stardom," Johnny said. "It has always been my aim."



Indians Can Win Flag By Sweeping Series

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians—a warlike tribe of baseball over the years—will come roaring into the big town today, intent on spoiling Thursday night with the scalps of the New York Yankees hanging by their belts from the wigwam of the world pennant wrapped up.

If the Indians sweep the three-game set starting tonight, they will have increased their lead over the Yanks to 5½ games, and it will be next to impossible for Casey Stengel's team to catch them with time rapidly running out.

At the moment the Indians are 4½ games in front and the best is on the Yanks. To stay in the running they must take at least two out of three against the big three of manager Al Lopez's pitching staff—Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon.

The Yanks have but one disadvantage. The remaining scheduled favors the Yanks somewhat. After the Indians pull out of New York they head directly for Chicago, and pennant manager Frank Lane of the White Sox has threatened to help the Yanks in by beating the Indians.

Moscow Dynamos Want to Play In Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — The world-famed Moscow Dynamos soccer team has put in a tentative offer to play a series of exhibition games in Canada next season, it was learned here Monday.

Jack McNamara, Quebec member of the Canadian Football Association's council, said the bid was made through an intermediary of the association's special, three-day meeting in Winnipeg during the week-end.

He said several British and Scottish teams have also offered to tour Canada and the choice of the teams to come over will be left to W. A. McAdam, association representative in England.

Toronto Leafs Start Training September 14th

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League start training for the 1954-55 season on Tuesday, Sept. 14.

The Toronto club announced Monday that 21 players will report to headquarters at St. Catharines. The Leafs' A team is in Hockey League farm club, Pittsburgh Hornets, start training the same day at Niagara Falls.

New faces in the Leaf camp include Brian Cullen, sensational forward of St. Catharines TeePees, seeking to make the long jump from Ontario Hockey Association junior ranks to the NHL. Cullen, with 1y1 points, set an OHA junior scoring record last season and won the most valuable player award.

MEEKER IS COACH

Another newcomer is left winger Dave Creighton, obtained from Boston Bruins in a deal that sent defenceman Fern Flaman back to the Boston club. Two Leaf candidates come from the Hornets—defenceman Larry Cahan and right winger Bob Sabourin. Others trying out include Jack Caffery and Jim Logan from St. Michael's College Majors of the junior OHA and goalie Don Campbell from Saskatoon Wesleys juniors.

The Hornets have a new coach this season, Howie Meeker, former Leaf right wing. The list of 25 Pittsburgh candidates includes the name of Gerry James, halfback with Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the western Canada football league. James played hockey last season with Toronto Marlboros in the junior OHA.

Gavilan Is 2-1 Favorite Over Johnny Saxton

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Anyone who doubts the old saying that there is more than one way to skin a cat should peep behind the scenes of the Kid Gavilan-Johnny Saxton welterweight fight, scheduled for Connie Mack Stadium Wednesday night.

Champion Gavilan, a 2-to-1 favorite, and challenger Saxton, a supremely confident underdog, wound up their training chores Monday with light workouts at their training camps.

Getting back to the cat-skinning stratagems, it's well known that Saxton of Brooklyn, is the sixth-ranking welterweight contender. So, one would imagine there were five other fellows entitled to meet Gavilan for the 147-pound crown before Saxton.

Actually, Saxton was No. 4 challenger when the Gavilan match was made. The 24-year-old Negro then fought to a draw with a relative unknown and dropped to No. 6 in the rankings.

NICE BOYS

Saxton's manager, Blinky Palermo said Angel Lopez (Gavilan's manager) promised me as far back as 1952, when Gavilan beat Gil Turner, that Saxton would get a chance."

Palermo said that since Lopez and Gavilan were such nice fellows they didn't have to worry about a return bout should Saxton lift the crown from Gavilan. Referring to Lopez' keeping his promise to give Saxton a title chance, Palermo said, "If that guy keeps his word with me, can I refuse him a return match?"

Eagles Will Sue Lions for Breach Of Contract

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joseph A. Donoghue, secretary of the Philadelphia Eagles in the National Football League, said Monday his team will sue British Columbia Lions, coach Annis Stukus, and Tilbach Al Pollard for alleged breach of contract.

The row has arisen over Pollard's decision to play with the Lions while still under contract to the Eagles.

Donoghue, in a long-distance telephone interview with the Vancouver Sun, accused Stukus of unfairness.

He said the Eagles would take their case before an American court because "we cannot expect justice in Canada."

"Stukus gave his word that if we sent a photostatic copy of Pollard's contract, he would return him.

"We sent the photostat but Pollard played anyway."

A place-kicking specialist, Pollard won immediate admiration Saturday night when he converted Lions' ton touchdown against Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Teams Unable To Finish Game At CNRAA Field

The Bobcats and Stewart-Warner game scheduled for the C.N.R. Park last night was washed out of the record books, when the rain halted the game with two out in the bottom of the fifth. This was the fourth game in a best-of-seven set to decide who will represent Belleville in the O.A.S.A. Intermediate "AA" playdowns with the Bobcats leading three games to one.

Four Bobcats runs in the top of the fifth inning had been scored, after Stewart Warner's 7-3 lead in the second inning. Skippy Duncan was hurling for Stewart-Warner, having given up seven runs on three hits, before being relieved by the same number. Doug Thompson started for the Cats and allowed seven runs on five hits in five innings plus. He whiffed one and walked four. Bill Bone was on the hill when the game was halted, having allowed one hit, fanned two and walked one.

A walk, stolen base, infield out and a fielding error gave the Temple crew a 1-0 margin in the initial frame but it was short lived. Belleville singles by Bob Bone and Dave Murry followed by Bob Brocks' lined homer to right-centre field reversed the situation in the bottom of the first. A walk and Thompson's double in that was bobbled in the outfield tied it once more for the Bobcats at 3-3.

Singles by Duncan and Frank Murry, a walk, Ted Hurst's two-run double and a fielding error by Temple plus a passed ball upped the score to 7-3 in favor of the Bobcats in the second inning. In the third, where it stayed until the rain fell, Bone with doubles while Nolan had a single.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Doctors believe the Johnson twins could be separated—but the dangerous operation might leave one or both with an abnormal heart condition. Doctors will ask the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Johnson of Pine Bluff, to make the decision on whether to operate. The girls, born one month ago, are joined at the chest facing each other.

Champs Clinch Second Place In North Loop

SUDBURY (CP) — Creighton Indians, Nickel Belt Senior Baseball champions last season, clinched second place this time by edging the Sudbury Shamrocks 7-5 here Monday night.

The Shamrocks have third place clinched and now all that remains is to settle fourth place between Garson Greyhounds and Frood Tigers. Copper Cliff Redmen nailed down first place last week.

Lefty Tommy Howe was the winner Monday night after relieving starter Art Wilson in the second. The loser was Ralph McCabe, who was shelled out in the seventh after giving up five runs to blow a 5-1 lead. Maurice Dismour finished.

Canadian Soccer Title Won By Winnipeg Team

Army, Navy and Air Force Scottish captured the Canadian soccer championship Monday night, defeating Vancouver North Shore United 3-0 to take their best-of-three final series in straight games. Scottish won the opener 3-2 here Saturday.

Some 6,200 saw the Scottish take advantage of a strong wind in the second half to score all of their goals and bring the soccer title back to Winnipeg after an absence of 28 years.

Dick Foster of Toronto presented the Challenge Trophy to Winnipeg captain George James—the first year the trophy was up for competition.

Bent Bentjamison, John Murphy and James scored the Scottish goals.

READY FOR BUSINESS

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — City council approved a building permit for a motel, first such application ever filed in Newfoundland. Officials say they expect a surge of motel applications when the trans-Canada highway is completed, perhaps in 1956.

Glenn Dobbs Cut By Ti-Cats, May Be End of Career

HAMILTON (CP)—Glenn Dobbs, the Oklahoma quarterback who took Dobberville to Regina, was cut Monday by Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four Football Union.

Coach Carl Voyles said the 34-year-old Dobbs "does not fit into my plans."

It indicated an end to Dobbs' great career. He was former all-American at the University of Tulsa and starred in professional football in both Canada and the United States.

Other imports cut were centre Ted Kukowski, tackle Jim George and halfbacks Gene Smith and Carl Bolt.

Dobbs had asked Voyles for a trial after being dropped last season by Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Western Interprovincial Union.

A KNEE INJURY

He apparently had the same trouble in his right knee that prompted the Roughriders to deal with all-western and all - Canadian teams.

The next season, the Roughriders ended in last place but the fans went wild over Dobbs. That's when Regina became known as Dobbersville. Glenn was benched for most 1953 games after he injured the knee.

No Protest Entered

BERN (AP)—A spokesman of the Hungarian delegation at the European Games said Monday the judges unanimously disqualified the British relay team Sunday on their own initiative.

The spokesman said no protest was entered by the Hungarian team after Hungary's third runner was accidentally tripped by Peter Fryer of Britain.

The British team passed the finish line first, but the victory later was awarded to the French team with a time of 3:08.7.

Canadians Lose To Yorkshire By 249 Runs

SCARBOROUGH, England (CP) — Yorkshire's powerful eleven defeated Canada's touring cricketers by 249 runs Monday as the visiting bowlers failed to the county batters on their second try.

Yorkshire lost all their first-innings wicketsfor Saturday for 263 runs, a low score for the leaders of British county cricket table. But after Canada was dismissed for a first-innings total of 154, Yorkshire was 245 for the loss of four wickets before declaring their second innings closed.

Canada's second-innings 107 left them far short of their opponents.

Canada's last five wickets fell Monday morning for 39 runs to give Yorkshire a first-innings lead of 111.

Against the fiery attack of Yorkshire, the Canadian batsmen were soon in trouble, Robert Quintrell, Edmund Burke and Kenneth Trimball all failing to slip catches when they snicked fast deliveries.

Only Cameron offered serious resistance and he stayed for an hour to make brilliant 56 runs.

No fewer than seven Canadians were caught in this innings, two being run out by smart fielding and only Peter Stead, last man in, was bowled.

WAR VICTIMS

LONDON (CP)—A book of remembrance recording the names of 1,268 men and women of the Canada Transport system who lost their lives in the Second World War has been unveiled. The list included 461 killed on the "home front" at work or in civil defence.

Little Benny's Notebook

The doorbell rang, and I answered it. and it was a knife sharpener man, saying, Has your mother got any knives or sciszers she wants sharpened?

I dont think so, I said. and he said, How about letting her do the thinking?

Meaning to go and ask her, and I said, She always says no.

Well I tell you what I'll do with you, sunny, the man said. Any blunted knives or sciszers?

I know that little man to my sorrow, and I said, He will make twelve duller instead of sharper, besides getting scratches all over the blades. Come in and ask and tell him in words of one sillable, he said, and I said, Well jim minies, ma, haven't you got some old bum knives that you dont care what happens to them?

If I had, I'd throw them away, I said, and I said, He kind of looks as if he needs the money, ma. Maybe he's got a poor family depending on him, I said.

If he has, he's like every other man, I have no use for, he said. See what's going on here? Did you and that many have any conversation at any time? I said, and I said, How do you mean?

I mean I want to know everything he said to you, ma said.

The result being I told her, and she fetched out her window mad and called down to the man that she did not have anything to sharpen and didn't expect to.

TORONTO (CP)—The lands department announced Monday hunters in Ontario will be allowed a daily limit of eight ducks, during the 1954 season.

The bag limit does not include merganser and may include not more than one woodduck. Five geese; 25 rails, coots and gallinules; eight wilson's snipe and eight woodcock may also be taken each day.

The possession limit for all is two days' bag.

Big Business Chief Concern Says CCF Leader

OTTAWA (CP) — Ontario CCF leader Donald C. MacDonald said Monday night that big business interests, not agriculture's, are the chief concern of the present provincial government.

Speaking in support of George Hay, CCF candidate in the Sept. 16 by-election in Russell, a predominantly rural riding, Mr. MacDonald also criticized the Conservative government's housing and education policies.

He hit at the eastern Ontario development conference called in Ottawa last June by the province and the eastern Ontario associated Boards of Trade and attended by several cabinet ministers including Premier Frost.

The conference, called in an attempt to stimulate more industry in the area, was "so exclusively interested in business interests . . . that farm problems never got into the picture," Mr. MacDonald said.

AT THE BELLE — Charlton Heston informs Eleanor Parker and William Conrad that something horrible is afoot in this suspense-packed scene from Paramount's Technicolor thriller, "The Naked Jungle" continuing for two more days by popular demand. The film is set against a background of the treacherous South American Jungle.

Northern Electric Ladies Swamp Picton Squad

The Northern Electric ladies pounded two hurlers for 20 hits and a 17-3 decision over the Picton McFarland Maids in an exhibition game played at the Alemite on Sunday afternoon.

The winners oversame a first innings 3-0 deficit, with one in the second and a seven-run explosion in the third while adding throughout the nine inning affair.

Linda Wagg was the winning pitcher in good route. She gave up ten hits, fanned one and walked four, O'Tool started for the Picton Maids but gave way to Hughes in the sixth. Between them the allowed 16 hits, did not strikeout a batter and walked six.

Drake was the top hitter for Northern, getting out a home run, double and two singles. F. Henry had a homer and two singles for visitors while Hughes claimed a homer and single.

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 1, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Mars and Venus augur well for vigorous action and personal gain today but sudden, unpremeditated moves are not sanctioned. Care advised in written matters, contracts, legal issues. Serve fun.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Friendly indications for your interests and activities but Saturn and Uranus warn against carelessness, unnecessary changes in matters now running smoothly. Enjoy healthy recreation.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Be diplomatic, cordial. There could be some upsetting situations but you can handle them adroitly and cleverly. If on vacation, be mindful of health, personal conduct, promises.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Moon's position today similar to Gemini's Mercury. Therefore, heed advice to Gemini and capitalize also on your own innate graciousness. You can reap benefits and have a pleasant, productive day, too.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — While forceful action is suggested in some affairs such as the military and in good causes generally, be careful not to use it in social and family connections. Care!

August 22 to September 23 (Virgo)—Consistent effort, without pain or worry, should bring fine reward though monetary gains may not be immediate or showy. Whether working or playing, be wisely careful of health.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—Advice to Taurus is also pertinent to you. It can be a good day for you and your family's interests, for work, business, recreation, but do be sensible in all things.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Put off nothing that can and should be done now but do not overtax nerves or disposition. Mars, favorably aspected, augurs for fruitful satisfying rewards for steady efforts.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Avoid making hasty revisions or drastic moves, especially in plans and activities now working out gainfully. But be alert and acquisitive when opportunities come your way. An interesting day.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Saturn's position stresses a need for poise and forethought but benefits can be derived in your occupational field, through business and other well-managed activities.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Carry out ideas but don't go out on a limb without knowing what you are doing and why. Uranus' aspect suggests that you control a restlessness for immediate gain.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Strictly confidential matters, handling oil, chemicals, all liquids require caution now. But the day is not wholly restricting; fresh advantages, opportunities which can lead to new gains are indicated.

YOU BORN TODAY are fair-minded, gracious, usually well-mannered and well-groomed. There is great artistry, cleanness and system in your particular sector. As a rule you are ambitious but prudent, very dependable and likable. If true to your better self, you will be moderate and understanding, have deep respect for religion and heritage and have, perhaps, unusual mechanical skill. Many noted journalists, authors, critics, public speakers, actors, decorators and modistes are Virgo born. There is no limit to the achievement that can be yours. Pray God for guidance.

Top Anglers from Eight Countries Gather at Soldier's Rip for Derby

By GERRY MARTIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WEDGEPORT, N. S. (CP)—Forty-eight top anglers from eight countries gather on the churning waters of Soldier's Rip here Sept. 8 to open the giant fish derby in the annual international tuna tournament.

The battle of the bluefins is a top sporting and tourist event in Nova Scotia. The big game anglers themselves say that landing a fighting tuna tops even the thrills of an African safari.

The three-day tournament brings teams from Cuba, the British Commonwealth, France, Netherlands, United States, Mexico and Venezuela to compete for the Alton B. Sharp trophy.

Sportsmen — including millionaires—first started battling the tuna on an international basis in 1937 when the British Commonwealth team was the winner. They won again in 1951.

Cuba won the first of her three championships in 1938, repeating in 1947 and 1952. The United States has won twice. Mexico, the defending champions, and Chile each have won once.

The tuna itself is called the gamest of all. Weighing up to 900 pounds, they travel at locomotive speed and fight with savage fury. The world's record is held by a member of the British Commonwealth team—Cmdr. D. Hodson of Montreal—who boated a 977-pound bluefin off North Sydney, N.S., in 1950.

With the season only about half over, fishermen have already boated more fish than the 129 landed all last season.

The waters off Nova Scotia provide the home for the bluefin during the summer months and the rip tides off this Nova Scotia town are especially to their liking.

Soldier's Rip is an unusually rough patch of tidal water 12 miles off Wedgeport. Here the tuna herd the herring and mackerel that make up their daily bill-of-fare.

The rip itself is a six-knot tide stream about a mile wide and the disturbance at this spot is aided by a submerged plateau over which the water drops as the tide falls away. It causes a churn of angry water that is plainly marked on the sea.

Sportsmen fishing here have an extra handicap when the stout Cape Sable island boats they use dodge and twist in the turbulence that gives one the impression of shooting rapids.

Everything favors the tuna, even the cost of catching him.

Tuna fishing ranks with the most expensive pastimes in the world of sport and there's no monetary reward. The prize is the much coveted Sharp trophy, a shining silver bowl designed by Lynn Rogue Hunt of New York City, a gift from Alton B. Sharp, Boston sportsman and president of Eastern Steamship Lines.

The Sharp trophy is awarded on a point basis, based on the biggest fish of the tournament, the biggest fish each day, the high team total for the day and tournament, and so on.

To go tuna fishing one hires a boat and a guide, at about $30 a day. This is in addition to the hotel bill and a heavy round of social engagements.

The last two years have been more from the fishermen's point of view. During the 1952 tournament, fishermen got impatient with luck on the rip and hearkened to the call of the nearby Tusket river fishing where commercial fishermen harpoon large kills daily.

That shouldn't happen this year, because after starting off slowly the season has picked up.

ENGINEER DROWNED

GRAVENHURST (CP) — Oscar Scarrow, 51, of Dunville, chief engineer of the cruise ship SS Sagamo, was drowned here Monday in 15 feet of water after falling 30 feet from the ship's top deck. Constable Douglas Miller jumped into the water in an unsuccessful rescue attempt.

Pacific Charter May Be Sought By Philippines

MANILA (AP) — An informed source said today the Philippines would seek a Pacific charter at the eight-nation security conference here next week to bulwark the free nations of Southeast Asia against Communist aggression.

The document, patterned after the Atlantic charter, will be considered by the United States, Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

It would follow as closely as possible the guarantees of freedom given under the Atlantic charter, the source said, and would contain these specific principles:

1. Support of the rights of all peoples in Southeast Asia to freedom and independence.

2. Agreement to take steps ensuring progress of Southeast Asian nations toward self-rule and independence.

3. Co-operation for the economic, social and cultural development of Southeast Asian countries to raise their standard of living, economy and social security.

4. Joint and individual action against any force that would attempt to undermine or destroy the sovereignty, territorial integrity or freedom of Southeast Asian governments.

500,000-Man Army for Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Egyptian diplomatic sources predicted Monday that their country, with new Western sources of arms at its disposal, may develop a 500,000-man army in a year.

An embassy spokesman said negotiations now going on in Cairo for a military aid agreement with the United States may be completed in about a week.

In London the foreign office announced Monday Britain will again consider sale of arms to Egypt, suspended during disagreement over the Suez canal area.

Israeli diplomats in Washington reiterated their country's opposition to the shipment of Western arms to Arab countries and said that in any case Britain should first require Egypt to lift what they call a Suez canal blockade against Israel.

The Egyptian spokesman said Israel's objections "must not be allowed to stand in the way of forming a strong defence for the Middle East by the nations of the region themselves."

FRENCH UNION SOLDIERS RELEASED BY VIET MINH

These French Union soldiers who were held as prisoners of war by the Viet-Minh Communists in Indo-China are about to step ashore on friendly territory at Hanoi from the landing craft that brought them down the Red River. They were thin and undernourished, but did not complain of 32nd treatment. —Central Press Canadian.

$1,000,000 HAUL

British Columbia fishermen are cashing in on one of the largest sockeye salmon runs in history. Cannery worker Syama Shita stands knee deep in a portion of a $1,000,000 haul from the Gulf of Georgia. Fisheries officials say the 600,000-fish catch is the largest ever landed in B.C. in a single day. Officials say the catch has paid for Canada's contribution to the Hell's Gate fish ladder program on the Fraser river. The ladders were built in 1944 to enable salmon to reach the Adams river spawning area. (CP Photo).

Only Road to Peace, Justice Is Through Devotion to God

By GORGE W. CORNELL

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—A summing-up message from the World Council of Churches today proclaimed "to all who will listen" that only devotion to God can conquer the fears and "powers of evil" that plague the earth.

In its keystone message, the council's historic assembly declared that mankind's search for freedom, justice and peace is doomed to defeat unless men "turn from our ways to God's way."

"Nothing other than God can ever satisfy the heart of man," the message said. "Forgetting this, man becomes his own enemy. He seeks justice, but creates oppression.

"He wants peace but drifts towards war. His very mastery of nature threatens him with ruin. Whether he acknowledges it or not, he stands under the judgment of God and under the shadow of death."

The 1,000-word message, counted the fundamental document of the 11-day world Christian gathering, came as the assembly moved toward its final sessions today.

GOD HOPE OF WORLD

It declared that God, in Jesus Christ, is "the hope of the world."

And "only at the Cross of Christ" can men find the answer to the "fear and distrust which at present divide our world."

"And those who know that Christ is risen should have the courage to expect new power to break through every human barrier."

The message affirmed the determination of the council's 165 denominations in 48 countries to seek greater unity to strengthen their faith. It added:

"We enter now upon a second stage. To stay together is not enough. We must go forward. As we learn more of our unity in Christ, it becomes the more intolerable that we should be divided."

The message said "we long ardently" for the fellowship of the churches not belonging to the council. The two largest ones are the Southern Baptist in the United States and the Roman Catholic Church.

The message declared that "it is not enough that Christians should seek peace for themselves."

"They must seek justice for others."

And to its individual congregations, with some 170,000,000 members, the council put some soul-searching questions. Among them:

Does your church speak and act against injustice which have subjected people in many lands to hunger, need and oppression?

Does your church act against segregation and discrimination as contrary to the will of God?

Does your congregation "live for itself" or work hard to make Christ known to others?

Do you forgive one another as Christ forgave you?

Is your church "seriously considering its relation to other churches in the light of Our Lord's Prayer" that all should be one?

PLAN OUTLINED

WALLACEBURG (CP)—Development of Wallaceburg as one of the ports in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway system was outlined to a group of representatives from district municipalities Monday night. Representatives from Dresden, Chatham, Dover and Sombra attended the meeting requested by the Wallaceburg industrial commission and the Chamber of Commerce.

STIRLING—Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wells, Charlotte Street, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at their home on Wednesday but the real date is Sunday August 29th. The 40 guests were entertained to a turkey dinner in St. Paul's United Church dining hall at the supper hour. The families presented the honored couple with a silver tea service.

Mrs. Well is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Bowerman, Cherry Valley, and Mr. Wells is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wells, Marmora.

They have two children, Eleanor Wells, who will be attending Queens University in the autumn, and Tommy Wells, at home.

Mrs. Nellie Maines, Watertown, New York, has spent the past three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Defoe and other relatives in this district.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Tucker and Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Sine are enjoying a motor trip to Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Devolin and family, spent the week-end with Mrs. B. Bainforth, Mesford, Ontario.

CHARIVARI

At midnight Wednesday, about 25 folks from town gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery and tendered the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hanna a noisy charivari.

The show went on despite a heavy electric storm and rain. All were invited in and the hostess served refreshments.

During the social hair hour, Allan Munroe spoke briefly and presented the young couple with a gift from the charivari gang.

NEIGHBOR HONORED

Mrs. Jack Brown, radio beam station, Mount Pleasant, was hostess Wednesday afternoon, when 20 ladies from Stirling gathered in honor of Mrs. Fred Donohoe, who is moving next week from Mill Street, Stirling, to Bellville.

The occasion was arranged as a surprise for the guest of honor. The guests were seated on the shady lawn and during the afternoon appropriate readings were given by Mrs. Sid Demorest and Mrs. Charles Vance.

ADDRESS READ

Miss Muriel Devolin read an address of appreciation and Margaret was presented with a magazine rack and her two small daughters, Cathie and Debbie, with silvey bracelets.

Mrs. Donohoe received thanks for kindness and gifts and invited one and all to visit her in Belleville.

Refreshments were served and the hostess thanked for hospitality.

CNE Sees B.C., Nova Scotia Town Honored Today

By JIM PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—The provinces of British Columbia and a little Nova Scotia town were scheduled to be honored at the Canadian National Exhibition today—automotive and electrical day.

The exhibition salutes British Columbia with special displays, literature and films as the second province put on show in the CNE's "Canada on the march" theme. Alberta was the first.

At the same time, a civic reception was planned for 27 coal miners from Donkin, N.S., who have turned in their lamps for a few days to enter the CNE band competitions.

The bandsmen from Donkin have been practising for several years to become one of the top musical organizations of eastern Canada and they worked hard to get here. They scraped together $1,100 among themselves and the community provided another $3,000 to send them to the Ex.

A heavy rainstorm broke over the CNE grounds late Monday, sending thousands scurrying for shelter and cancelling the grandstand performance of Roy Rogers and his troupe. But it didn't stop attendance figures from climbing above last year.

ATTENDANCE HIGH

The turnstiles clicked 161,000 persons through Monday, 2,500 more than the third-day total of 1953, and CNE officials said the third-day record of 205,500 set in 1948 probably would have fallen had the rain not come.

This year's three-day total is well ahead of a year ago with 587,500 customers compared with 529,000 at this point in 1953.

Monday was Children's Day and thousands of youngsters swarmed the grounds, their obvious delight—even after the rain started. The weatherman called for a clear, cool day today, and officials expressed hopes that attendance figures would climb again. The CNE is looking for a 3,000,000 total, this year for the first time in the 78 years of the exhibition.

YOUTHS SENTENCED

STRATFORD (CP)—Two youths, who pleaded guilty last week to possessing a stolen car, were given jail terms Monday. Robert Nash, 20, of Ingersoll, was sentenced to six months definite and six months indeterminate in the Ontario reformatory. Kenneth Landers, Tilsonburg, was given three months in county jail. Both youths had records.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both— Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is in a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a world-famous research institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissues on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H.® The price is only $1.10 a tube including an applicator. MARMORA

Canadian Legion Holds Memorial Services

MARMORA—Marked with one of the best attendances in years, the annual decoration and service of remembrance is sponsored by Marmora Branch 237 Canadian Legion, was held on Sunday afternoon under weather conditions more congenial than the morning promised.

The parade formed at the Legion Hall, started about two o'clock in the following order: Havelock Pipe Band, Color parties of the Legion Branches of Marmora, Tweed, Madoc and Trenton, with that of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Marmora Branch of the Legion; Legionaires and Auxiliary members; Marmora Company Girl Guides under Captain Helen York.

Capt. Percy Gray, past zone commander, was in command of the parade which proceeded first to the Memorial Hall where flowers had been deposited beneath the two memorial tablets; and then visited St. Paul's Church lawn for the service of remembrance, conducted by the chaplain, Canon J. M. Brownlie.

St. Paul's choir led in the singing of "O God, Our Help in Ages Past" and "Onward Christian Soldiers" with Mrs. R. Frost at the piano.

In his address Canon Brownlie blended thoughts from the 11th and 12th chapters of the Epistle to the Hebrews with the line of the now famous poem "To You From Failing Hands we Throw the Torch." He said that, "flowers could not be put to any better use than they were that afternoon and after referring to the principles for which lives were laid down, added that we who remain, should live for them today. We should empty ourselves of all cheap stuff and fill ourselves with the treasures of God."

SACRED HEART CEMETERY

Next to be visited was the Sacred Heart Cemetery. While Legionnaires placed towers beneath a wooden cross, others placed a poppy on each Maple Leaf mark-

Reversing Falls at Saint John Most Potent Tourist Lure

By JIM SHERRANJUK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Four times a day some of the world's highest tides send the St. John river battle to a draw in a gorge 200 yards wide, providing the twin cities of Saint John and Lancaster with their most potent tourist lure —the Reversing Falls.

More a rapid than a waterfall, but definitely reversing, the phenomenon is caused when the Bay of Fundy's huge tide first rises above the level of the St. John river, then falls far below.

At high tide, the 450-mile river is overcome in a battle of whirlpools and raging water as the ocean pours upstream. The river takes it revenge six hours later, when the harbor level drops 20 to 30 feet below that of the river, producing even more spectacular rapids.

QUIET PERIODS

Between engagements, as the levels coincide, the gorge becomes as smooth as a sheet of glass and navigable by rowboat or canoe. At this time local craft can make their way upstream, bound for centres like Fredericton, 90 miles away.

er which signified it was the grave of a departed comrade or that of a relative or relatives of one buried overseas.

The Rev. Father W. P. Healey briefly referred to the sacrifices made by those who had died in the service of their country and those who later died and said that the presence of so many on parade that day was a tribute to their citizenship and faith. He read the list of those having remembered there and also offered prayers for the repose of the souls of the departed.

Last Post and Reveille were played by the Pipe Band and the two minutes silence observed.

The parade next proceeded to Marmora Protestant Cemetery, where Capt. Gray read the list of departed comrades buried there and in distant cemeteries, when the same procedure for graves decoration was followed.

At the close of the ceremonies the parade returned to the Legion Hall for dismissal.

at first, expecting to see another Niagara. But cameras are brought out soon enough when the water starts gushing furiously, first in one direction, and later in another.

The Fundy tide leaves its bitter taste in the river as far upstream as 30 miles. The bay also accounts for the river having tides of its own almost 100 miles upstream. The St. John river, largest on the Atlantic coast south of the St. Lawrence, drains New Brunswick and Maine. Along the upper course of the river, the valley is fairly narrow but broadens out to more than five miles.

When the river nears Saint John, it is squeezed between 100-foot limestone cliffs, forming almost a solid wall of water against the Fundy tide. In the centre of the frothy battlefield is Goat Island, a small clump of rocks and bush about 15 feet in diameter.

Old-timers spin tales about how many lives have been lost in the rapids.

BOYS SHOT RAPIDS

Three local youths made themselves heroes last year when they successfully negotiated the rapids in a light, 22-foot skiff.

Ron Beckett, Harry Tippett, and Ken Doherty were sailing their craft upstream when they found themselves being sucked into the seething cauldron and headed right for the thundering rapids. More than 2,000 people are said to have watched horrified as the frail craft was tossed like a match stick in the foaming water.

The boys bailed furiously and finally, when the craft was through the worst of it, they dived overboard and swam ashore.

A bridge spanning the river and this links the main section of the city with Lancaster, a sister community.

At one end of the bridge, the provincial government has recently opened a $65,000 tourist information centre. There are also plans for building a municipal park on the north bank, and a connecting bridge to Goat island.
